Ridgway Asks Chinese For Earlier Cease-Fire

Two Airmen Killed In Crash

GRAFTON, July 3. (ENS)—Two RCAF fliers were instantly killed around seven o'clock Sunday evening when their Harvard trainer crashed near a swamp about four miles south of Grafton, a short distance east of Allentoff's summer resort. They were identified on Monday as FO Garth E. Horricks, DFC, 30, of Toronto, and FO George Laing of Windsor. Horricks did two tours of operations with the Air Force in Europe during the Second World War. The plane first struck the widened mouth of a creek running through a swamp and then skidded along up the bank on to solid ground, shedding bits of the fuselage as it tore through undergrowth to come to a stop in a pasture field. Bits of the wreckage were strewn for about 75 feet behind. Bodies of the two fliers were trapped in the twisted framework of the plane.

No One Saw Crash

Nobody saw the plane actually crash, but Mrs. Arnold Harnden, at supper with her husband and his parents at their cottage near the shore of Lake Ontario, saw the plane go past after noticing first that it seemed to be flying low. Mrs. Harnden watched the plane dip down over some trees, then come up again and appear to roll, and disappear.

"I think that plane has crashed," she said. Arnold Harnden and Floyd Harnden left the supper table to look for it and came upon the wreckage about a half mile west from the cottage. At the time that Mrs. Harnden saw the aircraft it was heading west.

An ambulance detail from Trenton RCAF station later came to the scene and removed the bodies.

Crystal Beach Police Chief Fired In Resort Dispute

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., July 3. (CP)—A seething controversy over law enforcement in this gaudy Lake Erie summer resort took a surprise turn Monday with the sudden dismissal of Police Chief Gilbert L. Robertson. The dismissal was ordered by Reeve Claude Brewster and the action is expected to be an important topic of discussion at a special town council meeting tonight.

The meeting has been called to consider the problem of law enforcement in this resort which has about 20,000 summer residents, most of them from either Toronto or Buffalo, NY.

The current controversy was touched off by a group of residents concerned over the trend here in recent years. They say that what was once a respectable family resort is deteriorating into a noisy, heavy-drinking summer hotspot in which bootlegging and prostitution are rampant.

The residents admit their concern is economic. They say the conditions in Crystal Beach have resulted in growing numbers of vacancies at tourist accommodation, a state that was unheard of several years ago.

No Comment

Police Chief Robertson was not available Monday night for comment on his dismissal. The status of the six constables in the Crystal Beach department has not yet been altered by the chief's suspension.

Provincial police have been assigned to police the village.

Residents who touched off the probe of law enforcement have set themselves up as vigilantes. They indicated Monday there would be disclosures which would "blow the lid off the scandal."

Tonight's special meeting was called to investigate the dismissal of Constable John Sandel from the local force but it is expected to deal with the whole affair. Sandel was dismissed a short time ago by Chief Robertson who gave no reason for the action.

A petition has been signed by hundreds of permanent residents asking that provincial police be brought in to clean up the situation. It is addressed to the Attorney-General of Ontario.

US Army Joins Search For Boy

ST. BERNARD DE LACOLLE, Que., July 3 (CP)—The United States Army today joined in the search for Remi Duquette, 16, missing from his home here since Friday afternoon.

Some 200 searchers, including American Army forces, farmers, provincial police, and RCMP fanned out through the fields of this Quebec-New York border town but failed to turn up any trace of the boy. Authorities did not discount the theory that the boy's disappearance is voluntary.

Bloodhounds belonging to New York State troopers assisted in the search Monday but were forced to return to the US to help locate a little girl missing in the Adirondacks.

Remi's father, Cyril Duquette, said the youth had helped him in the regular chores around the 108-acre farm Friday morning. In the afternoon the boy went out with his .22 calibre rifle. He was due back at 6 p.m. to help with the evening chores, but failed to return.

Venizelos Unable To Form Coalition

ATHENS, July 3 (AP)—Liberal Premier Sophocles Venizelos called on King Paul today to tell him he was unable to meet the monarch's demands for formation of a broad coalition government. He said he would call on the king again tonight for final counsel of what course should be taken.

The king had threatened to take action himself if the coalition was not formed. He possibly may dissolve parliament and call new elections immediately.

The cabinet crisis resulted from the resignation of Minister of Economic Co-ordination George Papandreou after Venizelos and the American Aid Mission refused to approve a large increase in subsidies for wheat growers from Economic Co-ordination Administration funds.

Insists Son Join Company

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 3 (AP). — Anneliese Von Ribbentrop, widow of Hitler's foreign minister, has rejected an offer of 500,000 marks ($115,000) to keep her son out of a German champagne concern.

The Otto Henkel firm offered this sum to settle a legal battle which began in 1945. Henkel said the name Ribbentrop would injure its export trade.

Mrs. Ribbentrop is suing Henkel to force fulfillment of a 1942 contract which she says obliged the firm to take Rudolf Von Ribbentrop, 30, as a partner.

Rudolf's father, Joachim, was Berlin representative of the firm from 1920 to 1924. He was hanged at Nuernberg in 1946 after conviction of war crimes by the international military tribunal.

The Wiesbaden court will hear the case Aug. 9.

Resume Talks

BERLIN, July 3 (AP) — East and West German trade experts have resumed talks on a master agreement for the entire country, it was announced today. As a result, the Soviet zone has dropped its threat to cut off brown coal and electric power exports to West Berlin, officials said.

W. F. Potter Killed In Accident

Cars In Collision At Park St., Driver Thrown Out

William F. Potter, 56, of Crawford's Grove, died Sunday night upon admittance to the Civic Hospital after a collision at the corner of Park and McDonnel Sts.

Driving west on McDonnel St., Mr. Potter's car had just started to cross Park St. when it met in collision with a north-bound car, driven by John Jardine, 67 Hamilton St.

The Jardine car caught the left rear side of the Potter car about 16 feet west of the east crosswalk on Park St. Both cars swung around. Police believe that as the Potter car turned in its circle, Mr. Potter's arm hit the door handle, opening it. He was then thrown out and the car continued another half turn.

Taken To Hospital

Potter was taken immediately to hospital suffering with multiple head injuries. Although artificial respiration was given at the hospital, he was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Potter, who was also taken to hospital, was treated for burns on the elbow, shoulder blade and right knee. She was later discharged.

Damage to the Potter car was slight, the left rear side, the fender, wheel and door seeming to be most seriously damaged. The front of Mr. Jardine's car was badly damaged, mainly to the grill, headlights, hood and bumper.

In the Potter car were Mr. Potter, Mrs. Potter and a nephew, James Glanville, Toronto. In the Jardine car were: Mr. Jardine, Robert Primeau, Kenneth Fleetwood and Fred Martin. None in the Jardine car were seriously hurt.

Worked As Jeweller

For the past four years Mr. Potter has lived in Peterborough and has worked as a jeweller. Prior to that he was a jeweller in Mount Forest for 12 years.

Debutante Has Brilliant Party

LONDON, July 3. (CP)—Gypsy violins played on lawns flood-lit in orange color today as 700 guests danced into the dawn at one of Britain's most brilliant coming-out parties since pre-war days.

The Earl of Haddington and his Montreal-born countess gave the ball for their 17-year-old daughter, Lady Mary Baillie-Hamilton, who wore a bouffant crinoline of white-panelled tulle starred with iridescent pearl shells. Lady Mary is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cook of Montreal.

Among those present were members of the Royal Family, the Dukes of Marlborough, Northumberland, Somerset and Buccleugh, Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, and Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general.

Escorts for Princes Margaret, dressed in white Tulle, included the Earl of Dalkeith, Lord Plunkett and Lord Ogilvy.

VICTIM OF A FREAK car accident, William F. Potter, 56, of Crawford's Grove, died Sunday night. He was thrown from the car door and landed fatally injured on a piece of vacant ground on the north-west corner of the Park-McDonnel St. intersection.

Former Pitcher With Dodgers Casey Suicides

ATLANTA, Ga., July 3 (AP)—Hugh Casey, 38, former baseball pitching star, killed himself here early today seconds after assuring his wife he was innocent of a charge that he fathered a son out of wedlock.

Police said the former Brooklyn Dodger player shot himself through the neck with a .16-gauge shotgun in a downtown hotel room at 2 a.m. EDT.

Mrs. Kathleen Casey, 34, the pitcher's estranged wife, said she argued for 15 minutes over the telephone seeking to dissuade him from committing suicide.

She said in an interview she argued desperately with him, but her pleas were interrupted by a shattering blast.

When the gun sounded, a friend of Casey's was only a few feet from the door of the athlete's room, hurrying to prevent the tragedy.

"I tried to tell him that it was for God to decide when a man must die, but he laughed and said, 'I am ready to die—ready to go'," Mrs. Casey said.

She said he added, "I feel just like I was walking out to the pitcher's box."

Repeats Innocence

Casey's last words, the widow related, were:

"I am completely innocent of those charges."

Mrs. Casey explained that he referred to the ruling of a court in New York which named the big pitcher as the father of a son born out of wedlock to Hilda Weissman, 25.

"I can't eat or sleep since going through all the embarrassment of that paternity case," Mrs. Casey quoted her husband. "And I had to drag you through it, too, but I swear with a dying oath that I am innocent."

Mrs. Casey said she assured Casey of her belief in his innocence. She said their estrangement had nothing to do with the New York paternity suit.

Had Heart Ailment

Lt. Fleming quoted a bell boy at the hotel, where the former mound star registered last week, as saying Casey told him Saturday that his physician had given him only about 10 days to live because of a heart ailment.

Gordon McNabb, a friend, told police Casey telephoned him shortly after midnight and said he planned to kill himself. McNabb, police said, sought to dissuade Casey, then hurried to the hotel.

When McNabb was about 30 feet from the door to Casey's room he heard the blast. McNabb said Casey had made similar threats for the last three days.

Gets Help

When he heard the blast, McNabb told Fleming, he ran down-

Gardnar Mulloy and Dick Savitt both of the United States, trounced Main and Brendan Macken of Montreal in the fourth round of the men's doubles 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Fire Destroys 4 Stores At Belleville

12 Families Flee Apartments In $500,000 Blaze

BELLEVILLE, July 3. (CP)—Fire gutted four stores in downtown Belleville Monday night and drove 12 families from their apartments upstairs. Damage was estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000. It was believed to have started in the apartment above Wray's furniture store. No one was injured, and the owners of the four stores were absent for the Dominion Day holiday. Residents of apartments in the four-storey builings were able to escape without difficulty.

Flames crackled upward in an alley between the Wray furniture store and the City Hotel about 6:30 Monday night.

Minutes later the blaze was roaring through the entire business block of four-storey buildings on Front St., and residents of upstairs apartments were hurrying to the street, clutching a few belongings. Firemen under Chief Gerald Vance turned all their equipment against the flames, which sent clouds of smoke rolling skyward.

The fire licked into Diamond and Son's Men's Furnishings Store, and on into Reddick's Bakery, gutting two storeys as firefighters fought to check spread of the flames to the entire downtown district. The Front St. area was roped off during the fire.

By eight o'clock firemen had the fire under control, but it was still burning two hours later. In addition to the bakery and men's clothing store flames had eaten their way into the hotel, causing considerable damage, and firemen were still pouring water onto it to check spread of the fire.

Water and smoke had also damaged the hotel, but of three other buildings only the charred walls remained. Firemen were keeping a close watch late Monday night, and it was feared walls of the buildings would collapse. Parts of the buildings were still smoldering.

The entire block was hit by the flames in the hour and a half before firemen got it under control, but no one was injured. Their efforts kept sparks from jumping to other nearby buildings, although for a while it was feared the Artistic Ladies' Wear across the street might catch.

Roping off of Front St. caused traffic congestion. Front St. traffic was rerouted via No. 2 Highway, and this, together with heavy holiday traffic, caused a jam of cars which kept police busy. Other officers were busy helping firemen keep the curious away from the fire.

11 Soldiers Jailed 2 Years

SEOL, Korea, July 3 (Reuters) —Eleven British soldiers, convicted by general court-martial of having joined in front-line mutiny, were sentenced today to two years' detention.

The sentence stipulates that the men were to be imprisoned outside the United Kingdom.

Privates of the First Battalion Northumberland Fusiliers were accused of refusing to obey an order to parade for training June 15 while in the front line. They pleaded innocent.

Suggests Thursday For Preliminary Talks On Peace

TOKYO, July 3. (AP)—The Allies today asked the Communists to meet Thursday and lay plans for a Korean cease-fire conference. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme United Nations Commander, accepted the Communist proposal for a July 10 Armistice meeting in the ancient Korean capital of Kaesong — earlier if possible. He also proposed a preliminary meeting Thursday to arrange details for that conference. Ridgway agreed to the time and place proposed by Red Chinese and North Korean commanders. But he urged faster action in ending the 53-week-old Korean war to save lives.

"Delay in initiating the meetings and in reaching agreement," he said, "will prolong the fighting and increase the losses."

There was no break in the fighting. UN planes and tanks hammered at Communists on the war fronts Tuesday as opposing commanders continued the slow exchange of radio messages.

Long Gun Duel

Dispatches from the front lines told of one of the longest artillery duels of the war fought on the eastern front.

On the central front, exhausted UN infantrymen captured the highest peak in the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang iron triangle after a three-day battle. But they failed to dislodge Chinese from neighboring hills from which the Reds poured a searing mortar barrage.

Sixty American jets and six B-29 Superforts bombed the Pyongyang downtown airfield in the heart of the Red Korean capital. Returning pilots called it a terrific blow.

Feeling of Relief

Ridgway's latest message brought a feeling of relief to US Eighth Army headquarters. AP correspondent Nat Polowetzky reported a feeling that the shooting would come to an end.

However, news dispatches from Moscow and Washington suggested not too much should be expected in the immediate future from armistice moves.

Ridgway selected the earliest date mentioned by Red commanders — Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Gen. Peng Tehhuai of China. They had proposed meeting between July 10 and 15.

The Allied commander picked July 10. He said his representatives were ready to meet earlier if the Communists would agree.

The UN commander's suggested preparatory meeting would lay the ground work for the cease-fire talk. Ridgway proposed sending three officers by helicopter or jeep—depending on the weather—to meet with three Communist officers in preliminary sessions. None would be of higher rank than colonel.

Ruling Wednesday On Railway Increase

OTTAWA, July 3—(CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today announced it will hand down a decision at 9:30 am EDT Wednesday on the railways asking higher rates estimated to yield them $89,000,000 a year to cover increases in costs of labor and materials.

They have asked for a double-barrelled freight increase made up of one to five per cent and another of 15 per cent. Hearings in the application were concluded last month.

30-Square Mile Forest Fire Under Control

CAMPBELL RIVER, BC, July 3 (CP).—Dog-tired loggers today won the upper hand in their 12-day struggle with a 30-square-mile forest fire on Vancouver Island.

About 200 of them blunted the southern spearhead of the fire by extending the 14-mile fire break along the eastern flank around the southern end of the fire zone.

This, temporarily at least, removed the threat to the Argonaut Iron Mines, where several tons of dynamite were buried. Only a strong wind would be likely to drive the fire out of control again.

At the same time, bulldozer men on the western and northern sides of the fire accomplished a job believed impossible—they constructed a fire break up a steep mountainside.

Fallers and buckers cleared a trail and bulldozers were pulled up the slope by cable and winch, gouging out the fire break as they went.

Ray Of Hope

Meanwhile, the weatherman added a ray of hope. He said increasing cloudiness should be evident in the southern coastal areas late today. No rain was likely in the immediate future but higher humidities should ease parched conditions.

Foresters said only a heavy rain could stamp out the fire.

Another truble spot arose today —on Redona Island between Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland. Fifty men were fighting a 300-acre blaze on Giroday Sawmills property. About 3,000,000 board feet of cut timber has already been destroyed.

Rain fell Monday night in the Queen Charlotte islands, 400 miles north of Vancouver, to ease the fire threat there. Along the southern coast, there has been no rain for 20 days.

Meanwhile, near Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver, a firefighter was killed while battling a small blaze. Y. Hadachi was carried to his death by a landslide.

4 Reds Vanish Bonds Forfeited

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP)—Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today forfeited the bonds of four of the 11 convicted Communist leaders when they failed to surrender in court.

The motion to forfeit the bonds, totalling $80,000, was made at the request of the government when the names of the missing Reds were called and there was no response.

Seven other leaders, also members of the party's American Politburo, began serving their prison terms Monday. The four missing leaders were to have appeared in court at the same time.

The four, object of a country-wide search, are Henry Winston, the party's national organization secretary, New York State chairman Robert Thompson, Illinois chairman Gilbert Green, and party national secretary Gus Hall.

Pay Machines Traffic Fines

NEW YORK, July 3—(AP)—Traffic offenders Monday went before a machine—instead of a judge—to pay their fines.

The new "Mechanical Court" was put to use in the Bronx for the first time.

In assembly-line fashion, 177 traffic violators paid fines totalling $798.

As each presented his summons, a clerk tapped a series of buttons, and out popped a receipt showing the fine the date, the offence, the docket and court numbers and a code number for the judge who wasn't there.

Philip Will Return To London In July

LONDON, July 3 — (AP) — Prince Philip, husband of Princess Elizabeth, is giving up his British Navy post in the Mediterranean this month and returning to London. Clarence House, official residence of Princess Elizabeth, announced Monday night that Philip would come home July 21 after giving up command of the Royal Navy frigate Magpie.

Dial Zero One For Trouble Murder, Bugs Looked After

BERLIN, July 3 (AP).—Murder or bugs, just dial "Zero One" in West Berlin and the trouble will be looked after.

At least that is what some West Berliners seem to think, to the despair of police officials.

It was for murder, kidnapping, armed robbery, riots and other such emergencies that West Berlin police headquarters set aside the short, easy-to-remember telephone number "Zera One." It rings more than 200 times daily.

An elderly woman dialed it in the middle of the night. A radio car raced to her flat where the excited woman presented the officers with two bugs carefully wrapped in paper.

"For months," she said; "I've told the landlord to do something about the bugs in the house, but he never believed there were any. Now I've caught the proof and you are my witnesses."

Fearful spinsters are frequent customers of "Zero One." Sometimes there is something tangible for police to work on—like the old lady who reported burglars in her house. The "burglar" turned out to be an inebriated neighbor trying to fit his key in the wrong door.

One unusually-cautious young lady called "Zero One" just to be sure somebody was there in case something should happen. "I expect a young male visitor you see" she explained to the flabbergasted policeman, "and you never know . . ."

Weary police officials have noted that the number of emergency calls rises sharply on pay days. Usually on those days police aid is sought to stop a beer-hall fight.

Northwest Territories Hold First Municipal Eelections

OTTAWA July 3 (CP)—First municipal elections in the history of the northwest territories will be held Sept. 17, it was announced today.

Officials of the Resources Department, which has jurisdiction over the territories, said the elections will be held in the Mackenzie district. Representatives for three divisions in the district will be elected for three-year terms to an eight-member council of the northwest territories. The remaining five members will be appointed by the government.

There is a possibility Indians and Eskimos will be among the candidates seeking election. Nominations close Aug. 20 and Indians and Eskimos will have the right to vote and to run for office. The number of eligible voters is estimated at 6,000.

Total population of Mackenzie West is about 3,300 including 500 whites, 1,000 Eskimos and 1,800 Indians. In Mackenzie South there are approximately 1,000 whites, 600 Eskimos, 1,500 Indians and two Chinese. The district takes in the booming mining town of Yellowknife.

An amendment to the Northwest Territories Act at the recent session of parliament provided for a measure of self-government for the territories as a result of the rapid growth in population in recent years. The amendment also increased membership of the council to eight from five.

Metropolitan Opera Faces Series Of Fines

NEW YORK, July 3—(AP)—The Metropolitan Opera has a problem—its scenery is too long for a new city traffic regulation.

The law says trucks in the garment district can be no longer than 33 feet, and the Met's stage settings have a bat habit of protuding behind the truck beyond that limit.

The scenery is in the traffic jam because the Met now is busy preparing for the fall season.

Police warned Monday that they would start issuing summonses.

Melting Pot Plan For Canada Said Dangerous

LONDON, July 3—(CP)—Dr. F. Cyril James of McGill University said Monday night that it would be well for Canada if she had more British immigrants.

Dr. James, McGill's principal and vice-chancellor, spoke at a Dominion Day banquet given by the Canada Club. L. D. Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner, presided and read greetings from Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Before a distinguished audience which included Canada's Governor-General Viscount Alexander, Dr. James said the Dominion has made tremendous strides since the confederation "act of faith," but her future role is even greater.

"We dare not for a single moment assume that our greatest exploits are behind us," he said. "The road still runs ahead toward the distant goal which is the attainment for all men and women of those liberties envisaged by the ablest of our predecessors."

Need More Peope

In that task, Canada would continue to march in the forefront with other members of the Commonwealth and the United States, but she must bring within her borders more people of energy and ability.

Dr. James said he was not opposing immigration of people from non-British countries. What he was suggesting, however, was the re-examination of the 19th century concept of the "melting pot" which assumed the people of all races and languages could combine into a homogeneous country with democratic ideals.

He doubted whether the British Commonwealth could long survive if each of the Dominions adhered to that concept.

"It would be well for Canada, and for mankind," Dr. James said, "if the northern bastion of our western world were manned by a larger number of men and women from the breed that stood quietly on guard during those dark days when these islands were the only bulwark of human freedom.

Change In Pensions Benefits Thousands

OTTAWA, July 3 — (CP) — Thousands of Canadians, young and old, will benefit from the changes in Canada's war pensions set-up approved in the final stages of the Commons session that ended Saturday.

The changes will cost the federal treasury an estimated $5,000,000 a year on top of the present annual pensions bill of about $100,000,000.

Changes now going into effect will help more than 20,000 war pensioners, widows and dependent children.

Report 76 Holiday Fatalities Across Ten Provinces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Death on highways and at beaches marred celebrations of Dominion Day as Canadians took full advantage of the first long weekend of summer. A Canadian Press survey recorded a steadily-mounting toll of 75 dead in drownings, traffic accidents and other mishaps in the period between Friday evening and Monday midnight.

Of the dead, 32 persons were drowned, 24 died in automobile accidents and 19 died from other causes, including fires and shootings.

Heaviest toll was in Ontario where 36 persons met violent death, including 20 by drowning and seven in traffic.

Quebec's total was 14 dead, of which six were by drowning and seven in highway accidents.

Six persons killed in a car-truck collision at Delta were among the seven killed in traffic accidents in Alberta. The total number of violent deaths in that province was 12, including two drownings.

The toll in British Columbia six, Manitoba four, Nova Scotia and Saskatoon one each.

Worst In Six Years

It was the worst three-day Dominion Day weekend at least since the end of the Second World War, surpassing the toll of 65 dead in 1949. Last year 51 dead were reported in the two-day weekend; in 1948 there were 70 violent deaths in five days, from July 1 to July 4, and in 1947 there were 98 deaths in four days of the holiday.

Sporting events and highway outings were most popular for the thousands of Canadians who preferred an active Dominion Day weekend.

The informality contrasted with observances of Canada's 84th birthday by native sons abroad, particularly in London, England, where a reception was given by High Commissioner L. Dana Wilgress. D. F. Cyril Jones, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, was chief speaker at a Canadian Club dinner, also in London.

Hold Receptions

Canadian embassies in various capitals celebrated the day with receptions. External Affairs Minister Pearson attended Dominion Day celebrations at the residence of the Canadian ambassador, Pierre Dupuy, in The Hague, Netherlands.

The anniversary of Confederation was marked officially in Ottawa by the firing of a 21-gun salute from Parliament Hill. There were also special observances in provincial capitals.

But for the most part, the celebrations were spontaneous. Toronto was an example — police there reported that as a result of over-enthusiastic celebration of the weekend 20 persons had been jailed.

Fires Costly

In Ontario, a fire was the biggest individual cause of death. Frederick White, 28, and his four children were burned to death Friday night when fire swept through their Parkhill, Ont., home.

Near Timmins, Mrs. Amelia Lampron and her two children died when the truck they were riding on went into the Muckego River near their home.

At Cobourg, two RCAF crew members, FO. Garth E. Horricks, 30, of Toronto and FO George Laing of Windsor were killed when their plane crashed into a swamp.

Wayne and Betty Prescott of Pembroke were drowned in the Indian River as they celebrated the end of school with a swim.

Other persons drowned were: Henry Weilinc, 11, of Kitchener in the nearby Conestonga River; Harvey Hull, 20, of Timmins in Moose Lake east of town; Robert Kec, 36, of Canton, O., in Talon Lake; Rose Marie Clarkson, 7, of Bright's Grove, in Lake Huron; David Riddell, 28, of Innerkip, in a quarry pit; William Richmond, 29, of Brantford, in Lake Erie and an unidentified man in a quarry near Drydon.

Jan Charlebois, 14, of Ottawa was drowned in the Rideau Canal; Ralph Eyre, 17, of Mooretown, in a gravel pit; Bill Conway, 57, of Gravenhurst in the Muskoka district; Robert Diamond 16, of Newmarket in the Jersey River; an unidentified man at Vankoughnet, Ont.; Albert Andrews and Bud Heaslip of Toronto in Clearwater Lake and Edward Kutzell, 20, of Hamilton at Puslinch, Ont.

Car Fatalities

Killed in automobile accidents were: Betty Fowler, 14, of Blackstock, in a train-car crash; Roy Baldassi, 35, of Hamilton in a collision near Hamilton; Stewart Jenkins, 16, of Detroit, when his car struck a freight train at Belle River; Mrs. Ann Daerlie, 71, when the car she was in hit a tree and Walter Conron, 68, of Englehart in a collision near his home.

William Potter, Peterborough jeweller, was killed in a two-car crash at Peterborough and Stewart Jenkins of Essex, was killed in a crash at Essex.

Samuel M. Colwell, 67, of Glamis, was killed by a runaway horse on his farm.

Robert Irving, 38, of Petrolia, shot himself to death with a shotgun after wounding his daughter-in-law Shirley Locjrey, 17, when she refused to go to a dance with him.

Oatis Admits Acting As Spy

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 3 (AP)—William N. Oatis denied a Communist prosecutor's charge Monday that he had taken over an "espionage network" when he became Associated Press bureau chief in Prague. But he told the court trying him on anti-state charges that he had been a spy.

The prosecutor, who depicted Oatis as a link in a spy ring including former Prague correspondents of Reuters News Agency, Agence France-Presse and United Press, indicated he would call 11 witnesses to the stand today.

Among them are several Czech writers, former employees of Pan American Airways and the United Press: Joseph Havelka, alleged murderer of a Czech security officer; Lydia Votavova, former AP employee, and Matej Kubik, former Hotel Alcron bartender.

Only three people, apparently civilians, were spotted today by observers who flew over Kaesong. The rubble-strewn city is in Communist-held territory, three miles south of Parallel 38 and 35 miles northwest of Seoul.

Three Far Eastern radio stations began broadcasting Ridgway's message at 2:30 pm Tuesday. That was 39½ hours after Kim and Peng had answered the original UN armistice suggestion.

Ridgway's message said:

"I have received your reply to my message of 30 June.

"I am prepared for my representatives to meet yours at Kaesong on July 10, or at an earlier date if your representatives complete their preparations before that date.

"Since agreement on armistice terms has to precede cessation of hostilities, delay in initiating the meeting and in reaching agreement will prolong the fighting and increase the losses.

Sed Three Officers

"To insure efficient arrangement of the many details connected with the first meeting, I propose that not to exceed three of my liaison officers have a preliminary meeting with an equal number of yours in Kaesong on July 5, or as soon thereafter as practicable.

"If you concur, my liaison officers, the senior of whom will not be above the rank of colonel, will depart Kimpo airfield southwest of Seoul by helicopter at 2300 GMT on July 4 (9 am July 5 Tokyo time or 7 p.m. EDT July 4) or at the same hour on the day agreed upon for this meeting, proceeding direct to Kaesong.

"In the event of bad weather, these officers will proceed in a convoy of three unarmed one-quarter ton trucks, commonly known as jeeps, along the main road from Seoul to Kaesong. Each vehicle will bear a large white flag. The convoy will cross the Imjin River on the Seoul-Kaesong road about 23000 hours GMT, July 4 (9 am July 5, Tokyo time), or at the same hour on the day agreed upon for this meeting.

Asks For Schedule

"The convoy bearing your liaison officers to and from the meeting will be granted immunity from attack by my forces, providing you advise me of its route and schedule, and the manner by which my forces may identify it.

"Your reply is requested.

"M. B. Ridgway

"General, United States Army

"Commander-in-Chief

"United Nations Command."

Fire Claims Total 17 Million

CLEVELAND, July 3 (AP)—Claims against Canada Steamship Lines as a result of the SS Noronic fire at Toronto pier Sept. 17, 1949, added up to nearly $17,000,000 as the deadline for filing passed Monday.

Only a few claims were added Monday.

Lucian Y. Ray, one of the Admiralty lawyers representing CSL, owner of the vessel aboard which 119 died, said his office had copies of 106 death claims and that their total was "pretty close to $17,000,000."

A committee of five lawyers who represent 89 of the death claimants submitted to the federal court Monday a six-page document listing 56 alleged instances of fault on the part of the steamship line.

Their petition asked the court to make the steamship line "fully liable" for each claimant, with interest at six per cent back to Sept. 17, 1949.

The company already has asked the court to put a limit of $448,000 on their liability, an amount set by protective admiralty law.

Kidnapped Premier Escapes Swims From Blazing Ship

BANGKOK, Thailand, July 3—(AP).—The blood-spattered two-day uprising against the government of Premier P. Pibulsonggram was put down when the kidnapped Premier leaped from a burning ship and swam a river under gunfire. Later by radio he talked rebellious navy men into quitting.

The 54-year-old Premier told his story to The Associated Press Monday as this capital settled back to normal after the wild outbreak that began Friday and ended Sunday morning.

The revolt started when a band of navy men seized the Premier aboard the American dredger Manhattan, which was being handed over to Thailand (Siam.)

Pibulsonggram said he was placed in a launch and sped across the Chao Phraya River to the Royal navy's flagship, the 2,265-ton Sri Ayuthia.

There, he said, three naval officers begged him to resign. He refused.

The army, air force and police force attacked the navy rebels with tanks, artillery, planes and small arms.

Ship Hit By Shell

Saturday afternoon an army artillery shell hit the Sri Ayuthia and set it afire.

Then air bombs scored near misses which killed many of the crew.

Three sailors released Pibulsonggram from his cabin and the four dived over the side together. As they swam the river, gunfire killed one and wounded another.

Pibulsonggram and the other two reached the Thonburi side, opposite Bangkok, and hid under a wharf until dark. Then they encountered one of the Premier's bodyguards who had also escaped.

This man, a police captain, got a message to Maj.-Gen. Karb Kunchorn, the Premier's secretary, who reached the Premier's hiding place by taking a small boat across the river.

The Premier said that from the time he leaped from the burning ship until he reached Government House, he was clad only in his undershorts and that he had neither food nor drink for two days.

He met with his cabinet Monday and named a committee to inquire into the rebellion and its causes.

The committee Monday afternoon reported that three rebel leaders had fled, two had been captured and four other persons had come in to deny having any part in the plit.

Hot Campaign Over Wet Vote

Seven hundred Bobcaygeon residents will vote on July 18 on whether or not the village will have a liquor store and a brewers' warehouse. Beverage rooms are not being sought.

Both the wets and the drys are already campaigning to swing the vote their way.

The Bobcaygeon Citizens League representing the drys, in an appeal to businessmen, say that dominion statistics reveal that dry towns do more retail business than wet ones.

Ted Shea, chairman of the Bobcaygeon Committee for Government Stores, denies this. Mr. Shea says that it is well known that residents and tourists do much of their shopping in other localities where they can get a beer or liquor supply.

A beverage room will not necessarily follow, he says.

Fifty Killed In Plane Crash

FORT COLLINS, Colo., July 3 (AP)—A United Air Lines mainliner smashed into Crystal Mountain Saturday, killing all 50 persons aboard.

The grim task of removing the torn bodies of the crash victims from the wreckage-strewn mountain ledge began Sunday.

All 50 were killed instantly when the earthbound airliner crashed 18 miles west of this Northern Colorado city.

Trucks augmented the inadequate supply of hearses which filed up mountain roads for the victims' remains. The bodies had to be carried by hand for a mile to jeeps and four-wheel-drive trucks, which took them over eight miles of rutted mountain trails to the hearses.

The DC-6, flying from Cheyenne, Wyo., in Denver, Colo., on its San Francisco - to - Chicago flight, was some 40 miles to the west of its course when it struck the ledge.

The bodies of the pilot and co-pilot were near the point where the plane hit. The largest segment, a portion of the tail section, was a quarter-mile away. Mangled bodies, torn mail sacks, carnations —apparently part of the cargo— and dolls belonging to the seven children aboard were strewn in between. Treetops were clipped off as if by a giant scythe.

Armed guards were posted to keep out the curious, who jammed the roads leading to the scene.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 3 — (ENS)—A light, late model pick-up truck, registered in the name of J. Flook, 581 Mortimer Ave., Toronto, was wrecked on a level crossing two miles west of Hastings early Sunday morning. The truck stalled on the CNR tracks and was struck by a train.

The driver of the truck, whom police have not yet been able to locate, apparently stalled the truck on the tracks, and thinking no train would be through for some time, left the vehicle to phone for help to remove truck. Police have established that the man made a phone call, and was not in the truck when it was struck, but so far, the driver has not reported the accident to police.

The impact tossed the vehicle 90 feet down the tracks, and damaged it beyond repair. The train crew experienced some delay in resuming their trip. The engineer reported the accident to provincial police. Constable Donald W. Erskine investigated.

Bethany Pupils Honor Teachers

BETHANY, July 3 — (ENS) — School closed at Bethany on Friday morning and was celebrated with a short program, games and a picnic lunch. As both teachers are leaving this year, the pupils marked the occassion with parting gifts.

On behalf of the senior room pupils, Bob Ryley presented the principal, Lawrence Millson, who is moving to Oshawa, with a woolen blanket. Marie Carr read the address expressing their regret at his departure and thanks for his guidance and instruction in the past four years.

Representing the pupils of the junior room Phyllis Bristow presented their teacher, Miss Marilyn Cavano with a teapot. Joan Morton read the address, wishing Miss Cavano every successe as she joins the staff of Queen Mary school in Peterborough.

Report cards were given out and both teachers expressed their regret at leaving Bethany.

With the beginning of the Fall term, Bethany Continuation school reverts to the status of a two roomed public school and high school pupils will be transported by bus to Lindsay and Peterborough.

Mrs. Vincent Jackson drew the winning ticket on a woollen rug, the work of Mrs. Alice McGrath.

Mrs. Alice McGrath presided at the organ.

Reginald Hugo President Of Festivals

SAINT JOHN, NB, July 3 (CP) —Reginald Hugo, Winnipeg, was re-elected Saturday president of the Federation of Canadian Music Festivals.

D. W. MacCormack represents Ontario on the executive.

Next annual meeting will be held at Nelson, BC, July 3, 4, 5, 1952.

Before the 1951 conference ended Saturday, decision was reached to establish a new national trophy in memory of George Simpson Mathieson, who was an honorary president of the Manitoba festival, an honorary president of the Canadian Federation and first honorary life member of the federation.

The trophy will be awarded for the best children's or junior choral performance judged by the entire team of chain adjudicators at festivals throughout Canada.

Fees Discussed

Fees for British adjudicators also came under discussion but was not decided. These festival judges have felt that the fees they received in Canada were insufficient to compensate them for time lost while away from their work in England.

For Canadian adjudicators, a maximum fee of $50 a day was decided upon, with a proviso that each festival make its own arrangements with the adjudicators.

The subjects of a national syllabus and a national music selection committee were tabled for further consideration.

Korea

In Korea, peace is imminent. We use the word advisedly. Imminent means threatening, impending. Peace has come to signify a state of affairs which brings taxes, sweat, tears and blood. The twentieth century version of peace is not a dove. It is not something to be rushed into headlong. Peace has its price, no less than war. Nevertheless, we in Canada believe in peace and not in war.

• • •

What is around the corner in Korea is not full-fledged peace, but an armistice. That word means a standing still of the sun: a suspension of hostilities, a truce. But we Canadians prefer that the sun stand still over poised arms, than that a futile war, dangerous for the hemispheres of west and east, north and south, should continue.

• • •

We Canadians believe that peace at her price is better than war at no discernible price. Peace can be made in Korea: let it be done. Peace "with honour" can be made: let us have that honour, and not give it all to Stalin.

• • •

How different-sounding the name Korea has become in the last year! Before June 1950, Korea meant missionary effort to most Canadians. Since then it has meant war. As much as one may be inclined to resent it, is there not justification for believing that the missionaries of the church (some of them literate, some not) have been people who unwittingly laid the bases for war?

• • •

This war in Korea has demonstrated the weakness of missions as a factor in modern colonization. Korea is a nation, not a mission. Let us accept it as such, now.

Parking At The Summer Theatre

There is no need to rehearse here the tribulations of the theatre-going public in ensuring that the Peterborough Summer Theatre and its wide public would continue to have the use of the Queen Mary auditorium.

The difficulty revolved around ensuring that the public would have the use of the hall which their money had built while at the same time providing that the rights adhering to adjacent private property would be respected. That difficulty seemed to have been resolved by (a) contractual guarantees of the Summer Theatre about hours of occupancy and conditions of use of the auditorium, (b) a plea endorsed by the Board of Education to the City Council to zone the area for parking purposes, and (c) the Council's by-law to regulate parking in this area.

The City Council passed a by-law prohibiting car-parking across from and beside the school property where such parking might be deemed a nuisance. The Department of Highways approved the by-law. The Council sent a letter to the Board of Education announcing that the by-law had been passed in accordance with the Board's request. All seemed plain sailing (or plain parking).

This was done while the heat was on—the heat of popular demand. But last Monday week the Council got cold feet, it seems. (Did it feel that the heat was turned off?) The Council voted to suspend the operation of the by-law, and with insouciance again passed the parking problem to the Board of Education. By this time, of course, the Board had done its public duty. It had done all it could to ensure the preservation of Queen Mary auditorium as a public hall . . . though it hedged its affirmation by erecting a new fence beside part of the school grounds.

The onus was properly and legally on the Council. Yet the Council seemed disposed to side-step. Fortunately, the Mayor and some Aldermen must have seen the light of conscience and public responsibility before last night, the first Summer Theatre performance at Queen Mary. Anyway, No Parking signs were set up at the appropriate places; a traffic officer was on hand to guide motorists from the strait and narrow into the broad and legal, and all went well.

Actually, so easy and smooth and quiet were the traffic matters and car parking last night that one wonders what all the fuss was about in the first place! All was as blithe as a midsummer idyll.

It would be a very serious matter indeed if by some mischance the Queen Mary auditorium were barred to all public lectures, cinemotographs and stage presentations. It is our finest small hall. The Board of Education should be, and is, acutely concerned that the auditorium it has built from public funds should be used for the instruction and enjoyment of the ratepayers.

So serene were the workings of the by-law and so ready the compliance of the public last night, that one can hope that the whole matter is pragmatically resolved, for good and all, to the convenience of the rate-payers and the satisfaction of the private public (sic) in the environs of Queen Mary school.

Will U.S. Control Bill Affect Canada?

The new and temporary price control bills rushed through the United States Congress at the week-end bore little resemblance to the legislation visualized by the U.S. Administration when it asked for an extension of the control powers it considers necessary to fight inflation. These bills gave President Truman almost nothing he asked for, and they took from him some of the power Congress had given him last September. The two bills, one from the House and one from the Senate, also appear likely to undermine the Administration's program of price stabilization, if not to nullify it completely.

A major feature of the House of Representatives bill was the relaxation of a regulation governing instalment buying, to let it run eighteen months instead of the present fifteen. Economic authorities generally agree that this will be inflationary in effect, but the House paid more attention to the protests of automobile dealers. Legislators in both House and Senate also heeded the furious protests of the cattlemen, and placed clauses in their bills prohibiting further rollbacks in meat prices—an open victory for a pressure group and its lobby over the Administration.

Behind the refusal of Congress to grant the President the powers requested there appears to be a widespread lack of conviction that controls are necessary. Despite public protests against rising prices, few people were sufficiently aroused to write to their legislators demanding controls, and in the absence of this usually effective form of protest, the legislators obviously decided to add to their record of thwarting Administration wishes. Undoubtedly, they were also influenced by the current lull in the advance in prices which began early in the Spring, and which the Administration considers only temporary.

It remains to be seen whether the new control bills will have an inflationary effect or not. If they do, the chief point of interest for Canadians will be whether—perhaps it might be more accurate to say to what extent—their own economy will be affected by inflation in the United States. The manner in which economic conditions in the United States may affect Canadian consumers was impressively demonstrated by the recent sharp rises in beef prices in this country, due to the stockyards boycott imposed by United States cattlemen. And if the new control bills actually result in the people of the United States being forced to pay some two and a half billions a year for food and goods, as predicted, there is reason to fear that consumers in this country may be similarly affected.

Let The Dead Rest In Their Peace

As during the last war, so in the Korean war. Appeals are being made to the Federal Government to bring home the bodies of the men killed in Korea. The Government is considering the matter.

While we sympathize with the relatives and friends who mourn their gallant dead now lying in far eastern soil, and recognize their solicitude in wanting to bring the Canadian bodies back to the home district earth, we believe with all our heart that this would be a violation of the dead themselves. There is a fine and noble tradition that valour should rest where it falls.

If I should die, think only this of me:
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is forever England.

So Rupert Brooke wrote during the Great War. His body rests in the Middle East, in soil which it consecrates. So with our Canadian dead in Korea. They lie in a corner of a distant land which is forever enshrined as Canada. "Sleep on, sleep sound" wrote the poet Housman. So be it.

The bringing back of the warrior dead is a pandering to the maudlin living; it is not honouring the spirit of the dead. Out of decency and respect for the sacrifice of life these men have made, let them rest as they are, where they are. In this matter it is the dead, not the living who should have our tender respect.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In Harrisburg, Pa., a couple have been married on roller skates. Presumably they fell for each other.

We have no quarrel with people who play the piano by ear, but there is a nuisance in our neighbourhood who apparently plays with his feet.

A man writing to a medical columnist says: "I reach for things that aren't there. What causes this?" Living in boarding-houses, probably.

A Ghost Pleads For Culture

By CARL WEISEBERGER
in the Ottawa Citizen

AT the risk of being accused of seemingly fictitious reporting, I cannot withhold the following unbelievable incident on St. James Street, Montreal:

A big businessman reading about the quick action taken by the Canadian government with regard to some of the major recommendations of the Massey Report shook his head in dismay. "Arts and Sciences . . . in times like these . . ." he snarled.

AT this moment a tiny figure jumped out of the "inter-comm." on his huge desk. It looked like a miniature duke from Verdi's Rigoletto, clad in picturesque Renaissance costume, with a daring blue feather on his vermilion-red hat.

"My name is Lorenzo The Magnificent, of Florence," the tiny fellow introduced himself in a thin, whispering voice which, however, grew quickly louder in the same way as the small, marionette-like figure expanded. Once he had sufficiently grown, he jumped from the desk and sat down in an armchair with the casual ease of a 20th century customer who had come to talk business with Mr. Jones.

"NO PAURA, signore . . . pardon me, don't be alarmed, sir . . . I am—that is I was just a businessman like you; a Florentine businessman and politician like all the Medici, but I spent many thousand scudi every year on the arts and sciences, and my times, I assure you, were at least as uncertain as yours, crammed with wars and revolts and revolutions, with political crises and crimes—and yet I spent thousands of ducats and florins on paintings, sculptures, tapestries and books, on lofty marble stairs, bronze fountains and jewellery. For books alone I spent up to 40,000 scudi each year!"

"How much is a scudi in Canadian dollars? Scudi are not listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange, you know," Mr. Jones remarked.

"TO spread the desire for Learning, I sent the noted scholar Giovanni Lascari twice to the Orient for the express purpose of discovering and purchasing ancient manuscripts for my library . . . . You must show me your library sometime, signore" (Mr. Jones cast an uncomfortable glance at the second drawer of his desk where he kept two comic books and a mystery thriller).

"I kept an army of copyists busy, an army almost bigger than the whole Florentine army—by Jove!—our national defense was a vital problem too, considering the vast Roman spyring and the fifth column supported by Naples. But I simply had to found a Greek academy in Florence and to establish the university of Pisa at the cost of 6,000 florins . . ."

"How much is a florin in dollars?" Mr. Jones enquired, drops of sweat pouring from his forehead.

"I do not mean to appear immodest but . . ."

"No, you're one understatement from top to toe," said Mr. Jones.

LORENZO The Magnificent, probably unaware of Mr. Jones' sarcasm, displayed, like an enterprising salesman, more samples of his art-patronage.

"At my summer villa in Careggi I assembled scholars, artists and artisans of fame such as Botticelli, Ghirlandajo and Verrocchio and I pride myself on having discovered Leonardo da Vinci. I gave generous commissions to the leading artists of my time, spending some 50,000 scudi a year, sometimes as much as 5,000 for one commission . . . ."

"Very royally!"

"In my garden near San Marco I opened a school for sculpture inviting all young sculptors to work there and use freely a collection of casts made from my antique statues . . . ."

"How much did that cost, for goodness' sake?"

"In this outstanding school for sculptors I was struck by the genius of a 15-year-old lad. His name was Michelangelo — in case you have heard of him. When my family, the glorious Medici, built their city palaces and villas they had at one time 10,000 men working at those vast undertakings!"

"Ten thousand workers! Have you an idea what that would cost me, with hour-wages what they are now, and with union contracts and everything! All you had to do was to put your slaves and prisoners to work . . . ."

"I know nothing about your labour-laws," the Florentine remarked, "thank God! They must have impoverished you completely since your office looks—how do you say it in English?—definitely lousy, with not one master-painting on the walls, no tapestries, no artistically carved chairs, not even a golden ink-stand on your table! My office was hung with one painting by Leonardo da Vinci, two Botticellis and three Filippo Lippis!"

"They are probably in museums now and worth millions of dollars. I couldn't afford a Leonardo da Vinci for my office," said Mr. Jones.

"It need not be a Leonardo. What of the painters of your time? You must have your own Leonardos and Botticellis."

✧ ✧ ✧

"HAVE we? My wife is trying to talk me into buying modern pictures. But frankly I think they stink. I like to see a man's face painted as a man's face and not as a rubber-tyre or a corn-cob . . . ."

"Well," Lorenzo shrugged his padded velvet shoulders. "I myself had troubles sometimes in understanding modern art, especially when the painters started with newfangled experiments such as perspective . . . foreshortening . . . bizarre movement . . . Don't forget, I'm an old-timer. I died in the same year in which Christopher Columbus discovered America?"

"What do you know?"

"I did not know it then."

"Perhaps I don't understand art," Mr. Jones conceded. "My daughter took a course at the Banff School of Art. Personally, I believe this was just an excuse for spending a lot of money in the Rockies . . . . And now that Massey Report! I'd rather have a space-ship built to fly to the moon than waste money on travelling art-exhibitions and symphony orchestras . . . ."

Lorenzo The Magnificent jumped from his chair.

"By Jove! A space-ship! So Leonardo da Vinci's fantastic dreams of flying in the air must have come true! When are you travelling to the Moon? To Mars? To Venus? I am going with you! By the Nine Muses, I will! But—on one condition! I want our space-ship properly decorated, covered with allegoric paintings showing Daedalus taking to the clouds, since we must demonstrate to those distant stellar-men that we, the earthmen, are not barbarians but people who love the arts! I do hope you have commissioned, next to the engineers, a number of outstanding artists, to decorate the space-ship . . . ."

"Drop dead!"

"I did—450 years ago—thank God!" Lorenzo The Magnificent answered, shrank into a tiny figure and withdrew into the "inter-comm." on Mr. Jones' desk.

DO WE HEAR A DEEP RUMBLE?

—By Charlie Knight in the Windsor Star

Strawberry Price Confusion

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

THE law says strawberries must be bought by Ontario processors this year at 18¼ cents a quart, and as a result all sorts of weird things have been happening. Canners had to refuse berries at 15 cents offered by Toronto wholesalers, some farmers have been selling them on the open market at prices as low as 12 cents, and others shipped them to Quebec for 14 cents a quart to give processors in that province the opportunity to undersell Ontario's jam.

Ontario canners will pay the fixed price for a certain quantity, but the overflow seeks an inevitable outlet that no government is able to control. Also Holland is sending in cheap berry pulp that makes second-grade jam, and this is more readily demanded by the public than the pure-grade product.

In such a state of competition canners would take larger quantities at a reduced price, but at the moment only the Ontario processors are unable to do this. The least that could be said in defence of the processors is that if they felt they could buy bigger quantities at the fixed price and still make any profit on their jam they would not hesitate to do it.

No, it's not a classic example; it's just another case of how a "fair" price is never a one-way street. On the very day public attention was being drawn to the strawberry confusion, retailers were shouting for an embargo on beef to the United States, which was lifted because our cattlemen said they could make no money at prevailing prices in Canada.

Dimly forgotten is the picture of potatoes being plowed under in the Maritimes, because they could not be disposed of at fixed government prices, of butter being stored at a cost of millions of dollars to the taxpayer, so that the price wouldn't drop; of fish being given away to foreign countries for the same reason, and of $65,000,000 being paid to Western wheat farmers because the Government had "miscalculated" on its long-term deal with Britain.

A "fair" price is a wonderful thing in theory—the trouble is buyer and seller have very different ideas of what a "fair" price is. And government is no substitute for the market place.

Canadian Preaches To Queen

(U.K. INFORMATION SERVICE)

HER Majesty Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret attended the international service of thanksgiving in St. Paul's Cathedral, on June 17th, commemorating the 250th anniversary of the founding of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The lessons were read by the Bishop of Gambia and Rio Pongas (Africa) and the Bishop of Lebombo (Africa), and the blessing was given by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The sermon was preached by the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Dr. L. R. Sherman, from the text "In the name of our God we will set up our banners" (Psalm 20: 5). As an army on the march, he said, the Society came to this central shrine to reset its purpose, to renew hope, to regather strength. He paid a particular tribute to the work of the Society on behalf of Canada and the Canadian Church. What the Society had done over the years for the enrichment of Canadian life and the strengthening of its branch of the Anglican communion, he stated, no words could adequately express.

The Most Reverend Louis Ralph Sherman, M.A., B. Litt., D.D., LL.D., Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Synod Office, Trinity Hall, Winnipeg, was born in Fredericton, N.B., Aug. 28th, 1886. He received his education at Fredericton public and high schools; the University of New Brunswick (B.A., M.A.); Bishop's College, Lennoxville (L.S.T., D.D.); Christ Church Oxford (B.A., B.Litt.); Cuddesden College. He is married to the former Carolyn Gillmore, and they have one son and two daughters living. Their eldest son, Laurence, was killed in action in Italy May 23rd, 1944.

NEW-FANGLED CARS

An old mountaineer was on his way to the town. He decided to use the new highway that had just been completed. Just as he was about to steer his horse onto the road, an automobile whizzed by. The old man had never before seen one of these new-fangled machines. Open-mouthed he started after it. Scarcely a minute passed, and following in close pursuit, came a motorcycle cop. The old man was astounded. Muttering to himself he said, "Well, by gol. Who'do thunk that thing could have a colt?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it . . . .

A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven . . . .

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7: 13, 14, 18-21, 28, 29.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Supper had been ready for a long time when the henpecked husband limped into the house and hung up his hat.

"Henry," said his wife from the dining-room, "what do you mean by being two hours late?"

"But darling, I've been run over," he protested from the hall.

"Well, what of it?" she demanded, coldly. "It doesn't take two hours to get run over!"

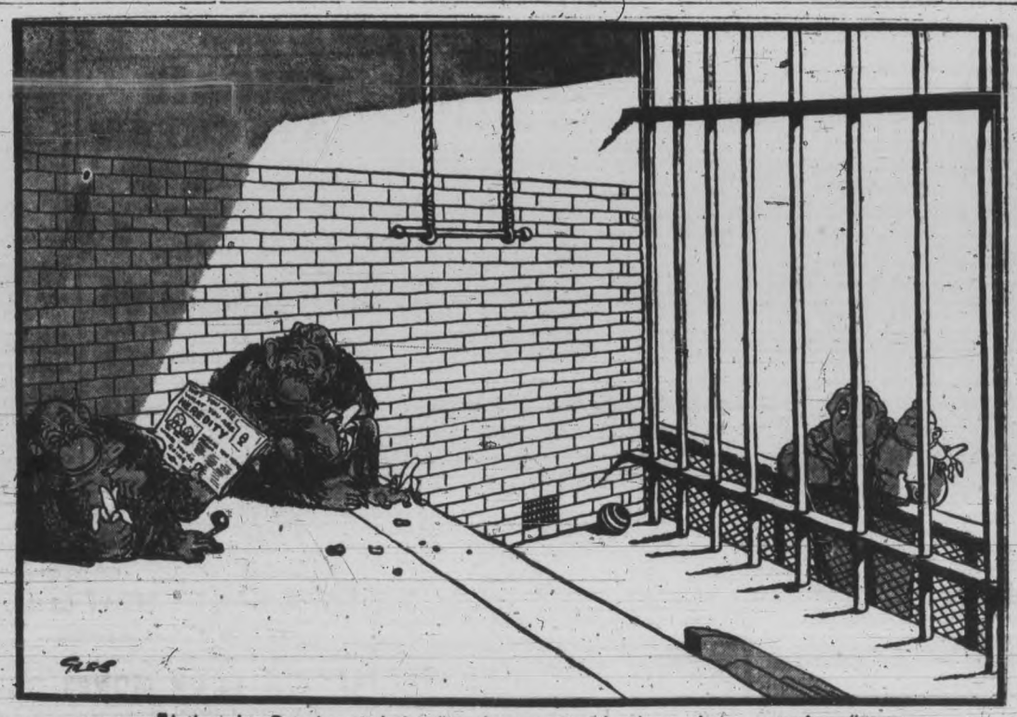
Nurse had occasion to visit Johnny's mother. When she left Johnny was the not very proud brother of twins. This did not please him at all; he felt his nose was put out of joint.

Some time later Johnny's parents moved to a neighbouring village and, in her visits, Nurse came across Johnny at one of the schools. "Hello, young man," she said, "have you come to live here?"

"Yes," said Johnny, "but I'm not showing you which is our house this time!"

When Is A Fish-Hog?

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)



Looked at through the eyes of the Eskimos, the laws of the white man must seem strange. Off the coast of Alaska, some Eskimo fishermen struck it rich on a whale hunt: they killed eleven of the big mammals and, as whale meat is worth a dollar a pound in the prosperous native settlements, their harvest was worth about $110,000.

Everyone congratulated the Eskimo fishermen on their good fortune. But, in the same day's news, people were indignant over the story of three white men who were caught returning with 273 speckled trout from Laurentide National Park in Quebec where the individual limit is forty fish a day. The anglers were heavily fined.

Science Is News

(Brantford Expositor)

There are some worried and backward-thinking theorists who say science should be forced to mark time until other main factors in civilization have had time to catch up with it. They are in the class of the silly nobles who asked King Canute to command the tide to stand still. Science is not some mystical entity; it is simply organized knowledge. As knowledge increases and as its organization progresses, science will become more and more newsworthy, and readers more and more conscious of the significance of the happenings in the wide field of research. Newspapers can be expected to reflect this trend proportionately.

U.K. Confident It Can Beat Current Sulphur Famine

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON, June 30 —(AP)— Britain is confident it can beat the current sulphur famine—but says it will take two years.

British industry at present counts heavily on American supplies of crude sulphur, and United States export limitations have dealt the whole range of British production some heavy blows.

Sulphuric acid is needed for fertilizers upon which every acre of crops in this overcrowded island depends. The tempo of England's rearmament is largely controlled by the amount of sulphuric acid available for key industries.

Nearly three-fourths of Britain's sulphuric acid is made from American crude sulphur. That's why a recent cutback in US exports knocked many British industries groggy for a time.

But the damage won't be fatal, scientists and technologists say reassuringly.

Britons are giving highest priority to plans for converting sulphuric acid plants to new raw materials that will go far to reduce Britain's dependence on US sulphur.

Barely Getting Along

British factories now are living hand-to-mouth. Some are down to two-thirds of their mid-1950 use of sulphuric acid. Supplies are severely rationed even to important export industries such as textiles.

Main English hope is to safeguard its industries by making the acid from Spanish pyrites. That will take time, and it's more expensive.

Britain hopes to get 10 per-cent-more of Spain's pyrites exports this year than last, and expects the gain to increase sharply as factory conversion gathers speed in England. Many of the Spanish mines are British-owned.

Meantime scientists are investigating all likely new sulphur sources.

Most revolutionary of these possible new supplies is a certain family of bacteria found in some African lakes, manufacturing sulphur out of mud. British researchers isolated the bacteria and flew them home to Britain where they are still on the job.

Unfortunately, the bacteria take a long time and the quantities they have turned out are not significant from an economic viewpoint. But the biologists hope their experiments will lead to a completely-new method of producing sulphur quickly and in large quantity. It's mainly a matter, they say, of speeding up and harnessing natural processes.

Border Town Becomes Popular

CALCUTTA, India, July 3 — (Reuters)— With the signature of the Sino-Tibetan agreement, the tiny hill station of Kalimpong on the northern tip of Bengal has become an important window on the land newly "liberated" by the Chinese Communists.

A sleepy wool town on the ancient caravan route to Central Asia, Kalimpong is the meeting place of a dozen or more nationalities.

Yatung, Southern Tibet, where the Dalai Lama took refuge when the Chinese "liberation army" marched into his country, is only a day's ride from Kalimpong.

Tiny Kalimpong sprang into the world headlines about eight months ago when correspondents went there to report the Chinese campaign in Tibet and to cover the activities of the Dalai Lama, ruler of Tibet.

Favorite Spot

The Tibetan campaign has resulted in a settlement between Lhasa and Peiping. But Kalimpong is still a favorite spot for foreign correspondents, diplomats on holidays and rich wool merchants from both sides of the Himalayas.

Nepali and Tibetan women, with their long wide-sleeved gowns and wearing necklaces of heavy silver coins and ropes of gaily-colored beads, working women carrying babies in baskets slung on their backs, rich Tibetans in their traditional costumes, Indian women in their colorful saris, and men in European clothes, give the town a cosmopolitan air.

In former days, everyone rode on horse-back and even today the market place still has the signboard "Galloping strictly prohibited."

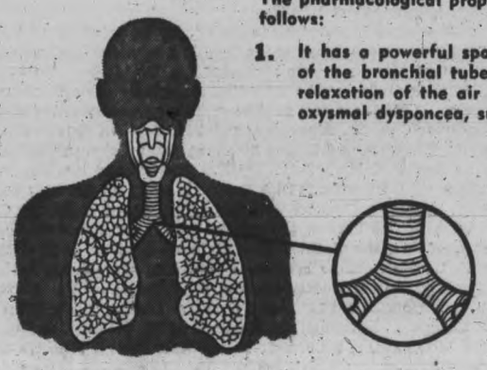
HAY FEVER?

Stop Sneezing! Use EPHAZONE

Enjoy this Summer. Get rid of sneezing spasms — sore, runny nose — red itching eyes!



EPHAZONE Lets You HAVE FUN in the SUN!

Here's How.. Hay fever is brought on by being unusually sensitive to animal hair, feathers, and pollen. An invisible veil of fine pollen and dust from these objects fill the air in summer, clogging the sufferers' air passages, causing violent sneezing, watering eyes, and continual irritation in the nose. Don't let summer find you unprepared. Take a bottle of Ephazone on your holiday! Keep a bottle handy always! Turn warm weather months into a time of pleasure instead of sneezing, itching misery. Get Ephazone at your local druggist's now!

PROPERTIES OF EPHAZONE

The pharmacological properties of Ephazone may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. It has a powerful spasm-relieving and soothing effect on the muscles of the bronchial tubes and bronchioles. As a result there is a rapid relaxation of the air passages, with consequent prompt relief of paroxysmal dysponcea, such as occurs in asthmatic conditions.
2. It softens and liquifies thick, tenacious secretions in the bronchial tubes and air spaces, so that mucus can be more easily coughed up.
3. It relieves congestion of the blood-vessels in the air passages and air-space, thus assisting resolution of inflammation.

Junior Petes Win Out Over Mimico

Filter Queens rang up their fifth lacrosse victory of the season in as many starts Saturday night, at Miller Bowl, as they went all out to double the score on Mimico's junior Mounties 12-6 and stay atop the loop. It was a spirited battle all the way with a total of 30 penalties, including six majors and three misconducts for a variety of offences handed out by Referees Harry Wipper and Bun Hill. Mounties drew 21.

Lou Vitarelli's boys in the first frame outscored Mimico 3-0 though the visitors fought hard in a fairly even heat. Nickle, Brian Robinson and Heffernan each dented the mesh. Heffernan rifled in two more and Red Robinson one in the second against Riley's solo marker to give Filters a 6-1 edge at half time. Mimico strove hard to offset the locals' power in the third and put up a good offensive but Filters burst back to earn a 5-3 edge on the play. Mounties did earn a 2-1 edge in the finale.

Lou Nickle played a standout game with three goals and two assists as did Jerry Heffernan, who led in goals with four, and had one assist. Red Robinson potted three and one. Gary Robinson had a pair of assists while single markers went to Rock Batley and Frank Faley; single assists to Fitzgerald, O'Reilly and Farley. Riley, Banagar, Ciupa, Brown, Kelly, McLean and Lubbock looked best for Mounties.

Legionnaires Blank Pt. Hope Ontarios 2-0

PORT HOPE, July 3.—A stellar four-hit pitching effort by Jim Hart enabled Cobourg Legionnaires to gain a 2-0 win over Port Hope Ontarios Monday afternoon in a Lakeshore Intermediate League game.

On the Port Hope mound, John Holman lost a heartbreaker in allowing but six hits and striking out 10. However, the Legionnaires bunched a pair of hits in both the third and the ninth to score single runs in each frame.

Sonny Beckstead, Cobourg's leadoff hitter, laced out a pair of singles to lead his team at bat. For Port Hope Al White, also a leadoff hitter, also had two hits.

Cricketers Fall In Match With Carleton

By C. H. IRESON

Carleton County defeated Peterborough 87 for five wickets to 46 in a county cricket match at the Oval Saturday. It was late in starting, owing to weather conditions, but there was sufficient playing time to get a decisive result.

Peterborough batted first and had six wickets down for 28 till W. Rashleigh scored 10 and the total reached 46. Carleton opened badly against the bowling of F. Booth and F. Dyer to lose four wickets for 16. S. C. Wilson and C. H. Little took it to 37 and B. Cashen joined Little and the pair got the runs, so Carleton won by five wickets, Booth taking five wickets for 32. The locals were without the service of A. V. Pope, and this star was missed.

The weather was a disappointment to the visitors, who came early on the long trip, and to the locals, who planned a luncheon at the Oval. G. W. Smith, of Grove School, offered the teams accommodation at the school and the ladies of the club provided a "ne meal. Club president Gc lon Monkman expressed the club's thanks and, after lunch, the teams went to the Oval and started play. Results:

Blewett Horse Places Second

ORANGEVILLE, July 3.—One of the largest crowds in history favored the local Dominion Day harness races Monday afternoon and the new open grandstand at the fair grounds track was filled to capacity. Estimates of attendance ran to over 7,000.

Two standout features of the five-class program were Bill Rowe's last second spurt to win the first heat of the 2:15 class with his father's "Celia Counsel," nosing out Stanley Blewett's "Victory Hy" of Indian River. Bill's father, Hon. Earl Rowe of Newton Robinson, drove his favorite "Dr. Riddell," in the first race.

Second feature was the "brothers" race in the 2.27 class. Borden Dawson, 39, and brother Charlie (Chuck) both won money in the first heat, with Chuck taking first place driving Joe Smith's "Jean Dillon" of Orangeville. The younger driver thus celebrated his first track anniversary and took his 40th "money" heat in the 50 he has driven.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

The teeter-tottering top-place OLA senior clubs, St. Kitts and Petes, tangle here tomorrow eve in Miller Bowl. First one is atop, then the other, and darned if they're not frequently tied for first place. Our crew trimmed the A's here in their first meeting of the season, but they repaid the compliment in St. Catharines next start. This one should be a thriller. The Petes who have several former Saints aboard, love to lick the Athletics but it's no easy job. Fellows like Harry Wipper, Jerry Fitzgerald and Nit O'Hearn really shoot the works when facing the speedy St. Catharines' crew. It's an OLA natural and lacrosse fans will be out in force.

Now that we're into July the end is in sight for some of the softball schedules. In fact, the girls' and men's loops which play in the Bowl have little more than two weeks to go until playoffs come up. They're both over by July 20. Tonight's tilts in the male circuit weather being oke, are: Lakefield vs. Revoy's, and Orphans vs. UEW, first one going at seven. Girls' games there on the morrow, beginning at seven, are: Ashby's vs. Woollens, and Cobourg vs. Westclox. No tussles last p.m., owing to the holiday. The teams will hustle from here in with schedules winding up shortly.

They've Power Galore

Those powerful baseballic Petes nearly blew Toronto Kingsways out of the local park here on the holiday. Took both ends of a twin bill by 11-1 and 10-2 scores to cement their grip on the top rung of the Viaduct Loop ladder. They have an exhibition in Belleville tomorrow, have Staffords here on Friday and are trying to line up an exhibition with Guelph of the Intercounty League. They just don't believe in rest. Their scheduled double-header in Toronto on Sunday was called off for rain ere they made the trip. A new twirler from the USA college circuits is expected here this week to complete the roster.

Pitching and hitting vied for honors by Ed Whitehill's team on Monday in both games. And they got good fielding most of the way, too, in both jousts. The afternoon fixture saw Lefty Bill Dadson toss a four-hitter without seeming to extend himself as his mates combed the offerings of two twirlers for 16 safe blows. These included two triples and three doubles. Joe Lowrey is off on holidays but Bill Huntley came through in centre nicely and smacked out four hits in five times up. Dadson, Al Menzies, Andy Milne and George Brabin were other solid smackers at the platter. Malloy got two for the losers in a tame tussle.

Doug Almost Made It

The night game was featured by grand throwing by Doug Plunkett. A one-hit hurling chore and that hit came in the ninth with two out—a tough break for the no-hit pitcher of last year. Wouldn't have occurred but for an error on the calling of a fly ball that inning. Anyway, it was swell flinging. His buddies banged two throwers for 17 hits, with Freddy Garvey this time leading the way with four for five. He's really hitting this semester. Other consistent banglers in the game were Bill Huntley, Dick Golden, Joe Stewart and Andy Milne, the latter getting a lot of extra-base blows lately. If the Petes keep up this pace, they'll be hard to stop—though the schedule has a long way to go yet.

Let's see what happened in lacrosse. Mimico took Brampton seniors 10-6, but the Petes-Toronto duel Sunday was washed out in the second quarter. Score was 3-2 then for Petes on two goals by Thorpe and one by Slater, McNulty getting the Toronto pair. In OLA junior play, Mimico last eve slipped the locals a 13-6 reverse, their first loss in six starts. The Vitarelli boys (who drill tonight at seven) weren't at full player strength. Here on Saturday, the young Petes beat Mimico 12-6 with Jerry Heffernan and Lou Nickel leading the way, the Robinson brothers and Goalie Nicholls also being good. A flock of penalties as the boys got pretty chippy (and lippy), with the visitors the worst offenders.

Petes Winners By 11 to 1 Against Toronto

The Petes trimmed Toronto Kingsways 11-1 here Monday afternoon before a fair-sized crowd to lengthen the locals' lead in the Viaduct Major League baseball race. It wasn't much of a game, as Lefty Bill Dadson tossed a four-hitter without extending himself, and his teammates pummelled two twirlers for 16 safeties. Bev Bourke was pounded out in the fourth, having been nicked for nine hits and eight runs, while Craig Robertson (a southpaw) went better the rest of the route to limit the Whitehill squad to three tallies. Each side booted three, but the Petes looked better in the field throughout the tilt.

Four In Five

Bill Huntley in centre (Lowery is on holidays) banged out four hits in five times up. Bill Dadson and Al Menzies each had three for five, and Andy Milne two doubles in four and George Brabin a triple and a single in four tries. Fred Garvey, who looked good at second—and had an unassisted double-play — conked a three-baser and Dick Golden a two-bagger. Frank Malley led the losers with a triple and single in four attempts.

There were a few heated arguments, one by Kingsway on a call at first when Kelleher neglected to touch the bag on a play, and again by the Petes on an infield fly being called when the ball dropped in centre field. Otherwise, it was a tame tussle with the Petes having the power at the plate, plus good pitching and pretty fair fielding. They racked up the count from the second inning on, and only three of the visitors got as far as third base throughout, one scoring. The box score:

Out At The Kawartha

Perhaps the thought of crowded highways kept many Kawathians at home on the golf course this past weekend. Fine holiday weather was no doubt the grfeatest factor contributing to the number of folks who turned out to play.

Several games were played in each of the matches with the exception of the men's senior in the Kawartha Cup. Paul Durant, G. Lee and Larry Longs stepped into position in the second round, while into the third went G. Webb, F. Welford and D. Pearson. In the President's Cup match, going into the second round were R. McCullough, J. Menzies, T. Cranford, M. Vermette, C. Reynolds, J. Legros, D. Chamberlain; and into the third round J. Fallon.

The men's two-ball at last heard the starting gun, A. and F. Todd emerging the winners in their match and B. Crowley and D. Mortimer doing the same in theirs. Moving up to the third round were R. Welch and partner T. Cranfield, also B. Moulton with D. Prasky.

The mixed two-ball is coming right along now. Meg Benson and Bill Durant, Doris and Leo Ackford have moved into the second round, and the following couples into the third: Miss Scott and Ches Grant; Coole McHugh and H. Correll; Jack and Delma Condon; C. Coones and B. Moulton; M. Thaviss and B. Crowley; D. McKee and E. Hanbidge.

Once again the Business Girls have invited the male members to join them in mixed two-ball, date July 12. The lengthening column of names appearing on the list posted in the men's locker room speaks well for the splendid time enjoyed by all last year.

Tennis Section News

The Kawartha added to their standing in the league with a 7-0 victory over Lindsay, June 29. The following are the matches played with the winning Kawartha Club players:

First men's doubles: Don Lamont, Ron Lye.

Second men's doubles: Trevor Clarke, Forrest Rankins.

First mixed doubles: Maurice Charlton, Willard Elmsley.

Second mixed doubles: Joan Lye, Peter Thompson.

Ladies' doubles: Rose Fletcher, Ruth McKee.

Ladies' singles: Ann Bubik.

Men's singles: John Fletcher.

The next match at Kawartha will be Friday, July 6, when Bowmanville will journey northward.

Petes Triumph By 10 To 2 As Plunkett Hurls 1-Hitter

Doug Plunkett pitched one-hit ball as the Petes beat Kingsways 10-2 here last night to sweep their Viaduct Baseball League doubleheader of the holiday. With two out and two aboard in the ninth inning, Tommy McKillop doubled to left to score two and get the only safe blow off Doug's delivery all evening. The two had got on through a walk and an error, a passed ball moving them up after two had been struck out. Plunkett fanned seven and was never in trouble as he almost duplicated his no-hit performance of a year ago here in this league.

Founded Hard

The Petes pounded Stan Gourtney hard until he retired at the end of the seventh frame, Craig Robertson finishing up. They put together three runs each in the fourth and sixth, with one apiece in the first, third, fifth and seventh, powdering the ball hard in the final stanza when two unearned runs scored. The visitors came up with some good fielding, too, including two double-plays, the Petes having one neat twin killing. A fair-sized crowd viewed the one-sided struggle.

Freddy Garvey led the clouters for Ed Whitehill's side with four for five, Bill Huntley getting three in four tries, as Dick Goldea, Joe Stewart and Andy Milne each hit safely three times in five attempts. One of Andy's was a double. Stewart drove in four runs with timely bingling, and Huntley and Garvey each pilfered two bases. Kingsways got their two runs in soft fashion. One was out when Kelleher walked and then Bell got on when Huntley dropped his fly in a mixup on the call. Both moved up on a passed ball. Wallace fanned but McKillop doubled to score two. Akers then was retired. Box score:

Quick Captures Golf Crown

KITCHENER, July 3 (CP). — Smiley Quick of Los Angeles, Calif., shooting three brilliant sub-par rounds, won the Ontario Open Golf championship Saturday by a single stroke with a 54-hole score of 209.

The United States professional, in taking the $1,000 first place money and the Carling Trophy, fired rounds of 70, 70 and 69, over Kitchener Westmount's par-71 layout to edge out two fellow Americans — Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Al Besselink of Mt. Clements, Mich.

Hawkins and Besselink tied for second places with scores of 210 and won $300 each. They were four strokes in front of two other Americans, Doug Ford of New York and Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Calif., both of whom won $100 with scores of 214.

Long-hitting Bob Gray, Toronto Scarboro professional, and amateurs Phil Farley of Toronto and Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener shared the honor of being the leading Canadians, tying for sixth place with totals of 215 each.

Yanks Halt Athletics As Indians Nip White Sox

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

All Murry Dickson needs to become the first pitcher in 48 years to win 20 games for a last-place National League club is 10 more victories and the co-operation of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The last-place Buccaneers, of course, must remain in the cellar.

The 33-year-old righthander notched his 10th triumph Monday night, downing Chicago 7-2 to lead a large list of individual achievements in an unusually active Monday of baseball.

Here are some of Monday night's highlights as every club but Detroit and St. Louis Browns saw action:

1. Allie Reynolds' scoreless streak was snapped at 32 1-3 innings and he walked his first batter in 37 2-3 innings but he gave the New York Yankees a one-game lead in the American League race by stopping the Philadelphia Athletics 14-5. It was Reynolds' sixth straight victory.

2. Cleveland catcher Jim Hegan scored all three runs as the Indians nipped the Chicago White Sox 3-2 with the aid of Lou Brissie's relief hurling for 2 1-3 innings.

Edge Washington

3. Rookie southpaw Leo Kiely, in his first big league start, pitched the third-place Boston Red Sox to a 5-2 victory over Washington as Vern Stephens hit his third big league homer in spacious Griffith Stadium. The win cut Chicago's second place margin to 2½ games.

4. Gil Hodges clouted his 25th homer for Brooklyn to help Preacher Roe beat Boston's Braves 5-1, for the southpaw's 11th victory against only one defeat. The homer put Hodges a game ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 pace when the bambino hit his record 60 homers.

5. Jim Hearn of the Giants whipped his Philadelphia "cousins" 4-3 for the 10th time in 11 decisions but he needed relief help from George Spencer as well as Bobby Thomson's 11th homer in the sixth inning with a man on base. It was the second straight day Thomson won a game with a homer.

6. Pete Castiglione batted in three Pittsburgh runs with a single, double and triple, and scored twice to lead the Pirates to their 7-2 win over the Chicago Cubs.

7. Stan Musial raised his league leading batting mark to .370 with two singles and drove in two St. Louis runs as the Cardinals downed the Cincinnati Reds 8-2.

A home run by Ransom Jackson with one on in the seventh deprived Dickson of a shutout but the little curveballer rang up his 10th win. Since Pittsburgh still has 87 games left of its schedule, Dickson stands a fair chance of notching 20 wins.

Tigers Edge Mimico 7-6

HAMILTON, July 3 (CP). — Hamilton Tigers scored three goals during a rainstorm in the last five minutes of play Monday night to defeat fifth-place Mimico Mountaineers 7-6 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior game.

The win put Tigers into undisputed possession of third place in the league.

Blaine MacDonald paced the Tiger attack with three goals while Bobby Grainger scored two. Elmer Lee and Merv McKenzie got one apiece.

Benny Peterson scored three for the Mimico squad and Harvey Downer, Ken Lytle and Bill Horwood got singles.

Actress Prefers College Men For Her Dates

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 3 (AP)—Want to make a hit with Peggy Dow? Just dangle a Phi Beta Kappa key in front of her.

That's exaggerating the situation a bit, but it's true that the rising young dramatic actress prefers to date college boys instead of actors.

"I have nothing against actors," she said. "But let's face it—they are self-centred and egocentric. They have to be, or else they wouldn't be actors. But a girl doesn't want to go out on a date and hear the man talk about himself all evening.

"I'll admit I'm a ham, too. So you can see I don't want to compete with an actor when I date."

Peggy said that being with acting folk during the work day is enough.

"That's why I like to spend nice, normal evenings. I've met a lot of college kids and we have a lot of fun. We don't have to go to night clubs to enjoy ourselves.

Nothing Exciting

"I'm the bane of the fan magazine writers," she sighed. "They keep trying to discover exciting things in my life, but I can't help them. I simply lead a normal life and enjoy it immensely."

Being normal hasn't held her back so far. In 2½ years in Hollywood, she has risen from stock girl to a player of dramatic promise. She is currently appearing with Dana Andrews, Dorothy McGuire and Farley Granger in "I Want You."

"The Secret of Convict Lake" is another attempt by Hollywood to get a "different" kind of western. This one is different enough, being the story of five escaped convicts who take over a remote mountain community peopled solely by women. It turns out to be good dramatic fare. None of the characters is entirely likeable, but the cast, headed by Gene Tierney, Glenn Ford and Ethel Barrymore, makes the tale believable.

Percy Township WI Serve Dinner July 12

WARKWORTH, July 3 (ENS)—The Percy branch of the Women's Institute met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Norman Gummer.

It was their annual baby day and there were present 15 babies and 17 visitors.

Mrs. George Arkils was program convener and presented each baby with a gift.

The Percy branch plans to serve dinner on July 12 in the council chamber as the Orange parade will be held in Warkworth on that date.

Mrs. Oscar Laver, the district director, gave the report of the 50th district annual of East Northumberland held at Burnbrae.

The historical research convener, Mrs. George McCubbin, gave the report of the district annual birthday dinner and pageant.

Mrs. Charles Puffer the community activities and public relations convener, read a paper on "Food Habits Begin at Home."

Mrs. George Arkils, home economics convener gave a two-minute paper on "Whether you are a farm wife or live in a small town or city, a housewife is a nation builder."

Mrs. Percy Windover gave the annual report of the Children's Aid Society.

Mrs. Ezra Cornelius gave current events. The motto "It Takes a Heap of Living in a House to Make a home" was given by Mrs. Clayton Young. Mrs. Cornelius gave a reading "When Mom's Down," and Mrs. Jim Scarrow gave on entitled "Father's Day."

The babies—Dennis Clarke and Harold Simpson—received special prizes for being the youngest, being the same age.

Proceeds from sale of plants and candy sponsored by Group A amounted to $7.85.

Lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

6th Line School Holds Indian River Picnic

The pupils and parents of Sixth Line School, S.S. No. 5 Otonabee, held the annual school picnic on Wednesday June 27 at Indian River.

The children enjoyed games and races for which Mrs. Helen Robertson provided prizes for the winners. Later the children played baseball and went swimming.

Following dinner Shirley Lang on behalf of the pupils presented Mrs. Robertson with a china cup and saucer along with a bouquet of white peonies and red roses. Shirley Orgill read the address.

Find Stolen Car Badly Wrecked

CAMPBELLFORD, July 3 — (ENS)—A car stolen in Peterborough was found almost a complete wreck on the Hastings-Westwood road on Sunday morning. The car had been travelling quite fast and had apparently missed a turn on the roadway about two miles west of Hastings, struck a telegraph pole, jumped a deep ditch and plowed head-on into a fence.

The car was reported to Peterborough police as stolen from a garage owned by Arthur O'Halloran, 319 McDonnell St.

It is thought the occupants of the car may have been injured in the crash, but a survey of all doctors in the district failed to yield any clue. The windshield of the vehicle was smashed, and the front of the car was badly damaged.

Provincial Constable Donald Erskine investigated. The driver of the car has not yet been located.

Tourist Hordes Arrive In Largest Numbers Ever Seen In Kawarthas

Resort Owners Unable To Fill Requests, Fishing Biggest Attraction, Catches Through District 'Just Fair'

Dominion Day holiday weekend brought the greatest horde of tourists to the Kawarthas that has ever been known. In downtown Peterborough around noon time every third car was American and, jammed for blocks with heavy weekend shoppers' cars, traffic was bumper to bumper. A survey made early on Saturday morning showed that the tourist influx might be disappointing. But it started to flow just before newspaper deadline, about 10:30 a.m., and reached staggering proportions half an hour later and continued without abatement until late Saturday night.

At the Jaycee booth, the busy staff handled 96 requests for accommodation, placed 325 tourists in accommodation as far north as Bancroft and took 200 more inquiries in their stride for miscellaneous information.

As the packed cars sorted themselves to their various lodge destinations passengers bought meals, bait, fishing licenses and food wherever they could find parking space.

Resort owners that were contacted today say that they were slowly going crazy under the terrific requests for lodging accommodation which they could not supply. Advance reservations, of course, were filled.

Business Tripled

Boat liveries had rented out anything that would float by Saturday evening and bait dealers say that their business was tripled over any Dominion Day holiday heretofore.

The great attraction which brought all these visitors to the Kawarthas was the fishing. Unfortunately, it must be said that it was "just fair."

According to all laws of average, the muskie fishing was not up to par. Experts felt that with the waters filled last season with so many "almost keepers" that there would be a 'lunge fishing field day on opening day. Reports have it that there were as many small muskies taken as last year, very few of them keepers. One unnamed tourist was reported to have taken a 29-pounder off Sugar Island on Rice Lake and two other fish about the same size were said to have been taken to land at Bewdley.

Bass Fishing

Bass, both black and green, were biting fair in all sections and Stanley Young of 611 McKellar St., produced a 4-pound green to prove his fish story; it was taken at Chemong Causeway.

Pickerel fishing was not too good. The largest one reported was taken on Sunday evening on Lake Katchewanooka by Mrs. Garnet Samis of Lakefield, a 29-incher. Kenneth Waldie of 512 Parnell Ave., got one two inches shorter at a spot three miles south of the city on the Otonabee River.

Although a great many visitors came to the Kawarthas to start their two-week holiday period, several thousands were weekenders, these mostly Canadians. Platforms of the railway stations on Monday evening were jammed with people returning to Toronto. One coach line ran seven sections through to Toronto also and reported three and four extra sections to regular runs both northbound on Saturday and southbound on Monday.

It is safe to state that the Dominion Day weekend was the busiest that the Kawarthas have ever experienced.

Badge Of Honor

Many Peterborough men and women are working today with a faint look of martyrdom on their faces mixed with considerable measure of smugness. They are the people who have acquired their Peterborough badge of honor—a sun burn. Men are wearing their shirt sleeves rolled up to show off their burn and women are wearing short-sleeved dresses. The people who are still white-skinned take refuge from their dishonor, either by keeping silently out of the way or trying to scoff at the red-hides and sound convincing.

Scalding Water Burns Baby Boy

The nine-months-old son of Dr. Arthur Cole, Toronto, was rushed by car Monday from Stony Lake where the family are vacationing to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

He was burned when he somehow spilled a basin of scalding water on himself. An arm and a leg were burned but his condition is not considered serious.

The accident occurred at noon Monday. He was taken by boat from Otter Cole island, near Juniper island, and the rest of the journey was by car.

Provincial Police at Peterborough headquarters were notified of the emergency and they arranged with the city police to escort the car through the city. The scream of the sirens attracted the attention of hundreds of holiday pedestrians and motorists.

The boy will likely remain in hospital for a couple of weeks.

7,000 Watch Water Sports In Little Lake Celebration

Thrills, comedy, color and excitement were enjoyed by about 7,000 people at Little Lake Monday afternoon and evening. The afternoon and evening performances and races of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club Water Sports Day were climaxed by $1,000 worth of firecrackers set off as the final event of the day.

Early in the afternoon, people started through the entrance gates and before the three hour program was brought to an end about 2,000 had assembled on the shores of the lake. By the time the brilliant fireworks' display had started in the evening a crowd of 5,000 was watching.

Boat Races

The roar of the outboard motors started early and continued through until dark with a total of eight races being run off. An unscheduled event in this part of the program was the final open race. D. A. McGillis offered prizes totalling $50 for an open race.

"I wanted to see a really good race," Mr. McGillis commented. All three prizes in this race were won by Oshawa competitors.

Both afternoon and evening performances featured the Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers with group, duet and solo numbers. Taking part were Jean Mallard, Shirley Muldaver, Joan Lynch, Mary Rutherford, June Storey, Betty Welsh, Iris Reilly, Nan Goodyear, Joan Monks, Nancy Doubt and June Collins.

Top performances in diving were presented by Miss Evelyn Buchanan, Canadian ladies' diving champion and Miss Lois Payne, former Ontario junior ladies champion. Both are from the Dolphinette Club of Toronto.

Mrs. Norma Gordon, Canadian women's water ski champion and her two brothers Gus and Alex McIntosh, Bobcaygeon, and a troupe of nine performed brilliant water skiing and aquaplaning.

Trick canoeing was shown by Herb Cardwell and his two sons, Bob and George.

ASBESTOS CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

FIREPROOF Cedargrain ASBESTOS SIDING

will make your home more attractive ...cut upkeep expense

Cedargrain asbestos siding shingles are well worth investigating if you plan to build or remodel, because they add such charm and distinction to any home. Their attractive grained appearance . . . their wavy butts, and their wonderful, eye-appealing colours offer a host of decorative possibilities for exterior walls. You can use Cedargrains in two different shades, for example, or combine them with other materials. Whatever you do you will be sure of beauty plus protection. For Cedargrains can't burn, rot or wear out and they never need paint to preserve them! See these attractive, economical shingles for yourself at your J-M dealer's or write for free, full-colour folder to Canadian Johns-Manville, Dept. N-10, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

ASBESTOS in action

When H. W. Johns, co-founder of Johns-Manville, began to experiment with asbestos—he probably never dreamed of the vital part it would play in our daily life. Almost everyone uses and benefits by asbestos. When the housewife toasts a slice of bread, or irons a shirt, her safety is guarded by the asbestos insulation in the electric cord. When the motorist slams on his brakes, in an emergency, he depends on asbestos linings for a safe, quick stop. Even the water you drink may be carried in Transite asbestos-cement pipe. And so it goes . . . asbestos serves us in many seen and unseen ways!

Suggests Inquiry Into UK Migration

LIVERPOOL, England, July 3—(Reuters)—Lord Lucan, parliamentary under-secretary for Commonwealth relations, Monday night called for a careful inquiry into the fall of migration from Britain to Canada during the last three years.

He said the decline, which was serious, is a matter of concern to both countries.

Lord Lucan, speaking at a Dominion Day anniversary day dinner, said the recent British treasury concession enabling emigrants to take more money with them might help matters.

The limit on capital—previously £1,000 now has been increased by dependents' allowances up to a maximum of £2,000.

Special Service For Canadians

LONDON, July 3—(Reuters)—An historic date in the religious history of Canada was recaptured Sunday for a congregation of more than 1,000 in Canterbury Cathedral by Dr. Louis Sherman, Archbishop of Rupert's Land.

Dr. Sherman, addressing pews packed with Canadians, Britons and Americans for a service to commemorate Dominion Day, recalled how, on May 19, 1849, David Anderson walked down the isle after his consecration as first Bishop of Rupert's Land.

"He walked literally into the unknown. He sailed through the Arctic Sea and into Hudson Bay and Oct. 3 he reached the Red River," Dr. Sherman said.

The Canterbury service was one of several ceremonies held throughout Britain to commemorate the day.

At Brookwood cemetery, Surrey, veterans of two wars—members of the Canadian Veterans Association of the United Kingdom—gathered for their annual memorial service, attended by Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, governor-general of Canada.

DOROTHY DIX

Youthful Romance of Son Alarms Worried Parents

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a 20-year-old son who is in the Air Force. While he was home on a weekend pass, he met a 17-year-old girl and took her out several times. They corresponded for about six months, then he came home for ten days and bought her an engagement ring. His father and I are very upset about the romance, because, aside from their youthfulness, the girl has had four operations and I am afraid she will never be well enough to take on the responsibilities of marriage. Her mother has seven children and from talking to her I gather she would be glad to marry this girl off and get away from the obligation of footing her doctor and hospital bills.

Dorothy Dix

I have told my son that if he marries her, they won't see us at the wedding, nor can he ever come home again on leave, or otherwise. He has been in love with a dozen girls before this, so I don't believe he really loves this girl. Do you think I'm right in washing my hands of my son because of his blindness?

IDA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I heartily agree with you that your son's outlook for a good marriage is not very promising, but your solution is about the worst one you could suggest! There is every possibility that the romance will wear itself out, considering your boy's absence in the service, his youth, and the fact that he has already been interested in several girls.

Don't Act Rashly

In any event, you will do nothing to ease the situation by closing your heart and your home to him. You will do far better to point out to him all the disadvantages of the marriage he contemplates, but let him know that if things turn out badly you will be around to help. That's what mothers are for!

I don't have much respect for parents who love their children only as long as things go right but who do a rapid about-face as soon as trouble looms. It's easy to be proud of a son or daughter who makes splendid marks in school, has a successful business career, or makes a brilliant marriage. It's a little harder to stick together when things get tough, and a bad marriage is the stiffest test of all. Matrimony is the one thing in which a child is least willing to take his parents' advice: every boy is sure his choice of a mate is perfect and mother or dad just don't understand at all, but when things go wrong, believe me, it's mom and pop who are needed to unravel the tangles.

Although it comes under the head of "interfering," I think you would be justified in asking the girl's mother just how sick she is and what her prospects of recovery are, if she is willing to co-operate with you to this extent. This information might put your mind at ease as far as her health is concerned; it's very possible that her malady is not as serious as appears and she will be an able help-mate to your son.

If you are still apprehensive, try to postpone the wedding for a year anyway, and as I suggested before, it will probably then postpone itself indefinitely. Don't in any case, estrange yourself from your son. He may seem stubborn and willful to you, but remember, you brought him up and are at least in part responsible for many of his traits.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My boy friend, Jim, and I plan on getting married this fall. He is 27 and I am 20. As soon as I settle my bills he wants to start a joint bank account to save towards furniture, etc. My parents disapprove of this. They say a girl should have a separate bank account and save toward her wedding gown and trousseau and the man should save toward the house furnishings. I am very mixed up. Please help me. BEATRICE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your parents are absolutely right. Jim seems to be taking advantage of your youth and inexperience. If you open this joint bank account, you'll soon find out that the only money going in is yours. You and your family will have the expense of the wedding, the gown, linens for your new home and many such incidentals. These things will take care of your money very well without leaving much for house furnishings, which, as your family points out, are the responsibility of the man.

I advise you to give this marriage careful consideration, Beatrice. A man who expects his fiancee to buy furniture for their home before the wedding day will probably expect her to work for him from then on. Nothing is worse than a miserly husband and you'd better make sure you're not getting one. Most men try to help their sweethearts with wedding expenses, rather than the reverse. A joint bank account before marriage usually winds up as the husband's after the wedding day, and that's the last money the wife ever sees. From then on it's a major operation to pry a dime for bus fare out of hubby's pockets.

What's Right?

A newly-made acquaintance in your own age group starts right in to call you by your first name.

WRONG: Call him by his last name.

RIGHT: Use his first name, also, unless you actually want to hint that you would prefer that he not call you by your first name.

FUNNY BUSINESS . . By Hershberger

"He's a pessimist—he always reads the news through dark glasses!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Wives Need Only Cool Spot To Make Summer Desserts

Summer desserts that are practical and possible for all of us whether we possess a 1951 nine-cubic-foot electric refrigerator, or a melting ice refrigerator or just a good cold cellar, are gelatine desserts.

I say this because frozen desserts are given such a big play by food writers, but everybody does not have the requisite equipment for making them.

We all can buy gelatine and all have bowls or stemmed glasses in which to chill the lovely desserts we are going to make.

Now take it from one who should know—Pete is a real he-man-youth. Because he sent me this recipe from the cook of a restaurant on Mount Hood in Oregon only means he thinks he has to keep the home fires burning even at that distance.

He said he was walking on snow on the first day of summer then (I quote) "came down from the coolth of the heavens to eat wonderful boiled salmon with some kind of a yellow-looking sauce (you would have been able to analyse it at one glance of your eagle eye MUM)—and this elegant fluff of a dessert, well bolstered with chocolate cake."

Julep Fluff

In 1½ cups of boiling water brew 10 mint leaves 5 minutes just as if you were making a pot of tea. Strain this over 1 package of lime flavored gelatine dessert and stir until gelatine mixture is melted. Chill this until it is a thick syrup but not set, then beat, having your bowl standing in a large bowl containing ice and water. Beat until it is light and fluffy, then stir into it 1 pint of vanilla ice cream until blended. Chill until firm.

Melba Bavarian Cream

Make Bavarian Cream by soaking 1½ tablespoons gelatine in ½ cup cold milk for 5 minutes. In top of double boiler heat 1½ cups milk. Beat 3 egg yolks with ½ cup sugar and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Pour some of the hot milk into them stirring, then return this egg-sugar-milk mixture to remaining milk in double boiler and stir until it thickens slightly and coats back of metal spoon. Remove from heat and stir in soaked gelatine until it is dissolved. Cool, then stand in pan of ice water and beat with rotary beater until it begins to thicken. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and ½ pint heavy cream whipped, folding the cream in. Chill until firm, serve with:

Melba Sauce: Melba is a crushed red berry sauce. This may be crushed and strained strawberries, raspberries or red currants.

You need 1½ cups berry juice OR berry puree or 1 cup of those and ½ cup red currant jelly, plus ½ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cornstarch. Bring to boiling point stirring, then cook over boiling water until no taste of cornstarch remains. Serve very cold on the Bavarian.

Orange or Peach Sponge (or Charlotte)

Soak 1¼ tablespoons gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Make a syrup of ¼ cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice and when boiling add to it the soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Add ½ cup orange juice and pulp when removed from heat. When partially set, beat until foamy then fold in 1 beaten egg white.

When chilled but no set, fold in 1 cup cream whipped.

NOTE: To make peach sponge substitute peach pulp which has been forced through strainer for the orange juice and pulp.

To serve either orange or peach sponge line large mould or individual moulds with orange or peach sections, and pour in the sponge and chill.

Australian Woman Rush To Get Back In Uniform

Written For The Canadian Press By MARGARET ECKER FRANCIS

CANBERRA —(CP)— While the recruiting of women for Canadian armed forces has just started, several hundred Australian girls are already in uniform, many on home duty.

In this beautiful federal capital, women in trim uniforms, some of high rank, are a common sight. It is not the fault of Australian women that there are not even more of them, here and elsewhere. When recruiting commenced a year ago, the three services found themselves swamped with applications.

"We found we were attracting a very different type of girl than we did in wartime," said one officer. "Since we have so much material to choose from we can insist that the girls behave themselves with more decorum in public, that firmer discipline can be used. If a girl gives any trouble she knows that out she goes because dozens are waiting to take her place."

If discipline is firmer, comforts are greater, uniforms more attractive. In barracks most recruits have the privacy of small, single rooms, with real beds instead of double- and triple-decker bunks. All services are allowed nylon stockings and the best Australian designers, noted for their clever and flattering tailoring have created the uniforms.

More Becoming

Members of the Women's Royal Australian Naval Service, (still called Wrens) wear honey-colored nylon stockings with their smart navy uniforms. Traditional navy hats have been banded in white, in the case of ratings, and covered in white, for officers, an innovation the Wrens claim is much more becoming.

At present in the navy, women serve in communications, supply and the secretariat.

The Wrens are between 18 and 40, with the average falling in the early 20s. Present strength of the corps is 300.

Aids Manpower Shortage

Like the Wrens, the recruiting of the Women's Australian Army Auxiliary Corps, brought many ex-servicewomen rushing back into uniform.

One army high ranking officer said: "Australia has a serious manpower shortage which has hampered army recruiting. By re-enlisting the girls we can relieve men for duties that are more to their liking."

At present 250 girls serve in the regular army as storewomen, book-binders, caterers, cooks, dental assistants, draughtswomen, drivers, laundresses, signallers, projectionists, X-ray technicians and on psychological duties.

When possible, army women live at home. Privates' pay begins at a basic 14/6 a day ($1.70) plus an additional 20 cents, clothing upkeep allowances and 10 cents cost of living bonus. Living out allowances are also paid. (This rate of pay sounds low by Canadian standards but the cost of living in Australia is also much lower.)

Green Uniforms

Waaacs have swapped traditional army khaki, a color unflattering to most feminine complexions, for becoming forest-green uniforms. The belted tunic is softly tailored, and the recruits wear with it a green tie and shirt of lighter green. Headwear is a green beret.

Revolutionary changes have been made in the uniforms of the Women's Royal Australian Air Force, still called "Waaf."

The nearly 900 members of this service for duty in their own country wear comfortable, grey, loose-weave rayon shirtwaist dresses, buttoned down the front, and grey felt hats. Added accessories are black over-the-shoulder bags and black gloves. For working, Waafs wear becoming cream cotton shirtwaist frocks.

TROPICAL FRUIT

Coconuts, cocoa and bananas are the chief products of the islands of Western Samoa, administered by New Zealand.

6—In Memoriam

CAMPBELL—In loving memory of Gertie, who passed away 4 years ago today, July 3, 1947.
I miss you so, can't tell how much;
I only know the day has lost its sunshine and its smile
Since you have been away.
I'm doing all the same old things,
I meet the same folks, too.
But somehow nothing seems the same
Because I'm missing you.

Pick W. B. Rothwell To Draw Up Syllabus

W. B. Rothwell, a former music inspector of schools in Stratford and for many years connected with music festival work will draw up the syllabus for the 1952 Peterborough Kiwanis festival.

This information was reported to the Examiner today by W. M. Gemmell, chairman of the festival committee.

This will be the third year that Mr. Rothwell has compiled the Peterborough festival syllabus. The other two times were in 1949 and 1950.

Mr. Rothwell's association with festival work has been continuous over a number of years. He has taken an important part in the annual Stratford festival which was one of the first festivals to be held in the county and also has been in charge of the Toronto Kiwanis club festival syllabus since the festival's inception.

Can't Treat Mothers Roughly Conference Told

By MURIAL NARRAWAY

LONDON, July 3 — (CP) — Women "kicked around" and treated roughly cannot be expected to bring up the next generation properly, says Lady Rhys-Williams.

Addressing the annual conference of the National Association of Maternity and Child Welfare, she called for a return of the chivalry, courtesy and consideration which she said has been notably lacking since the Second World War, when women fought beside their men.

"Too often the children of today are allowed to think that everything is Mum's fault," said Lady Rhys-Williams, a member of the Population Investigation Committee. More and more of the responsibilities of the home were being placed on the mother.

Strain Too Hard

The strain on most women is too great, she added. They are expected to be smart, to be ready to go out with their husbands, to have clean and beautiful homes, to keep the children clean and tidy and still look nice at all times.

Speaking on the up-to-date problem of mothers who go out to work, she added: "Rise in your wrath and do not allow women to be pushed into industry to please any economist."

The conference was opened by Princess Elizabeth who said a great share of the credit for the falling death rate of babies should go to the mothers "who have been ready to learn and put their learning into practice with love and care."

Wm. Pattenick Merchant Dies

William Pattenick, Toronto, owner of a chain of dry goods stores throughout Ontario, including one in Peterborough, died in a Toronto hospital Sunday following a short illness.

Mr. Pattenick came to Canada from Austria in 1901 at the age of 13. He opened his first store in Bowmanville, later opened a branch in Cobourg and then a chain of branches in other centres in the province. He went to Toronto three years ago where he operated three stores.

He was a member of the Masonic Order and of McCaul St. Synagogue.

He leaves his wife, the former Eva Lipson; three sons, Albert, Harry and Jack, and two grandchildren.

Ackers-McMurray

BONARLAW, July 3 (ENS). — A beautiful double ring wedding ceremony was solemnized Saturday in St. John's Anglican church between Lela Doreen McMurry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McMurry, and Douglas Hiram Ackers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ackers, all of Stirling. The Rev. H. C. Secker, L.Th., officiated.

The church altars were a bower of beauty with baskets of orange blossoms and peonies. During the service, Miss Catharine Wright played several organ selections, and Mrs. Gerald Cherry sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "Thine Alone" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white slipper satin with bodice in princess effect and a full billowing skirt. The boat shaped neckline was attached to a net yoke with seed pearls. The hemline was caught in cascades with satin ribbon. Her long embroidered tulle veil with a short train was held in place by a halo hat with net and pearl trim.

She carried a bouquet of gloria red roses.

Later the bride divided her bouquet and presented the roses to her mother and the groom's mother.

Miss Marie Montgomery, Stirling, was bridesmaid gowned in a long frock of pink taffeta with matching halo hat and mitts. She carried a sheaf of Briarcliffe roses. Miss Sharon Rodgers, Campbellford, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl wearing an ankle length frock of pale blue taffeta with matching bonnet and mitts and carrying a nosegay of sweet groomsman for his brother.

The reception was held in St. John's parish hall, decorated with a colour scheme of pink and white.

St. John's Ladies' League catered and served luncheon to 50 guests.

The bride's mother received wearing a grey flowered sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother in rose triple sheer with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ackers left later for a motor trip through western Ontario.

The bride chose for travelling a luggage tan suit with a white whipcord shortie coat, white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Eight Accident Victims Given Treatment

Falls and fish hooks accounted for eight accidents over the week-end, sending people to hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Mary Newhall, 2 McKellar, hit her elbow on a door in her home Saturday, fracturing her right arm. She was sent to the St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and since has returned home.

Probably the most serious case resulting from a fall was that of Norman Tetlock 641 Water St., Central Public School student.

Playing on the monkey bars at Inverlea Beach on Sunday, he slipped, breaking his shoulder and wrist. He was taken to the St. Joseph's Hospital.

F. O. Stewart 19 Russell St., Lindsay, was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital Monday after a fall at his home. He was trimming a hedge when he fell, fracturing his left ankle.

Garry Rogers, 6, of 224 Lake St., suffered a fractured left arm when he fell from a post at his home. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Miss Melva Lee Doxsee, 19, of 525 Homewood Ave., was admitted to the Civic Hospital with a severely cut hand. She received the gash in a fall at a cottage. After stitches closed the cut Miss Doxsee was discharged.

Fish hooks sent two fishermen to hospital. Russell Elliott 319 Juliet Rd., at the Civic Hospital had a hook taken out of his right hand. Volney Woodcock, 60 Victoria Ave., also on Monday, had a fish hook removed from his shoulder at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Others hurt in various accidents were: Alexander Webber, 38, of 337 Mount Rose Ave., Toronto, cuts; Robert Jones 289½ George St., broken ribs; Jacob Miller, RR 2, Omemee, stitches in hand; and Eldon Perry, 348 Parliament St. Toronto, injured right shoulder.

Dawson-Fletcher

KEENE, July 3—A pretty wedding was solemnized in Keene United Church Saturday afternoon when Joan Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Fletcher, of Keene, was united in marriage to Kenneth William, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dawson, of Peterborough.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a dress of white brocaded satin and net with fitted bodice buttoned to the waist at the back and coming to points at the flowing net skirt, and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Her veil was of embroidered net with Queen Anne headdress finished with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried red roses and carnations.

Maid of honor Miss Doreen Dawson, of Toronto, wore a gown of yellow taffeta with fitted bodice and bustle back. She wore elbow length lace mittens and carried a nosegay of green tinted carnations and sweet peas. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Mary Knox in green nylon fashioned similarly and Miss Maureen Fletcher, in blue taffeta with net skirt. Both wore elbow length mittens and matching flowered wreaths in their hair and carried nosegays of tinted carnations to match.

Little Carole Fletcher in a shaded pink nylon gown was the flower girl. She wore a hat to match and white gloves. David Fletcher brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Groomsman was Mr. Douglas Bird, of Peterborough, and the ushers were Douglas Laird and Donald Dawson.

Soloist was Mrs. Andrew Rennie, aunt of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love," and during the signing of the register "Through the Years."

At a reception later at the home of Mrs. Rennie, the bride's mother received, wearing navy sheer with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. Dawson, who also chose navy sheer with white accessories and corsage of carnations and sweet peas.

For travelling, the bride wore a grey summer suit with pink accessories and corsage. After a trip to Buffalo and points west, the couple will live in Toronto.

Mr. Petrakos was pickerel fishing from one of the south piers of the dam, four miles north of the city, when he either lost his balance or took one of his frequent dizzy spells. Garbagemen Strike

LONDON, July 3—(Reuters)—Brimming garbage cans at Buckingham Palace stood unemptied and smelling strongly Monday night as the summer's worst heat wave continued. Reason: the men who normally collect refuse from the palace went on strike Monday.

Summer Theatre Sets New Mark In Casting Play

A mixture of Noel Coward and "Quiet Weekend" gave the first-night audience of "The Vinegar Tree" a remarkably good time Monday evening at the Queen Mary auditorium. It shrieked; it smirked; it smiled sentimentally. This is the best cast-play I have seen the Summer Theatre do; the actors play up to it, and play together with happy ease.

The play is called "The Vinegar Tree" presumably because there is a vinegar tree in the unseen garden. There is more spice than vinegar to it. In one line Winnifred accuses the painter Max of being "slightly moral". So is the play.

The theme is small. An irascible old father (Bill Needles) and his fly-witted younger wife (Betty Leighton) are invaded by visitors in their quiet country home. They are: the wife's sister Winnifred (Anne Murray), thrice-married and a sophisticate; her paramour, a noted painter (Gerry Sarracini); the young daughter of the household (Kate Reid) home from college and in love with fellow-collegian Geoffrey Cole (Frank Perry) who drops in from a coal car, having more love than money to spend.

Inexperience In Passion

The painter has come for a rendez-vous with the sophisticated Winnifred, is seized by the mother as her first sweetheart and wooed by the daughter who wants to gain poise in passion, having been told by young Geoffrey Cole that she is too inexperienced to warrant his love, too virginal for marriage.

Plot and lines are worked out with a dramatic skill and wit as good as the best of Noel Coward by this American playwright Paul Osborn. While the play is as old as 'Hay Fever' it has none of its barnacles. It is as fresh as it is comic. There are many hilarious passages; for instance, the game of 20 Question at the opening of Act 2. The play ends with a surprise bang.

Betty Leighton and Bill Needles give commanding performances in the leading roles. Miss Leighton is completely delightful and convincing as the coy beloved of girlhood, the distracted nattering hostess, and the basically kind and solicitious mother and wife. Versatile Mr. Needles is unrecognizable in speech and dress as the elderly, crochety husband and father; his comedy is unsurpassable.

Charming Newcomer

It is good to have Gerry Sarracini back on the boards. He gives his role of middle-aged painter a skilled and intelligent reading. A newcomer to the Summer Theatre stage is Anne Murray who takes the part of Winnifred, of the demi-monde. She is charming and accomplished, an attractive asset to our theatre. Kate Reid and Frank Perry are the earnest, love-lorne young couple. Miss Reid as ingenue gives one of the most winsome and authentic performances I have seen her do. Mr. Perry abets her in her search for maturity in passion with suitable brashness and bashfulness. Ron Bailey is the man-servant. He plays such roles well, giving each a distinctive character.

Michael Sadlier directed the play. Peter Mews designed the set. It is excellent, giving the stage an air of modern grace and spaciousness.—T.J.A.

Found Citation Great Runner On Any Track

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP). — Hundreds of thousands of American racing spectators have seen Citation in action. The great Calumet flier could handle mud, slop, a fast track—any kind of track. If it was dusty, Citation stirred it up for the others behind him.

His two-year-old career indicated his impending greatness. The first major stakes for his three-year-old campaign was the $50,000 Flamingo at Hialeah in February, 1948. After that one, there was no doubt who was going to win the Kentucky Derby and the other big sophomore classics.

In the fall of 1948, after a trip to Chicago, Citation made a farce of the $100,000 Jockey Club gold cup. He won the Jockey Club three days after his sensational Sysonby performance. In 18 days, Citation had won $168,500 for Calumet and millionaire owner Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

Racing commissions hurriedly adopted rules giving tracks the power to declare win betting only when Citation ran in small fields, sometimes with stablemates. It was like money in the bank to bet Calumet to show, and collect at least five or 10 cents on the dollar. Minus pools were a common occurrence.

Citation was backed down to 1 to 10 many times, and in his final race of 1948, was 1 to 20 for the Tanforan Handicap.

By The Canadian Press

Between sneezes, dentist Cary Middlecoff led partner Jimmy Demaret to a 2 and 2 victory over Canada's Bob Gray and Stan Leonard Monday in an exhibition golf match officially opening the new Niagara Parks Commission course.

Dr. Middlecoff, from Memphis, Tenn., belted out a three-under-par 69 in the low-ball match over the tricky layout despite a severe case of hay fever.

Demaret, top-flight professional from Ojai, Calif., carded a 72.

Gray, from Toronto, and Leonard, pro at Vancouver Marine Drive, had a 72 and 73 respectively.

The four shotsmiths will leave for Toronto today to take part in the Canadian open, which gets under way Wednesday.

At Chicago, Bill Parnell of Vancouver, and Don McEwen of Ottawa have won places in the all-America Collegiate track team of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, it was announced Sunday.

Both study at United States colleges.

Selections were based mainly on the athletes' performance in the NCCA championship meet at Seattle, Wash., two weeks ago.

At Salt Lake City, Ted Schroeder won the United States' men's singles title in the National Hard-courts tennis tournament Sunday by defeating Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 10-8.

Patricia Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif., won the women's singles title by defeating Anita Kanter of Long Beach, Calif., 6-1, 6-4.

Golfers from various parts of Canada arrived here during the weekend to warm up for the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship tournament scheduled for the Hamilton Golf and Country Club July 9 and 10.

Among the early arrivals for the $1,000 first prize and the Cohama Trophy, was the veteran Par Fletcher of Saskatoon who toured the course with a one-over-par 71.

The daily double at Scarborough Downs, Me., Monday paid $1,001.60 for $2, largest such payoff in Maine racing hisaory.

Only two bettors bought the winning combination—Cardan, an Argentine importation which returned $68 in the first race, and Royal Chap, which paid $15 in the second.

At Charleston, W. Va., Dick Huffman described Monday a contract he has with the Los Angeles Rams professional football team as unfair and obligating him to spend the remainder of his gridiron career on one club.

The statement was made in connection with a temporary injunction obtained in Kanawha County court restraining him from playing for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Canada Interprovincial Football League.

World middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson stopped Cyril Delannoit of Belgium in 2:53 of the third round of a scheduled 10-round non-title fight Sunday at Turin, Italy.

Blitz III Wins

GANANOQUE, July 3 (CP). — Bob Bogie of Saranac Lake, NY, drove his Blitz III to victory in the International Nickel Trophy race Monday at the Dominion Day power boat regatta here. He covered the course in 12 minutes, three seconds. Winner of the Schenley Gold Helmet was Bill Hodgson of Toronto who drove My Ruthie to victory in the 225 division 2 class. Second was John Hainalult of Cornwall, driving Kingcot II.

Leafs Sweep Twin Bill From Springfield

By The Associated Press.

Johnny Hetki, 28-year-old righthander of Toronto Maple Leafs, is on the road back to the major leagues.

Hetki, a so-so pitcher when with Cincinnati Reds, is the International League's top winner.

The veteran has compiled an impressive 11-5 record for the Leafs, in fifth place, 17 games behind the league-leading Montreal Royals.

Hetki won only 11 in little more than three seasons with the Reds beginning in 1945. He stands a good chance of winding up with St. Louis Browns who have a working agreement with the Leafs.

Johnny posted his 11th victory Monday as the Leafs swept a doubleheader from Springfield Cubs 7-2 and 4-3. He stopped the Cubs on eight hits in the first game. The Leafs snapped a 2-2 tie with two runs in the seventh and clinched it with three more in the eighth.

Wins Second Game

Bob Shaw, who doubled and singled in the opener, won the second game with a three-run, two-out homer in the last inning.

Montreal split a doubleheader with runner-up Syracuse Chiefs winning the opener 1-0 but losing the nightcap 4-0.

Bob Alexander blanked the Chiefs on four hits to gain his eighth victory. Bobby Morgan drove in the lone run with a fly in the fourth. Dick Libby, making his first start, blanked the Royals on three safeties in the nightcap. The split enabled the Royals to maintain their nine-game lead.

Buffalo Bisons took a twin bill from the Ottawa Giants 2-1 in 11 innings and 5-3. Bob Wellman doubled home both runs in the first game. Archie Wilson socked a three-run homer, his 17th, in the fourth inning to launch the Bisons' drive in the nightcap.

Ed Mierkowicz' eighth-inning homer enabled Rochester Red Wings to edge Baltimore Orioles 5-4. Lou Ortiz also homered for the Wings.

"THAT'S MY POP!"—Three-year-old Gary Adams shows that he's a mighty proud boy—and why wouldn't he be. Isn't his dad, M-Sgt. Stanley P. Adams one of the top heroes of the Korean war? Sergeant Adams, happily reunited with his family in their Olathe, Kan., home relaxes before going to Washington to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor from President Truman. He won the medal by heroism in a suicidal charge in Korea.

185 Entries In RCGA Tourney

Canadian representatives in-

TORONTO, July 3 (CP). — Last-minute entries in the 42nd Canadian open golf championship round at Mississauga Golf Club here brought the entry total to 185, Royal Canadian Gold Association officials announced today.

Others seeking their second open title are Gene Kunes (1935); Lawson Little (1936); George Fazio, (1946); and Ed (Dutch) Harrison, 1949 champion.

One of the strongest fields ever to compete for the championship has entered the four-day tournament lured by the added prizes which bring the winner's cut to more than $1,350.

UEW Club Gives Soccer Loss To O'Halloran's

UEW maintained their unbeaten soccer record and leadership in the Eastern Ontario League by defeating O'Halloran's 7-1 here on Saturday. It was close for 20 minutes with both defences holding off the attackers. A corner kick of Holt's across centre curled into the net and UEW opened it up. On a fine deceptive play, A. Smith went in alone to put the ball past Woodcock. Smith scored again on a cross shot into the corner.

O'Halloran's battled back to test Jones several times and they finally broke the goose egg. G. Downer again was put in the clear but Jones pulled a nifty save. Strong and Halroyd missed one and then, from a Halroyd centre, Strong flicked the ball to A. Smith who made no mistake in scoring his third goal. Before the final whistle, UEW scored by Strong, Clark and Craig (penalty) and only sparkling work by Goalie Woodcock kept them from adding more.

St. George's Win

St. George's bantams defeated St. James by a 9-8 score in their semi-final Church Softball league playoff. It was a clean game marked by good sportsmanship. The score was tied 8-8 in the sixth and they had to go into the 12th frame of the exciting encounter before Glen MacIntosh's homer broke up the ball game. The pitching and fielding generally were good. Paul Wright, St. George's catcher, had his finger broken in the second inning, but continued in the outfield and turned in a neat effort. Teams:

St. George's: Parry, Parnell, Ferguson, Wright, MacIntosh, Chamberlain Outwater, Brown, Woods.

St. James: Rose, Collins, R. Rowe, W. Rowe, Stevens, Heard, Hutchinson, Fuller, Floyd.

Umpire—C. Hunter.

7-Man Gang From Brooks Dominates All-Star Team

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP). — A seven-man gang from Brooklyn dominates the National League squad for the 18th all-star baseball game July 10 at Detroit.

Not bound by the American League rule limiting selection of pitchers to one from each club, manager Eddie Sawyer named Preacher Roe and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn and Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen of New York to his eight-man staff.

Sawyer, manager of the pennant winning Phillies in 1950 and thus boss of the Nationals, picked 17 men today. The eight starters already were voted into the lineup by the fans.

Back of the "big four" from the leading Dodgers and runner-up Giants, Sawyer's staff includes his own Robin Roberts, Warren Spahn of Boston, Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati and Dutch Leonard of Chicago.

The fans made sure the Dodgers had a solid delegation by voting starting jobs to first-baseman Gil Hodges, the home run sensation of the year; second-baseman Jackie Robinson and catcher Roy Campanella.

Sawyer added Dodgers Roe, Newcombe, shortstop Pee Wee Reese (named for the seventh time) and centre-fielder Duke Snider.

The Squad

Pitchers—Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati; Larry Jansen, New York; Emil (Dutch) Leonard, Chicago; Sal Maglie, New York; Don Newcombe, Brooklyn; Robin Roberts, Philadelphia; Elwin (Preacher) Roe, Brooklyn; Warren Spahn, Boston.

Catchers—x-Roy Campanella, Brooklyn; Bruce Edwards, Chicago.

Infield—x-Alvin Dark, New York; x-Bob Elliott, Boston; x-Gil Hodges, Brooklyn; Willie Jones, Philadelphia; Harold (Pee Wee) Reese, Brooklyn; x-Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn; Al (Red) Schoendienst, St. Louis.

American League

Pitchers—Ned Garver, St. Louis; Randy Gumpert, Chicago; Fred Hutchinson, Detroit; Bob Lemon, Cleveland; Ed Lopat, New York; Conrad Marrero, Washington; Mel Parnell, Boston; Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia.

HIVE OF CONSTRUCTION—Demolition and construction at a peak in oil-booming Edmonton's downtown area when this photo (Left) was taken a few months ago. Steel framework was going up for the 16-storey addition to the Macdonald Hotel in the background, to be the city's tallest building. The main branch of Imperial Bank of Canada was operating from a quonset hut while the old bank building was being torn down to make way for the new one. Building this year is ahead of the record pace set in 1950. Edmonton's $46,500,000 in building permits was second largest in the Dominion. Two refineries are operating a few miles east of the city and a third is under construction. This photo (right) shows the $7,000,000 British-American Oil refinery, officially opened June 27 by Premier E. C. Manning. The refinery has a daily capacity of 5,200 barrels of crude oil. By the end of 1951, Edmonton's total refining capacity is expected to reach 40,400 barrels.

Warkworth Pupils Visit Kingston

WARKWORTH, July 3 (ENS)—Students of the Warkworth continuation school and three of their teachers enjoyed a trip by bus to Gananoque on Thursday, leaving Warkworth at 7 a.m.

From Gananoque they boarded a chartered steamer and enjoyed a cruise around the Thousand Islands, having dinner together on the boat.

When in Kingston they went on a tour. The boys visited the aluminum plant, while the girls visited the nylon plant. All visited Old Fort Henry.

They had their evening meal in Kingston and attended a theatre, returning home in the evening.

Edmonton's Growing Pains Worse, No Relief In Sight

By GRAHAM TROTTER

EDMONTON, July 3 —(CP)—Four years as an oil boom town have given Edmonton the worst growing pains in the country. And they appear destined to become worse before they get better.

In those four years, Edmonton's population has jumped from 115,000 to 160,000, double the 1931 total. Now Canada's eighth largest city, its population is increasing 1,000 a month as the magic of oil lures job seekers and the allied cheap natural gas attracts unprecedented industrial development.

The city's growth has developed into a racking civic-government financial headache. More houses, paved roads, sidewalks, parking, schools, sewers, gas, water and light utilities and public services are needed urgently.

And the city has reached the bottom of its financial barrel. Alderman William Hawrelak says: "In two years the situation will be critical. The city is at the end of its borrowing capacity."

Edmonton embarked on a five-year program in 1948, planning to spend $40,000,000 on capital extension of city-owned utilities. In the next three years $38,000,000 was spent, instead of the intended $24,000,000. Most of the money was borrowed. It is a good example of how fast the city's limited funds are being gobbled up.

Long Waiting List

The city-owned telephone system reports the waiting list for telephones has increased from 7,956 to 10,180 in the last year despite 5,200 installations. Costly conversion of the Edmonton transit system from street cars to trolley coaches and buses, started before the Second World War, is near completion.

The Edmonton public school board, telescoping into about five years construction that normally would be done in 15 or 20, described its financial plight as "critical." Planning expenditure of $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in the next three years, it so far has been unable to sell about $2,400,000 in debentures to cover contracts already awarded for this year.

The city is so pressed for money it has about decided to turn a four-block downtown area, reserved for years for a civic centre that never materialized, into a business area where high taxes can be charged. A "miracle mile" project by New York financiers, to give Edmonton an ultra-modern $25,000,000 civic centre, was defeated at the polls last year.

Future Financing

City Controller F. C. Ockenden says Edmonton's future capital expenditures will have to be financed almost entirely by debenture sales and capital borrowings because of its greatly-depleted reserves. He has recommended that new public works be restricted to essentials without which the city could not function.

This year the city increased the tax rate from 49½ to 56 mills. Then it set out to borrow $15,000,000.

Canadian investment houses turned thumbs down and the city failed twice to sell debentures privately in New York. Financiers felt the ratio of Edmonton's bonded debt to its assessment—more than one-third of $140,000,000—was at the point where further investment was risky.

Edmonton finally disposed of the debentures on the United States open market—but only $10,468,000 worth at an interest rate jacked up to 4.04 per cent from 2.7.

Just Another City

When 1947 dawned Edmonton was just another Canadian city, essentially a commercial and distributing centre for a vast agricultural area and extensive mining development in the north.

Then, in February, 1947, oil was discovered at Leduc, 21 miles south. Overnight a whole new era opened up for Alberta and its capital city.

This discovery—after Imperial Oil alone had spent more than $20,000,000 in a 20-year-drilling program only to come up with 123 dry holes—led to hundreds of others. Edmonton now is practically encircled by oil fields, some within 3½ miles of its limits.

Value of building permits skyrocketed—from $13,183,000 in 1947 to $40,050,000 in 1949 and $46,579,000 in 1950, both years the second highest in Canada. So far this year they are $3,000,000 ahead of 1950's record pace.

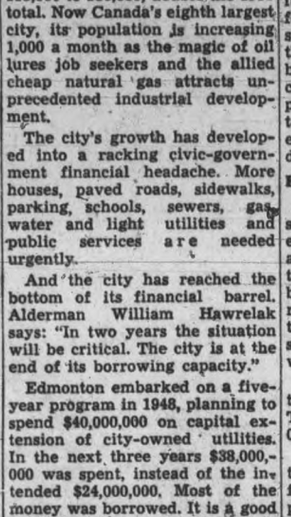
Bank clearings, a good barometer of business volume, soared from $699,453,000 in 1947 to $1,205,326,000 in 1950. They were up $16,000,000 in the first five months of 1951.

Construction Projects

Total capital invested in manufacturing plants last year was $112,000,000. Major projects under construction or planned for this year are expected to mean a similar outlay.

Under construction are a 16-storey, $5,000,000 extension to the CNR's Macdonald Hotel, to be Edmonton's highest building; two oil refineries at a cost of more than $20,000,000 for British-American Oil Co. Ltd. and McColl-Frontenac Oil Co. Ltd.; a $5,000,000 modernization of the Imperial Oil Ltd. refinery.

Planned are a $50,000,000 chemical plant by the Celanese Corporation of America and a $750,000 factory by Great West Garment Co. Edmonton is a possible site for a $20,000,000 pulp and paper mill proposed by Montreal financiers and a $17,522,000 nickel refinery which Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. has announced it will build in Alberta.



Building Houses

An average of 3,500 to 4,000 housing units are being built annually, but all are private projects because the city has admitted it hasn't enough money to go into housing.

Edmonton has never seen anything like it since 1795 when the original Fort Edmonton was established in the lusty fur-trading days. But the city, now covering 41.73 square miles, is accustomed to the limelight.

The North Saskatchewan River made Fort Edmonton one of the top trading posts on the continent when it was the main transportation artery in the northwest before the railways came; thousands of gold seekers outfitted here during the Klondike gold rush in 1897; bush pilots made Edmonton their base while helping to open up the north; and the Second World War brought the "American invasion," when Edmonton was a key point in construction of the Alaska Highway and the Canol pipeline.

Oil has brought all the present turmoil. But it still is second to meat packing as the city's most important single industry.

NEW UNIFORMS—No longer will the Canadian sailor have to struggle to pull a snug-fitting jumper over his head when dressing or undressing. The new uniforms will also have pockets in the trousers. The new uniforms will make their next appearance next month. Leading Seaman Butler is shown trying the zipper on his jacket.

Iran Offers UK Compromise Set Of Proposals

LONDON, July 4. (Reuters)—Iran has moved to ease her oil dispute with Britain by offering a set of compromise proposals designed to keep the oil flowing from the refinery at Abadan, it was learned today. The proposals, handed by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to Henry Grady, American ambassador in Tehran, are being studied by the British government and officials of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Grady had sent the documents to Walter Gifford, American ambassador in London, who passed them on to the British government.

The proposals, though they have not been released in detail, are understod to concern only the dispute over the type of receipt to be given by tanker captains taking on oil at Abadan.

This deadlock is threatening to close the refinery within a month because its storage capacity is limited.

Iran has rejected the demand by tanker skippers that the receipts should contain a clause stating their signatures would not prejudice the rights of the AIOC.

Iran claimed this might throw into doubt not only who controls the oil, but also the payment due.

The proposals she has now offered are believed to suggest a declaration by the British government that the clause on the rights of the Anglo-Iranian company would not invalidate the receipts.

Private Discussion

Prime Minister Attlee and Conservative Leader Winston Churchill will have a second private meeting tonight to discuss the oil dispute.

The meeting, at Churchill's request, will also be attended by Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and the Deputy Conservative Leader, Anthony Eden.

Attlee and Churchill held their first meeting on the Iranian situation last Wednesday, also at Churchill's request.

Meantime, it is understood that British policy has hardened against any immediate evacuation of British oilmen in Iran.

The shift in policy is a direct consequence of a personal report to the British cabinet by Eric Drake, general manager of Anglo-Iranian's refinery now in London, a usually-reliable source said.

Both the government and the AIOC are believed to want the oil men to stay at their posts in the hope of an ultimate compromise, even if the refinery has to be closed temporarily.

Difficult Story

AP correspondent James H. Long reported from Abadan, seat of the oil industry which is Iran's financial backbone, that the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company planned a complete evacuation of British personnel from the oil fields unless negotiations were resumed.

Long said if the evacuation plan is carried out within the next 18 days wells in the Khuzistan oil field would be capped and the giant Abadan refinery—the world's largest—would shut down until the Iranian National Oil Commission named to run the nationalized industry could take over operations.

Unemployment Shows Drop Of 24,100

OTTAWA, July 4. (CP)—Unemployment in Canada is continuing to decline, the Labor Department announced Tuesday.

At May 31, there were 151,100 persons registered for employment at national employment offices. The figure represented a decline of 24,100 from the total for May 17. At May 31, 1950, the number of unemployed totalled 254,000.

The department, reporting that an increasing number of employers are regarding immigration as the solution to their pressing needs, said:

"The three main labor market developments in the latter part of May were the continued expansion of seasonal activities, the beginning of the usual increase in the labor force as students and women accepted jobs for the summer months, and the appearance of employment dislocations in some lines of manufacturing as consumer buying slackened."

Help Ease Situation

The seeding of field crops, the opening of the Gaspe and Pacific fisheries, the extension of ocean navigation to the St. Lawrence and the further expansion of construction and mining activity have all contributed to the creation of more than 300,000 jobs in the last three months.

The activities quickly absorbed a large group of job-seekers, together with an increasing flow of immigrants and many thousands of students and women.

Employment in the manufacturing industries continued to be about 10 per cent above 1950, with most of the increase concentrated in the aircraft, electrical and iron and steel industries.

"Dislocations have appeared in some branches, the result of credit restrictions, material shortages and seasonal causes," said the department. "In the consumer durable goods industries high and increasing inventories and a consumer demand reduced by restrictions on credit have caused many short-time layoffs and the prospect of reduced production schedules."

Navy To Recruit 500 Women

OTTAWA, July 4 (CP).—Plans to recruit approximately 500 women into the Royal Canadian Navy reserve this fall were announced today by defence headquarters.

In a statement, headquarters said the new women's Royal Canadian Navy (reserve) will be an integral part of the Navy and not a separate service as was the wartime women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

The women will attend their local naval divisions for basic and trade training throughout the year.

The first four officers of the new reserve already are at naval headquarters preparing plans for the fall recruiting campaign.

They are Lieuts. Margaret S. Beck of Toronto, Agnes I. McPhee of St. Anne De Bellevue, Que., and Ottawa, Myrtle I. Allen of Sechelt, BC, and Frances A. Tait of Vancouver. All four served in the wartime "Wrens."

Police, Fire Chiefs Dismissed

Crystal Beach Leaders Demand Immediate Clean-Up

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., July 4. (CP)—This Lake Erie resort, where reform groups say corruption and debauchery are rife, today is without a police chief or a fire chief. In addition, 17 of its 24 firemen have resigned.

Provincial Police have been handling law enforcement since Monday. They had previously started an investigation into charges that the village 20 miles west of Buffalo had become a "wide-open town."

The heads of the seven-member police force and the fire brigade were dismissed Tuesday night at an open meeting called to inquire into Police Chief Gilbert Robertson's suspension of Constable John Sandel. It was announced at the meeting that Sandel had been reinstated. After the meeting, the 17 firemen quit in protest against their chief's dismissal.

But the firings and the reinstatement apparently did not satisfy the more than 150 citizens who crowded into a hot little room over the firehall for the meeting.

Want Things Cleaned Up

Said School Board Chairman William Holmes, after the meeting ended:

"This has done nothing to solve our problem. I don't want a police chief fired. I want the Provincial Police to stay in charge of this town until a nasty situation here is cleaned up."

In recent weeks, the peace of this popular resort community has been broken by a fatal shooting and what police described as an attempted suicide, the beating of a United States serviceman and an investigation of charges that the village had become a headquarters for supplying narcotics to youths. Reformers say prostitution and bootlegging are widespread.

Reeve Claude Brewster demanded that the Council dismiss Fire Chief George Pietz. He said Pietz had threatened to run Chief Robertson out of town with a shotgun last Saturday when Sandel's suspension was announced.

The reeve's motion was carried four to one.

Asked for reasons for the suspension of Constable Sandel, reputed to be a hard-man on bootleggers, Police Chief Robertson said he had nothing against Sandel and had no fault to find with him except that the constable had not carried out instructions.

The police chief and the reeve argued over whose duty it was to suspend Sandel. It ended with the reeve jumping to his feet and shouting:

"You're fired! You're dismissed as of now."

Plan Measures To Deal With Teen-Age Gangs

NORWAY POINT Ont., July 4 (CP)—Cottage owners and resort operators in this Muskoka district met Tuesday to discuss measures to deal with gangs of Toronto youths that have been staging parties and destroying property in weekend visits.

Residents said the youths, from Toronto's Kingsway and Forest Hill districts, have been coming to the village for the last three years and have been staging "open drinking parties" on cottagers' lawns.

Saturday, police said, 20 boys and several girls stripped every moveable object from the Muskoka Lake steamer Bigwin Inn and threw them into the lake.

Meeker Not Sure About NHL Job

KITCHENER, July 4—(CP)—Howie Meeker, recently-elected Progressive Conservative member of parliament from Waterloo South, said today he hadn't decided whether to retire from professional hockey.

The Toronto Maple Leaf right-winger said he will discuss the situation with party leader George Drew and Conn Smythe, Maple Leaf general manager, before he makes up his mind.

Meeker, who said he is "not financially independent by any means," said he understood that members of parliament have difficulty supporting their families on their government salaries alone.

(MPS receive a sessional indemnity of $4,000, plus a tax-free annual expense allowance of $2,000.)

$200,000 Fire

CHATHAM, July 4 (CP).—At least $200,000 damage was caused by fire which burned through part of the downtown business block today. The blaze is believed to have broken out in the basement of a men's clothing shop. From there it moved to the Dent Grill restaurant, Charlebois Fur Store, Tip Top Tailors and four private apartments.

WILLIAM N. OATIS, 37, allegedly confessed that he had acted as a spy at his espionage trial in Prague, Czechoslovakia. He was sentenced today to 10 years in jail. Oatis, from Marion Ind., was an Associated Press correspondent.

AP Reporter Jailed 10 Years By Czech Reds

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 4 (AP).—Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis today was sentenced to 10 years in prison by a Communist court in Czechoslovakia for "spying out state secrets" and reporting "slanders and lies."

Half of Oatis' sentence can be remitted for good behavior, the chief magistrate of the five-man court said, and he will be expelled from Czechoslovakia after leaving prison.

The chief magistrate said Oatis, the first western correspondent ever tried behind the iron curtain, was spared from the death penalty because of his "admission of guilt and assistance in exposing the espionage activities of western diplomats and western news agencies."

Three Czech employees of the AP's Prague office, tried with Oatis, also were judged guilty and sentenced to prison terms ranging from 16 to 20 years.

In New York, The Associated Press termed the two-day trial a "sham and a mockery of elemental justice" and said the AP would continue "by all means available, to seek Oatis' release from this cruel and unjust detention."

In Legitimate Work

The AP statement said the prosecution's evidence at the trial "showed only that Oatis was engaged in the legitimate pursuit of newsgathering as free people understand it."

The five Communist judges sentenced Oatis to 10 years in prison but suspended half of the term "for good behavior." The court ordered him expelled from Czechoslovakia after he serves his sentence.

WASHINGTON — (AP). — The United States today denounced the trial and conviction of AP Correspondent William N Oatis in Communist Czechoslovakia as a "ludicrous travesty of justice" aimed at intimidating American press services and the free press of the world.

Railways Get 12 Per Cent Freight Hike

Interim Increase Granted Till Board Holds Investigation

OTTAWA, July 4. (CP)—An interim freight-rate increase of 12 per cent — third since 1947 and estimated to add $54,000,000 a year to the national freight bill—was awarded the railways today by the board of transport commissioners.

At the same time, the board served notice it is going to move for implementation of some major recommendations of the Royal Commission on Transportation, sought particularly by the west and the Maritimes.

This implementation would have the effect of holding down rates on the long-haul traffic and movement of basic commodities that is heavy in the outlying provinces, and possibly also of having Ontario and Quebec absorb a greater share of future rate increases.

The board in its judgment promised an extensive investigation into these points next fall, meanwhile granting a straight temporary increase to carry the railways over expense hurdles caused by higher materials prices and wage costs arising from settlement of last August's general rail strike. The strike resulted in higher pay and a short work week for railwaymen.

Stand Till Inquiry

The interim award will stand until the board has given fuller consideration to the railways' financial position at hearings starting here November 12.

It follows a general increase of 21 per cent in 1948 and another of 20 per cent spread over three instalments in 1949 and 1950. For the freight affected by the increase, the cumulative effect of the increases is 62.6 per cent.

However, a great many types of freight are not subject to the higher rates on that scale, and some have been altogether exempt.

The new award, while authorizing a general increase, prescribed a series of customary exceptions, which include the West's grain traffic, joint rates between Canada and the United States and export rates to and from Canadian ports, which are kept on a parity with those of competing US ports.

Red-Slogan Shouters Socked By Woman

LONDON, July 4 (Reuters)—Police detained two men who shouted Communist slogans attacking the United States today as American troops marched through London streets for an Independence Day ceremony.

Forcing their way through crowds outside St. Paul's Cathedral, the men shouted "send the Yanks back" and Britain for the British.

A woman spectator socked one of them over the head with her handbag and the police moved in when it looked as though a scuffle might develop.

Communist leaflets were also thrown among the people lining the streets to St. Paul's where a special memorial service commemorating Independence Day was held.

Southerners Ignore New York Busybodies Will Hold Popular Coon-On-A-Log Event

FULTON, Miss, July 4 (AP).—Southerners can watch the annual coon-on-a-log contest here today despite protests from New York and Memphis "busybodies," Sheriff J. H. Gillard said.

Both the sheriff and the Sportsmen's Club sponsors said they were tired of out-of-state interference in Mississippi affairs.

Robert F. Sellar of Albany, NY, president of the National Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Tuesday sent Gillard a telegram objecting to the scheduled coon-hound melee.

The Memphis Humane Society also protested.

"They object to Mississippi having such events as this, while in New York and Memphis they go to boxing and wrestling matches where more people get killed than coons do in such events as this at Fulton," the sheriff said.

Coon-on-a-log is an old southern sport. A log is secured in the middle of a river or pond with a live coon on it. One by one, hounds are loosed to swim out and try to knock the coon into the water.

Judges and timekeepers score the dogs on their coon-dunking ability. The coon has a second who stands by ready to rescue him if a dog succeeds.

Main Defeated

WIMBLEDON, England, July 4. (Reuters)—Canada's Lorne Main and Miss Barbara Knapp of Britain, holders of the Canadian doubles title, were defeated today 6-1, 6-3, by Josef Asboth and Mrs. Suzie Kormoczy of Hungary in the fourth round of the mixed doubles match of the All-England Tennis Tournament. Main and his partner were outclassed from the start.

Dane Defeats Jack Guest By Six Feet

HENLEY - ON - THAMES, England, July 4 (CP)—Young Jack Guest of Toronto lost by six feet in his bid today to bring the Diamond Sculls to Canada.

Eric Larsen, 24-year-old blacksmith from a small town outside Copenhagen, built up a two-length lead in the early stages and just held on to win in 8 minutes, 10 seconds.

Larsen's time was one of the fastest ever recorded at Henley.

The record for the race over a distance of one mile, 550 yards, is 8 minutes, 2 seconds, established by J. W. Burke, of the United States in 1938.

Larsen appeared completely exhausted as his lead melted away in the thrilling finish.

Tough Race

Standing in a shower after the race, 18-year-old Jack said his sensational finish took more out of him than any other race he has every rowed.

"They said he was a fast starter, but I stuck right with him at first," the dark-haired Canadian said. "Then I said to heck with this and decided to settle down. It looks as if I took it a bit too easy."

Harry Arlett, Jack's English trainer, said it was a terrific disappointment to realize that the Canadian almost certainly could have beaten Larsen if he had kept his stroke a little higher in the early stages. Arlett estimated that at one point Jack was striking the water at only 20 strokes to the minute.

Jack Guest, Sr., who won the Diamond 21 years ago, said his son probably would have won if he had started his final drive a little sooner.

John Coulson of Toronto, a rowing expert, said he has seen few such thrilling finishes. Coulson, who followed the race from a launch, said that Larsen was a good two lengths ahead at the mile mark—that is with just 550 yards to go.

Report Inquiry In Army Sales

OTTAWA, July 4—(CP)—An Ottawa paper said Tuesday a joint inquiry has been launched by provincial police and army authorities at Camp Petawawa, into the reported sale of jeep parts by soldiers to Ottawa Valley service-station operators.

There was no indication when the inquiry would be completed.

The newspaper said service station operators between Arnprior and Pembroke have reported being approached by soldiers with jeep parts for sale.

Army headquarters said it has not heard of the investigation but is checking.

US King Of Hoboes May Try Acting Role

HOLLYWOOD, July 4 (AP)—Jeff Davis, King of the Hoboes, may abandon the open road long enough to try his hand at film acting.

Davis says he has been given special dispensation by the board of directors of Hoboes of America, Inc., to depart from such approved pursuits as selling razor blades to take up a tentative offer he has from a movie studio.

Stephen Auer, an associate film producer, said he has signed a contract with Davis acquiring movie, television and magazine rights to the story of his life.

Find Battlefront Unusually Quiet, Allies On Guard

TOKYO, July 4. (AP)—Communist commanders agreed tonight to preliminary cease-fire talks in Korea Sunday, the United Nations command announced. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander, had proposed such a meeting for Thursday. His spokesman said he saw no reason why Sunday would not be acceptable.

There was no change in the previously agreed date — next Tuesday—to start actual armistice talks at the ancient Korean capital of Kaesong near the 38th Parallel.

As an unusual quiet covered the 100-mile Korean battlefront, the powerful US army radio on Okinawa picked up an acceptance message from the North Korean Pyongyang radio. It said:

"General Ridgway,

"Commander of the United Nations forces:

"We have received your reply dated July 3. We agree to send three (3) liaison officers to Kaesong as you proposed. We will prepare for the preliminary conference in the Kaesong area if you agree to set the date on July eight (8).

"Kim Il Sung, supreme commander of the Korean people's armed forces.

"Peng Teh-huai, commander of the Chinese volunteers."

The broadcast was made at 7 p.m. in the Korean language.

Reception Poor

Reception was extremely poor. It was not heard by stations in Japan which have been listening for the latest message in the slow radio negotiations between opposing commanders.

There was no indication when Ridgway would reply to the latest message from Kim and Peng.

The Chinese Reds' Peiping radio reported Kim visited the front today to congratulate "the Chinese Peoples Volunteers" on "the heroic victories they have won."

American frontline dispatches said the Chinese completed withdrawing from mountains in the Iron Triangle which they lost this week at an estimated cost of 1,50 casualties.

Chinese movements behind the lines were watched constantly from the air.

American soldiers on patrol duty celebrated the Fourth of July by hurling grenades and ducking Red sniper fire, but generally there was not much doing on the ground.

Ridgway made the first move last Saturday. Kim and Peng accepted Sunday night, expressing

Charge Reds Causing Church Trouble

TORONTO, July 4 (CP). — Claims that Communists are stirring up trouble among the members of St. Barnabas Anglican Church here may be placed before a special commission investigating the stewardship of the Rev. Harry Garbutt, supporters of the rector said Tuesday night.

Mr. Garbutt's supporters said the RCMP and Toronto police are checking the activities of certain parishioners. They added that the results of the investigation will be presented to a four-man commission appointed by the Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, bishop of Toronto.

The commission met for 4½ hours Tuesday night and heard the bishop testify for 75 minutes. Another meeting tonight will hear the testimony of Mr. Garbutt.

Discuss Communion

The rector's refusal to give holy communion to seven parishioners was one of the issues discussed Tuesday night, it was learned. Another was marriages in the east-end church of divorced persons, performed by a non-Anglican minister.

Hints of Communism in the congregation followed two threatening notes received by the 49-year-old rector during the week-end. One said Communism "must rule."

However, R. M. Soward, diocesan chancellor, dismissed the Communism angle as "red herrings being drawn across the trail."

The church dispute, which began in 1943 with the appointment of Mr. Garbutt, concerns objections by several parishioners to the firing of a curate for "improper conduct" and the resignation of another when asked to do unspecified extra church work.

20,000 Dutchmen Canada-Bound

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 4 (Reuters).—More than 20,000 Dutch emigrants are expected to leave for Canada next year, Emigration Commissioner B. W. Haveman announced today.

Preparations for this record exodus have already been made by the Dutch Foundation for Emigration and the Canadian immigration office here. As the greater part of these emigrants will leave during the first months of 1952, the Canadian immigration office will start selection in August.

About 15,000 of the emigrants

At Ottawa, immigration officials said that if the Dutch immigration plan materializes, it will mean a sharp step-up in the flow of Dutch emigrants to Canada.

Floating Naval Bases Helped Beat Japanese

NEWCASTLE, England, July 4 —(Reuters)— Movable floating naval bases were the secret weapons which brought Japanese seapower to its knees in the Second World War, Capt. Ralph K. James of the United States Navy, said today.

James told the international conference of naval architects and marine engineers that during the Second World War the US built an acquired 150 floating [illegible] capacity from 400 to 100,000 tons. These enabled all major units of the fleet to operate almost continuously at distance up to 1,500 miles from the closest shore base.

Pearson Sounds Warning

Danger Of Over-Optimism In Korean Peace Stressed

OSLO, July 4 (Reuters)—Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, warned today against "too-careless optimism" over the chances of peace in Korea.

At a press conference here, Pearson stressed that if fighting is stopped in Korea, there still is the political side of the problem and the problem of a peaceful solution of the whole Far Eastern problem.

Pearson also warned democratic countries against slackening their defence work.

"It would be a great mistake if we relaxed our efforts just because we have worked out a solution in the Korea problem," he said.

Pearson said his visit to Norway is unofficial, but he has talked with Norwegian officials, including Foreign Minister Halvard Lange and Defence Minister Jens Hauge.

"Canadian and Norwegian relations might serve as a pattern for modern diplomacy," he said and jokingly referred to what he called the "Oslo-Ottawa axis."

Particularly within the Atlantic Pact organization, Norway and Canada have formed a united front, he said.

Premier Loses Out

Navy Rebellion Crushed But Army Junta In Charge

BANGKOK, July 4 (AP). — A four-man military junta has taken control of Thailand from Premier P. Pibulsonggram as an aftermath of an abortive navy rebellion.

The four men who actually stopped the rebellion hung on to the power they gained while the premier was a prisoner of the navy. Now they control Thailand through the figurehead of Pibulsonggram, who returned with great loss of face.

Heading the junta is a son and father-in-law team which has been consolidating power for three years.

No. 1 is Police Chief Gen. Phao Sri Yanondh. His 40,000 policemen constitute the country's largest armed force. His control became complete Tuesday when Pibulsonggram raised him from deputy to police chief.

No. 2 is Phao's father-in-law, Lt.-Gen. Phin Chunhawan, commander-in-chief of the Thai army. There are about 35,000 soldiers in the army.

Other members of the military junta are Gen. Sarit Thannarat, commanding general of the first army area, and Air Marshal Fuen Ronapakat.

There are only 60 to 75 planes in the air force, but it was big enough to sink the navy's largest ship with the captive Pibulsonggram aboard during the rebellion. The premier had to swim to safety.

Seventy-five per cent. of the navy's 5,000 men have been suspended for six months or longer.

Casualties in the navy's attempted coup were unofficially estimated at around 3,000.

Scientists Use Geiger Counters To Tab Skeeters

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) Mosquitoes will be impregnated with radioactive phosphorus this summer. Then scientists from this northern military camp will tail them with geiger counters.

The scientists, from the staff of the Defence Research Board, hope to obtain information helpful in controlling the pest in populated areas.

It is not new. For the last two summers Canadian and American entomologists have used this method to check migration of mosquitoes from their breeding grounds.

"Further work is anticipated," said Bill Beckel, an official of the Research Board.

Radioactive phosphorus is sprayed in ponds and it stays with the mosquito from egg to adult stage. Millions of mosquitoes are later caught by net near Fort Churchill.

The mosquitoes are killed, spread over a table, scanned with a gieger counter. Those which react are then known to have come from the sprayed area.

"We may know the distance it is necessary to control the mosquitoes from the camp," Mr. Beckel said.

"Blood Meals"

Right now his job is to establish a colony of northern mosquitoes at the laboratory and observe their behavior. Guinea pigs will be used for their "blood meals."

For although a mosquito is a plant feeder to a great extent, said Mr. Beckel, it seeks blood in preference to nectar and plant juices.

"The majority of northern mosquitoes must have blood to produce fertile eggs. Only the female mosquitoes go after blood."

A blood meal lasts a mosquito about three days and, contrary to popular belief, she doesn't die after one helping.

Mr. Beckel says the black fly is a worse villain that the mosquito.

"He doesn't pierce. He literally takes a chunk out of you with his teeth."

Trading At Quietest On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, July 4 — (CP) — The stock market had little trend as the session progressed today. Trading was at its quietest pace this year as investors hesitated to take a stand without direction from the holidaying New York market.

Prices opened a little ahead but then became mixed at noon.

In industrials utilities, textiles, banks, liquors and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains. Constructions eased and papers, steels, agricultures, foods, and refining oils were about balanced. Most price changes were in small fractions and many issues were unchanged of untraded.

Base metals gave the best performance of the market as they edged higher. Noranda stood out with $1 advance.

Western oils had almost no notable change.

Golds barely moved. Senior producers were mixed while several secondary golds eased pennies.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, July 4 —(CP)— Grain prices were moving narrowly in dull trade early today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Small domestic shipper demand appeared in both oats and barley. Outside interest, however, was at a minimum due to the holiday in the United States.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats—July ⅛ higher 78⅞; Oct. unchanged 81; Dec. unchanged 80; May—not open.

Barley—July unchanged 1.12; Oct. ¼-⅜ higher 1.14 ⅜-½; Dec. not open; May ⅛ lower 1.15¼.

Rye—July not open; Oct. ½-⅞ higher 1.72½-⅞B; Dec.-May, not open.

Flax—July 1 higher 4.16½; Oct. unchanged 4.00; Dec., May, not open.

CANADIAN RESIDENCE—This beautiful structure is the Canadian residence in Canberra. The Spanish-influence home in white stucco is located among the homes of foreign diplomats in the Australian capital. Canadian trees, shrubs and flowers are intermixed in the garden with native plants.

Canadian Touches Mark Diplomat's Canberra Home

Written for The Canadian Press. By Margaret Ecker, Francis.

CANBERRA— (CP)— The residence of the Canadian High Commissioner here is a successful attempt to blend Canadian atmosphere with surroundings essentially Australian.

When C. Fraser Elliott and Mrs. Elliott arrived to make their home in Canberra this winter (summer in Canada) they found themselves in a charming house that might well stand in Toronto's Forest Hill Village, the Westmount Section of Montreal, or Vancouver's British properties.

But it is also typically Australian in its setting. Incidentally, one of Elliott's first uninvited visitors was a possum, Australian variety which settled in between the first-floor ceiling beams and at last reports was still imposing on the High Commissioner's hospitality. (Note Possum— a small nocturnal marsupial mammal with thumbed hind-foot.)

A Canadian flag fluttering from a pole in a gracious garden was the first sight Mrs. Elliott caught of her new home. That garden is very like a Canadian garden, since the high, clear air of Canberra is kind to North American trees, shrubs and flowers planted there.

Lovely Perfume.

When C. M. Croft, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Sydney, was acting High Commissioner at the Capital Mrs. Croft lavished time and love on the rose garden. Clumps of fragrant levender hug the house so that its perfume can come through the windows.

Mrs. Elliott admired the gentle, corot-esque beautyt of the tall eucalyptus trees that border the garden. At one side of the house, beneath a trailing Canadian willow tree, and facing the rose garden, there is comfortable wicker furniture, for twilight relaxation outdoors when December summer brings heat to Canberra.

Vegetables Too.

Behind the house, in the Australian springtime (September and October) she'll be able to pick strawberries and gather other types of Canadian vegtables, peas, beans, beets.

Reg Virginia creeper climbs over the sprawling, modern house which with its wide windows, balconies and red-tiled roof shows the Spanish influence.

The house within is an unpretentious, friendly place. Queensland oak lines the reception hall where hang the portraits of the King and Queen and Lord and Lady Alexander. A high brick, Canadian fireplace dominates the informal drawing room which is decorated in beige and rose tones. The panelled dining room, with its gay floral drapes in green and purple leads onto a screened dining porch.

Canberra homes must be designed for comfort at Christmas time when the temperature can rise to 100 degrees, as well as in winter when frosty breezes bring to the valley the nip of snow from the hills around.

Convenient Kitchen

The big kitchen, with their two refrigerators and endless cupboards, are convenient, but at the same time they are arranged for efficiency in a help-scarce country. When Mrs. Elliott entertains she will use crystal on which has been etched Maple leaves.

The bedrooms, one downstairs, three upstairs, are large and cheerful, gay with restful color harmonies such as blue with rose, green with beige. They have fireplaces and ample cupboards, as well as bathrooms more modern than usually seen in even the best Australian homes. From the upstairs windows the view sweeps across the forest-like boulevards of the capital to the red hills with their white eucalyptus trees, usually muted with blue haze.

A small balcony looks down Vancouver Street, which crosses Mugga Way where stands the Canadian and other diplomatic residences.

a willingness to meet any time between July 10 and 15. Tuesday Ridgway agreed to start ceasefire talks on the 10th and proposed a preliminary session tomorrow.

It is the preliminary session which the Red commanders would advance to Sunday.

Under Ridgway's proposal, each side would send three unarmed officers of rank no higher than Colonel to Kaesong. They would then work out details for the important session between higher representatives of the commanders at which the actual end of the shooting would be arranged.

War Will Continue

The war will continue until this session is held.

It is to deal purely with military questions—although this particular point has not been raised in the radio exchanges between UN and Red commanders.

Biggest problem appeared to be setting a demarcation line for the armistice, pending subsequent peace negotiations at a higher level. The Reds want the line drawn at the 38th parellel, old dividing line between North and South Korea. South Koreans want the line to run farther north — through Red Korea.

UN headquarters were all set for every stage of the military talks—even to polishing brass on a peace train now in Seoul, 35 miles southeast of Kaesong.

The US Eighth Army announced today that press representatives would not be permitted at Kaesong during the preliminary talks, nor would correspondents be permitted to question the officers sent. Names of the officers have not been announced. They will go from Seoul by helicopter if the weather is good; by jeep if it is bad.

Without benefit of conferences, battle action became quieter Wednesday, AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported from US

Said Stealing Mother's Drugs

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 4 (AP) —Two brothers are accused of stealing morphine prescribed for their cancer-stricken mother and using it for "kicks."

Amedeo and Phillip Delponte were bound over Tuesday to a Federal Grand Jury on charges of illegal possesion of narcotics.

A practical nurse, Mrs. Hazel Taylor, was accused of sharing in the stolen morphine. She was held to the Grand Jury on the same charge.

A Federal narcotics agent said the arrests came after neighbors complained the brothers were taking morphine doctors had prescribed for 89-year-old Mrs. Nannie Lou Delponte.

Abandon Pilgrims Pair Pay With Lives

MASSAWA, Eritrea, July 4 — (Reuters). — Two African mariners will pay with their lives for the ghastly deaths of 18 trusting pilgrims they cast away on a desert island in the Red Sea.

Silma Musslem, an Eritrean, and Mahmud Omar Allasi, a Sudanese, were sentenced to death by a British court here Tuesday for the murder of the pilgrms, who set out from here last April in the belief they were bound for the holy Moslem city of Mecca.

Other sailors reached the island and found four starving survivors.

They told British authorities here how they had paid Musslem and Allasi to take them to Mecca by sea in a native sailing craft. But 30 miles out of Massawa they were put ashore on a rocky island inhabited only by voracious rock crabs.

First German Visa Issued Since War

OTTAWA, July 4 (CP).—Florence Gaynor of Ottawa Tuesday obtained the first German visa to be issued to a Canadian since the outbreak of the Second World War.

She received the visa and a bouquet of roses from Dr. Werner Dankwort, German consul and first postwar representative of his country in Canada.

"We are very happy to give you the first visa to Germany," said Dr. Dankwort to Miss Gaynor who plans a trip to Europe. "This bouquet represents a marriage between Canada and Germany."

Transfer Escorts

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP).— The House of Representatives Tuesday passed a bill authorizing the transfer of nine destroyer escorts to France, Denmark, Peru and Uruguay as part of the mutual defence pact. The measure, which now goes to the Senate, also puts an official stamp of approval on the previous transfer of 15 other destroyer escorts to Brazil, Britain and France under wartime lend-lease.

Where Are They Now?

NOKOMIS, Sask. (CP) — The Canadian Legion branch here had to reorganize when membership dropped to two men.

Lin Reported Now In Moscow

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 4 (AP) —Chinese Natnonalist newspapers said today that Gen. Lin Piao, commander of Communist China's biggest field army, is in Moscow.

One report said he was in a Moscow hospital recovering from serious wounds suffered in Korea. (Several days ago, another unconfirmed report said Lin was in a Peiping hospital, wounded slightly.)

Another press report said Lin was discussing with the Kremlin the establishment of a great Communist "international volunteer force." Chinese Reds describe their troops in Korea as volunteers.

There was no way of telling whether the Nationalist newspaper reports had any basis in fact.

Czechs Free US Pilot After Four Weeks

WALDHHAUS, Germany, July 4 —(CP)— The Czech government today freed an American jet fighter pilot who made a forced landing behind the iron curtain almost four weeks ago.

Lieut. Luther G. Roland of Hummelstown, Pa., was delivered to United States authorities at this German - Czech frontier point.

Roland and Lieut. Bjoern Jahansen of Bergen, Norway, have been prisoners of the Czechs since June 8, when they became lost on a routine training mission and landed their F-84 Thunderjets near Prague.

Johansen, who had been training with the US Air Force in Germany, presumably will be flown back to Norway, instead of returning to West Germany. The Czechs had agreed to free him at the same time as Roland.

US Air Force officials here said the two planes will be turned over by the Czechs at the border, Thursday.

Prepare Indictment

Meanwhile, the newspaper Bakhtar Emroos said the public prosecutor's office is preparing a preliminary indictment against AIOC officials charging them with "illegal operations."

The newspaper, owned and edited by Deputy Premier Hussein Fatemi and usually considered authoritative in government matters, said the indictment was being prepared after examination of documents discovered in police raids on the company's information office and on the town house of the company's chief representative, Richard Seddon.

As is customary also, coal and coke were excepted from the percentage increase but given increases in terms of cents per ton. These will vary from 10 to 20 cents per ton, depending on the length of haul.

The board also granted the railways permission to increase to $1.50 from 75 cents their minimum charge for small less-than-carload shipments.

The three-man board panel that signed the judgment was unanimous on the increase. However, Commissioner F. M. MacPherson, West Coast representative on the board said he does "not altogether go along" with the percentage method of granting rate increases.

Interim Agreement Of 10 Cents Accepted

BRANTFORD, July 4—(CP)— An interim agreement between Canada Packers and its workers here provides for a 10-cent hourly wage boost across the board, plus time and one-half for work over 48 hours a week.

The workers, through the United Packinghouse Workers (CIO) had asked for an increase of 30 cents

Radar Units In Canada May Cost US $100 Million

OTTAWA, July 4. (CP)—US contribution toward radar installations in Canada may exceed $100,000,000, it was learned unofficially Tuesday. No formal statement was available and all installations are on the secret list. Such an expenditure in Canada on this joint North American defence effort would help offset Canadian defence purchases in the United States now running at the rate of about $400,000,000 a year.

US defence expenditures in Canada have not yet reached comparable volume which accounts in some measure for the $300,000,000 deficit in trade with the US in the first five months of 1951.

It is understood that the electronic industry of Canada is aiming at a $400,000,000 production program to meet the needs of this country, the United States and other allies for radar and associated equipment.

Defence officials said a reciprocal agreement governing creation of a join radar network has been under discussion for some time between Ottawa and Washington.

It is expected to lay down what each country will contribute to a network which Defence Minister Claxton has said will have one-quarter of its stations in Canada.

It is not unlikely, officials said, that some American servicemen will be posted to Canada to man some of the new stations. Depending on its size and importance, a station might have anything from 100 to 400 persons posted to it.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, July 4—(CP)— The American dollar today opened at 6% per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.06⅝ Canadian to buy $1 American. The pound sterling was $2.98 9-16, also unchanged.

Finland Starts New Party, Not Too Popular

By THOMAS HARRIS

HELSINKI—(Reuters)—A new middle-class party has been formed in Finland to compete in the free general elections this summer.

Known as the Finnish People's Party, it is really a fusion of the recently dissolved Liberal Party and the Independent Middle Class Party, formed some two years ago, but never really successful.

The new party is headed by university Professor Eino Saari. In a vaguely-worded manifesto, the party says Finland is split over domestic politics because the middle class is not organized. The party therefore appeals for support from all "wage earners, business men, farmers and professional people who confess to the Finnish way of life."

The Finnish way of life, the manifesto adds, is based on Christianity, national unity and firm democratic principles. The party has, however, no clear-cut program yet for protecting the interest of the middle classes.

For this reason it will be handicapped in fighting Finland's five other parties in the election campaign.

Widely Criticized

Already the new party is under fire from its competitors.

The Agrarians say: why form a middle class party when we are already looking after their interests? The Social Decocrats accuse the new party of trying to protect the interests of the middle class at the expense of the rest of the community.

To the Peoples' Democrats—a merger of Communists and left-wing Socialists—the Finnish People's Party is just a "fascist gang." The Conservative Party is uneasy over the appearance of a new competitor, although they have not said much yet.

Finally, the Swedish People's Party, the protector of the Swedish-speaking minority's rights, is worried about the new party's insistence on the "Finnish" way of life. The "Swedes" fear Professor Saari and his colleagues may be out to reduce facilities for the Swedish-speaking population of this bilingual country.

Busy with its own organization, the Finnish People's Party has not yet answered its opposition; furthermore, many of the charges may well be only pre-election sparring in which politicians here never pull their punches.

More Immigrants From Northern Europe

In 1949 and 1950 immigration slumped from the first post-war years. Part of the decline was due to a dropping-off in immigration from the British Isles, which itself was due largely to dollar restrictions. Another reason for the decline may have been that the Government itself did not press urgently enough for immigrants, or create sufficiently attractive conditions for emigrating. A year and a half ago many Canadians feared an economic recession, when there would have been more people than jobs. Then came Korea, with more demands for materials and workers than there were supplies. Korea invigorated companies and immigration officials to go out and get immigrants. For instance, there is a recent regulation by which the Government will pay passage money over $30, to be repaid in two years.

* * *

While immigration from the British Isles is at a low point, there is a notable increase in the number of people arriving from the Scandinavian countries and Holland. That is excellent. These people are of our own stock, used to climate not unlike ours, and are progressive, industrious types. Of the 60,356 immigrants who came to Canada during the first five months of this year, 20,677 came from Holland, Germany, Denmark and other northern European countries. This is more than a third of the total and an increase of 166 per cent. over the number in the some months of 1950. During these first five months of this year, 26,154 immigrants arrived from other, non-Anglo-Saxon countries. This is an increase of 77 per cent. over last year's figures. Thus, while immigration generally is increasing, the rate of increase is biggest from Northern Europe. If this rate continues, we shall soon be receiving more northern Europeans than central Europeans and people of other non-Saxon countries.

* * *

The Germans, Dutch, Danes and Scandinavians have proven in the past to be among our very finest immigrants. It would be an excellent thing for Canada if, as the number of immigrants increases, the proportion of these nationalities continues to increase.

Saturday Night Editorship

The weekly Saturday Night is one of the few serious journals of comment in Canada. A change in its editorship is therefore of special importance, perhaps more important than a change in ownership. Mr. B. K. Sandwell, its distinguished editor is retiring (to become "Editor Emeritus") and Mr. R. A. Farquharson is his successor.

Mr. Sandwell's literacy, scholarship and wit have given Saturday Night a distinctive flavour and a wide influence. It is good that his pen will still be at its service. Mr. Farquharson is one of Canada's most experienced and respected newspaper editors. For many years he has been an executive editor with Toronto papers: the Mail and Empire and thereafter, the Globe and Mail. His hand has also been felt in recent years on the Toronto Telegram.

Mr. Farquharson has practised his genius as a managing editor rather than as a writer of editorials. Since its editorial comment has long been a chief [illegible]

Its friends and admirers will expect Saturday Night to continue in influence as a journal of wide and spirited independence of opinion under its new, extraordinarily capable editor.

No Buttering Of The Senators?

One of the uses of a Second Chamber in a parliament is that it can check or block legislation which it considers hasty, unnecessary or undesirable. The Canadian Senate—whose members are appointed for life—is not dependent on political whims and a fickle electorate. Neither it is likely to be subjected to the same pressures from special groups as the House Commons. A Bill before the Senate last week gave the Second Chamber the opportunity to justify its separate existence.

The Bill is one which the Government is quietly trying to slip through Parliament to please the dairy interests and Quebec. By one of its clauses interprovincial trade in margarine could be prohibited. Senators right and left, both Liberal and Conservative, attacked the Government Bill. They rightly said that it would "Balkanize" Canada by setting up trade barriers between the provinces. They properly questioned if the provisions of the Bill were within the jurisdiction of parliament. How can they be? By the British North America Act which is the basis of Canada's constitution, the Provinces "shall form and be one Dominion"—not ten separate nations with fences between them to prohibit the free movement of goods and people among them.

Is the Parliament of Canada going to dismember this country for the sake of butter prices? Members of the House of Commons are sent to Ottawa to legislate for the good of the whole country, and not for separate localities, special industries and pressuring lobbies.

In their attacks on this Bill, some of the Senators are showing that they will not be buttered. Without regard to party alignments but with anxious concern for Canadian nationhood, the Senators attempted to kill the Bill. Thursday's debate on a motion to give it a six months' hoist (a parliamentary way of killing a Bill) was continued for three hours and resumed Friday. But then the Government guns began to play. The upper chamber voted 21 to 15 against the motion. Thus the Bill will pass. Thus the Senate has not, in our view, distinguished itself.

The legislation is a complicated matter of providing and preserving food standards in intra-provincial trade. It is not overtly designed to interfere with the inter-province sale of margarine. However, that can be its effect. Section 121 of the B.N.A. Act says that "all articles of the growth, produce, or manufacture of any of the Provinces shall, from and after Union, be admitted free into each of the other Provinces." That is a constitutional requirement, and the regulation of grade standards should not be allowed to countermand it.

It may be regretted that the legislation came to the Senate in the few days before the Dominion Day holiday and the closing of the session. Had there been more than 36 of the ninety honorable senators in their seats to vote on the measure, would the Opposition have been strengthened enough to delay its passing?

Right Behind Tshekedi

Tshekedi Khama has ruled the Bamangwato Territory in the British Protectorate of Bechuanaland with conspicuous ability for twenty-three years. He has now been banished from the territory by the British Government acting on the recommendations of the colonial officials on the spot. This has put the Government on the spot.

The banishment of Tshekedi has been hotly debated in the British House of Commons, and, had not the Party Whip been applied, the Labour Government could have been defeated on the issue. It made one concession: it has agreed to call a tribal meeting to hear what the tribe wants.

All the influential and independent British newspapers are on the side of Tshekedi: the London Times, the Manchester Guardian, the Observer, the Economist. There is a feeling that a personal injustice has been done and that a protected subject of the King has been the victim of a serious misuse of arbitrary power. There is a deeper issue: Africa is an awakening continent, and African peoples must be helped to self-government if they are not to become preys to Communist agitation. However, the Colonial Administrators' word has been upheld as law and Tshekedi has been banished. But what of the will of the people?

Thus it is that the affaire Tshekedi is not a storm in a tea-cup with the British papers taking a light-hearted summer stir of the spoon. It is interesting that beset as the British are by problems of Korea, Russia and the Iron Curtain, they can be aroused by, and find time to debate, a matter of personal justice to one subject of the King, as well as of important colonial policy.

Jet Airliner Fleet

The world's first fleet of jet airliners is scheduled to go into regular B.O.A.C. [illegible] Overseas Airways Corporation is replacing the orthodox piston-engined types with 500 m.p.h. De Havilland Comet jets. The earth has always travelled fast—on its daily revolution. Now man on it is catching up—whisking over continents at a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour.

It is only a dozen years since flights over long distances were organized commercially; only thirteen years since the British Imperial Airways seaplane Mercury completed the first non-stop flight between Ireland and Montreal. Before the war he was a flighty adventurer who risked his neck flying over sea and land; air force heroes and daring civilians won Allied admiration when they ferried four-engine bombers across the Atlantic in the first war years. Now the most conventional of businessmen will travel by jet plane from England to Egypt in a comfortable cabin, sipping tea as he flits above the world at 500 m.p.h.

A man of our acquaintance complains that when he uses a typewriter he makes a lot of mistakes in spelling. That's the worst of a typewriter; it's so legible.

A British View From Canada

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE greatest world event of the past decade has undoubtedly been the American awakening: the gigantic jump which America made from isolationism to world leadership. The very magnitude of this event has somewhat obscured the parallel development which during the same decade, has taken place in Canada. Canada, too, has passed from a period of relative isolation to one of active and independent world policy; and, as in America, the process has been accompanied by a startling internal growth in wealth and power. Indeed, this internal Canadian growth, though smaller in scale than the American, is even more breathtaking in speed and rate of development.

Before 1939 Canada was chiefly an agricultural and raw material supplying country. Today, she is one of the major industrial Powers of the world; in relation of output to population, she has already far surpassed Britain and is probably second only to America herself. The 14,000,000 Canadians have today an annual national income of 14 billion dollars; the 50,000,000 Britons one of 29 billion dollars. And Canadian production, wealth, and potential power are still growing by leaps and bounds. Since the war Canada has enormously expanded her chemical and aluminum industries and added an entirely new oil industry, which promises to make her self-supporting in oil in about five years' time. Simultaneously, new mineral discoveries on a huge scale—iron ore, titanium, uranium—have revealed the basis for a still quite immeasurable future expansion.

* * *

IN a material sense, Canada is today what America was a hundred years ago: the land of unlimited possibilities. I asked three high Canadian officials what they thought was the optimum population that Canada could support on her known resources and would need to exploit them. The estimates varied widely. The most conservative one was double her present population. Another, 50,000,000. The third official I asked said there was no material reason why Canada should not in time become another, more highly industrialized, United States.

He made one qualification: If Canada does not repeat in the twentieth century the American nineteenth-century development, it will be because the type of pioneer immigrant who made the United States seem to have died out. Canada has during the last two years reversed her immigration policy: the doors which were so long shut are now wide open to all Europeans—Germans and Italians included. This is a major revolution which may have a profound, indirect influence on the future of Europe by providing it with the kind of outlet which America provided up to 1914 and which has since been lacking. But it has hardly yet been realized in Europe; at any rate, the response has so far been weak, and Canada is at the moment asking for more immigrants than are willing to come. She would like to receive 300,000 a year. She got 50,000 in 1950, and hopes to get 125,000 this year.

* * *

IN the meantime, she gives, as a country, the impression of an adolescent body with its curious and awkward disproportions: enormous spaces with a still small and scattered population, fantastic communication and transportation problems, huge resources still quite haphazardly tapped, splendid modern industries and urban comfort side by side with unconquered, raw nature. Another startling contrast is between the almost American bustle of Canada's industries and the almost Scandinavian quiet of her politics.

The reign of the Liberal Party has been so long, its present majority in Parliament is so large, the political outlook so stable, and the political temperature so low, that one sometimes feels Canada might be on the way to becoming a one-party State without quite knowing it. Paradoxically, the danger is increased by the great shrewdness and moderation of the leading politicians and the great competence of the top Civil Servants. The oddly ecclesiastical, mock-medieval complex of Government buildings in this quiet, provincial capital, Ottawa, houses a few dozen of the wisest and soberest heads that can be found together anywhere in the world. And these few dozen men—Ministers, deputy Ministers, and Civil Service statesmen—run the country practically undisturbed. What a contrast to Washington, with its obstreperous, unpredictable, irrepressible, often irresponsible, but tremendously vital democracy.

BUT whatever dangers this political calm and virtual Civil Service rule may hold in the long run, for the present it has been a great blessing to Canada. The enlightened oligarchy in Ottawa has not only kept the nation united in a period of unprecedented internal growth and external stress (even the perennial unease of the relationship between the two nationalities is imperceptibly losing edge), but it has performed the tremendous feat of taking Canada out of isolation and giving her a definite foreign policy without causing any of the "great debates," the unanxieties, and national schisms [illegible] the United States.

The Canadian isolationism of the thirties, which was no whit less strong than the American one, is today almost forgotten (even among French Canadians it is greatly reduced). Canada, once one of the most passive and timid members of the League, is now one of the busiest and most influential members of the United Nations; and if in the thirties her Commonwealth role consisted largely in putting the brake on British commitments in Europe, she has now become one of the chief initiators of the Atlantic Treaty, and is today the leading champion of the idea of an Atlantic Community. Indeed, nowhere else has this been embraced with such conviction, and nowhere is it pursued with such single-minded sober determination as in Canada.

AMERICA is obviously the power centre of the Atlantic Treaty, but she does not think in Atlantic terms. She thinks in global terms, and the Atlantic Treaty is to her no more than the first of a series of globe-circling regional security arrangements whose relative importance is still highly controversial. Britain and France hold the critical frontier of the Atlantic Community, but each with one eye on other regions or possibilities: Britain still much deflected by Imperial and Commonwealth commitments in Africa, the Middle East, and Southern Asia: France thinking wistfully of a 'Third Force" Europe based on French-German union. Canada alone sees in the specific conception of an Atlantic Community not only the necessary answer to her security needs but the ideal constellation in which to find a permanent political resting point. An Anglo-French nation intimately linked to America by geography and economics, she cannot settle more happily than in a firm and unbreakable community which embraces all three: Britain, France, and America. Hence the promotion of an ever closer Atlantic Community must be the obvious overriding aim of Canadian foreign policy; and Canada's permanent nightmare is a possible break between Britain and America, which would force on her a most hateful choice.

This must be thoroughly understood to appreciate Canada's Commonwealth role correctly. Canada is a loyal, contented, and (as one high official put it) "conservative" member of the Commonwealth; but she would never agree to any formal tightening of the Commonwealth link which would make it compete with the North Atlantic Treaty. Her real link is not with the Commonwealth as such, but with Britain as an Atlantic Power. She would not dream of committing Canadian troops to the defence of specific Commonwealth interests in, say, the Middle East, and she is as anxious to restrain Britain from too heavy commitments in the Indian Ocean area as she has proved reluctant to follow America into risky Pacific policies which, in Canadian eyes, are dangerous diversions. For similar reasons, Canada is unenthusiastic about the extension of the Atlantic Treaty to the Middle East through the inclusion of Greece and Turkey, now proposed by America. To Canada the Atlantic comes first—certainly for the next few years — while the defence of Western Europe is still less than absolutely assured. Make the unity of North America and Western Europe indissoluble, so she argues, and the strategic area from Berlin to San Francisco impenetrable—and all the rest will be added unto you. It is a simple reasoning, but it has great strength and cogency in its simplicity.

In her relations with Britain and America especially, Canada seeks a perfect balance. This does not mean that she will not from time to time lean more strongly to one side or the other just to restore the balance. At the moment she has been closer to Britain in her United Nations tactics and Asian policies, and she would greatly welcome some British investments in her new development projects to balance American capital, just as she would like more British immigrants. In general, there is an undercurrent of unease lest Canada be flooded and overwhelmed by American economic and cultural influences, and a profound awareness of the balancing value of the British connection. But it would be wrong to draw too large conclusions from this, or to bank too heavily on the emotions of the Canadian Empire Loyalists, who are no more than one group among even the English-speaking Canadians.

Speaking with one of the most influential men in Ottawa, I pressed him hard to say where Canada would stand if the worst came to the worst and Britain and America broke apart. "We refuse to consider this," he said. "It must not happen, and we will do our utmost to prevent it from happening." "But what if it happened in spite of this," I insisted. "What if MacArthur became United States President" (he gave a little involuntary moan at this) "and Aneurin Bevan British Prime Minister, and there were a real break?" He looked at me with troubled eyes and raised the palm of one hand in a gesture of regret. "After all," he said sadly, "we are a North American country."

UNCLE?

Letter To The Editor

A CHARMING BOY

Sir: A charming boy of 8 to 10 years accosted me on Saturday afternoon as I walked north on Rubidge St. toward Charlotte. It was not so much the familiar "hello" but his warm, friendly smile that halted me. He meant that smile. On asking him why he had spoken to a stranger he replied "I always speak to every one." We chattered a bit and as I looked into his lovely brown eyes it was evident that his was a happy home life.

"When you reach home please tell your mother how pleasant you were to a woman from far off California and that I know how carefully she is bringing you up." His eyes danced as he answered: "O thank you — I shall be sure to tell her."

Truly "manners makyth man."

KATHLEEN I. JENKINS.

Watering Lawns

(Windsor Star)

It does seem strange, with an unlimited amount of water flowing past our front door, we in Windsor have to go with parched lawns each summer. Yet, if sufficient water is to be available for household and industrial uses, restrictions are again necessary this year. Water for gardens and lawns will not be available from Mondays to Fridays, between eight a.m. to nine p.m.

The difficulty of course, is in distribution. It costs money to build water mains. The Windsor Utilities Commission has substantial expansions underway, but some sections haven't as yet been completed. Prospects are that when next summer arrives, there will be no need for such prohibitions.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old?....

He hath shewed thee O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God. (Mic. 6: 6, 8.)

* * *

Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.... And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to pull out the mote that is in thy brother's eye. (Luke 6: 37 41, 42.)

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. (Gal. 5: 1.)

Problem Of Child Marriages

(Chatham News)

A 16-year-old girl was arraigned in a New Jersey court on a charge of bigamy. She said she had left her first husband and had intended obtaining a divorce, but "did not trouble about it."

Evidently she did not trouble much about her first marriage either. The man had probably asked her in a moment of enthusiasm after a casual meeting, because if a girl has had two husbands at 16, she has not had time to cultivate more than a nodding acquaintance with either of them.

But that is the way with a lot of silly girls who regard getting married as little more than a lark, and have not the slightest conception of what it all means.

Fortunately Ontario has a law to protect those youngsters from their own follies. But in the United States there are states in which the law is little better than that in India. Girls may marry with or without the consent of their parents, at the age of 12, and boys at the age of 14.

No Discrimination

(St. Catharines Standard)

Severe penalties are now invited if there is discrimination, for reasons of race, creed, colour or national origin against the employment of an applicant for work in Ontario. The new act, the most enlightened of its kind in the Dominion of Canada, came into force on June 4 under the Department of Labour, headed by Hon. Charles Daley.

Headed by Louis Fine, chief conciliator of the Department of Labour, a Fair Employment Practices branch operates to investigate complaints. Fines are provided up to $50 for individuals and $100 for organizations for branches of the act.

Labour Minister Daley urged that employees should not treat the new measure frivolously, declaring: "We don't want them to complain they're being discriminated against every time they don't get a job. That could just become an excuse."

Canada And US To Share Alike

OTTAWA, July 4 — (CP) — Canadian manufacturers working on defence contracts have been placed on an equal footing with United States manufacturers for allocation of scarce materials, it was announced Tuesday.

The new American priority and allocation program, known as the Controlled Materials Plan, went into effect formally July 1. It will allow Canadian industry to share equally with Americans the scarce supplies of American goods.

The US government has issued a priority scale covering three essential materials: steel, aluminum and copper. Canada buys some copper and aluminum from the US, but mainly she is interested in United States steel.

The manufacturer who gets a priority rating on US steel for defence purposes, also gets priority on component parts.

Small Layoff

LONDON, Ont., July 4 (CP). — A general slowdown of business, with credit restrictions a "very important angle," has forced the layoff of a "small number" of men at Kelvinator of Canada, Ltd., President Charles W. Hadden said Tuesday. A "few dozen" of the company's 800 factory employees have been laid off temporarily.

Ford Workers Back After 3-Day Shutdown

WINDSOR, July 4—(CP) — Ford of Canada's 11,000 production workers went back to work Tuesday after a three-day inventory shutdown.

But new layoffs for many of them were ahead. The company has announced that it will operate on a reduced schedule effective next Monday as a result of a slump in automobile sales.

Rhys M. Sale, president, attributes the drop in sales to credit restrictions and excise taxes.

Lauds Eisenhower

LONDON, July 4 (Reuters). — Prime Minister Attlee Tuesday night picked Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the man who won the Second World War and the man to prevent a third world war. Addressing 1,000 guests at an English-speaking union dinner, Attlee said: "General Eisenhower was the man who won the war. Always remember that."

Return To Work

OAKVILLE, July 4 (CP).—One hundred employees of the Barringham Rubber and Plastics Company who walked out last Thursday when the company refused to grant them an 18-cent-an-hour wage increase will return to work under an interim agreement reached Tuesday. Terms of the agreement between the company and local 292 of the United Rubber Workers (CIO) were not disclosed.

84 Fatalities During Holiday

By The Canadian Press

Canada Tuesday recorded a violent death toll of 84 as an aftermath of the Dominion Day weekend.

In the 72-hour period from midnight Friday to midnight Monday, 36 persons were drowned, 28 died in traffic accidents and 20 from other causes. The report was the blackest since the end of the war.

Ontario led the list with 42 violent deaths, 23 by drowning, nine—a comparatively light toll—in traffic accidents and 10 from other causes.

Only New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island reported no accidental deaths during the celebrations of Canada's 84th birthday.

In 1950 a total of 51 persons died in a two-day weekend holiday, and in 1948, when the holiday covered a five-day period from July 1 to July 4, the toll was 70.

Gets 15-lb. Trout

OWEN SOUND, July 4 (CP).—Don Browne Tuesday caught a 15-pound 10-ounce trout while trolling in the bay six miles from here. It was one of the largest lake trout ever caught in the area.

Emergency Move

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP).—Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman set up a committee of oil company officials Tuesday to plan for possible emergency worldwide reorganization of American petroleum facilities.

Air Tramway Handles Big Sand Job

TIMMINS —(CP)— Northern Ontario's closest approach to perpetual motion crosses a highway between here and Schumacher.

It's a huge aerial tramway leading into Hollinger mine and stretching three miles back over rolling, wooded country. For the last 24 years it has handled one of the largest sand-moving jobs in North America.

The tramway so far has brought almost 20,000,000 tons of sand from a pit to the mine. The sand is used to replace rock removed from the mine so the walls won't collapse on workers.

The sand has to be porous so that water can percolate through it. Otherwise, underground lakes would form from drainage and eventually burst into the mine workings.

The tramway really isn't perpetually in motion. It just seems that way to residents who have watched it in operation swinging along for as much as 24 hours a day, six days a week.

Have Affection for It

Many of them regard it with considerable affection. Some snitched rides in one of the 224 large buckets when they were youngsters. They also hold a great deal of affection for a tiny, pot-bellied locomotive, almost a half-century old, which works in the pit where the sand is dug.

The slowly-moving buckets pass in endless parade on a slight cable powering the line. A slight squeaking sound is heard as they go by each of the 65 supporting towers. The silent operation of the line at night adds to the illusion of perpetual motion.

The return trip of empty buckets isn't wasted entirely. Mail from the company's office is carried out daily in a small waterproof bag tucked away in one corner of a bucket.

Shakedown Racket

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP). — Four former firemen were convicted Tuesday of conducting a $500,000 annual shakedown racket. Found guilty by a general sessions court jury the four were accused of extorting money from fuel-oil burner installers who had to get fire department approval for their work.

AGINCOURT, Ont., July 4 (CP).—Mrs. Matthew Elliot today will celebrate her 102nd birthday. She came to Canada from England 95 years ago and spent almost all her life on a farm in Scarborough Township just east of Toronto.

Toronto's Subway Costs $104 An Inch To Construct

By DON PEACOCK

TORONTO —(CP)—It's costing $104 an inch to build the 4½-mile Toronto subway. Trains should be running by Christmas Day, 1953.

Canada's first underground rapid transit system worms its way from in front of Union Station on Front Street northward under Yonge, the city's main north-south artery, to Eglinton Avenue, near th city limits.

At approximately the half-way mark in the construction job, this is the picture:

A half-mile of completed two-track tunnel;

Two-thirds of a mile of finished tunnel walls;

Almost a mile of concrete floor.

Despite delays in delivery of steel, construction is still on schedule.

Cost Climbing

The final cost, originally estimated at $30,000,000, climbs with increased labor and material prices. But only war, cutting off steel supplies completely, now could delay the subway's completion.

The urgency with which it forges ahead is obvious from the symphony of heavy equipment at work and the hustling activity along the street all day and often late into the night.

Streetcars and other traffic rumble over heavy timbers that provide a temporary street surface above the excavation. Forty feet below, bulldozers and cranes labor with great energy.

Some downtown sections of Yonge Street are blocked off to traffic from time to time while timbers are removed and sand is dumped through the slots on top of the completed tube. The sand will provide a foundation for the new street surface to be laid as the tunnel is finished.

Spectators Watch

Spectators peer into the subway wherever there's an opening. Ramps slope into the excavation at various points and underneath, the rumbling of traffic passing over the decking is deafening.

Dim rows of light bulbs stretch far up the mammoth, covered trench, and as eyes grow accustomed to the gloom, the shapes of men tearing down old or building new forms for concrete emerge from the shadows. Sewers and water mains and the supports holding hydro and telephone tables slung under the timbers overhead, also become visible.

Downtown Hub

Northward, toward the intersection of Yonge and Queen Street, main east-west artery of the city, a latticework of steel reinforcing rods, awaiting more cement, stretches across the floor where concrete ends.

Beyond this, a steep ladder leads up to a catwalk high over a huge, rectangular cavern gouged in the earth. When the Yonge Street subway is completed, another under Queen Street is planned, and here the two-storey-deep cross-roads station of the lines will be built.

Queen Street trains east and west will pass under the Yonge Street tube, and escalators as well as stairs will connect the lower level with the surface.

There will be 12 stations along the Yonge Street line. Feeder buses and streetcars will run from each station.

On top, a great, hissing pile-driver bangs steel piling into the ground at the end of the decking. A pneumatic drill rattles into the pavement ahead, preparing the way for more excavating.

Superintendent Looks On

And, as always, standing amid the interminable din of the construction, the sidewalk superintendent looks on. The Toronto Transportation Commission early recognized his status and published sidewalk superintendents' manuals—grades I and II.

So far only one "superintendent" has met with mishaps. A man leaned too far over a guard rail. He plunged face first to a platform 30 feet below. He broke no bones.

From an archaeological standpoint, the subway has been a flop. Only one "fossil" has been dug up. It was the shin bone of a cow.

Not Over-Optimistic

OSLO, Norway, July 4 (CP).—L. B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, said Tuesday there is no use being over-optimistic on the possibilities of a cease-fire in Korea. But he stressed every opportunity must be used to end the hostilities. After a two-day stay in Norway, he will go to Sweden and possibly Denmark, Western Germany and Belgium.

For sale—Pacific Coast Hockey League Franchise and Championship hockey club.

That's the reading of an advertisement under "Business Opportunities" in the weekend paper.

Owner Lester Patrick and general manager Fred Hutchinson said they were open for offers when asked to verify the advertisement.

So far they have had no offers Patrick said, but Hutchinson intimated there may have been one when he said: "Lester may have had an offer."

But there is a gimmick, there is a new lease for the arena building to be negotiated.

Patrick is the former general manager of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Bill Veeck, the man with the golden touch who combines fireworks with baseball, will celebrate the fourth of July Independence Day holiday today assured of the ownership of the St. Louis Browns.

Veeck, who brought winning baseball to Cleveland and crowds out to see it, clinched the deal Tuesday, just 12 hours before the deadline he had set for acquiring 75 per cent of the Browns' stock.

"The deal is to be closed Thursday morning, if everything is in shape," he added.

Geo. Ratterman Causes Uproar In US Football

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP). — The owner of the New York Yanks thought George Ratterman was only fooling when the former Notre Dame quarterback said he was going to do his future football playing in Canada.

"What else could I think," said Ted Collins via telephone from Lake Placid, NY. "When I was with George less than a week ago we talked of training-camp plans and discussed ways of cashing on his reputation as a member of the Yanks" of the National Football League.

Now Collins is threatening legal action against Ratterman for signing to play with the Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union.

"If he is jumping the team to play in Canada I shall start legal action immediately to force him to fulfil his contractural obligation," said Collins.

Ratterman told a press conference in Montreal Tuesday that he feels he was legally free to play in Canada.

"Free Agent"

"I feel I am a free agent," Ratterman said. "My lawyer has confirmed that I am not legally bound to the New York Yanks. As far as I am concerned the Yanks' claim on my services expired May 1 and they made no approach to renew the contract."

Collins said Ratterman was on the second year of a three-year contract with the Yanks.

"His contract called for an increase in salary each year," Collins added. But he declined to name the amount.

"No, I didn't send George a registered letter before May 1 telling him we were picking up his option," Collins added. "I don't think it was necessary under the terms of the contract."

Collins said he didn't have anything against Ratterman personally but "I believe a contract is a contract and should be observed."

Port Hope Plasters Baltimore Millers

COBOURG, July 4 — Mathews, Port Hope's top softball team, demonstrated why they are leading tmhe Cobourg and District Intermediate "A" Softball Loop here Monday.

The Ports collected only three hits off Don Ball, Baltimore Miller's speed-ball artist, but plastered him with a 4-2 beating just the same.

Ashby's, Bailieboro Win At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, July 4—(ENS)—One girls' softball game and two baseball games made up the bill of fare at the sports day on Monday under the auspices of the Canadian Legion.

In the softball fixture Ashby's of Peterborough defeated Millbrook girls 10-1. The game was fairly even up until the fifth with the score 2-1. However in the sixth the visitors ran in seven runs and added another in the seventh.

Bailieboro boys defeated Bethany 6-0 in the first game and in the second Bailieboro was up against Millbrook and took this fixture 10-4.

In the evening there was a dance in the town hall with Graydon Sheldon's orchestra supplying the music.

AL ACE—The Montreal Alouettes came up with that long sought after quarterback recently when they signed the great George Ratterman to a 1951 playing contract. Ratterman, rated one of the three top field generals in the country, performed with the N.Y. Yankees last year.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Messing around in poison ivy always brings out the worst in us, and here 'tis:

Those St. Catharines A's have many fine plays,
But the boys of Peter's borough are neater, begorra.

There, we got rid of that. And now, in case you're wondering what it's all about, there's an OLA senior joust slated for 8.45 (though it might be 8.49 or so when they start) this eve at Miller Bowl between St. Kitts and the Petes. Latest standing we have shows the Saints one game in front of the locals for top spot, but they could again be tied up closerthanthis ere 11 bells this p.m., weather of course permitting. It'll be another lacrosse classic between these strong squads, and it should pack the place.

* * * * * *

The July sports' grind is on. Some softball circuits wind up their schedules ere month's end, while the senior ballsters and gutted-stickers go well into August ere playoffs begin. But they're all driving hard, in the pink of condition, and they now have a pretty fair idea of how strong the opposition is. Peterborough teams in provincial competition are doing right well so far this warm semester. Senior lacrossers are tied practically week after week with St. Catharines for first place, the Petes' baseballers are out in front of their race, the junior OLA-ers lead that pack, and the UEW soccer squad is in front of the Eastern Ontario League. Nice going.

* * * * * *

Playing Winning Ball

If our pitching holds up, the Petes should stay atop the Viaduct Loop for some time yet. Oshawa Merchants are coming along, but they still haven't the hurling the Whitehill crew has, nor have they the power at the plate. The Petes are fielding okay, as well, but their twirling and hitting have given them a lot of one-sided victories in recent weeks. Not resting on their laurels, they're lining up home-and-home exhibition games with Belleville, and a tilt with Guelph here shortly. Staffords supply the league opposition this week, coming to Riverside Park at 8.30 p.m. Friday—the lacrosse club being away that night at Fergus.

* * * * * *

With the arrival this week of James Crowley from Canton, N.Y., the Petes' ball roster is complete. Deadline for signing even college players is July 15, but the local executive is satisfied now to go after the league title with the players on hand. Crowley is a big, young righthand pitcher. Just 20 years old, he stands six feet and scales 180 or a bit better. Has a good reputation in New York State college baseball, and comes here well recommended. So, the mound staff now consists of Lefty Dadson, Bill Edger, Doug Plunkett, Bunny Maeson and Jim Crowley, with Manager Ed Whitehill ready for a relief role, if needed. That staff should serve the purchase okay.

Selling Those Leafs?

Milt Dunnell of the Toronto Star says control of the Toronto Leafs (Triple-A farm club of St. Louis Browns) is about to change hands, despite high brass denials. Says the big four now in charge will sell most of their shares but retain enough for a minor voice in club matters. These four acquired the stock which was held by the late Pete Campbell—who wanted a few years ago to put a minor pro ball club in Peterborough. Apparently several parties are interested in taking over the Leafs, even though they appear to be going nowhere and not drawing too many as a rule. They did draw nearly 12,000 on the holiday but frequently play to a quarter of that number.

Lakefield Merchants mauled Revoy's at the Bowl last night to the tune of 12-2, quite a softball upset. Dick McCracken threw a five-hitter and had perfect support. Bill Twist, Frank Loyst, Cam Wasson and Gord Henry looked particularly good for the winners. Don Bigford tossed for the losers, who are now tied for first place with UEW. The latter club rolled to a 16-3 win o'er the short-handed Orphans, and Manager Harold Dormer had to fill in at second, after years of absence as a player. Ken Hall pitched four-hit ball as he opposed Fraser Wade. Hall also hit a homer, while Walton smacked out a triple and single. Other effective [illegible] Dalton and Grafstein.

Mt. Pleasant Wins

Mount Pleasant defeated Norwood 14-8 in fastball last night at the western village. They scored four each in the first and fourth, two in the third, three in the seventh and one more in the eighth. Norwood counted single runs in the first, third and eighth with three tallying in the fifth and two in the sixth. Gardiner and Penner hit triples for them, as Crawford and Dracup homered and Mitchell doubled for the winners. Teams:

Lakefield Gets Neat Win From Revoy's

Lakefield Merchants pulled the upset of the season by handing Revoy Motors a stinging 12-2 defeat in the curtain-raiser of last night's men's softball bill at the Bowl. It was Merchants' first win of the season as they played errorless ball afield behind the five-hit pitching of Dick McCracken, who twirled a fine game throughout, opposing Don Bigford.

Several stars on the Lakefield team shared honors with McCracken in a splendid showing, including Bill Twist, star centre-fielder, Francis Loyst, veteran but nimble first baseman, who proved a steadying influence on the infield, skipper Cam Wasson and that good little second baseman, Gord Henry; also Stewart, Red Wasson and Larkman. But possibly Bill Twist captivated the fans most with five sensational putouts in the centre garden. Three came after a long run. It was by far the visitors' best showing of the season.

Revoys, on the other hand, were off-color, and this reverse again puts the motor boys in a first-place tie with UEW by virtue of the latter's win over Orphans. Each team has a record of 8-3. Last night's opener was played in a mild drizzle of rain. There were no extra-base blows in the contest, but Merchants made 12 safe bingles and smart base-running paid off for them.

New Father-Son Team Owns Miss Canada

LONDON, Ont., July 4 (CP).—Another father-and-son team on Tuesday became owners of the former Miss Canada III and Miss Canada IV speedboats when F. J. Moore, vice-president and general manager of a petroleum firm, announced their sale on behalf of the company to J. Gordon Thompson and his son, Jim Thompson.

The elder Thompson, promipent western Ontario industrialist, has been keenly interested in boating for many years. His son is a graduate of Royal Canadian Naval College, Royal Roads, BC, and is at present associated with his father in business here.

Both boats were formerly owned by E. A. Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., and driven by his son, Harold.

The elder Thompson said he would have a statement later as to plans for racing the craft.

Cambray Tied For Top Wallops Lindsay 7-3

LINDSAY, July 4 — Veteran Lloyd Tamblyn fanned 12 and scattered six hits as he hurled Cambray Cardinals into a first place tie with Lindsay Walkwoods by whipping the locals 7-3, in a rain spattered Tri-County Baseball League game here Tuesday night. Young Hank Debois pitched eight-hit ball for the losers, but Cambray bunched five in the fourth to take a commanding 6-2 lead., Cameron gave up only two hits after the third to handcuff Walkwoods. Brother Gerald Tamblyn, the only one of the Cards to get more than one hit, smashed out two triples and a single. Lou Hennessey, Sr., Hank Debois and Bob Lewis split the six Lindsay hits three ways.

Orphans Beaten By UEW In Men's Fray

UEW gained a full game on Revoy's to tie for first place in the men's softball standing again last night at the Bowl as they trounced Harold Dormer's Orphans 16-3 in the nightcap of the regular twin-bill. Orfs were short-handed and Harold filled in capably at the keystone sack himself, to the delight of the crowd.

Ken Hall stole the show for UE in a neat display of hurling as he allowed the visitors but four hits, one a double by R. Scriver, fanned three and passed six. His only bad inning came in the eighth when Orphans scored their trio on three walks, an error and Scriver's double; but aside from that he held complete mastery, aided by fine support afield. Fraser Wade toiled for the losers and a bad second frame proved costly though Fraser twirled well in spots. Hall socked a long homer for UE while Walton tripled and singled to drive in two runs in four trips and scored one besides catching well as usual. Castle, White and Pagett each hammered home a pair, the former scored two while Homer tallied three and played a bang-up fielding game. Dalton and Grafstein hit safely twice.

CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

AMAZING as it seems, football is only a few weeks away. On August 16th the Dominion Champion Argonauts will head for points west and the prelude to another football season. Thanks to the complexities of modern, moneyed sport, spectators in Calgary and Winnipeg will have the opportunity of watching Big Four Western Conference football in the blazing summer sun. Delightful as this experience may be for the coolly dressed Western fans, the sight of 24 gridders rushing around in suet-suits in mid-August would be enough to make us double our psychiatric treatments

Flying Team

The Dominion Champions will take along an additional five Americans to compete for the team positions previously held by Jake Dunlap, Jack Wedley and Ernie Stocks. (Dunlap will skip football for law studies this year, while Wedley heads for Regina and Stocks joins the Stamps at Calgary). Ex-college stars Jack Gray of Varsity; Bob Moffatt, McGill; Doug Wooley, [illegible] year on strengthening their line, while standing pat with their starry backfield of Smylie, Toogood, Bass, Curtis, Krol, Dekdebrun and company.

Ottawa Opposition

As far as Big Four competition in the coming season is concerned, Bob Moran has this to say:

"With former imports John Waggoner and Howie Turner of Ottawa now rated as Canadians under the 4-year playing rule, it leaves the Roughriders in a commanding position as far as talent is concerned. And I understand they are importing a big, 6 foot 3 inch, 220 lb. end named Baldwin, who is very fast, and a new quarterback named O'Malley, who will vie with Andy Gordon for the passing spot.

"The new Ottawa manager, Clem Crowe," continued Moran, "is building a strong side for a wide-open game and, as far as the 'Riders are concerned, we consider them the team to beat in the coming season."

Western Prophecy

Now that Mr. Moran has stated his case for the East, let's pick what we think is the chief Western threat. In our opinion, there are two outstanding reasons for picking the Calgary Stampeders for the trip east at Grey Cup time.

Neither of these considerations is influenced, incidentally, by the highly publicized rumours and buying sprees currently making the [illegible] problem of starring with a T-formation squad last year. Having made his reputation with Teddy Morris' single-wing Argonauts (in the post-war years), the blonde backfielder was inexperienced at the specialized "T" game. Gamely he played his heart out and sustained injury as a result. Now, with the lesson learned, Copeland will probably be the dangerous arrow-head of the Calgary attack.

Our second reason for picking the Stampeders is the very important fact that although Coach Les Lear has a five-year contract in his pocket he is not a happy man. The story goes, that if Lear doesn't produce this season, he will likely resign as boss man of the Stamps (by request or on his own). Taking into accounts these two potent factors, we automatically pick Calgary as the Western Grey Cup contender.

So you think the Tiger Cats will take it all? Sorry, bud, we can't hear you while hiding under the table!

Snead Wins PGA Crown Raises Price

By FRITZ HOWELL.

OAKMONT, Pa., July 4 (AP)—The price of Sam Snead's exhibition appearances went up today.

The West Virginia hill billy, always one to pick up any stray dimes, tilted his third Professional Golfers' Association crown on the side of his sunburned brow and said:

"If Ben Hogan is worth $1,000 per exhibition, I'm worth $800. And that's the price from now on."

Sam was just a bit strutty after whipping 32-year-old Walter Burkemo, of Franklin, Mich., 7 and 6, in Tuesday's finals of the 33rd PGA race over Oakmont's 6,882-yard stretch of traps, humpbacked fairways and slick greens.

He was 22 under par for the 166 holes of match play, and strewn along his victory trail were such luminaries as Freddie Haas, Marty Furgol, Lloyd Mangrum, Jack Burke—and two newcomers to the big-time golfing wars, Charles Bassler and Burkemo, the latter making his first bid.

Pass Up Canadian Open

The long-hitting financier from the hills will pass up the Canadian Open in favor of a series of exhibitions, and will make his next tourney bid in the Western Open at Davenport, Ia., late this month.

Snead picked up $3,500 as first prize for winning the laurels, along with a $250 guarantee for each PGA-sponsored tournament in which he appears until next year's title test.

Burkemo, who picked up $1,500 in his losing venture, said he would put it in a fund he's building up for his two youngsters' education.

Despite Snead's sensational shooting in the finale—he was four under par for the 30 holes—Burkemo's inability to match par was the deciding factor. He was over par on nine holes and Snead won eight of them—more than he needed for his 7 and 6 decision.

The PGA victory boosted Snead into the fifth spot in the money-won list for the year, with a total of $7,762. He was out of play for more than six weeks with a broken hand.

Golf Caddying Said Lost Art

TORONTO — (CP) — The Canadian Sport Monthly says golf caddying "is becoming a 'lost art.'"

An editorial quotes Jules Huot, professional at Laval Golf Club in Montreal, as saying:

"Caddying needs to be re-sold amongst kids and parents. The whole affair must be organized as a 'modern employment system.'"

"Huot pointed out," the article continues, "that there are three types of caddy:

"1. The regulars — everyday boys.

"2. Weekend and holiday boys.

"3. Schoolboys."

Sports Monthly says Huot found that caddies at Laval made as much as $250 during vacation period, with bonuses of up to $1,000 available to top caddies.

A "wetness bonus" of 50 cents is also paid to caddies at Laval when they get wet in severe rain.

Blames Ring Deaths On Poor Management

SYDNEY, NS —(CP)— Wilf Clements, former Maritime lightweight boxing champion, says poor management is responsible for many ring deaths.

"It's a wonder there aren't more fatal accidents," he said. He said many promising young battlers are not properly handled, especially after bouts have begun.

Clements, who also has acted as referee, said also that many [illegible] first thing that is to licence the [illegible] Clements said. In that way, only qualified men would be allowed to second fighters.

White Sox Crush Indians 4-1 As Braves Nip Dodgers

By The Canadian Press.

Major league baseball hits its traditional July 4th Independence holiday today with the experts still in a flap on the American League pennant race.

This is the day when the leaders of the American and National Leagues are supposed to go on and win the pennants. But this year, the remaining 12 weeks of the regular season may see some switches.

New York Yankees—perennial American League champions — are leading the junior circuit by only one-half game. Brooklyn Dodgers, powerhouse of the National and last year's runners-up, are leading by 4½ games, a fairly comfortable cushion but not enough to ensure a pennant.

Chicago's amazing White Sox—the team picked to remain in its usual second division spot—cut the Yankees' lead to the half-game margin by a 4-1 victory over Cleveland. Brooklyn's edge over New York Giants was trimmed when the Dodgers were nipped by Boston Braves 4-3 and the Giants took a 13-inning marathon from Philadelphia 9-8.

Real Thriller

The Giant-Philly game was the thriller Tuesday.

The Giants were never in front—except when the game was over. A single by Whitey Lockman with one out in the 13th scored pinch-runner Clint Hartung from third with the deciding run. Hartung was the 19th player used by the Giants. The Phils employed 16.

The Giants came battling back to tie the score five times, thrice in extra innings.

Sid Gordon's bases-loaded single in the last of the ninth snapped a 3-3 tie and gave the Braves their tight win over Brooklyn. Max Surkont went the distance to register his seventh victory for the Tribe. Carl Erskine was the loser.

Three-hit Performance

Lefty Billy Pierce snapped Cleveland's seven-game winning streak with a three-hit performance for the White Sox. It was his third triumph without a loss over the Indians. Bob Dillinger paced the White Sox attack off Bob Lemon with three singles. He drove in a run and scored another. It was Pierce's eighth win against six losses.

Sid Hudson ended Washington's seven-game losing streak, hurling a five-hitter against the Red Sox for a 4-1 verdict. Mickey Vernon drove in three of Washington's four runs against loser Ray Scarborough. Outfielder Irv Noren of the Senators acquired three hits for the fourth straight game.

Held in check for five innings the Reds exploded for six runs in the sixth to overcome a 4-0 St. Louis lead and take a 10-4 victory. It was Harry Brecheen's first loss of the season. He had won five. Connie Ryan hammered two home runs for the Reds and drove in three runs. Kenny Raffensberger was the winner.

Vernon Law pitched a 2-0 shutout for the Pirates against Chicago Cubs. He allowed only five hits.

Ralph Kiner was banished for the first time in his career when he argued with umpire Jocko Conlan over a decision in the sixth inning.

Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League were not scheduled.

Royals Subdue Chiefs 5-4 In 12 Innings

By The Associated Press.

Mal Mallette, 28-year-old left-hander of Montreal Royals, is staging one of the finest comebacks in baseball.

Mallette, drafted by Brooklyn in 1949, was of little use to the Dodgers because of arm trouble last year. He spent most of the season at Elmira, NY, winning six and losing one.

The Dodgers shifted Mallette to the Royals this season and of late he has been one of the top pitchers in the International League.

Mallette hung up his fifth straight victory and sixth of the season Tuesday night as the Royals edged Syracuse Chiefs 5-4 in 12 innings.

The victory increased Royals' lead to 10½ games and dumped the Chiefs out of second into third place. Buffalo Bisons took over second by five percentage points as they beat Baltimore Orioles 6-5.

Mallette scattered 10 hits and fanned 10 in besting the Chiefs' Jack Griffore. Bobby Morgan singled home the winning run with two out.

Wings Edge Giants

Tom Simpson, rookie relief pitcher, doubled home Hobie Lanrith in the last of the ninth with the Bisons' winning run against the Orioles. Simpson allowed only one hit in four innings to gain his second victory in as many games and fourth of the season.

Brilliant relief pitching by left-hander Fred Hahn enabled Rochester Red Wings to defeat Ottawa Giants 6-4 and post their sixth straight victory. Hahn permitted one hit in 4 2-3 innings. A three-run homer by Charlie Kress and one with the bases empty by Ed Mierkowicz decided the issue in favor of the Wings.

Frank Marino pitched Springfeild Cubs to a 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs. Pinch-hitter Emil Verban singled home the winning run in the eighth inning.

Louis Will Meet Brion In Month

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4 (AP) —Aging Joe Louis, still plodding the comeback trail toward the world heavyweight boxing championship, will meet Argentine Cesar Brion here within a month.

The National Boxing Club said today Louis signed for a rematch with the Latin boxer for 35 per cent of the gate.

Brion, who lost a 10-round decision to the Brown Bomber last November in Chicago, will receive 20 per cent.

The fight will be staged in the 16,000-seat Cow Palace July 30 or Aug. 1.

Body In River BecomesMystery

WINDSOR, July 4 — (CP) — Police on both sides of the border tried Tuesday to unravel a mystery surrounding the body of a man found in the Detroit River Monday.

While a Ford of Canada badge and papers which belonged to Hansen Meloche, 36, Windsor, were found on the body, Howard Meloche of Windsor, viewed the body and said it was not his brother.

The body, now in the Wayne county morgue, was viewed Monday night by Howard Meloche and an uncle. Both told Windsor police it was not Hansen Meloche.

Hansen Meloche has been living at a Windsor hotel. He was last seen June 27. The body is believed to have been in the water for about 10 days.

The body was reported by the crew of a freighter. No marks of violence were apparent.

Successful Season

SAINT JOHN, NB, July 4 (CP). —A "fairly successful" tourist season across Canada was predicted Tuesday night by D. Leo Dolan of Ottawa, director of the Dominion Travel Bureau. The flow would be later than in previous years because many families were delaying their vacation plans pending developments in the international situation.

Worker Electrocuted

ST. CATHARINES, July 4 (CP). — Peter Sawchuk, 47-year-old yard gang worker, was electrocuted Tuesday when a crane touched a high tension wire and 22,000 volts of electricity travelled down a cable to a piece of sheet steel he was unloading.

Tanks Fight Chinese to Strains of Bach

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, JULY 4—(CP)—John Sebastian Bach was cut off the air.

The gay, cascading passages of the Hammerklavier Suite No. 5 in G Minor gave way over the headset to a crisp command from Lieut. Strathcona Macdonald of Oakville and Vanleek Hill, Ont.

Driver, halt," he ordered.

The jerk as the Sherman tank pulled up released Macdonald's hold on the microphone switch. John Sebastian's music resumed its run momentarily in the tank crew's ears.

Then the command, "Gunner, traverse left," halted Bach, piano and orchestra and kept them at bay. Fourteen miles deep in Chinese territory, Macdonald swung his Sherman into action.

With infantry from the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, Macdonald's troop of four tanks from "C" squadron of the Lord Strathcona Horse was patrolling far forward of the allied lines in the Chorwon area.

Infantry under Lieut. Wellington Hamilton of Niagara Falls, Ont., were on the backs of the last two. The remainder of the company commanded by Maj. Dick Medland of Toronto followed in armor-plated half-tracked vehicles.

Macdonald's tank was leading. He had just spotted three Chinese.

Strange Companions

Each had been keeping company during the advance. He was travelling all the way from the Antipodes, where the Australian Broadcasting Corporation was using the same frequency as the Canadian tanks. Fantastic, incongruous to war, the genius of musical creation marching on the battlefield.

The turret wheeled slowly around and Mars dispensed with Pan.

Tpr. Doug. Mitchell of Toronto, his eyes glued to the gunsight, sighted the 76-mm. gun onto a hill to the west. Three shells were fired.

Only idle man was Tpr. Laurie Riutta of Sudbury, the driver. He was exploiting the respite from work that action meant by smoking, and scanning the hill ahead through his periscope.

L/Cpl. Jack Sargent of Owen Sound, a 25-year-old section leader with a grin that almost closes his eyes, checked his men on the tank.

The shoot over, the advance resumed to a little settlement whose peasant inhabitants were voluble, but not intelligent. Saviour of the fantastic huddle (ahead of the tanks and in full view of the Chinese) of Koreans volunteering information and Canadians unable to understand them was Lieut Lorne Cook of North Vancouver, who had with him an English-Korean phrase book.

The engineer officer turned from section of the book for the key phrases. Had any Chinese been around? How many? Were they armored or infantry?

Poor Accent

The Koreans could not understand his accent, but they could read the Korean characters alongside the phonetic pronunciations Slowly the picture assembled.

There had been between 20 and 50 Chinese on the hill the night before. They had come down this morning to loot food. They were infantry. And there were 150 of them in a village on the other side of the hill.

Macdonald had flushed them.

Medland ordered his infantry to ground, sent Hamilton's platoon to check the high ground to the northwest and asked Macdonald to position his tanks to support them.

Inside the battened-down Shermans the crews kept watch—with Bach.

It was slow process. The infantry spread out and swept methodically on the climb.

Bach gave way to Chopin and for a while the headsets rang with difficult virtuoso piano etudes. Chopin in turn gave way to a newscast in which some psychic commentator told the amused tank men: "All is quiet on the Korean front except north of Chorwon where United Nations patrols are meeting stiffening resistance." Then Australia closed down and Tokyo moved in with Japanese music.

Hamilton's men came under machine-gun fire.

Take On a Nest

Medland got Sgt. Lennox Murray of Milan, Que., whose tank was handiest, to engage the nest. The others, under Sgt. George Prokopetz of Macnutt, Sask., Cpl. Leo Rietveld of Kirkland Lake, and Macdonald, watched where his shells were landing and followed suit.

Macdonald pounded four shells home, got Broderick working with the turret's machine-gun.

Meanwhile the enemy had engaged the tanks, but only with machine-gun fire, hitting Prokopetz' Sherman. Only damage was a shattered periscope in front of his co-driver, Tpr. Dave Tobias of Moncton, N.B.

The demi-world of Tokyo radio resumed. A drowsy sweaty afternoon.

At eventide the foot-sloggers returned. No casualties. Two prisoners. And Pte. John Karmazinuk of Winnipeg, who "snipes" in the R.C.R.'S. scout platoon with a Bren Gun, had killed a Chinese warrior in full gallop. Of more there could be only surmise, no proof.

US Navy Reports Fastest Plane

LOS ANGELES, July 4 (AP)—The United States navy announced Tuesday that a Douglas Skyrocket, a supersonic research plane, has flown faster and higher than any other known craft.

The navy said exact speed and height at which the swept-wing plane has operated are being withheld for security reasons.

Marvin Miles, aviation editor of The Los Angeles Times, estimated the plane's actual speed was just short of 1,300 miles an hour. He said his information was that the craft was shooting for twice the speed of sound—1 320 miles an hour at high altitudes—and barely missed.

He put the altitude around 70,000 feet, pointing out that the navy specified the mark was for a piloted plane. The altitude record for a piloted balloon is 72,394 feet.

The accepted speed record is 670,981 miles per hour, established Sept. 18, 1948, by a North American F-86.

Earlier Record

But 10 months ago, the navy announced that test pilot Eugene F. May had flown the Skyrocket in excess of the speed of sound. It travelled at altitudes more than 10 miles high.

Navy Commander R. M. Gibbons, Bureau of Air Representative at Douglas, told a press conference the records were set June 11 at Muroc.

Cruiser Hits Rock, Sinks; Men Rescued

US Tourists Saved At Gannon's Narrows Boat Worth $25,000

Two Toronto men and a dog were rescued from Gannon's narrows, between Pidgeon and Buckhorn lakes, early today when their off-course cruiser struck a submerged rock and sank.

United States tourists, vacationing at the Bruce Hall resort, located a quarter of a mile away on the Harvey township shore, raced by motorboat to the scene of the mishap and picked them out of the water.

The men are unidentified as they left the resort without giving their names, intent on raising their submerged boat. It is a 27-foot cabin cruiser valued at $25,000. The engine alone is valued at $7,000.

The pair were making the regular Trent Canal cruise: travelling from Lake Simcoe to Lake Ontario.

The helmsman got off course as he steered through the narrows, some two miles on the Buckhorn lake side of the Gannons' Narrows bridge. He approached a black marker buoy and instead of steering the boat to the left he went right.

The luxury craft struck a large submerged rock in front of the Hall resort while travelling about 12 miles an hour. It ground briefly on the rock and then continued over it for a distance of about 100 yards.

When the propellor and rudder struck it wrenched the rear end out of the boat. It sank about eight minutes after the collision in 30 feet of water.

A few seconds after the accident the emergency siren was sounded from the foundering craft, and watching vacationists—most of them from the United States—leaped into their boats to rescue the two men and the dog.

Altogether 15 boats got to the scene. Among the first were ones driven by Jack Driscoll, Canton, Ohio; Richard Noyes, Geneva, Ohio: Chritien Ben, also of Geneva; and George Keatley, Canton.

Mr. Keatley took them by car to Buckhorn where they were to make arrangements for salvaging their boat.

The treacherous rock, visible when the water is low, is only a foot below the surface of the water. A boat was wrecked on it in a similar accident two years ago.

UNSEASONAL RUN

Firemen made an unseasonal run Tuesday night. A plugged chimney was reported at the home of Wallace Donahue, 666 Little St., and the smoke was backing up. They speedily cleared the stoppage and an extinguisher was not necessary.

Over The Dam

More than water flowed over the London St. dam on the holiday. Over the holiday weekend the water was lowered practically to the old river bed as in other years on Dominion Day. The lifeguards' boat at Inverlea beach was pulled well up on the shore along with a boat on loan. During Monday night the water rose and away floated both craft, down the river and over the dam. While the boat on loan was smashed completely, the lifeguards' boat escaped undamaged.

All Police Force To Resign Is Town Rumor

PORT HOPE, July 4—A rumor is circulating in Port Hope that the town's whole police force may resign unless pay increases are granted.

A technicality in procedure which nullifies the June 26 council's decision to grant raises to four members of the police force has put the council in an awkward spot. At that time Sergeant William Smith and Constables Thomas Fourtner and Vernon Lees were granted pay increases of $100 per year. Constable Donald Henderson who had handed in his resignation was granted an increase of $200.

The next day the council faction that had voted against the increases found that the motion to reconsider the problem at that meeting had been out of order.

According to council's rules of procedure, once a problem has been voted upon, it cannot be reconsidered more than once. The meeting on June 26 was the second time that the police matter had been reconsidered. As a result the vote to increase salaries was not legal.

One council member who commented on the problem said that his only idea for a solution was to vote cost-of-living bonus to all town employees.

Two Minor Accidents Little Damage Done

Slight damage occurred in two minor accidents reported to the city police department on Tuesday.

At 5:15 p.m. on Water St. just north of Brock St., a car, driven by Allice Corneill, RR 3, Havelock, met in collision with a car driven by Elmer Sweeting, RR 3, Lakefield.

Only minor damage to both cars was reported by PC Edward Patterson and PC V. A. McConnell who investigated.

Slight damage was caused when a car owned by Wilbert J. Hancock, 222 McDonnel St., was hit by a car driven by Mrs. Hazel Barnes, Bridgenorth. Hancock had just stepped into his car parked in front of his home. The other car clipped the left front corner of his car. PC J. O. Wilson investigated.

Cars driven by Fred G. Walsh, 539 Rogers St., and Vance Colling, 649 Beverley St., collided at the Roger St.-Clifton St. intersection on Monday.

That accident was investigated by PC G. J. Gillespie.

Thunderstorms Interrupt Power

Hydro electric power failures in the city early today were caused by outside thunderstorms. There were no mechanical difficulties at either the Aylmer St. substation or the Auburn powerhouse.

The first blackout, lasting about a minute, came at 9.36 a.m. Flickering power continued for nearly an hour.

Reason for the failures was the "tripping" of the 110,000 volt line that comes into Lily Lake from Chenaux generating station on the Ottawa River. Failure of this main source of supply overtaxed local generating facilities and the voltage dropped away.

The first power break here occurred 15 minutes before the morning thunderstorm hit the city. There were several trouble calls in Smith and Otonabee—at least one caused by a blown out transformer—but service was soon restored.

At press time there were no reports of any other damage to property or stock.

BREAKS VERTEBRAE

John Vessey, a Sunderland district farmer is in Lindsay hospital with a broken spinal vertebrae. He was injured when he fell from a beam to the barn floor while removing a hay rack from the beams. The accident was seen by his daughter who summoned help from a nearby service station.

Stole Wallet Jailed 4 Months

Wilfred Lloyd Edwards, 475 Elm St., was sentenced Tuesday in magistrate's court to four months in the Ontario reformatory. He was found guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on a charge of stealing a wallet out of the shoulder-bag of Mrs. Cameron Allison, 281 Park St. north. He pleaded guilty.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson testified that on June 23 Mrs. Allison reported to police that she had her purse, containing $54, stolen while attending the CGE picnic.

At that time a witness, who knew Edwards by sight, saw him take the purse, ran after him but failed to catch him, the officer said.

He told the court Edwards was arrested on a warrant on June 25, was questioned and admitted the theft. Then $16 was found on him and $7 returned which he had just paid his landlady.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw KC submitted Edwards previous record. It indicated that on July 29, 1939, Edwards was sentenced to 10 days and on September 10, 1946, in Perth to two months, on similar offences.

On April 10, 1951, Edwards was placed on suspended sentence when found guilty of theft of a baby's bank.

In his defence Edwards asked that he be allowed to return north to the lumber business where he could be kept working, explaining that whenever he was out of work, he got into trouble.

Magistrate Philp asked the whereabouts of the remaining $31 and Edwards answered that he had lent some to his brother-in-law, emphasizing that the man didn't know the money was stolen.

US Boy Scouts Get Training In Kawarthas

The Kawarthas is not only one of the province's major tourist play grounds but one of the greatest scout training terrains on the continent. This testimonial comes from Scout Post Advisor Harry C. Kuhns of Erie, Pa., who has brought seven senior scouts of the Erie Explorer Post 121st Group to Lake Catchecoma for a week of bush training and sightseeing.

They arrived at the lake on Tuesday, guests of Reginald Perks and are spending today touring industry and sights in the city. This morning they visited the Peterborough Canoe Company, had lunch and plant tour at the CGE and wound up with a cruise through the Outboard Marine plant. The boys will have a good look at the Lift Lock this evening before going back to Catchecoma.

The balance of the week will be taken up with intensive bush life and field tests that will result in, they hope, the passing of test badges. There will be swimming, an overnight canoe trip to Bottle or Deer Lake, signalling by morse and flags, direction finding by compass and forestry.

The boys, all of Erie, Pa., under supervisor Kuhns are Richard Fuchs, Dick Bainbridge, John Adler, Robert Raines, Jim Boyd, Donald McLaughlin and David Meyers.

Pleads Guilty To Theft Held For Sentence

Ronald Donaldson, 741 Walkerfield Ave., was placed on remand until July 9 for sentence Tuesday in police court when he pleaded guilt to stealing an alarm clock and a suit case.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson said that on June 30 Donaldson's former roommate at the YMCA reported theft of the articles. The man had left the room on June 23 and when he returned found the suit case and the clock missing.

Sergeant Stevenson added that with a warrant Donaldson was arrested Sunday morning at the home of a sister on Walkerfield Ave. Then he admitted the theft.

SECOND OFFENDER

George Kelly, 184 Edinburgh St., pleaded guilty to a drunk charge in police court Tuesday. It was his second offence and he was fined $50 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Unemployment Only Half Number Year Ago, Up Slightly Since May

Two Factories Lay Off Men, Operate On Three-Day Week, Raise Unemployed, Jobs Open For Experienced Men, Women

Unemployment insurance claims at the end of June were slightly more than half the number in 1950, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment office, said today. Employment conditions, even though the claims did increase by a few since May, are still much better than last year.

A year ago in June, 1,005 men and women from the city and district were drawing funds as compared with 591 this year.

In 1950 a number of the factories such as the Western Clock, the Dominion Woollens and the Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Company were working short weeks (three and four working days).

Some Laid Off

This year not as many have been laid off or are working shorter hours. During the past month two factories, the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company and the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company, have been either laying off or working a three-day week. This raised the unemployment insurance claims slightly, but not nearly as high as last year.

Throughout, the women's and men's claims decreases were registered this year. Postal claims from the district decreased for men from 91 to 61 and for women the figure remained approximately the same at 41. In the city 201 men drew funds this year as compared with 237 last year while 133 city women were on claim against 233 in 1950.

Short time claims this year decreased by 21 from 110 last year for the men and 231 from 293 last year for the women.

592 Seek Work

The number of men looking for work this year increased slightly from 535 in 1950 to 592. The women hunting employment decreased nearly 100 from last year to only 366.

Most of the jobs available both for men and women this year are for more experienced people. The office has 135 vacancies for men; most require experienced men such as mechanics, machinists and engineers. The jobs for women nearly doubled from 43 to 70 this year but as in the men's case most required experience as typists and stenographers.

Men Cleaning Up Fire-Gutted Zacks Building

The remains of the Zacks building, gutted by fire on May 19, is being torn down by the Cooper Wreckers of Dundas. But no immediate plans for building on the block have yet been decided on.

"At present, we're just cleaning up," says Harry Zacks, the owner. "Until that's done we won't know whether to go ahead with another building, or the amount of money required. There's nothing definite yet."

Three regular firemen and one volunteer were buried in the flaming ruins of the Ed Riley store, one of the four stores in the block. A five-man jury, presided over by Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson, on June 13 brought in a verdict that the fire was of unknown origin.

The loss was originally set at $500,000 but it is expected that after a more careful tabulation this figure will be substantially reduced.

Millbrook Couple Married 50 Years

MILLBROOK, July 4 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. George Freelove celebrated on Monday the 50th anniversary of their marriage. They were married in Port Hope in the Presbyterian manse by the Rev. A. G. Sinclair on July 2, 1901.

Mr. Freelove was born in Cirencester, Gloucestershire, England, and came to Canada at the age of 10. His first meal, after getting off the train on reaching his destination, was eaten at the old Munro House on the site where the Examiner building now stands. He worked first for Henry Stewart, seven miles south of Peterborough in Otonabee township.

Mrs. Freelove, whose maiden name was Minnie Bruce, was the daughter of William Bruce and the former Frances Jane Storey. She was born in Millbrook in the house now occupied by Mrs. Tom Robinson. With the exception of the nine years spent with her husband farming in Weyburn district of Saskatchewan, all her life has been spent in Millbrook.

Mr. Freelove is a veteran of the First World War. He joined the army in November of 1914, went overseas in September of 1915, and came home in March of 1919. Two sons, Bruce, Peterborough, and Harry, Millbrook, are veterans of the Second World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Freelove also have one daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Papineau, Detroit, Mich. They have four grandchildren, Mrs. Tashjian (nee Yvonne Papineau), Detroit, Mrs. Hugh Riebe (nee Yvelte Papineau) and Teddy and Gloria. Freelove, Peterborough. As they were not able to be present on Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Freelove, Gloria and Teddy visited his parents on Sunday.

Mrs. Freelove has just returned from visiting her daughter in Detroit where she attended the graduation exercises of her two grandsons-in-law, Richard Tashjian who graduated as a civil engineer and Hugh Riebe, who graduated as an architectural engineer.

Ozzie Nelson Keeps Whole Family Working

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 4—(AP)—Ozzie Nelson can well be envied by every American father. He's got his whole family working.

The former band leader is the headman of the Nelson clan, which includes his wife, the former singer Harriet Hilliard, and their two sons, David, 14, Ricky, 11. For two years the entire family has been starring on the radio in "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

Now they are all involved in making a film, "Here Come The Nelsons." Since it is the family type of picture which is popular with film patrons, there is a strong possibility that the film will lead to a series. That would no doubt please Ozzie, who has managed to keep four cheques coming in and maintain a normal, unspoiled family at the same time.

Close Family

"We're a very close family," explained Harriet while the three male members of the family were in a movie scene. "We've never had any trouble with the boys getting hammy or self-conscious. For one thing, they have been around show business all their lives, so they take it naturally.

"They consider their acting as a job to be done as well as they can. They know how their father works his heart out over the scripts, and they feel terrible whenever they fluff a line.

"The boys go to public schools and fortunately their friends treat them quite normally. They don't comment about how good the boys were on the radio. They only say, 'That was a funny show' or something like that."

Big Dough

The two boys never see the money they are earning. By court rule, half of it goes into government bonds and the other half into their bank accounts. It has been estimated that the boys will have $150,000 each by the time they are 21.

Meanwhile they get by on allowances that are normal for boys their age. David draws $1.50 a week and Ricky $1.00.

Pioneer Belmont Church Served Community 61 Years

HAVELOCK, July 4—(ENS)—Sunday evening marked the rededication of a church that began its life in this community 61 years ago — the Rush Point United Church, commonly called the "White Church" which is situated about three miles north of Havelock. This church which is built on land donated by George and James Seeney, was the first church in this district, and is tangible evidence of the religious zeal of the pioneers who settled in that part of Belmont township.

A capacity audience, including many having a special attachment to this church from years gone by joined in the service of worship on Sunday. Members were especially proud of the redecorated interior, a product of three weeks hard work by church families. Flowers tastefully chosen and arranged added beauty to the setting.

Havelock Choir

The senior choir of Havelock United Church led in the service of song, and two of its members, Mrs. H. Agnew and Miss Barbara Pollock sang the inspiring hymn "Willing to Take the Cross."

Mr. J. W. Davies the student minister on the Belmont area mission addressed the congregation taking as his text "Ye are the body of Christ and members individually of it." He reminded the worshippers that the true Church of Christ was the fellowship of those believing in Christ as Lord and Saviour from every denomination of every country of the world. He also remarked; "This beautiful church building is nothing without you, but you are everything without it. I suppose the first church was the first human being created, because you are the church. Look at any successful church. What is its secret? Preaching the gospel of Christ. Look at any church that lacks true vital life what is its weakness? Two great concern with moral issues and too little with the gospel of Christ."

Once in Norwood

Originally Methodist the white church was first known as the Round Lake Methodist Church of the Blairton circuit and was one of three preaching stations, the other two being Victoria and Blairton, both situated east of Havelock.

It was formerly the old frame Methodist church at Norwood which was purchased by the trustee board, dismantled and erected on the present site in 1890. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Buchanan to a large congregation, the choir, from the Havelock Methodist Church supplying the music for the occasion and making the three mile trip in a lumber waggon. There was a debt of $400 but this amount was quickly raised and the congregation commenced their work free of debt.

The Rev. J. G. Lewis was the first pastor with the following officers to assist him: Sunday school superintendent, Daniel Young; church organist, Mrs. D. Young; trustee board, Daniel Young, Willian Coon, James Seeney, John Petherick, J. G. Embleton, Samuel Carr; teaching staff, Miss Mary Seeney, Miss Rebecca Hunter (Mrs. Manley Wannamaker), Margaret Harnden (Mrs. George Keating), Esther McArthur (Mrs. John Cochrane), Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Young.

In 1914 the White Church was annexed to the Cordova Mission with the Rev. Lovelace in charge. In 1925 when church union was consummated it became known as the Rush Point United Church. At that time the Rev. H. B. Herrington now of Keene was the minister. In 1931 it became part of the Havelock charge under the superintendency of the Rev. W. R. Archer, the Rev. Ralph Spencer a native of this district who is now in Montreal was the minister when this change was made. Although it was closed so far as regular preaching services were concerned as many small rural churches were at that time, there has been no break in its Sunday school work. Earl J. Pollock, the present SS superintendent has officiated in that capacity since 1930.

In 1945 the exterior of the church was painted, the paint being donated by Mrs. Farr of Trent River (Leah Maidens) in memory of her father the late John Maidens who was an earnest and faithful worker in the early history of the church.

Student in Charge

In 1949 the Board of Missions placed a student minister on this circuit, Ralph Watson, and changed the name to the Belmont Area Mission. In 1950, Morley Hodder served as minister and a new aluminum roof was put on the church at a cost of $365.

Prior to the building of the church, services were held by George Embleton in the McGill school which was a log building at that time. Mr. Embleton was one of those responsible for the erection of the White Church.

Five Fire Victims Buried At Sylvan

SYLVAN Ont., July 4 (CP)—Mrs. Helen White silently stood in the churchyard here Tuesday to watch last rites said over her husband and four small children.

The Rev. Norval Woods finished graveside prayers, looked to the young widow sick with grief and to the quiet hill 200 yards beyond her. There a thin finger of smoke reached from the smouldering timbers into the sky to mark the pit of ashes where early Saturday the family burned to death.

Tourists Swarm Into Ontario

WINDSOR, July 4 — (CP) — Thousands of Americans, bent on going as far as possible as quickly as possible, swarmed through this city Tuesday on the eve of their greatest national holiday, July 4.

The Independence Day celebrators were handled swiftly at both tunnel and bridge by special squads of immigration and customs men working in a flexible system that opened auxiliary inspection gates as need arose.

At the tunnel, three and five gates were used as the flood ebbed and flowed. The bridge, which leads directly to main Ontario highways and connects the outlying parts of Detroit varied from five to nine inspection gates.

Traffic was lighter than last year when the Canadian and American holidays fell on the same weekend. It was also lightened by the fact that many workers are presently unemployed and were able to get out of the city over the past weekend.

Today's cars were mainly headed for points inland in Ontario.

Withdraw Motion To Study Newsprint

PARIS, July 4 (Reuters). — A motion calling for an international conference on the newsprint shortage was withdrawn by French and Belgian delegates to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization Tuesday.

United States and Canadian delegates suggested such a conference would duplicate the work of an international committee now studying the problem in Washington.

An amended motion, unanimously adopted, urged the Washington study committee and the United Nations Economic and Social Council to co-operate to solve the problem of newsprint prices.

Young Adult Club Hears Of Farm Forums

PLAINVILLE, July 4 (ENS).—The Young Adult Club of Plainville United Church held its monthly meeting Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowman, with an attendance of about 30 members.

The program was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman and Mr and Mrs. Louis Buttars. They each took part in a short worship service, with the theme being "Paul."

Guest speaker of the evening was Jim Davidson of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, who is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Davidson of Camborne. Mr. Davidson Jr. is provincial secretary of Radio Farm Forum in Quebec and brought a very interesting message of the work and progress of Farm Forum in the English-speaking localities in the province of Quebec.

There are 122 forums in Quebec. This was probably one-third of the number there could be, but with the low percentage of English-speaking people there it compared very favorably with the number of forums in Ontario, he said.

The president, Allan Dines, thanked the speaker and those responsible for the program and hospitality. It was decided to dispense with meetings until September and to be responsible for the church service on Sunday morning of July 22, in the absence of the minister, Mr. A. E. Larke, at Oak Lake Camp.

A lunch was served by the two couples in charge.

Court To Decide If Liquor Legally Moved

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, reserved judgment Tuesday on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place against Walter Cowling, 304 Park St., until July 10.

After pleading guilty to two charges of being drunk and fined $10 and $2.50 costs for each, Cowling pleaded not guilty to the third charge, having liquor in an illegal place.

OPP Constable Roy Feeley testified that on June 28 at 11:45 p.m. he noticed a car stalled at the corner of Highway 7 and Bennett St. It was partly on the street and on the sidewalk.

Moved Car

After moving the car off the highway, Constable Feeley said that he checked the car and found five occupants. He searched the car and found a broken carton of beer and a bottle of wine.

"All the occupants showed signs of drink."

Cowling in his defence said that the beer and liquor have been bought legally and taken to a residence where some was partly consumed.

Complaints, he aded, forced him to change his location near the Scout Camp where he has been camping out for the past month. That night they were moving his belongings to another location in the Lovesick Lake area.

Cowling argued that under the law he was justified in having the liquor as he was moving from one residence to another.

Judgment was reserved.

SAMMY SNEAD blasted this trouble shot to within a foot of the cup during his quarter-final match against Jackie Burks, jr., of Houston, Texas, in the United States Professional Golfers Association Championship. Snead beat Burke 2 and 1. He won the championship Tuesday, defeating 32-year-old Walter Burkemo of Grosse Point, Mich., in the 36-hole final at Oakmont, Pa.

Papal Band's Last Survivor 101 Years Old

By ADRIEN PATRICE

VALLEYFIELD, Que., July 4 (CP).—The last survivor of a band of Papal Zouaves who left Canada 81 years ago to help defend the pope in Rome, J. Octave Cossette, celebrated his 101st birthday today.

For Mr. Cossette, it was just another day spent in his home opposite the Valleyfield seminary. Relatives and friends read him letters and telegrams of congratulations from all over the world, but the refused to get excited.

In good health, although confined to his home, the centenarian said he was following his own rule for longevity: "Never worry about things, take them as they come."

Mr. Cossette was a tall youth of 20 when he joined a group of 150 Roman Catholics from Canada who answered a call for help from Pope Pius IX.

Volunteer Soldiers

The Papal Zouaves, volunteer soldiers garbed in billowing trousers and brightly-colored shirts and tunics, went to defend the pope against Garibaldi, who wanted to abolish the papal state.

Mr. Cossette was born July 4, 1950, in Champlain, Que., near Three Rivers, the second of 11 children.

At the age of 11 he became a cabin boy on a St. Lawrence River schooner and was paid $2 monthly, a "fabulous" amount for a child his age at the time.

At 19, his father gave him the schooner "Sulfrenie," making him the youngest ship-owner in Canada.

On Aug. 28, 1870, he boarded a riverboat at Three Rivers and, with 25 other Zouaves, sailed to Montreal where they joined 124 other volunteers. All sailed from New York for Rome and the Vatican, but they never saw action as the fight was over before they arrived.

Gets 60 Strikeouts

LINDSAY, July 4.—Fastballer Haddy Eakins ran his strikeout total to 60 as he hurled the league-leading Greenhurst Pavs to a 7-4 win over Visking in a Lindsay men's softball fixture here. Veteran first-sacker Jack Richards sewed up the game in the eighth with his third home run of the year.

Women Likes Pets, But Dogs Barking Make Nuisance

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a mother and a housewife and I do not have a dislike for pets of any shape or form, but I do believe there is a particular place for them—especially in town. We are new on the block and every other time this has occurred I have shrugged it off saying to myself, "Maybe it will be different next week," but it never is.

There are a couple of dogs who are a bothersome pair with their barking. One in particular welcomes nearly every delivery man, postman, paper boy and garbage man regardless of the hour of day or night. The garbage man comes at 5 o'clock in the morning, and as soon as he reaches one end of the block, the dog begins to bark and keeps it up for about half an hour, until the truck is off the street—which is a long one. I don't like to be a complainer, but I think something should be done in this situation. I don't know the woman who owns the dog, and I know it won't make for neighborly relations if I introduce myself and then begin complaining about her pet. What do you suggest" ELSIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have a tough problem on your hands, and one way it will not be solved is to complain to the owner of the dog. All that will accomplish will be to mark you as "that horrid woman who doesn't like dogs," and in most neighborhoods that is inviting social ostracism. No one, least of all I, will deny the charm of pets as an adjunct to a household, or the joy of bringing up dogs and children together. No tribute is needed here to the devotion and companionship of pets, especially dogs, but these should not be had at the expense of our neighbors' peace of mind.

Animals Must Conform

Fortunately, most pet owners realize their responsibilities in this regard and have their dogs or cats trained. This is especially necessary in a section where houses are built close together, as is the case in our suburban areas. Of course, if a dog has the run of a large estate he is no problem to anyone, and if he is confined to an apartment house, the landlord sees to it that the animal conforms to the amenities of city dwelling. So the matter becomes a problem only in small home areas—and consequently involves the greater part of our population.

The pet owner's responsibility in these neighborhoods involves keeping his animal quiet at unseemly hours, seeing that he does not dig up lawns and gardens or spoil plants and shrubs. When a dog violates these laws of good canine upbringing, he becomes a neighborhood nuisance. The owner should be made to see his laxity in this respect, and if that doesn't help matters, recourse to local authorities is the last resort. Most urban communities have laws to protect you against unruly pets, and these should be invoked if necessary.

Have any of the other neighbors on your street complained to this pet owner about her noisy canine? If you got together on the project and made a joint complaint, she might listen. Otherwise, your only solution is to appeal to the local enforcers and find out what can be done in the matter.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been happily married for 22 years and since our marriage we have lived with my parents. I took care of them, besides raising our family. My sister, who is a widow and works to support herself, has come to visit with us each week end and now that our parents have passed on, she wishes to continue to come. She says she is lonely and wants to be with us on her days off.

My children are now married and there is no reason for our staying home weekends. My husband works hard all week and looks forward to taking me out Saturday and Sunday as we enjoy each other's company. My sister thinks we are selfish and antisocial because we are not home to her now and do not take her with us wherever we go. I love her dearly and want to do the right thing but I am between and betwixt. Who is wrong?

ANSWER: After spending so many years taking care of your parents and your own family, you and your husband are well entitled to any time you have together now. Your first duty is to your husband, and your weekends belong to him.

Perhaps you could encourage your sister to seek friends with whom she could spend her spare time. Otherwise there is nothing for you to do but tell her as gently as possible that you and your husband have made weekend plans.

These situations are not easy to handle; someone is bound to be hurt, but I do hope your sister can find her own sources of amusement.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Easy To Make Mayonnaise Adds Touch

Holiday Porch Supper

Citrus Juice Cocktail
Chilled Boiled Salmon
Aspic Mayonnaise (see details)
New Green Peas with Mint
New Potatoes with Parsley Sauce
Cherry Pie
Iced Coffee

Directions

Because most of us do not have time to spend on fussing over elaborate recipes, I seldom give them to you. Aspic mayonnaise is easy to make but almost never found outside of a hotel dining room. I think it is the perfect accompaniment for cold boiled salmon. My followers hereby have a chance to enjoy it too.

✧ ✧ ✧

Aspic Mayonnaise

(To serve sliced or moulded with cold meat or fish salads or salad plates.)

You need 1 cup mayonnaise either homemade or ready-made. This is the oil type I am referring to—not boiled dressing—good boiled dressing could be used. Soak 1 tablespoon plain gelatine in ¼ cup cold water for 10 minutes. Then stand it over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved and the liquid is clear. Add the grated rind of 1 lemon and ¼ teaspoon salt and if desired ¼ bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon mustard seeds. Let brew for 15 minutes covered in very warm place, but not hot or boiling. Strain. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Chill until it just begins to thicken. Stir in 1 cup thick mayonnaise until smooth. Pour into shallow dish to one-half inch depth. Chill until firm. Cut into triangles or diamonds to serve with and garnish cold fish or meat platters.

Cold boiled salmon is one of my summertime standbys because it goes so far. Because of its richness, it is popular and costs much less than equal its weight in meat per pound.

Fresh Cherry Pie

Pit four cups sour cherries that have been stemmed and washed. To them add ⅞ to 1 cup sugar, 2½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca (3 tablespoons if pie is to be used within 1 hour of baking) and shake of salt. Let stand while you prepare pie crust: 2 cups flour, 2/3 cup lard or lard and butter or shortening, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 5 tablespoons ice cold water. Divide in halves when mixed, roll out to fit deep pie plate. Line deep pie plate, fill with sweetened cherries, roll out top crust, gashing it generously, seal on by moistening edge of bottom crust, pinch edges well to seal and flute. Bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. These ranges of temperature brown crust fast, then give the pie long enough to bake tender. Five minutes before removing pie from oven, brush with mixture of 1 tablespoon each milk or cream and sugar.

NOTE: If pie is to be kept overnight 2 tablespoons minute tapioca are sufficient.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fill tall glasses with ice cubes or crushed ice. If cream or sugar are used add them. Pour double-strength boiling hot coffee over to fill glasses. Heavy cream is desirable. But if reducers are making iced coffee, fill glasses only half full of double strength coffee and then fill to brim with whole milk. This way you have iced cafe au lait.

NEW YORK, July 3 —(AP)— You can entertain on a shoestring —even these days—and wow your guests. But your husband must get into the act.

Instead of serving filet mignon or lobster, you can manage a dinner for four or eight that costs only pennies and will leave your guests impressed.

And what does Joe cook? Why —beans, of course. Or maybe he whips up the most divine spaghetti sauce. What he can do to a ham curry makes your mouth water, to say nothing of his jazzed-up chile con carne.

Girls will be girls and the party will fall flat if you attempt to serve them hash or creamed chipped beef and fried tomatoes. But just let your husband whip it up and they'll rave about his cooking.

Festive Touch

Your job is to make the setting pretty. Use candlelight and lots of garden flowers. An inexpensive bottle of wine will make the party seem especially festive.

All you've got to do is supply your husband with a good cookbook. Men are wonderful at following the mechanics of anything which involves herbs and spices and oils and vinegars. They don't mind cooking over an outdoor grill, campfire or on top of the stove. But don't ask them to do anything which requires elaborate basting in the oven.

Introduce your husband to such tasty meal accompaniments as garlic bread or brown bread which can be bought in a can and steamed hot (a sure-fire favorite with beans).

Thrifty onion soup is esay to prepare and a delectable way to introduce your budget meal.

Report Great Garbo Ready To Resume Her Film Career

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—Hollywood's silent Swede wants to talk again—but only on the screen.

After a decade of professional inactivity, Greta Garbo, now 45, is moving toward a comeback.

She recently signed with a new agent, high-powered Charles Feldman. He has represented her in talks wth top-level executives of several studios.

The best bet is that she will return to her old studio, M.G.M., where she made more than a score of films between 1926 and 1941. Production chief Dore Schary and author John Gunther are tailoring a story especially for her.

Meanwhile, the tall, timid, angular girl who came here unheralded 25 years ago and blossomed into a living legend of the screen remains as remote as ever.

Still a Favorite

Despite her self-imposed seclusion and long absence from the screen, Garbo is still the international favorite of millions. Her old films have had frequent revivals. In Hollywood, she is still the paragon with whom all other actresses are compared.

Why husky-voiced Greta shuns contact with any but a chosen few is a question she has never satisfactorily answered. It is a paradox that by dodging publicity she has become one of the most publicized women of the world.

Garbo lives alone, sheltered from intrusion by high walls around her home. She sees only a handful of intimates who form a sort of royal bodyguard.

No Human Iceberg

To the public she's a phantom. Those who know her says she is quiet and retiring, a complete introvert, but not a human iceberg.

Among her few friends—mostly married couples connected with the movie indsutry—she can be gay, charming and witty. She goes out socially about three evenings a week, usually to small private gatherings, never to public places. She sometimes has an escort, but there is no romance in her life.

Miss Garbo is now a United States citizen. She took the oath last February.

Born Lovisa Gustafsson in Stockholm, the daughter of a merchant, she was a barber's helper and department store clerk. A small part in an advertising film made in her store launched her career.

Thereafter she haunted Swedish studios, taking small roles and studying at a dramatic school. Then Maurtiz Stiller, Sweden's greatest director, made her his protege. When Stiller was brought to Hollywood by M.G.M. he insisted that they import her with him.

Made a Standout

At Stiller's insistence, Lovisa, now Greta Garbo (it sounded better) was assigned a role in "The Torrent." She was a standout.

There was no stopping Garbo. Matinee idol John Gilbert took her under his wing. She was his co-star in her third picture, "Flesh and the Devil." With its release she was famous.

Garbo and Gilbert became the great lovers of the screen. They became inseparable owns screen, too. The period was Garbo's only social whirl.

Gilbert a Suitor

Gilbert is supposed to have proposed repeatedly, but wedding bells never rang. They split suddenly and handsome, John married Ina Claire.

Garbo stopped going to parties and began the almost monastic seclusion she has fancied ever since. Careerwise, however, she soared. Playing opposite the cream of Hollywood's leading men she sizzled the silent screen in "Love," "The Divine Woman," "Wild Orchids," "The Kiss," and "The Single Standard."

There was talk that sound would stop her because of her Swedish accent. Her first talkie, "Anna Christie," was one of her best. During the 30's she reached her peak in "Romance," "Mata Hari," "The Painted Veil," "Anna Karenina," "Camille," and "Ninotchka."

During her first dozen Hollywood years she earned an estimated $2,500,000. In 1937 her income was $472,602. She apparently is still well off. Her investments are handled by a New York firm.

Never Married

Garbo has never married. There have been no rumors of romance in her life for 10 years. But before that there were many.

While visiting Sweden in 1933 she was reported engaged to a Stockholm business man, Max Gumpel. In 1934 she made headlines touring Arizona with her director, Rouben Mamoulian. Two years later Noel Coward announced he was "very annoyed" at rumours linking his name with Garbo's.

A wedding was predicted in 1938 when she and Leopold Stokowski appeared together at several Mediterranean Resorts. Some said it was love when she and Gaylord Hauser, Hollywood dietitian, were a twosome in 1939. Others said it was only their mutual regard for carrot juice and raw vegetables.

So many things to share with you
In just the usual way,
Things that could be so much nicer
If you were here today.
We cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand we cannot touch,
But God has given us wonderful memories
Of one we love so much.

Peggy McKinney Becomes Bride

Miss Peggy E. McKinney became the bride of Mr. Edward B. Patterson on Saturday afternoon in a ceremony which took place in Mark Street United Church with the Rev. B. S. Morwood officiating. The bride is daughter of Mrs. C. H. Mackin and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Patterson, all of Peterborough.

The church was decorated with baskets of summer flowers banked with ferns. Soloist was Mrs. W. L. Hepburn who sang "Through the Years" during signing of the register. Wedding music was played by Mrs. R. C. Searles.

Mr. Clifford H. Mackin gave the bride in marriage and she was attended by her sister, Mrs. C. D. Wood. The groomsman was Mr. Raymond Griffin and the ushers were R. Scriver and W. McKinney.

White tulle over white satin fashioned the bride's gown and it was styled with bodice fastened at the back with tiny buttons and pointed, tight-fitting sleeves. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of tulle and her bouquet was of red roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid's frock was mauve taffeta and she wore a yellow picture hat and gloves and carried yellow roses and mauve sweet peas.

The reception was in the church parlors with the bride's mother receiving in a navy dress and white straw hat and wearing a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, also wore navy and had white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are spending their honeymoon in Muskoka, after which they will live at 592 Armour Rd. When going away the bride was wearing a blue pic and pic suit with yellow accessories and had an orchid corsage.

Lady Seadogs Get New Uniforms

OTTAWA, July 4 (CP)—Canada's new lady seadogs will be putting on the dog — sartorially, that is.

Naval headquarters says that uniforms for women being recruited into the new women's Naval Reserve this fall will be a "decided improvement in cut and quality" over the issue for the wartime women's naval service.

For example, gilt buttons will adorn the winter uniform of all ranks instead of the wartime black bone buttons. Officers' rank will be designated by gold braid like that used for male naval officers.

Summer issue will be quite different from the wartime issue. The new navy girl will wear a smartly-cut skipper blue office duty dress of a lightweight material. The summer wardrobe also will include a smart walking out uniform consisting of a skipper blue skirt and an all-white jacket.

WREN caps and tricorns have been retained and a detachable hood has been added to the raincoat. Nylons will be issued in black for winter wear and a light natural shade for the summer.

Havelock Girl Wed In Kingston, N.S.

HAVELOCK, July 3 (ENS). — A wedding of local interest was solemnized Saturday in the auditorum of the Kingston Bible College, Kingston, Nova Scotia, when Laura Mabel Menzies, a member of the college teaching staff, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies of Havelock, became the bride of Harold Morris Skaling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Skaling, of Kingston, NS.

The ceremony was performed by Dr John J. Sidney, assisted by the Rev. A. N. Day. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Howard Neily, and during the signing of the register Mrs. William J. Moorehead sang "At the Dawning."

The bride was given in marriage by William J. Moorehead, the principal of the academy, and she wore a gown of bridal satin fashioned with a tight-fitting bodice fastening down the back to the waistline, French lace sleeves and yoke, waistline and edge of yoke finished in a scalloped design. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tiara trimmed with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Vera Anderson was the bridesmaid wearing pink rayon marquisette, designed with cape-collar and yoke. Her headdress was a pink floral wreath and she carried deep pink carnations.

Gerald Skaling was groomsman for his brother and ushers were Randal Skaling, nephew of the groom, Norris Palmer, Donald Wheaton, and Leo Austin.

A reception was held in the college dining-room where Mrs. R. H. Woodbury received in a gown of blue jersey with a corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip the bride donned a navy sheer dress with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Skaling will visit the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies later this month. They will live in Kingston, NS.

Four Attend Bride At St. James' Rites

Bouquets of cut flowers were at the altar of St. James United Church on Saturday as the wedding took place of Marjorie Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rae Weatherstone, to Joseph Charles Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson, all of Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. D. McCormack. Organist Mrs. C. Renaud played the wedding march and during signing of the register Mrs. H. Turner sang "I'll walk beside you."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy brocade with full net skirt, the bodice designed with Queen Anne neckline and puffed sleeves. She wore elbow length lace mittens and a silver cross and silver earrings were her jewelry. Her full length veil of embroidered net was caught to an orange blossom coronet and she carried a cascade of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Florence Hendren was matron of honor for her cousin, gowned in mauve lace and net with matching mittens and accordion pleated halo adorned with pearls. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Miss Yvonne and Barbara Weatherstone, similarly frocked in yellow and green nylon marquisette with mittens and halos alike. Flower girl was the groom's niece, Marilyn Harrison frocked in pink taffeta with a flowered bandeau and carrying a nosegay of roses and carnations. The attendants carried cascade bouquets of roses, carnations and snapdragon.

The groom's brother Mr. Ivan Wilson attended him and ushers were Randall Weatherstone and Loy Brooks.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 106 Lock St. Mrs. Weatherstone received in a dress of printed nylon and grey straw hat and was wearing a red corsage. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore navy sheer with a white straw hat and corsage of red roses.

Leaving to spend a honeymoon at Wasaga Beach the bride was wearing a turquoise dress with white acessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will live at 220 Woodbine Ave. on their return.

Neighbours Honor Miss Sheila Wilson

A picnic and farewell party combined were held by the pupils and their parents of S.S. No. 9 Smith on Thursday, at Cedar Bay on Chemong Lake.

In the afternoon, the teacher, Miss Sheila Wilson, and the pupils spent the afternoon swimming, playing ball and running races. Then at 6.30 p.m. the parents arrived in time for a pot luck supper. After supper, two presentations were made to Miss Wilson. One was on behalf of the Women's Institute when Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting read a short address and Mrs. Carl Wilson presented a china cup and saucer. Following this, on behalf of the school section, a piece of luggage and a coffee-table ornament were presented by Shirley Tully and Wayne McIlmoyle, and an address was read by Mrs. Elton Miles. Miss Wilson replied graciously to both. She is leaving this community after being the teacher at S.S. No. 9 for the past three years. Next year she will be teaching at Odessa, near Kingston.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing ball, and swimming by the younger ones, while the older ones enjoyed a friendly visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oliver and family of Garden City, Mich., are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConkey and other relatives here.

Miss Sheila Wilson left on Friday evening for her home at Fairview and on Sunday she will go to Haliburton to spend the summer months.

Mrs. Flett was presented with a corsage and gift from the students.

What's Right?

You send a wedding gift to a bride-to-be, and several weeks later you have not had a thank-you note from her.

WRONG: Write and ask her if she or her mother received the gift.

RIGHT: Give her more time, since brides are often slow in getting all of their thank-you notes written.

De Valera Clings To Power By Scant Margin

DUBLIN — (CP) — Gaunt, greying Eamon de Valera again holds Ireland's political stage, but he has no guarantee he will stay there long.

Tired by a strenuous election campaign, de Valera heads a government balanced on a razor's edge. To stay in as prime minister he has to keep the support of five independent deputies in the Irish republic's dail (parliament).

Obviously this is a delicate margin. The independents who decided the issue jumped over to de Valera's banner after supporting John A. Costello's coalition during the three years it was in power.

De Valera did not make the smashing comeback he hoped for in the May 30 General Election. He wanted his fianna fail (soldiers of destiny) party to win a clear-cut majority. It came close —taking 69 of the 147 seats.

Irish political writers are predicting de Valera's cabinet, because of its wobbly position, will avoid controversial issues until it has had time to catch its breath and size up the situation. No one is anxious for a new election soon.

Why Take up Burdens?

In view of this situation why has de Valera taken up again the burdens of prime minister? At his age, 69, he obviously feels it would be unwise politically to remain in opposition any longer in the hope of a decisive election victory some years hence. De Valera had been prime minister for 16 years before his party lost control of the dail in the 1948 election.

Actually, except for a few brief periods of eclipse, New York-born de Valera has been the dominant figure in Irish politics since 1916.

He is more than a powerful party leader. In a very real sense De Valera himself is a political issue. A large number of voters viewed the election simply as an opportunity to record themselves as being either for or against him.

Hard To Classify

In many ways that was the clearest issue in the election, since the various parties in the Republic are difficult to classify by the ordinary method. There is no sharply defined right and left in Irish politics.

The parties grew out of the Irish struggle for freedom from British control. Now that the last ties with Britain have been cut, the various political groups are beginning to develop differences on such domestic issues as social services, land improvement and taxation policies.

To his followers De Valera, the son of a Spanish father and an Irish mother, is an almost legendary figure. He began his political career squinting down a rifle barrel in the Easter week uprising of 1916. He is one of the few surviving leaders of the Irish forces of that period.

Two Phases

The Irish revolution had two distinct phases. There was the fight against the British and the civil strife of the 1920s when Irishman clashed with Irishman in disagreement over ultimate goals. Many of De Valera's stoutest political enemies trace their opposition to him back to the tragic period of civil warfare.

De Valera's personality is as complex as the times through which he has lived. Friends point out that he is at once a rebel and a scholar, a practial politician and an idealist. He fights hard for social reforms, yet most observers classify him as a Conservative.

Partition Question

De Valera's realism is exhibited by his attitude on the long-standing Irish political question. The 26 counties making up the independent republic want all of the island unified under one government. The six counties of Northern Ireland, with their large Protestant population, have remained part of the United Kingdom. The republic is largely Catholic.

De Valera, along with all the other leaders of the republic, wants this situation changed. He knows, however, that there is no easy solution at hand.

Six of De Valera's seven children are living. One of the great tragedies of his life was the death of his schoolboy son, Brian, in a horseback accident in Dublin's Phoenix Park.

During the period of Ireland's rebellion De Valera was arrested several times by the British. On one occasion he was condemned to death but a question as to whether he was an American citizen resulted in a commutation to life imprisonment. He subsequently was freed in a general amnesty.

De Valera was the last of the Irish commanders to surrender during the 1916 Easter week uprising. After his small force had shot it out with the British for days, it became apparent it would not keep up the fight any longer. De Valera then stepped from behind the barricade and told the British:

"I am De Valera. Shoot me, but spare my men."

UN Brigade Men Nucleus If War Strikes

By RAE CORELLI

HALIFAX, July 4 (CP)—Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, of St. Catharines, said Tuesday that Canada's United Nations Brigades will furnish a growing corps of war-wise "citizen soldiers" who could be mobilized rapidly for war.

"Even if he doesn't stay in the army" the 39-year-old commander of the 27th Infantry Brigade told a press conference, "he still will have been trained and be ready in the event of war."

The Second World War commander of the 1st Division Engineers, concluding a tour of bases across Canada where his men are training, is quick to plug that "citizen-soldier" role of the men in his outfit and the 25th Brigade, now in Korea.

"We teach them to be citizens first and soldiers second," he said.

Brig. Walsh said the popularity of professional soldiering is growing and many of the 27th's personnel view the army as a career.

Europe Best Bet

The 6,000-man army now is undergoing basic training but its destination still is not definitely known, although Europe looms as the best bet.

"Every man — regardless of whether he is a postal clerk or a cook—has to be trained as an infantry reinforcement. The Canadian soldier is exceptionally adaptable — once he is well trained" he said.

"To put it briefly, what we're doing is putting the accent on 'man-management'—making sure that officers and men are not the produce of a sausage mchine training program but get to know each other well."

Industrial Firms Report Buying Now Slowing Down

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Greenshields and Company Montreal investment house gives the following capsule picture of Canada in the first half-year of 1951:

"Latest available statistics indicate that there has been no slackening in productive capacity. Output of electric energy, at 4,900,000 kilowatt hours in April, was one-fifth higher than a year ago. Revenue freight cars loaded in May totalled 379,000, an increase of 50,000 over May 1950. Production of newsprint in May, at 486,000 tons, reached 103.4 per cent of rated capacity, a new monthly high. Output of steel now is more than 10,000 tons a day, compared with the 1950 daily average of 9 000 tons.

"Following decreases in the prices of imported coal, rubber, wool and beef hides, the wholesale price index for industrial materials receded from 304.5 at the end of April to 302.6 at the end of May. While the demand for metals and wood proucts remains unabated, easier conditions are apparent for most of the other commodities, with textiles n the weakest spot."

Noting recent drops in automobile sales, Greenshields comments:

"Even if higher taxes and restrictions of credit had not been imposed sales could not have been maintained at the same rate as in the first months of the year.

"However, consideration must be given to the fact that, out of 2,000,000 passenger cars on the road, about half are more than 10 years old. It seems, therefore, not unreasonable to exepct that annual sales can be maintained at or over the 323,000 level of 1950."

Meanwhile from the United States, the National Association of Purchasing Agents comments on the American economy in the present period of adjustment. The association says that American business declined more sharply in June than in any month since June, 1949, and that more items showed price decreases than in any month since October, 1949. It adds that defence orders did not "fill the gap" caused by lower general demand, and that slow economic activity is expected in July and August, with companies tending to buy new goods on a "hand to mouth" or 90-day forward basis. However, so far, employment is holding "fairly well."

Overbuying

These reports from both sides of the border of slowing activity in some lines may be taken at least in part, as the results of overbuying in the early year when there tended to be too much fear of restrictos, taxes and scarcities.

This over-buying overlooked the specialzed nature of defence programs to date and the extent to which the productve power of the contnent can take care of both present defence programs and reasonable cvilian requrements.

The present situaton, however, does not change the forecast that the real impact of defence buyng will come next fall, and that demand will contnue heavy.

Also, present caution in buying will make buying six months from now that much heavier, and may be welcomed to the extent that it takes the steam out of higher-prices tsends, even if only temporarily.

Believe Reds Using Delay Strengthen Hand

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The Communists in Korea probably will use any delay in the start of cease fire talks to strengthen their military hand for the bigger political game to follow.

This is the view of competent officials here, who offered these possible explanations for the Communist proposal to wait until July 10 or 15 to open formal negotiations:

1. The United Nations terms for an armistice are believed to demand a halt on the movement of any reinforcements into Korea until the military truce gives way to an over-all settlement.

2. The Chinese Reds now are moving fresh and probably better-equipped troops into Korea to replace at least some of the 981,400 men they are estimated to have lost there.

3. Chinese Communist forces will probably refuse to leave North Korea until their Korean allies are strong enough and so located as to counterbalance the South Korean force which would remain in Korea after other allied units left following a general peace settlement.

Make First Move

Early today Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, notified the Communist commanders by radio that he was prepared to send representatives to meet them between July 10 and 15. But he proposed, in the interest of saving lives, that preliminary talks begin by July 5.

American officials said the UN command is alert to the possibility the Reds are stalling for time in order to prepare for a fresh onslaught. Most officials believe, however, that the Chinese will live up to any strictly military agreement.

US army officers explained that the known weakness of Chinese army communications facilities may be in the Red desire for delay in starting the armistice talks.

Council Delays Decision On Seaway

ST. THOMAS, July 4—(CP)—Despite a majority vote which would have rejected a Toronto resolution, calling upon the federal government to proceed with development of the St. Lawrence Seaway project, city council Tuesday night agreed to defer final decision on the matter until a full council is in attendance.

Standing solidly against endorsation of the resolution were Aldermen Peter Laing Thomas M. Currah and William Stokes, all railroadmen, who maintained development of the St. Lawrence would seriously affect railroad systems.

The motion was set aside.

Pacific Islands Change Hands, CivilGovernment

By ROY ESSOYAN

PEARL HARBOR, July 4 (AP)—A vast island-speckled area about the size of the US changed hands at midnight Saturday in the Western Pacific.

But the 57,000 islanders who inhabit the Trust territory of the Pacific hardly noticed.

The United States navy took over the former Japanese-mandated islands in 1944, near the end of the Pacific war.

Now, in fulfilment of a pledge to the island people, it has handed the islands over to civil administration, under the Interior Department.

Policies Unchanged

The principles, policies and aims of the US in the area remain unchanged. The only change is in the men who implement them. They won't wear a uniform.

Some 300 navy officers and men have operated the 1,460 islands.

The people they will rule are spread over 3,000,000 square miles of the Western Pacific. They include the North Marianas, Carolines and Marshall Island groups.

During the Second World War the Japanese fortified the islands, closed them off from the rest of the world and built them up as spring-boards for aggression. After the war the United Nations entrusted the islands to the United States.

Mrs. J. Stewart Celebrates 96th Birthday In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, JULY 4, (ENS—Millbrook's eldest citizen, Mrs. James Stewart, celebrated her 96th birthday on Sunday.

She was 12 years old the day of Confederation. Sunday evening Mrs. Stewart had been hostess to about 30 supper guests whom she thoroughly enjoyed. After they left she sat on the verandah where she spends much of her time.

She makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong. This, she said, was one of the coolest birthdays she could remember.

Many Cards

Mrs. Stewart received many cards, bouquets of flowers, and gifts from people throughout Canada and the United States. She is in excellent health, and one of her chief occupations is knitting for the Red Cross. Her mind is keen and alert, and she takes an interest in the news of the day. Her daughters said she was always first to read the paper each evening and that she missed nothing in it.

Mrs. Stewart was born four miles southwestof Millbrook. Her maiden name was Mary Jane Evans and she was the daughter of James Evans and the former Mary Jane Collins, pioneers from Armagh, Northern Ireland.

At 18 years of age, on March 12, she married.

James Stewart, her husband, also came of pioneer stock from Northern Ireland to Cavan township. His father was Richard Stewart asd his mother the former Mary Jane Thompson. On March 12, 1917 Mr. James Stewart died.

Mrs. Stewart was one of eight sisters, four of whom are still living. The others are: Miss Matilda Evans, 89, of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. Marion Seaton, 87, of Munro, Mich., and Mrs. Alice Metherall, 84, Vancouver, B.C. Mrs. Stewart's mother lived to the age of 94.

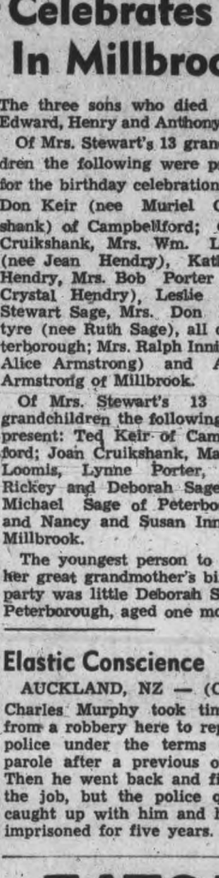
Ten Children

Seventy-six of Mrs. Stewart's 96 years have been spent either in or near Millbrook. For the other 20 years she lived in Peterborough. She was the mother of 10 children, seven of whom are still living. All buf two of the seven were able to visit their mother on her birthday and to enjoy a family buffet supper with her grandchildren, and her great grandchildren.

Those Present

Present were her daughter Rachel, Mrs. John Cruikshank, and her husband of Hastings; Maude, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, the daughter with whom she makes her home; Mrs. Crystal Stewart who also lives with her mother; Luella, Mrs. Tom Hendry, and her husband, of Peterborough; and Edna, Mrs. Alex Sage, also of Peterborough. The two children not able to attend were Florence, Mrs. D. A. Messecar, of Waterford; and Richard N. Stewart of Toronto, the only surviving son.

The three sons who died were Edward, Henry and Anthony.



Of Mrs. Stewart's 13 grandchildren the following were present for the birthday celebration: Mrs. Don Keir (nee Muriel Cruikshank) of Campbellford; Ormie Cruikshank, Mrs. Wm. Loomis (nee Jean Hendry), Katherine Hendry, Mrs. Bob Porter (nee Crystal Hendry), Leslie Sage, Stewart Sage, Mrs. Don McIntyre (nee Ruth Sage), all of Peterborough; Mrs. Ralph Innis (nee Alice Armstrong) and Arnold Armstrong of Millbrook.

Of Mrs. Stewart's 13 great grandchildren the following were present: Ted Keir of Campbellford; Joan Cruikshank, Margaret Loomis, Lynne Porter, Gary, Rickey and Deborah Sage and Michael Sage of Peterborough; and Nancy and Susan Innis of Millbrook.

The youngest person to attend her great grandmother's birthday party was little Deborah Sage of Peterborough, aged one month.

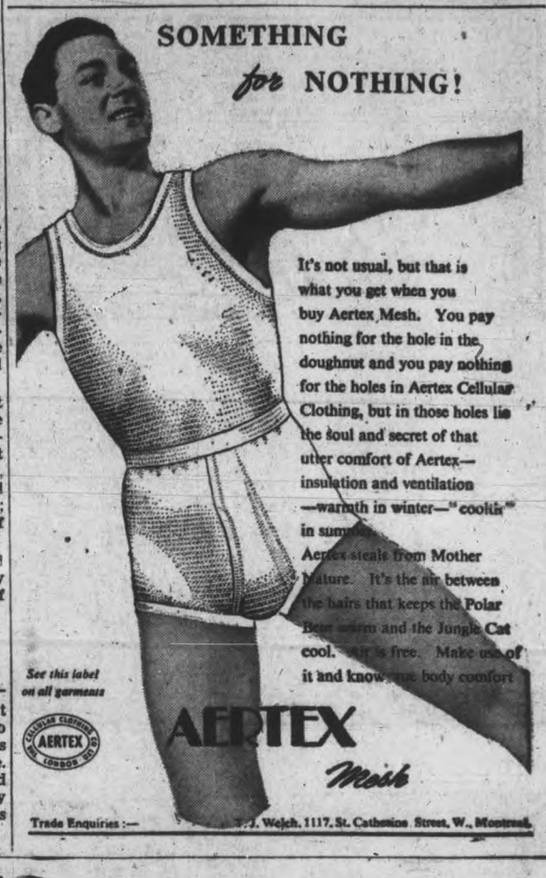
Hauled Wood To Havelock When Retailed $3.50 a Cord

HAVELOCK, July 4—(ENS)—A resident of Havelock and district for 65 years, Alfred Derrett quietly celebrated his 72nd birthday with a family gathering at his home on Sunday. Mr. Derrett's birthday came on Monday.

Mr. Derrett was born in Bristol, England, and came to Canada with some friends of his family at the age of seven years. They settled at Belleville but only remained there a short time before coming to Seymour township and then to Campbellford.

In October 1905, Mr. Derrett married Caroline Baker, a daughter of Oliver Baker one of the pioneers of the Round Lake district. They came to Havelock 35 years ago and last October celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. Mr. Derrett was employed as a boiler maker in the C.P.R. shops here, being superannuated seven years ago. Since then his hobby has been gardening and doing odd jobs about the town. He recalled that one winter before he entered the employ of the C.P.R. that he drew about 100 cords of maple stove wood from the German Varty farm, east of here to Farmer's store where the Wing store is now situated. Mr. Farmer retailed the wood at $3.50 per cord.



Mr. and Mrs. Derrett have five daughters and two sons. They are: Mrs. Percy Kellar (Edith) of Cookston, Mrs. S. Whitney (Mabel) of Indian River, Mrs. A. Hamilton (Pansy) of Cordova Mines, Mrs. Thelma Baker of Peterborough, Mrs. David Wood (Violet) of Belleville, Ernest in British Columbia and George of Havelock. They have also 30 grandchildren, three great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

A large cake prettily decorated with a horse shoe and roses and lettered "Happy Birthday, 72" centred the birthday table.

Flames Raze 40 Buildings In Burning Gaspe Village

200 People Left Homeless As Fierce Wind Spread Blaze Rapidly

Heavy Rain Helps 300 Volunteer Firemen Bring Fire Under Control At Noon; First Noticed In Hotel, Then In Houses

CAP CHAT, Que., July 5. (CP)—A raging fire today destroyed about 40 buildings in this Gaspe Peninsula village, leaving 200 persons homeless. Heavy rain about 11:00 a.m. EDT, three hours after the fire started in the western end of the village, came to the rescue of volunteer fire-fighters. The great blaze, driven by a fierce wind sweeping across the St. Lawrence River from the northwest, was brought under control by the 300 volunteer firemen just before noon.

Starts In Hotel

The fire started about 8 a.m. in a main street hotel in the Gaspe village of 2,500 people. Its origin was not known.

The fierce winds sprang up soon after the hotel blazed up and it worked its way westward through a row of houses and stores on the main street overlooking the St. Lawrence River.

Families quickly evacuated threatened homes and carried to safety what belongings they could.

No injuries or deaths were known.

Cap Chat is without a regular fire brigade but some 300 volunteers took up the fight pumping salt water from the river.

Firemen also were called in from Matane.

Church Threatened

Shortly before noon the flames were within 500 feet of Cap Chat's Roman Catholic Parish Church.

In the confusion of the fire, 14 months after major blazes swept the south short towns of Rimouski and Cabano within 100 miles of here, no one knew how the fire started.

The hotel Boulevard Perron blazed up just about the time people were having breakfast and setting out for work.

The wind drove sparks and burning embers to other buildings along the main street.

The flames leaped from house to house in the western end of the village and soon were out of control.

The vacation of families from their homes was reminiscent of the disastrous Rimouski fire of May, 1950, which left 2,000 people homeless.

Cap Chat is on the main Gaspe highway northeast of Rimouski.

Frost Says Ontario Will Go All Out Welcome Princess

TORONTO, July 5. (CP)—Ontario will go "all out" to welcome Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on the royal tour next October. A warm welcome was promised by the Ontario Government. Premier Frost said: "The Government and the people here will go all out to welcome them."

Controller Innes said regarding a Toronto welcome: "We have got to put on a good show for the Princess. We'll have to get the soldiers out—the 48th Highlanders, especially—and put on a good parade. But I'm worried about just where we can take the girl. I'm disappointed she couldn't be here for the opening of the Exhibition (Aug. 24).

"We'll have to decorate the city hall. We must put our best foot forward."

Many Rumors

In Ottawa, government officials moved cautiously today into the ticklish task of arranging an itinerary for the visit to Canada this October of Princess Elizabeth, who one day will be queen of this Dominion.

Flurry of rumors arose immediately in the wake of the surprise announcement of the Royal visit—reports that the Princess and her husband will make most of the trip by plane, that she will make a joint address to parliament, that they will cross the Atlantic by warship and land at such-and-such a port.

It is just that sort of detail, so far as the Canadian segment of the tour is concerned, that will be worked out by a government interdepartmental committee set up with Charles Stein, under-secretary of state, as chairman. At the moment, the committee only is in its preliminary stages.

The question of an address to parliament is one thing that will come before the committee.

Leave In September

The Princess is expected to leave the United Kingdom late in September and to pay an official call at the capital before parliament opens Oct. 9. This rules out the possibility, which has been suggested unofficially, that she might open the fall session.

However, official sources are considering the further possibility that she might return to Ottawa and speak before a joint session of the House of Commons and the Senate.

The expectation here is that Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will cross the Atlantic by ship, rather than by plane. That will be arranged by the United Kingdom government. It is not expected here that they will come by warship.

As for flying in Canada, it is considered likely that part of the tour will be made by plane and the remainder by train. The Princess already has flown a number of times.

Coast-to-Coast Tour

The known facts are these, as contained in Wednesday's official announcement by Prime Minister St. Laurent:

The Princess and her husband will visit Canada in October. They are expected to tour the country from coast to coast and visit most of the principal centres.

It is estimated they will be in Canada about three weeks.

Mr. St. Laurent, announcing the royal couple have accepted a Canadian government invitation to visit Canada, said they want to

Ontario Storm Leaves Trail Of Damage

TORONTO, July 5 — (CP) — A lightning and thunder storm burst across a 300-mile front in southern and central Ontario Wednesday night and early today, leaving a trail of burned out buildings and flooded cellars.

One man died as a result of the storm and a woman was burned about the face.

William Hanson, 70, died in Welland hospital. He had collapsed while seeking shelter from the drenching rain.

Mrs. Keith Beatty of Egbert, 10 miles south of Barrie, was burned about the face when lightning struck her home.

Several fires were started by lightning. A barn owned by William Snyder north of Brampton was burned to the ground and a Newmarket bank building blaze was put out by firemen.

At Penetanguishene on Georgian Bay, a $10,000 outbreak destroyed a cottage. Another cottage, at the Hungarian camp near Oshawa, was destroyed.

Barn Destroyed

Ernest Clark's barn, containing livestock and 300 bags of cement, burned at Dundalk.

Agriculture department officials said the heavy rains have delayed harvesting of the hay crop. Damage to grain and fruit in scattered hail storms and heavy rains was reported in several areas.

In Guelph, nearly a foot of water swirled along streets when drains couldn't keep up with the downpour. Kingston motorists reported vegetables from adjoining market gardens were washed along the highway into the city.

Power was cut off for periods up to an hour at Penetanguishene, Barrie, Hamilton, St. Catharines, parts of Toronto, Welland, and Campbellford.

And at Bala Lodge in the Muskoka district lightning struck a man's trousers, set them afire and welded coins in the pockets together.

The owner was safe in bed at the time.

Police Smash Swindle Ring

MONTREAL, July 5—(CP)—Police said Wednesday night they have arrested the leader and broken a forgery and swindle ring that operated in Montreal, Toronto and Quebec.

They said that although investigation is still incomplete it is believed the ring may have netted close to $100,000.

It is believed the unnamed ringleader, said to be a Montrealer, will be arraigned Friday on an unspecified number of charges.

Police said the ringleader cashed at least 17 worthless cheques in Montreal banks alone. The cheques, drawn on genuine accounts and cleverly forged, ranged from $120 to $2,500.

First break in the case came 10 days ago when a suburban policeman spotted a man whose face he had seen on a police poster. From that time, the man was shadowed day and night until he was arrested three days ago.

PC Member Resigns From House Seat

OTTAWA, July 5 — (CP) — Resignation of A. L. Smith, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Calgary West, today was delivered formally to Speaker Ross Macdonald. Mr. Smith announced last January that he planned to resign because of ill-health.

The resignation was sent to the Speaker by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. In a statement, Mr. Drew said that while Mr. Smith had announced it was necessary for him to resign "those of us who had been associated with him in the House continued to hope that it might be possible for him to return."

"In addition to Mr. Smith's outstanding contribution to debates in the House and his position of recognized authority in several branches of parliamentary work, his knowledge of the immensely important oil development in Alberta was of great value to us and to the House."

Five-Car Smash-up Injures Five People

BELLEVILLE, July 5 (CP). — Five persons were injured today in a five-car crash on the Belleville-Trenton highway. Traffic was tied up for more than an hour before the road was cleared.

Mrs. Beatrice Fernburg of New York City, was taken to hospital with undetermined injuries. Four others suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Three United States cars, one from Ontario, and an auto transport were involved in the accident.

World Court Hands Down Oil Decision

Advises Both Lands Refrain From Halting Supplies For World

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 5. (Reuters)—The world court today advised Iran and Britain to refrain from taking any measures in their oil dispute which would halt the flow of oil to the world.

The court was announcing its decision on Britain's plea for interim measures against Iran until the court hears the full British case against Iranian nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company later this year.

The court of 12 judges from as many countries turned down Iran's claim that it had no jurisdiction in the oil war.

It said each country must avoid any action which might prejudice the court's final ruling on Iran's oil take-over—upholding Britain's request for a freeze.

Keep Present Staff

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's exploitation of Iranian oil should continue under supervision of its present staff—subject to changes mutually agreed, the court ruled.

A joint commission, appointed by the British and Iran governments, should guard the interests of the exploitation of oil and supervise expenditure. Cash received should be paid into a bank agreed on by the commission.

This "board of supervision" should be made up of two members from each government and a neutral fifth member to be chosen by Britain and Iran. If they could not agree on the fifth member, the president of the court would appoint him.

Immediately after the court had pronounced judgment, Hussein Navab, Iran's minister to Holland, stated "we consider the judgment an intervention in our internal affairs. We consider it null and void."

May Cut Price

Order Student Leave Country

HELSINKI, Finland, July 5 — (Reuters)—Finland today ordered a Texas college student out of the country because he sneaked across the border into Russia and swiped a Russian emblem off a frontier post.

He is David Russel Reeves, 21, San Antonio, Tex., a student of Oklahoma University on a hitchhike tour of Europe.

The interior department said that the souvenir-hunting youth has been sentenced to two months "conditional" imprisonment and fined $38. Conditional imprisonment means he does not go to jail unless he commits another offence within three years. Reeves is being held in jail until the fine is paid.

On a Russian frontier post he spotted a metal shield bearing the official Russian markings. The Russian guard was dozing, so Reeves removed the screws with a dime and sneaked back across the border.

Fireworks More Spectacular Than Planned Mock Bombing Attack Puts City In Uproar

BALTIMORE, Md., July 5—(AP)—The horror of an atomic attack came to life Wednesday night for some 30,000 Baltimore citizens who turned out for an old-fashioned fireworks display at the municipal stadium.

Actually it was a mock attack staged by civil defence agencies to drive home the danger in case an atom bomb were dropped in this busy defence area.

But the simulated drill, aired over all the state's radio stations, sent worried citizens rushing to their telephones to ask the phone company, police and newspaper offices what it was all about.

At Hagerstown, 50 miles away, one woman broke up a church service.

"Baltimore is being bombed!" she yelled a warning at the worshippers. "The planes are on their way to Hagerstown now."

In the stadium, the scene of the simulated attack, children were playing tag and hopscotch. The parents were mowing lawns or puttering in the garden when a roar of planes came in on a loud speaker.

Red alert! A siren wailed, anti-aircraft artillery blasted at a supopsed enemy, but one aircraft got through with an "atom bomb" — a giant firecracker with a bright flash.

COAST-TO-COAST tour of Canada is planned by Princess Elizabeth and her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, some time in October, Prime Minister St. Laurent said the visit will be kept as simple as possible in keeping with the circumstances of the times.

Safe Conduct Guarantee Waited By Allies

TOKYO, July 5 —(AP)—Arrangements were made today for Communist and Allied truce envoys to meet in peace Sunday. But that didn't stop the shooting in Korea.

Today Reds shot at two United Nations patrols as they approached Kaesong, war-scarred ancient capital of Korea where cease-fire talks will be held. Wednesday they had permitted one patrol to enter the deserted city near the 38th Parallel.

UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway still sought a guarantee from the Communists they would not fire in similar fashion on the emissaries he will send to Kaesong Sunday.

That one hitch remains to be settled before representatives of the opposing top commands can meet. And when they do get together it will be merely to make plans for the real cease-fire conference. That will be Tuesday.

Receive No Guarantee

Thursday passed without word that Chinese and North Korean commanders had guaranteed safe conduct to the UN delegation.

Instead the Reds' Peiping radio said the success of cease-fire talks "depends on whether the US government and other governments taking part in the Korean war are sincere." And it told the Chinese that even after the shooting ends in Korea they must continue to build defences to guard against American "attempts at aggression."

70 Children Die In Blast

BERLIN, July 5 —(Reuters)—More than 70 children were feared killed in an explosion on a pleasure steamer on the East Berlin Spree River today.

Eyewitnesses said the steamer was taking a party of 200 East German children aged between 10 and 12 to a holiday camp on the Baltic.

Fifteen children were reported taken to hospital with severe burns.

Earlier reports from the West Berlin police said the steamer's boiler had exploded.

East Berlin authorities refused an offer of help from West German police and firemen, the police said.

Eyewitnesses said: "The children waved and shouted as they passed under the bridge we were standing on. Three minutes later when they were about 300 yards downstream there was a loud explosion and a column of black smoke shot up in the air.

"It was difficult to see what happened then. Flames broke out and we saw some of the children jump in the water."

Find Careless Use Of Torch Caused Fire In Montreal

MONTREAL, July 5. (CP)—Use of an acetylene torch without proper precautions caused the disastrous June 15 fire in the Ste. Cunegonde Hospice which took 35 lives, Fire Commissioner Jean St. Germain, KC, said today. The commissioner issued a written judgment on the fire, following a two-day hearing late last week.

He ruled the fire resulted from negligence of a worker who cut some rivets with the torch "without having first taken the precautions demanded by this dangerous work."

The workers were installing a new elevator in the building.

The hospice housed some 400 aged men and women and children, the majority of them orphans.

Need Great Care

The judgment said "experience has shown that use of acetylene torches presents a constant danger of fire, unless the most minute precautions are taken to prevent it.

"In the present case, either by ignorance or by negligence, it would seem that no preventive action was taken beyond holding a bucket of water into which the cut rivets fell."

Mr. St. Germain said the fire was discovered raging on the third floor.

Some of the workers said that while the rivets were being cut sparks from the melted metal fell on the floor of a temporary scaffolding built on top of the shaft near the sixth floor. The floor had an opening of two or three inches in width through which the sparks could pass.

At each floor in the shaft, Mr. St. Germain explained, there were openings where doors were to be installed later. These openings had been temporarily covered on the outside of the shaft with tarpaulins to prevent occupants of the building from falling into the shaft.

The commissioner decided these sparks probably set fire to the tarpaulins or inflammable materials which were in the elevator shaft near the third floor where the fire was first discovered.

Top Diplomat Dies In Britain

GREENOCK, Scotland, July 5 (AP).—Lord Inverchapel, former ambassador to the United States and one of Britain's top diplomats, died here today. He was 69.

Known while he held the Washington position as Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, Lord Inverchapel also served as ambassador to Russia and China during the Second World War.

While ambassador to Moscow, Inverchapel made diplomatic history by persuading Soviet Prime Minister Stalin to dine at the British Embassy. He played a prominent role in several big three conferences during the war.

He entered the diplomatic service in 1906. His first ambassadorial post was in the Central American Republics in 1925. In 1928 he became ambassador to Chile. There he married Maria Teresa Diaz Salas, known as the most beautiful woman in Chile. They were divorced in 1945 and remarried in 1947.

Inverchapel was made a Baron and succeeded Lord Halifax as ambassador to Washington in 1946.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 5 (AP)—Doris Hart of the United States reached the finals of the all-England tennis championships today by defeating another American, Beverley Baker, 6-3, 6-1. Her opponent in Saturday's playoff will be Shirley Fry, who upset defending champion Louise Brough, 6-4, 6-2. Both Miss Fry and Miss Brough are Americans.

Can't Get Fire Chief Or Firemen At Resort

CRYSTAL BEACH, July 5 (CP) —William Gibbs, Jr., assistant fire chief of Crystal Beach, said today he would not accept command of the staffless Crystal Beach fire department.

Seventeen volunteer firefighters and all the town's regular firetest against the dismissal of their men resigned Wednesday in prochief, George Pietz, during a heated controversy over law enforcement.

Police Chief Gilbert Robertson also was dismissed by the town council pending inquiry into charges that this resort a few miles west of Buffalo has become a "wide-open town," rampant with bootlegging, prostitution and dope-peddling.

Reeve Claude Brewster, meanwhile, is trying to arrange a meeting with firemen Friday night to get the department functioning again. At present, fire protection is being provided by the Bertie fire department in nearby Ridgeway.

Believes Reds Find Aggression No Longer Pays

MONTREAL, July 5 —(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the Korean cease-fire developments may indicate the Communists realize that "aggression does not pay."

He told the Corporation of Agronomists of Quebec province it is in the hope of bringing home that idea that the North Atlantic nations have been building up their strength.

"It is for that reason that we and our partners have made so many sacrifices to show the aggressors in Korea that aggression does not pay," he said in an address prepared for delivery at a luncheon. "Events of the last few days may be an indication that they are already realizing this."

Mr. St. Laurent told his audience of farming experts that productivity of the soil—their speciality—is necessary not only to meet Canada's needs but also to help prepare a complete defence against the threat of Communism. That threat was social and economic as well as military and political.

Reason For Plans

"So that our defences may be effective," he said, "we must erect them on all fronts with the help of those men everywhere who wish to remain free. It is for this reason that the democracies have adopted their plans for economic aid, the Marshall Plan, President Truman's point-four program and the Colombo Plan.

"These plans are our best weapon of defence in this ideological war.

"We must furnish eloquent proof of our superior capacity to win the real peace, that is, to solve better than they the real economic and social problems of men.

"To that end, we must not only produce more and ensure a better distribution, but we must also do so with intelligence."

Holiday Deaths Low Across US

CHICAGO, July 5 — (AP) — The United States' July 4th traffic death toll was below the National Safety Council's estimated 130 and one of the lowest for the holiday in several years.

Cool, rainy and cloudy weather on the mid-week holiday cut highway travel in many parts of the United States.

The accidental death toll, traffic leading with 91, was 178. Two men and one child were killed from fireworks. Other accidental fatalities included 48 drownings and 36 from miscellaneous causes.

Hundreds were injured from fireworks. At least 15 suffered injuries at a fireworks display in Cheviot, O., a Cincinnati suburb, when an aerial bomb exploded among 10,000 spectators.

Last year the Independence Day holiday covered a four-day period and the accidental deaths hit a record of 783. The traffic toll was 482.

Hungary Orders 2 Diplomats Leave

BUDAPEST, July 5 —(AP)—Hungary today ordered two United States diplomats to leave this country within 24 hours, labelling them "persona non grata" (unwelcome persons).

The note was handed to the US legation after the United States rejected Hungary's previous demand that three members of the legation be recalled as plotters against Hungary's Communist government.

The two diplomats involved must cross the Hungarian border into Austria by Friday at 1 p.m.

French Paper Hints Envoys' Bodies Found

BREST, France, July 5 (AP)—A local newspaper published a dispatch today "from Great Britain" that a British boat had found four bodies 150 miles off the French coast. The newspaper said this aroused speculation in Britain that two of the bodies might be those of missing British diplomats Donald McLean and Guy Burgess.

The dispatch gave no source for the information.

(In London the foreign office would not comment on the report.)

Sources in Brest could give no confirmation for the report the bodies had been found.

McLean and Burgess have been missing since May 25, when they disappeared en route from the French coast to Paris.

Scientist Has Answer To Fisherman's Prayer To Fool Blackflies Wear White Clothing

TORONTO, July 5—(CP)—A man who probably has been bitten by more blackflies than anyone else in Canada has some advice on how not to get bitten.

Dr. Douglas M. Davies, a Toronto scientist now continuing 10 years' study of the pest in Algonquin Park, earned his title of most-fly-bitten man in 1947. Then, he bared nine square inches of his stomach to the pests for an hour a day almost every day in June, July and August, all in the interest of science.

Dr. Davies is on the staff of the Ontario Research Foundation in co-operation with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, which extended its camp and field facilities to him in Algonquin.

As with the mosquito, only the female blackfly bites.

His advice on how not to get bitten:

Wear clothes that are white or of a pale shade. Dark clothes draw flies.

Cost-Of-Living Up 2.1 Points Bureau Reports

OTTAWA, July 5. (CP)—Bad news again from the Bureau of Statistics. The cost-of-living index won't settle down. Because it cost a lot more to eat during May, the index used the month to climb to a new all-time high . . . for the umpteenth time. The Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday that 2.1 points were added to the index during the month of May. So now our latest record of what it costs to live in Canada figures out to 184.1 points.

Altogether the index has increased 82.6 per cent from August 1939. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

Two-thirds of May's general advance was caused by higher prices for food, especially butter, pork and fresh vegetables. But there were other climbs—rents, clothing, hardware and electrical equipment, street car fares, gasoline and health care.

Show Unsteadiness

Wholesale prices for June — which are supposed to give a clue to what retail prices will be like —indicated unsteadiness.

Prices were down for raw rubber, wool, tin, western oats, linseed and cottonseed oil, beef hides and US bituminous coal. But they were up on butterfat, livestock and eggs.

The Bureau's rent figure — a quarterly report rather than monthly as are the other groups—increased 2.2 points to a record 139.8.

Home furnishings and services also went up to 2.2 points but to a record 197.1.

Clothing advanced an even single point to a peak 202.5; fuel and light remained unchanged at 146.2 and the miscellaneous group —reflecting charges for health and personal care and entertainment—climbed .03 points to a record 141.0.

Pats Advised Of Winning Truman Citation

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, Korea, July 5 (CP)—The 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, officially learned today what the rest of the world has known for more than a week—that they have been awarded a presidential citation for their epic stand April 24-25.

Brig. John Rockingham commander of the Canadian 25th Infantry Brigade in Korea, transmitted a copy of the citation to the battalion, adding his own congratulations for its "extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance."

(The award by the president of the United States to the unit was announced June 26. A general order issued by Lt.-Gen. James Van Fleet, US Eighth Army commander, cited the Patricias along with an Australian and American unit, for "gallantry, determination, and esprit de corps in accomplishing their missions under extremely difficult and hazardous conditions" against the enemy near Kapyong, Korea, April 24 and 25, when the Communist spring offensive was held up.)

Praises Unit

Rockingham added: "Your unit has indeed brought distinguished credit on itself, the Canadian army and Canada, and I would like to express my personal congratulations to you and all soldiers who were serving in your battalion at that time."

He said Canadian army headquarters still is considering whether the Patricias will be permitted to wear the distinctive badge that goes with the citation (a blue ribbon surrounded by a gilt frame worn on the right breast), and suggested that the men of the battalion await advice from authorities before taking steps to acquire the ribbons.

There is as yet no indication as to when the certificate of citation, normally presented by the army commander, will be presented to the Patricias.

UrgeMoreRecognition Given Empire Day

LONDON, July 5. (CP)—A call for more positive recognition of Empire Day, May 24, by the commonwealth, to symbolize the power and influence of the British people, was made today by the London Daily Mail.

Commemorating the birthday of the late Queen Victoria, the day is observed as a major event in the life of Canada, where it is celebrated as Victoria Day, but within recent years has been allowed to lapse as a statutory holiday in the United Kingdom and other commonwealth countries.

The appeal for revival of the Empire Day spirit is stressed in a front-page editorial commenting on Wednesday's Anglo-American celebration of Independence Day.

make the trip "as simple as possible, having regard for the circumstances of the times."

Possibly for that reason, Mr. St. Laurent will not accompany them on their tour. In 1939, when the King and Queen came to Canada on a state visit, former Prime Minister Mackenzie King was with them most of the time.

The Prime Minister said Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip "will, of course, in the short time at their disposal on this visit, not be able to see all the places in Canada that they would like."

See Principal Centres

"They will, however, travel from coast to coast and, it is hoped will visit most of the principal centres."

It will be Princess Elizabeth's first visit to Canada. She and her sister, Princess Margaret, were left in the United Kingdom when their parents came to Canada in 1939. The Duke of Edinburgh visited Halifax briefly in 1941 as a junior officer aboard a wartime transport.

Mr. St. Laurent, reporting that the royal couple were looking forward to the visit with "keen anticipation," said he knew that their wish to keep the visit as simple as possible would be respected.

"All Canadians," he added, "will be delighted that the heiress to the throne is coming to our country, and will give Her Royal Highness and His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh the warmest of welcomes."

Invitation From Pearson

The Prime Minister said the invitation to visit Canada was conveyed on behalf of the Canadian government by External Affairs Minister Pearson during his recent visit to the United Kingdom.

However, it is known that the Princess long has wished to come to this country. Both she and Princess Margaret were reported bitterly disappointed when they could not come in 1939.

May Visit US

Elizabeth and Philip will visit the United States—if they are invited—after their tour of Canada in October, responsible London sources said today.

The King and Queen visited the United States during their tour of Canada in 1939 spending four days as the guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

A qualified informant said today of the possible United States visit that "If President Truman invites them, of course they'll say 'yes.'"

HAVELOCK, July 5 (ENS)—Gunner Clarence J. Ellis, 209 Battery 79 Field Regiment, RCA, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis, who signed up for three years with the European Brigade, has been transferred to Shilo Camp at Manitoba for his basic training.

Fire Destroys Barn Threatens 3 Houses

LINDSAY, July 5 — A Manilla barn was gutted and three homes seriously threatened by fire of unknown origin Tuesday afternoon.

The barn was on the farm of Mrs. William Dixon. The three houses which caught fire at various times were owned by Ron Loxton, Mr. Lawton and Mrs. Dixon. All were extensively damaged. Two fire departments, Lindsay and Cannington, were kept busy trying to prevent the fire from spreading.

Mrs. Dixon was resting in her home when neighbors pounded on her door to attract her attention. Less than half an hour before the flames ravaged the barn, a woman who is living at the Dixon home had been out to the barn and she saw no sign of fire.

Two tons of coal and a quantity of hardwood stored in the barn were lost.

Five-Car Smash-up Injures Five People

LONDON, July 5. (AP)—Five Britons were fined £2 apiece today for taking part in a Communist outburst at a Fourth of July memorial service for American war dead.

The arrested men shouted "send the Yankees home" and "let's have freedom." Three of them threw Communist party leaflets into the crowd lining the street.

All were accused of using "insulting words and behavior likely to lead to a breach of the peace."

He said that the Iranian Ambassador in Washington had had a "serious offer from the second largest oil tanker company in the world" to transport oil for Iran's "National Oil Company."

Too Early To Be Sure Of Red Sincerity—Truman

WASHINGTON, July 5. (AP)—President Truman said Wednesday night it still is too early to tell whether the Communists mean business about calling off the war in Korea. And even if they do, he warned in a Fourth of July address, "We cannot ignore the danger of military outbreaks in other parts of the world." Leading the American celebration of Independence Day, Truman joined Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Defence Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson in broadcasting this message to the American people:

We dare not relax.

The President told a festive crowd of around 200,000 at the Washington Monument grounds:

"The greatest threat to world peace, the tremendous armed power of the Soviet Union, will still remain, even if the Korean fighting stops. . . .

Must Control Inflation

"We have the hard task of increasing production and controlling inflation in order to support the strong armed forces we must have for years to come."

Vinson broadcasting from the Surpeme Court Building, said that "the relaxing of our preparedness program—a little or more than a little — could have dire consequences."

His was an unusual address, since Supreme Court justices almost never speak publicly on issues affecting current legislation. The whole program of controls and defence spending now is before Congress.

In his speech, the President said "it may be" that the Communists have decided to give up their aggression in Korea.

"If that is true," he said, "the road to a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict is open.

"But we cannot yet be sure that the Communist rulers have any such intention. It is still too early to say what they have in mind.

"I hope these meetings will be successful.

"If they are not, it will be because the Communists do not really want peace."

May Send Force To Midle East

LONDON, July 5 (Reuters). — Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are considering proposals for sending token peacetime forces to the Middle East defence area, an authoritative source said today.

The Commonwealth defence ministers agreed in principle on the general problems of Middle East defence at last month's secret talks here but have still to make firm decisions on their respective contributions, he added.

The new Commonwealth effort when finally agreed would assist Britain to fulfill her obligations under the North Atlantic Treaty by strengthening peace-time defences of this strategic area.

Canada sent an observer only to the defence ministers' meeting as it is not directly interested in the Middle East because of commitments in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and elsewhere.

However, Canada is understood to be willing to help the Commonwealth effort by making essential military supplies available.

Heart Stopped For 12 Minutes

BOSTON, July 5 (AP).—Mrs. Helen Keith's heart stopped for 12 minutes on an operating table but she is alive today.

An account of the San Francisco woman's experience—how a surgeon maintained heart action and kept her alive by massaging the heart—was published today by Robert Bent Brigham Hospital.

The report was made by Dr. N. A. Wilhelm, director of the hospital.

In San Francisco, Mrs. Keith today said she is feeling fine and can do some housework.

She said she is well enough to walk about the house, and even short distances outside.

Few people have been revived when the heart has been stopped as long as Mrs. Keith's, the hospital said. "Not only had her heart stopped," Dr. Wilhelm's report said, "but it had gone into what is called 'ventricular fibrillation,' a final dying form of quivering commonly considered fatal. The period of arrest was eight minutes and the fibrillation four minutes."

Thursday morning Ridgway agreed to the Red suggestion that preliminary talks be held Sunday. Reliable sources said he would send three colonels. Two interpreters will accompany them.

Slow Withdrawal

Two powerful allied task forces on the central front began a slow withdrawal from the northern end of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang iron triangle, taking UN outposts with them. They had pushed 24 miles north of the 38th parallel and driven Chinese from the triangle's dominating hills, three miles south of Pyonggang.

One UN patrol probed into Kaesong beyond the western front Wednesday and found it deserted. A second patrol ran into Red troops two miles east of the ancient Korean capital.

Identity of those to make Sunday's trip has not been disclosed.

The emissaries will be three officers, none of higher rank than a Colonel. Their job will be to work out arrangements for the actual armistice talks, to be held in Kaesong Tuesday.

They will be accompanied by two interpreters and their pilots or jeep drivers. If they travel by road they will go in three jeeps, each flying a white flag.

MacMahon, and several other smaller bequests, the estate will go to Cameron Rougvie, a nephew and former reporter for the Ottawa Citizen.

Selective Buying Boosts Few Issues

TORONTO, July 5 — (CP) — Selective buying boosted a handful of issues upward as the session progressed on the stock market today.

Following Wednesday's trendless session, which was the quietest trading day this year, prices firmed at the opening and climbed ahead.

Activity continued at its extremely slow pace of the last two weeks. Volume for the first three hours of 471,000 shares was about 75,000 more than the same period yesterday.

In industrials papers, steels, textiles, banks, refining oils, liquors, manufacturing companies and retail stores showed a majority of gains. Utilities, agricultures, constructions and foods were mixed. Several issues moved more than a point but the section as a whole stayed in a narrow price path with little feature.

Golds developed mild support with some leading senior producers a little higher with a $1 jump. Several secondary golds added pennies.

Base metals and western oils were mixed with almost no trading.

Says British Men Afraid Of US Women

LONDON, July 5. (Reuters) — British men are afraid of American women.

That's the opinion of Carman Barnes, an American in Europe to study European men for a book she is writing.

Miss Barnes said today that British men find American women aggressive. "That's the opinion I have tried to correct," she added.

As a teen-ager Miss Barnes shocked polite American society by publishing a best seller, "The School Girl" describing the sex problems facing a girl at her first term in boarding school.

Now in her mid-30's, Miss Barnes interviewed many different types of men during her visit to Britain and concluded: "They still remain the world's best looking."

Two RCN Ships Join UK Fleet In Middle East

OTTAWA, July 5 — (CP). — The aircraft carrier Magnificent and the destroyer Micmac will join British Fleet units for late-summer training exercises in the Mediterranean — the first peacetime visit of Canadian warships to those Middle East waters.

The Navy announced today the vessels will sail from Halifax on August 7 on the 2½-month cruise.

Naval officers said there was no significance in the exercises, and that they were planned some time before the current Middle East tension arising from the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

There long have been reports —always denied here—that Britain has asked Canada to send military units to the Middle East.

The Navy said the ships will sail directly to Gibraltar for a four-day call before going on to Malta. While in the Mediterranean, they will exercise with units of the Royal Navy's Mediterranean Fleet. Further details of the cruise program, including ports of call, will be announced later.

The Magnificent is commanded by Commodore K. F. Adams of Victoria, and the Micmac by Lt.-Cmdr. F. C. Frewer of Toronto.

Will Give Supplies

The announcement coincided with a London report that Canada has offered to make essential military supplies available for Middle East defence. This report grows out of the recent London Commonwealth conference on Middle East defence. Canada attended the meeting as an observer.

Naval sources here said the Navy wanted to put the aircraft carrier Magnificent through flying exercises with British Fleet units. The Mediterranean offered the best weather conditions for flying and it was decided to send ships to that theatre.

Lindsay Police, Fire Forces To Get Radio

LINDSAY, July 5.—The Lindsay council authorized the purchase of a two-way radio for the police and fire departments at the July meeting.

The cost of the purchase is expected to be $3,300 including a unit for the fire truck. Twenty-five per cent of the cost will be paid by the Ontario Government. The actual purchase of the radio will be made by Ald. Speer, chairman of the police; Ald. Baker, chairman of town property and the police and fire chiefs.

Are You Going on Vacation?

Before going please tell your Examiner carrier when to restart your paper . . .

There are many reasons for not forgetting the carrier when vacation time rolls around. One is that papers piled up on the front porch are a tip to the break-and-enter experts.

There is the carrier's point of view, too. Wasted deliveries cost them money. Call the circulation department of The Examiner, 4641, and ask for delivery to be stopped until you return.

Subscribers who notify carriers of their vacation dates, or telephone The Examiner at 4641, will be assuring themselves of quick service on their return from holidays. Restart dates are filed at the office, and delivery starts immediately the subscriber returns.

This summer The Examiner is delivered to most summer resorts near Peterborough, where it is on sale at dealers or delivered by carriers on the day of publication. Call 4641 for full details of our summer resort service. If such is not available at your resort, the paper can be delivered by mail, anywhere in Canada, for 60 cents for two weeks, or $1.00 per month. The minimum mail subscription accepted is for two weeks.

Subscribers who wish to have papers mailed to their vacation addresses are requested to notify The Examiner not later than Thursday prior to the week-end they are going away.

Pilot Wounded Over Red Area Quebec Man Lands First Plane

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, KOREA, July 5 — (CP) — Imagine yourself a passenger in a light observation aircraft deep over enemy territory.

Imagine your aircraft being caught in heavy ack-ack, pierced and the fabric shredded from the frame under your seat.

Imagine the pilot being wounded in the back by the same ack-ack, made unconscious by his wounds and loss of blood.

Imagine him telling you to take over the aircraft.

And you've never flown a plane before.

That's what happened Tuesday to Capt. J. P. R. (Pat) Tremblay of Quebec City.

Tremblay returned today to headquarters of the Canadian 25th Infantry Brigade to take up his appointment as air liaison officer, after a brief instructional course with the United States Fifth Air Force, quiet- spoken as ever after his nerve-wracking experience.

Wanted Parachute

"The first thing I wanted to do after getting the feel of the control was to reach friendly territory, and just parachute down," said the para-trained officer.

"I thought the pilot was dead. But when I discovered he was still living I decided to try to make an airstrip.

"Those 45 minutes seemed like 45 hours, but just the same, as I got the feel of the aircraft, there was some thing of a thrill to it. But I was in a cold sweat the whole time."

The pilot recovered consciousness sufficiently over the airstrip to lend a hand, but the landing was complicated by a fighter which didn't see the emergency flares shot by ground control and continued its take-off.

The light plane bumped on landing, tipped over to the right just in time to avoid the fighter, then headed for a group of Korean workers building a wall.

The plane missed the workers but struck the wall and buckled.

Tremblay was able to extricate himself and help the pilot out before the craft burst into flames.

Though shaken, and in a state of nervous relief after his experience, Tremblay turned to a Colonel in the crowd of airmen facing him, saluted stiffly and, poker-faced as usual, said "Sir, I must report. . ."

Heading For Australia

ROME, July 5 (Reuters). — About 15,000 Italians are expected to emigrate to Australia within six months under a joint plan to shift many of Italy's 2,000,000 unemployed to Australia's labor-barren areas. An Italo-Australian emigration agreement, approved by the Senate Wednesday, will go into operation immediately.

TWO CAMPBELLFORD RESIDENTS had a lucky escape from serious injury Wednesday afternoon, when a car driven by Anthony Desbarbieux of Portage Avenue went out of control when he attempted to make a left turn off Pellissier St. onto Inkerman St. and rolled into Trout Creek. The driver and a passenger, Elmer Kelly, escaped uninjured, except for wet feet. The car came to rest on its side in about two feet of water. It was not badly damaged. Chief Constable George H. Hardy, shown looking at the car, investigated.

Cagney Decides Go Straight Crime Roles Out

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 5—(AP)—You probably never thought it would happen, but James Cagney is muscling out of the mob.

"Yes, I'm going straight," grinned the actor, without an ounce of menace. He admitted that he'll probably never do another gangster picture.

This marks the end of an era. Cagney was perhaps the screen's best-known mobster. His pre-eminence in the field dated back to "Public Enemy," which made him a star just 20 years ago. Although he made many non-criminal pictures, he was still firmly identified as a mug. In two of his last three pictures he portrayed a gunman.

"The gangster pictures were representative of an era," he observed. "But that era is over now. The Kefauver hearings on television helped end it. Nowadays if you did a picture about gangsters, you'd have to show the nationwide aspects of the rackets."

Also, today's crime picture might reasonably show the traffic in dope and its sale to teen-agers.

Cagney is making the transition from gangsterism with a newspaper role in "Come Fill The Cup."

After the film is over, the actor will return to his farm at Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

In a hilarious moment of "Here Comes The Groom," a character exclaims, "this is better than television." The remark is apt. If Hollywood had more pictures like this, it would have less worries about the upstart industry. This film is one of Bing Crosby's best, combining enough elements of entertainment to please the most jaded movie goer. The plot is a romantic mix-up with the groaner, Jane Wyman, Alexis Smith and Franchot Tone. Illogical? Yes, but still lots of fun. A needed assist to Crosby's film career.

Strikers Reverse Decision To Work

CHISTCHURCH, N.Z., July 5—(Reuters)—Dock strikers at Lyttelton, New Zealand's third largest port, today reversed their decision of Wednesday to return to work after receiving a telegram from Wellington unions asking them to stand firm.

An end to New Zealand's five-month-old labor war was predicted Wednesday when the 152 members of the de-registered Waterside Workers' Union at Lyttelton applied to join the new legal union.

The country's coal miners went back to work at midnight and industrial circles had believed the longshoremen would do likewise. The miners had gone on strike in sympathy with the longshoremen.

Swedish Furs

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Breeding of fur-bearing animals in Sweden, rapidly growing since its establishment in 1926, resulted in exports valued at more than $3,000,000 last year. Some 35,000 silver foxes and 25,000 blue foxes are bred annually.

Nothing Wasted

LONDON—(CP)—Two British firms have devised a scheme to save 200 gallons of sulphuric acid every week. The first firm uses it for etching steel parts and then sends it to the second firm which uses the solution for pickling steel tubes.

Van Doos Win Cassel's Praise

By BILL BOSS.

WEST SECTOR, Korea, July 5 (CP).—Gen. Jim Cassels today pronounced the 25th Canadian Brigade Group "absolutely first-rate" as he concluded a two-day visit to the formation.

It was the second visit by the commander of the impending Commonwealth Division to Brig. John Rockingham's force, and he visited all three Canadian infantry battalions.

With Rockingham, he followed two patrols from a handy observation post well ahead of forward lines and deep into buffer territory between the United Nations lines and the enemy's main line of defence.

Cassels said he found the "Van Doos"—the Royal 22nd Regiment—"absolutely out of this world."

On Monday, Dominion Day, both Cassels and Canada's birthday were feted at a cocktail party held by Rockingham. Lt.-Gen. Edward Milburn commander of the United States first corps, attended the function.

Bolt Hits Tree Two Cows Die

CAMPBELLFORD, July 5 — (ENS)—A severe electrical storm laced the Campbellford district with driving rain on Wednesday afternoon, and caused considerable damage in and around the town.

A two-and-a-half-year-old Jersey cow and a young Holstein seeking refuge under a large elm tree were instantly killed when a bolt of lightning struck, tearing a wide swath of bark from the tree for some 20 feet and dug a hold in the ground. The two animals, valued at $500 were owned by Mrs. Charles Cochrane and were in a field at the rear of the home of Tom Peake on Kent St.

A transformer at Parr's Corners, near Meyersburg, five miles south of Campbellford, was struck by lightning, causing a surge of power through the lines, blowing fuses in many homes. The surge then backed up on the lines and destroyed a number of hydro meters in the homes.

A local dairy was without power for a short period, when a transformer outside the building was reportedly struck.

Limbs from trees littered many streets, but no personal injuries were reported. The storm started in mid-morning and alternately grew and diminished in intensity until late afternoon, when it abated, only to resume its fury for a short period about 10 p.m.

Many standing crops were reported to be flattened on farms near Healey Falls, north of the town.

Technical Knowledge Said Greater In US

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., July 5 —(Reuters)— Sir Charles Goodeve, British expert home from a five-week study of the American steel industry, said here today that Britain's technical knowledge was the greater.

"Americans would not know how to make steel out of the raw materials we use," he added. Sir Charles is a native of Winnipeg.

American mills work with "the most marvellous raw materials," while poorer raw materials forced British manufacturers to drive ahead in technique, he contended.

Goodeve headed a 16-man team from the British heavy iron and steel industry which had visited eight principal American plants.

Great Lakes Command To Train Reservists

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP)—Establishment of a Great Lakes naval training command to give new navy reservists a start on sea training was announced today by the navy.

Cmdr. F. R. K. Naftel, commanding officer of the reserve naval division in London, Ont., has been appointed training commander.

The training force of six Fairmile motor launches will spend the summer on Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, Lake Huron and Lake Superior. Between July and Aug. 12, the flotilla will visit Toronto, Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur.

South Africa Has Bad Start

MANCHESTER, England, July 5 (Reuters) — South Africa won the toss and elected to bat on a damp wicket but got off to a disastrous start against England in the third cricket test at old Trafford here today.

The South Africans lost the wicket of their vice-captain, Eric Rowan, without a run being scored. Their other opening batsman, John Waite, went with 13 on the board.

At lunch they were 68 for three wickets. Captain Dudley Nourse was dismissed for 29, two runs earlier.

Alec Bedser, the Surrey fast-medium bowler, took all the wickets at a cost of 17 runs. Helped by a cross-wind, Bedser had all three caught in his leg-trap from his inswingers. Jack Ikin took two catches and Freddie Brown one.

Clive Van Ryneveld (31 not out at lunch), who had been promoted to No. 3 in the batting order, and Nourse helped partly to pull the game round with a stand of 53 for the third wicket.

Denis Compton failed to pass a fitness test this morning, and Tom Graveney, 24-year-old Gloucestershire batsman originally chosen as 12th man, came into the side for his first test match.

England and South Africa have each won one of the scheduled series of five matches.

Bill Includes Drastic Powers

CANBERRA, July 5 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies today introduced a bill in the House of Representatives giving powers far in excess of any previous peacetime legislation to control Australia's economy.

Called the "defence preparations" bill, it does not state specifically what the government intends to do, but the cabinet is given almost unlimited power to make emergency regulations for defence preparations.

Menzies also introduced a bill designed to alter the Australian constitution, giving parliament the power to implement its Communist party dissolution act, which the high court has declared unconstitutional.

Under the act the Communist party could be banned, its assets confiscated, and a list made of known Communists in key industries.

Before the bill can become effective it must be approved by the majority of the Australian states and voters in a referendum.

Government Surplus And Spending

There is a lot of talk about the Minister of Finance's big surplus for the first two months of the current fiscal year: April and May. Revenue exceeded expenditure by $275,400,000. In other words, the Government took from the taxpayers during the two months $275,400,000 more than it spent. This fact hits sorely, especially because of the higher taxes imposed by the new budget; and some of these higher taxes, for instance on income, are only coming into effect this month. What does the Government need more money for when it is already taking in more than it apparently needs? A surplus of a quarter of a billion dollars in two months is a whopping big surplus.

* * *

The surplus is not fixed and certain. The financial statement is only for two months out of twelve. During the next ten it could be eaten away. The fact is that always, in the Government's financial year, receipts outrun expenses in the first half; in the second half of the year the expenditures mount. For instance, in the last two years the Government surpluses announced in December were many tens of millions of dollars larger than the actual final surpluses at the end of March, when all the bills were in. The reason for this is that revenue budgeted for is fairly constant month by month, but that expenditures authorized in the budget are not made evenly. Machinery ordered, buildings erected, guns and planes being acquired: these are paid for on delivery, not at the time a department is authorized to get them.

* * *

A large percentage of Government spending this year is for military purposes. Defence production has been lagging behind orders. The rate is now increasing. By the end of the year the bills for delivered military goods will be heavy. Canada has a five billion dollar, three-year defence program. If a third of that sum is to come from this year's revenue, there will be no grandiose surplus. Mr. Abbott has budgeted for a thirty million dollar surplus over the entire twelve months. The surplus of $275,400,000 in two months can be whittled down during the next ten.

* * *

Real or seeming surpluses are invitations to spend. The money is on hand, and every government department smacks it lips and prepares to dig into it. That is the danger of budgetary surpluses: it is easy money. Judging from the speed with which members of Parliament voted millions on the last day of the parliamentary session (last Saturday), the M.P.'s are as reckless in spending as anybody else at Ottawa. As reported by the Kingston Whig-Standard's Ottawa correspondent, this was the situation in the last-minute rush to get home for the holiday:

Dr. George Davidson, deputy minister of welfare, was in an alcove behind the throne of Commons' Speaker W. Ross Macdonald, waiting for his departmental estimates to be called. That was to be his signal to enter the chamber and take a chair placed temporarily in front of the desk of Health and Welfare Minister Martin, so he'd be available to help Martin answer questions from the Opposition.

The estimates were called. Davidson entered the chamber briskly. But by the time he had walked the 50 feet to Martin's desk, the Commons had passed $450,000,000 of his estimates—mainly for family allowances—without asking a single question.

The same thing happened to Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board. Solandt was behind the curtains in the chamber, ready to walk to his seat in front of the desk of Defence Minister Claxton. He walked quickly down the aisle as soon as the D.R.B. estimates were called, but the entire D.R.B. budget of more than $35,000,000 had been passed before he reached his seat.

* * *

That is the way taxpayers' money is spent: vote the millions, and no questions asked. In fairness to the M.P.'s, it must be said that many of the matters on which the money is to be spent had already been debated weeks ago. However, it is a notorious fact that departmental heads like to have their estimates presented in the last hour of the last day, when everybody is tired of the parliamentary desk and eager to get home.

* * *

If the Government is to set an example of anti-inflationary saving, it should spend every five-cent piece with cautious reluctance. Perhaps the Government does not care about setting an example. The citizens have to spend their little carefully anyway: they haven't enough left over after taxes to be spend-happy. It is the Government that can be profligate, for it holds the money-bags.

Poor Help To The Backward

Three-quarters of the people of the world live in abject poverty. This is nothing new, but the condition has become politically important to the other quarter of the world's people. Communism feasts on poverty. It exploits underdeveloped countries and illiterate, under-nourished people. If political democracy is to be developed and Communism checked in countries like India, Pakistan and Ceylon, the people have to have better standards of living. They need food, machines to produce more food, machines to make those machines. They need skilled people, administrators, scientists, mechanics and artisans, to show the way to new methods and a better material life.

Out of this need—and the world-wide threat of Communist control—came the British Commonwealth's Colombo Plan, President Truman's 'bold new program' of economic development (Point Four of the U.S.A.'s foreign policy), and various efforts of U.N. organizations. President Truman's Point Four program to help undeveloped countries to their feet was announced more than two years ago. Eighteen months ago the late British Foreign Secretary, Mr. Bevin and other Commonwealth foreign ministers, met at Colombo, in Ceylon. They launched six-year programs for the economic development of South-east Asia. Point Four and the Colombo plan have not fulfilled the promise of the bold strokes of imaginative statesmanship made eighteen and twenty-four months ago. The chief reason has been Korea.

When the plans were projected, the West, particularly the United States, had a surfeit of goods and money and feared an economic recession. Large spending in the undeveloped countries would not only aid those countries; it would also give the West new outlets for goods and services. Korea and the formidable re-armament have created a scarcity of goods and services. There was no recession, no surplus. The United States in particular began to stock-pile. There was little left for Darkest Africa. First things were supposedly put first: national defence before international sustenance.

Has the ulterior political purpose of Point Four and the Colombo Plan been forgotten—their effect as checks on communism? Actually, Britain has gone ahead with spending on the Colombo Plan—she is contributing $840 million to the scheme—despite her enormous defence costs. Britain tends to take a longer view of such matters than the United States. This July 1st the Colombo Plan for South-East Asia came into force, but its operation will be feeble, unless more money, more goods, and more people are made available. Canada agreed a year ago to contribute $25 million during the first year of operation. It has made no commitments for other years.

What must be realized is that backward countries must be developed at the same time that the West arms itself. To win a war in Korea and let millions of other people in Asia be turned against us by poverty, ignorance and the wiles of Communists, is stupid politics on a grave, wide scale. In a very long view, it is suicidal. The world's population is growing at the rate of one and a quarter per cent. each year. Unless world production grows even faster, Asian and African hordes will be tearing at our throats. The under-developed countries must be shown how to produce more and given the means to do it. Their agricultural output alone could be doubled in twenty-five years, if the farmers in those areas were educated to use better seeds, and if fertilizers, pesticides and water were made available to them.

Whitesands For Unionists

The most expensive summer resort property in the entire Kawartha district, 'Whitesands', has been bought by the International Chemical Workers Union as a summer holidays retreat for its members. This luxurious property, developed four years ago as a swank resort and valued at $400,000 was sold to the Union for $140,000. The truth is that 'Whitesands' never was crowded with the idle rich; there were not enough of these rare birds to make the resort as profitable as its builders anticipated. But now 'Whitesands' is taking on a new lease of its life as a caterer to the well-to-do seeking repose and pleasure in agreeable surroundings. The members of this union will, we hope, enjoy their new summer home, and learn to love the Kawarthas as thousands of other visiting Americans do. As a matter of fact, some of the union members must already be familiar with the attractions of these lakes, as well as the conveniences and comforts of 'Whitesands', for they have put down $140,000 to acquire the exclusive resort.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An Illinois man was arrested for going about the streets without any clothes on. The technical charge, we understand, was female impersonation.

Shoe manufacturers report that women's feet are getting bigger. Having invaded so many male preserves, they are now getting ready to enter the police force.

How 'Reporting' Becomes 'Spying'

By G. V. F.
In The Montreal Star

ANY government which made a foreign correspondent of the Associated Press a member of its secret service,—that is to say, enlisted his services as "a spy"—would be out of its head. This should be fairly obvious. A newspaperman in a hostile country is a marked man from the moment he enters until the day he leaves. The police are on his tail all the time. To choose such a man as an espionage agent suggests stupidity of a high degree.

Because of this fact, apart from all others, it must be very much doubted if William N. Oatis, head of the Prague bureau of the A.P. is a spy at all. The fact that he has "confessed" his guilt means nothing. He probably is, unhappily, in for trouble and a jail sentence, but anyone who has studied Communist concepts of news and information, and their contrast with ours, will remain confident that Oatis has done nothing which, by our standards, is a crime. To understand the court proceedings at Prague it is necessary to realize that the word "spy" or "enemy agent" means something different to a Communist than it does to us, just as the word "democracy" means something different too.

THIS writer spent more than a month as a member of a U.N. Sub-Commission at Lake Success listening to the Soviet member expounding his views on "freedom of information." To the indoctrinated Russian, "news" is what a governments wants to see transmitted and published. It does not matter, to the Russian, whether that "news" is, in our sense of the words, "true" or "false." If it is government-sponsored, it is "true." If it is not, it is "false."

THIS is, of course, a concept of news wholly different from ours. When an event takes place in our country, a newspaper sends its reporters to report it. These reporters do their best to ascertain the facts, double-check as much as they can, bring the report back to their office where more checking takes place and, in due course, the story is published. This, from a Communist point of view, is an outrageous and dangerous procedure. In a Communist state nothing is published except what the Government wants published. Any other activities in this field are illegal and subversive.

What happened to Oatis, we surmise, is that he went to Prague and carried on his activities there in accordance with the concepts of news and information current in the free, western world. He found annoying difficulties in the way, and he doubtless considered it his duty to get round them if he could. Some of the details about the trial shed light on his activities. For instance, he used the telephone next door because he thought his own line was being tapped. He also got in touch with private citizens and asked them what was going on.

BOTH these activities were, from the point of view of the Communist state, dangerous and subversive. After some time during which the police must have built up an impressive dossier of such "crimes", they arrested him. They then spent the next two months questioning him, impressing him all the while with the fact that, under Communist news concepts, he was guilty. Oatis would obviously admit that, if that was the way their minds worked, he had done many things which a Communist reporter would never have dreamed of doing.

A little more pressure, a little less sleep and a little more hunger, and the day would come when William N. Oatis, seeing no end to his interrogation, would finally agree to admit his "guilt" as an "agent" and a "spy". And, indeed, if we accept the Communist concept of things, he was; though in our own land he would be nothing more or less than an honest newspaper joe, trying to do a routine job for the Associated Press.

THE ONLY way for a foreign correspondent to operate with reasonable personal safety behind the Iron Curtain is to stay home, and talk to no one except the appropriate officials of the Ministry of Information. These will provide him with his "news" and, if he wants to stay on the job and values his life, he will transmit the "news" he receives in the precise form in which he gets it from the government bureau.

Because William N. Oatis didn't do this, he got into trouble. Czechoslovakia is not much interested in Oatis. It is interested in giving a sharp lesson to foreign correspondents. It had tried expelling other reporters who did what Oatis did. When they were replaced by others who practised their normal news techniques, they decided on a sharper lesson. The result has been the Oatis trial.

Peace Rumours: Danger At Home

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

One of the gravest—perhaps the gravest—dangers which might arise from negotiations for peace in Korea, if they take place, would be found right here in Canada—and at home in other nations. It may not be readily perceptible to many, but it has been so clearly recognized in certain official quarters that it has been already referred to indirectly by a spokesman for the Federal Government, when assurance was given that there would be no relaxation of Canada's five-billion-dollar defence program because of the Russian proposal for armistice discussions. And the danger indicated is that if peace negotiations become an accomplished fact, there will be a tendency to become dissatisfied with the half-peace, half-war economy thrust upon them, with its attendant high taxation and economic restrictions.

Parents Know Better

(Sudbury Star)

Guelph police are engaged in an active drive against children using air guns and slingshots in that city, with the result that several children have been charged in the juvenile court, fined and the weapons confiscated.

As the law is enforced in Guelph, it is also required that the parents attend the court with their children, and we can see a great deal of merit in this requirement.

It is much easier for parents to see that their children do not possess air guns than it is for the police to go running around to answer complaints of their use. If the parents are neglectful, then it seems proper for them to appear in court with their offspring.

Children can be expected to suffer a lapse of memory, or a lack of knowledge of the law, but the same excuse cannot be used by parents who are mindful of their responsibilities.

The Aga Khan: A God Who Goes Racing

THERE is a contrast between the status of H.H. the Aga Khan in the Western and in the Eastern worlds. As the breeder of many classic winners (and of this year's Derby horse, Fraise du Bois), he has become so much a part of the Epsom scene that it would scarcely be complete without him. He is also the spiritual leader of several million Mohammedans of the Ismaili sect, who regard him in terms which might be compared to those with which Catholics would regard the Papacy, were that office to be hereditary.

Bookies who shout his name are unaware that in Bombay and Dar-es-Salaam there are people who scarcely dare whisper it. We are dimly conscious of something strange about this rich man from the East. Were we to think of him primarily as a spiritual leader, we might be puzzled by his residence on the Cote d'Azur, his repute as a financier, and his marriage to a fourth wife with recent and undeniable claims to have been the "Miss France" of her year.

It would be easy to think of the Aga Khan as merely a religious absentee-landlord, but if this were the whole truth, one would expect his followers to resent it. In fact, his prestige in the East is remarkably high. For more than sixty years, during which many beliefs and reputations have waned, the size of the Ismaili community has actually increased, notably in East Africa.

THE Aga Khan is Imam, or head, of a Moslem sect, which has, in the course of time, separated itself from the main body of Islam. The Ismailis are those who believe that a certain family are the direct descendants of the Prophet Mahomet, through his daughter, Fatima. The Aga Khan is held to be the Prophet's forty-ninth direct descendant.

Although he was born in Bombay, in 1875, his ancestors are not Indian, but Persian. For centuries they had great temporal power not only in Persia, but also in Egypt and Syria. The grandfather of the present Aga Khan married the Shah's daughter and the title Aga Khan, or Gentlemanly King, was conferred on him. He had certain difficulties with the next Shah and was obliged to take refuge in India, where he settled.

THE Aga Khan governs no territory, but his followers, whose number is not precisely known, include business men in India and landlords in Pakistan, poor herdsmen and hunters in the mountains, some of the little kings of Central Asia, and even citizens of the Soviet Union.

The Aga Khan himself and his more educated followers reject the idea of his divinity, but many of the more ignorant adhere to this belief. An English traveller was recently somewhat taken aback by finding a photograph of the Aga Khan as the central object in an Indian shrine. When he expressed surprise and said he had often seen its subject on a race-course, the local headman replied: "Why should not a god go racing?" If press-photographs suggest that the Imam is sharing in a bottle of champagne, his followers, who are required by the tenets of their faith to be total abstainers, may either believe that by a miracle the wine is turned in his mouth into water, or else that an acquaintance with pleasure is necessary to a full understanding of life.

Strict believers (who are not confined to the poor sections of his following) are convinced that the Aga Khan has the power to excommunicate, to forgive sins, and to relieve infirmities by his touch. Not only is it the duty of devout Ismailis to pay him regular tribute, but the faithful are willing to pay fantastic prices for a sip of the water he has used when sprinkling the bride and bridegroom at a marriage ceremony.

Periodically, the Aga Khan tours the Ismaili world, as he did last winter. In the great cities of the East, when his visits coincide with his anniversaries as Imam, he is weighed against precious stones and metals. In Bombay in 1946 it took £640,000's worth of industrial diamonds and brilliants to tip the scales, and the Ismailis of that city were by custom required to place an equivalent sum in their Imam's exchequer.

Each congregation of Ismailis has its own prayer-house. In these are read out the letters which the Aga Khan sends to his people, writing from Antibes and English country houses, to give advice on personal and social problems, and to forward the guidance which as Imam he receives from God. And from each headman to the Aga Khan's personal staff passes the stream of information which gives awed believers their conviction that the Imam knows everything.

In 1927 there was some unrest among Ismailis in India, expressing itself in a Reformers' Society. The movement seems to have made no deep impression, and would probably be even less successful now. For the Aga Khan has used a substantial part of his revenue to create within his scattered community some elements of a Welfare State. He has built schools and hospitals, endowed scholarships, and established loan banks.

This has won for him the respect of his more enlightened followers, many of whom believe him to have statesmanlike qualities. What seems to have impressed them most is the restraint with which he has used his authority.

To the Ismailis he has habitually recommended loyalty to the rulers of the countries where they live. Through most of his lifetime this has meant to most of them loyalty to the British Crown. He has been rewarded by the Imperial Monarch with the right to be called Highness and to receive a salute of eleven guns.

IT is here that one notices the fact which most sharply differentiates the present Imam from his predecessors (and will differentiate his successors, too, from him). His formative experiences came at a time when most of the Moslem world was either part of the British Empire or within its sphere of influence. But the Victorian age, apparently so stable, was in fact a time of transition leading to transformations. And the Aga Khan's story is an example of precisely this.

The highpoint of his early manhood was the night in 1895 when he sat beside Queen Victoria at dinner and found her "terribly kind." His first impact with Welfare State ideology came when he had tea with Florence Nightingale herself, who showed no foresight when she recorded: "A most interesting man, but you could never teach him sanitation." Again, his ample approach to the pleasurable side of life has a touch of those apparently settled and certainly gayer times. He has almost replaced the late Lord Lonsdale in our racecourse scene as the emblem of full-bodied contentment, although a much shyer and more prudent man than the Yellow Earl.

All this has led, fairly naturally, to his now facing the future with two sons, one half-Italian and the other half-French, who look to the United States with curiosity. His eldest son, Aly, whose marriage to Miss Rita Hayworth is again arousing popular interest, knows little of the Orient, and his second son, Sadruddin, is at present studying at Harvard.

But meanwhile the Moslem world has tended to move in the opposite direction—to self-government and a less direct connection with the West. It is improbable that the evolutionary direction even of Moslems in Kenya will resemble that to which the Imam's own family seems destined.

An Imam can choose his successor from among his relatives, and no doubt the Aga Khan will choose the wisest and most sober of them. But in the course of a generation or two, the choice of who shall be the Descendant of the Prophet Mahomet may lie between individuals who are virtually European or American by blood, and entirely so by upbringing and habitat. Even if East and West should not drift further apart, there is not likely to be another Imam with as settled and happy an outlook as the guest of Queen Victoria and the man who led in the great classic winners, Blenheim, Bahram, Mahmoud and My Love.

Wire-Tap Scheme Blocked

(Montreal Gazette)

The value of well-based criticism on the floor of Parliament of ill-advised measures was once again demonstrated this week. Sharp objection in the Commons brought about withdrawal of the proposal to legalize a fringe form of wire-tapping by police. The scheme was embodied in an amendment to the Criminal Code which would have authorized police to make continuous checks of the destination of calls made from phones suspected of being used for illegal betting, in particular for gambling on horse races.

It is gratifying that Hon. Stuart Garson, Justice Minister, should have hastened to drop the amendment so promptly and decisively when a hard core of opposition developed. At the same time it is curious that Mr. Garson should have gone so far as to include the proposal in draft legislation embracing various changes in the Code. This is emphasized by his own admission that it was requested by only one province (Ontario) and, inferentially, that he was by no means convinced personally as to its need or desirability.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare that thou mayest eat the passover? And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him. And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the guest chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples? And he will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us....

And in the evening he cometh with the twelve. And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me... And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat: this is my body.

And he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it. And he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.

Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it new in the kingdom of God. And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered. But after that I am risen, I will go before you into Galilee. (Mark 14: 12-15, 17, 18, 22-28.)

Letter To The Editor

WILL EXCHANGE SACHETS FOR BEADS

Sir: I have just received your local newspaper, The Peterborough Examiner. Before I lost my dear parents eight years ago, my home was in Peterborough, England. I was born in Peterborough. I have been an inpatient in these hospitals—also at a Royal Nursing Home, near Windsor. Was named after H.R.H. Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, who was Patron of the Home, but it was closed down just before the 1939 war.

Unfortunately, I had to enter these M.O.P. hospitals. I cannot walk; in nice weather I go about the gardens in my wheel chair. I have read the list of pen-friends in the paper. I am keenly interested in same. For many years now, beads have been unobtainable in England. No doubt they are plentiful in Canada. But I have learned that I cannot send money out of the country for same.

I also make pretty sweet lavender sachets with initials on. Perhaps many kind pen friends would like to make an exchange of loose beads for my pretty sachets. The pearl-like beads are what I am in need of for making coronets! necklaces! etc.!

In 1943, many Canadian troops were stationed quite near here. One visited this place and I made friends with him for several weeks. He kindly sent home for beads to enable me to carry on. Unfortunately I have lost his name and address. They were kind of imitation pearls, about the size of a pea, just the class of bead for my work. If, by chance he reads my name in your paper with the pen-friends, he and many others would be pleased to write me.

Her Royal Highness Princess Alice Countess and Lord Athlone had a personal interest in The Nursing Home and used to admire my pretty bead work. Your kindness will greatly oblige.

Yours ever respectfully,
JOHN JEFFERY,
In-Patient.
M.O.P. Hospital Ward D, Chepstow,
Mon., England.

"We, The People"

(Montreal Star)

It is hard to recall when, if ever, a party in power has taken a worse beating in a by-election than the Liberal party took last week. Almost eight years ago a somewhat similar situation developed when, within a week (in August, 1943) the Liberals lost four seats in by-elections. But the background was then somewhat different. A "Second Front" Communist candidate won in Montreal-Cartier. A Bloc Populaire candidate beat a Liberal in Stanstead, and on the prairies the Liberals lost Selkirk and Humboldt to two C.C.F. candidates.

But special war issues dominated those elections: in Quebec the soreness left by the conscription plebiscite was evident; in the West, there was a rising demand for the development of post-war programs.

These factors were absent Monday. The voters obviously turned out Monday to express bitter dissatisfaction with the Government. In all probability their hostility centred upon the high cost of living, and the Progressive Conservatives' stout advocacy of a program of controls, rejected by the Government, has now paid off richly at the polls.

Rude New Yorkers

(Montreal Gazette)

Some Canadian tourists have got the impression that New Yorkers are rude to Canadians. It is most unjust to accuse New Yorkers of such narrowness. New Yorkers are rude to everybody.

Dodgers Beat Giants Twice As Chicago Splits Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER.

If Brooklyn and Chicago White Sox fail to win major-league pennants, chalk one up against tradition.

Baseball history discloses that the team in first place after games of July 4 usually walks off with the flag. That is, roughly two-thirds of the time.

The White Sox joined the Dodgers as July 4 leaders Wednesday by splitting an American League doubleheader in Detroit while Washington's Senators stunned the Yankees with a sweep of their twin bill in New York.

Chicago won the second game 5-1 after losing a 6-3 opener to wrest first place in the American League from the Yankees by one-half game. New York dropped 9-6 and 6-5 decisions.

Brooklyn increased its first-place margin in the National to 6½ games over New York, thumping the Giants twice, 6-5 in 11 innings and 4-2.

Red Sox Take Two

Boston's third-place Red Sox climbed to within 2½ games off the American League pace, winning two in Philadelphia, 9-0 and 9-5. Cleveland helped tighten the race even more by sweeping a pair in St. Louis, 6-5 and 4-3 in a 15-inning marathon.

St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Cubs in Chicago, 10-5. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was rained out. Philadelphia moved into fourth place, beating the Braves in Boston twice, 4-1 and 3-1.

Pittsburgh moved to within three games of seventh place with a pair of wins against Cincinnati, 4-1 and 16-4.

In Wednesday's opener the Dodgers trailed 4-0 going into the eighth. Homers by Campanella and Pee Wee Reese made it 4-3. Gil Hodges' single tied it 4-4 in the ninth and chased starter Sal Maglie.

Bobby Thomson slammed his fourth homer in as many games in the top of the 11th off Preacher Roe to give the Giants a 5-4 lead. But a double by Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson's single tied the score in the Dodgers' half. An error and Roe's squeeze bunt enabled Robinson to score with the winning run.

Nine-hit Victory

Veteran Joe Dobson pitched the White Sox into first place with a nine-hit victory over the Tigers, but he needed help from Marv Rotblatt. Al Zarilla's two-run homer featured a four-run first-inning blast against Dizzy Trout. Detroit's Hal Newhouser, aided by Hoot Evers' three-run homer, outpitched Randy Gumpert in the opener.

Gil Coan hamfnered two three-run homers off Vic Raschi and Joe Ostrowski to lead the Senators to the first-game win over Yankees. Superb relief pitching by Mickey Harris enabled the Nats to make the sweep.

Ralph Kiner blasted homers No. 18 and 19—one with the bases loaded and the other with two on—to spark the Pirates to their double win. The second game was stopped by rain after 5½ innings.

The doubleheader was played under Red manager Luke Sewell's protest that Kiner was playing while under suspension for "pushing and shoving" umpire Jocko Conlan in Tuesday's game with the Chicago Cubs. Word of Kiner's three-day suspension was not received until the game had been under way. President Ford Frick said it would be effective as of today.

DROPO BELOW—Walt Dropo is attemping to regain his batting eye with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. With the Red Sox last season, the big Connecticut alumnus was the All-Star first baseman and the American League's Recruit-of-the-Year.

Big Citation Comes Through, Captures Race

By PETE ARTHUR.

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 5 — (AP).—Whatever suspicion there may have been that Citation would never bank a million dollars for his Calumet Farm was almost entirely dispelled today.

Running the rest of a fine field into the ground, Big Cy won the $50,000 American Handicap at Hollywood Park Wednesday and there were mighty cheers and a few tears among the sentimental in the holiday crowd of 54,700.

It was the sort of race that Citation and the crowd loves—close into the stretch with a drive to the wire. There were hints that Bewitch, Citation's six-year-old stablemate who was a half length back, might have won under more pressure.

Caller's Comments

The chart caller, whose remarks are as official as anything at the track, put down Citation's finish as driving, Bewitch's as handily, and said the fleet mare "was not excessively persevered with at the end."

But to the crowd it was a smashing Citation triumph, which put him a mere $14,240 short of his goal of a million dollars. His Independence Day win was worth $33,050, which brought his earnings to date to $985,760.

He can go far over the top a week from Saturday if he wins the $100,000 gold cup, and as of today he's the horse to beat.

Citation's time for the mile and one-eighth was 1:48 2-5, just two-fifths off the track record set last year by Noor.

Von Nida, Adams Leading Field

PORTRUSH Northern Ireland, July 5 (AP).—Jimmy Adams of Scotland and Norman Von Nida of Australia today led the field for the British open golf championship. Both had a gaudy 68.

But they will have to keep going at full blast to stay in the lead, because Bobby Locke, the South African automaton who is seeking his third straight championship got home in 71, three strokes off the pace in the first round.

That's nothing for moon-faced Bobby, and it could be that he's just warming up to his task. Max Faulkner of Britain also had a 71, while just ahead of them at 70 were Dai Rees of Wales and Peter Thomson of Australia.

Frank Stranahan, the Toledo, O., muscleman, had to shoot a sub-par round today to stay in the running. One more bad round and the leaders will be too far away for him to catch in the 36-hole final grind over the treacherous Portrush course Friday. In his first 18 holes yesterday he posted a 37-38—75—far off the pace.

Adams, who is almost as big as Tony Galento and Von Nida, who looks as though he could fit in big Jimmy's pocket, were fortunate in that they started late Wednesday when the worst of the winds had died down. The others were the victims of high breezes.

Panter To Manage Sudbury Civic Arena

SUDBURY, July 5 (CP). — George Panter, business manager of the Ontario Hockey Association has been appointed manager of Sudbury's new $1,200,000 civic arena. Applications for the position came from as far away as California.

Mr. Panter, a past president of the Ontario Hockey Association, met the seven-man arena commission at a luncheon Wednesday where his appointment was approved.

There were 32 applications for the job but Panter did not apply. His duties begin immediately.

He will be responsible to the commission but will have a free hand in allotment of time, selection of attractions and other arena matters.

THAT'S ALL, BROTHER—Umpire Al Barlick makes the gesture indicating that Gil Hodges, the Dodgers' league-leading home run manufacturer, has been caught looking at a called third strike for the third out of the ninth inning of a game with the Giants at the Polo Grounds. New York Catcher Wes Westrum holds the ball and looks down at third base, where the tying run died. The Giants nipped the first place Dodgers, 5-4.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Staffords of Toronto consistently give Oshawa Merchants stiff tests in the Viaduct Major League ball meetings. The second-place Merchants prefer to meet any other club — with the possible exception of the loop-leading Petes — than Staffs. Yet, the Petes haven't found Staffords too tough so far this diamond season, though that could change as the schedule progresses. These two teams tangle here tomorrow night at 8.30 under the Riverside lights, provided it doesn't come down rain, hail or some such. With no senior lacrosse on here that eve, the ball game should draw a big Friday night crowd.

* * * * * *

While the senior gutted-stickers are away on the morrow, Lou Vitarelli's junior OLA-ers have a home joust at 8.45 in Miller Bowl. It's against Toronto Maitlands, a regular group game. Lou's lads are presently atop the heap with five wins in six starts, and have looked impressive in their matches on local terrain. The team has speed, size and condition, with plenty of lacrosse savvy. Most of 'em are sure-fire seniors in another few years. Maitlands play a scrappy brand of the game, and the tilt tomorrow, might be right interesting. It deserves a goodly gallery.

* * * * * *

It's One Of The Finest

Jim Hendy of the Cleveland Barons in the AHL — he hails originally from Vancouver and gets around plenty — remarked when he was here recently that Miller Bowl was one of the finest lacrosse bowls in the country. Since it was fixed up again this spring, it is really a swell spot for the sport. Box lacrosse started as an experiment in 1930 and caught on strong the next year, and that's when Peterborough took up the game. Field lacrosse here had lain dormant for some years, but we've never been without the boxla variety since then, except during the war years. Had intermediate, senior "B" and now senior "A," as well as junior and minor teams. That sport definitely is here to stay for a long spell.

* * * * * *

Much of the credit for putting the game over here goes to Doug Miller, member of the city council for several years. We recall how he urged our columnistic support at the start when Doug was an enthusiastic player at nights after building boats for the Canoe Co. during the days. They played first in the Brock and at Riverside ere building the bowl on its present site. That was torn down during the war but Doug and seven other enthusiasts backed bank notes —when the council declined to aid financially—and built the present bowl. It was paid off in quick fashion as big crowds viewed the games. And the club decided to call it Miller Bowl because of Doug's tireless efforts on behalf of the game. A fitting tribute.

* * * * * *

And The Rains Came

No senior lacrosse game here last evening. Heavy rains through the day ruined the ground and the executive called it off during the afternoon, saving St. Catharines a trip for nothing. A tough break, as a meeting between the Saints and the Petes would have packed the place, no doubt. A lot of Americans are over in this district now, and many of them enjoy the rugged gutted-stick game. A different brand is played sparingly, mostly by colleges, across the line, except for a bit of border lacrosse. The Petes play in Fergus this Friday eve, and are at Mimico next Wednesday, the first home fray being listed for Friday with Hamilton Tigers the visitors. Don't know yet when the locals will try to work in their postponements.

* * * * * *

Water replaced softball in the Bowl d'Ashburnham last damp evening and the two scheduled girls' games were washed out. Westclox are slated to play on the morrow down Cobourg way, and the lasses' schedule winds upon July 20, just two weeks from tomorrow. Hard to say this a.m. if the weather will clear up enough for the two men's melees at the Bowl this eve, Lakefield vs. UEW at seven, followed by Orphans vs. Revoy's. This schedule has only a week and a half to go now, though both Bowl loops have several postponements to work in ere playoffs commence. Rainy weather certainly upsets sports. A raft of 'em were called off last gloaming.

Wings, Ottawa Divide Doubleheader

By The Associated Press.

Ed Mierkowicz' serious injury marred the July 4th program in the International League. The 27-year-old Rochester outfielder suffered a skull fracture when hit on the head by pitcher Andy Tomasic in the first game of a doubleheader.

Mierkowicz was reported in "satisfactory" condition after an emergency operation Wednesday night. He was on the operating table for more than an hour.

Rochester won that first game from Ottawa 5-0 on knuckleballer Bob Tiefenauer's three-hitter for their seventh straight win.

Ottawa came back to take the second game 6-3 knocking out Kurt Krieger in a four-run third inning.

Split Twin Bill

Buffalo maintained second place by winning the second game from Baltimore 6-3 after losing the opener 9-8. The split left the Bisons 10½ games behind the idle Montreal Royals whose doubleheader at Syracuse was rained out.

Frank Carswell's three-run homer in the fifth helped Buffalo win the second for Lynn Lovenguth. Catcher Jack Tanner hit a grand-slam homer to cop the opener for Baltimore.

Vern Fear threw a one-hit shutout at Toronto as Springfield won the second game 2-0 for a holiday split. Hal Hudson blanked Springfield with three hits in the 4-0 opener. Les Fleming's leadoff single in the eighth spoiled Fear's no-hitter. He had retired 19 men in succession after walking a batter in the first.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Representatives of nine central and western Ontario clubs will meet in Toronto Monday to discuss the future of Ontario Hockey Association Major and Senior leagues.

Represented at the meeting will be Toronto Marlboros, Hamilton, Kitchener, Niagara Falls, Brantford, Owen Sound, Stratford, Chatham and Sarnia.

Included on the agenda will be a suggestion by Harold Ballard, Marlboro president, that all the teams play in the same group until the playoffs and then the first two teams fight it out to decide the major team in Alexander Cup playdowns. The rest of the teams would then play off from senior Allen Cup competition.

Decision on whether to enter the major series must be made by the OHA by July 15.

Tom Kalmanir, speedy halfback with the Los Angeles Rams, has signed a 1951 football contract with Ottawa Rough Riders.

In making the announcement, coach Clem F. Crowe said, "Kalmanir is a very fast man. He has a mark of 9.8 seconds for the 100 yards and that is real speed."

Members of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club will be presented with gold cuff links and cigarette lighters bearing the city crest to mark their Stanley Cup victory last spring, Board of Control decided Wednesday.

Some controllers objected to giving both gifts—at a total cost of about $300—but approved the move after Controller John Innes said he thought the gift of cuff links alone was "pretty small."

The big fish that an Arlington, Mass., fisherman ate Tuesday was not the biggest golden trout in the world.

Charles Cleveland landed a 10¾-pound, 30-inch Salmo Agua-Bonita (golden trout) Sunday in Lake Sunapee, near Washington, NH. Because he was not aware of its near-record proportions, he ate it.

Dr. H. H. MacKay, biologist in the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, checked the records Wednesday and discovered that an 11-pound, 28-inch golden trout was caught Aug. 5, 1948, in Cooke Lake, Wyo.

There are no such fish in Canada, Dr. MacKay said.

Merrill Barber of Brattleboro, Vt., soared 116 feet in pelting rain Wednesday to capture the fourth annual Lake Placid summer ski jump tournament. Skiers use the jump coated with powdered ice.

Art Devlin of Lake Placid leaped 112 feet for second place.

Toronto's fifth-place Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League will have new owners within the next few days, president Don Ross announced on Wednesday.

In an interview, Ross said he was selling most of his stock in the club and that two or three other club directors would also sell. He declined to name the buyers.

Arise, from the Toronto Addison Stable, one of the top handicap horses last season, captured the 51st running of the seven-furlong Carter Handicap before a crowd of 34,065 at Aqueduct on Wednesday.

Woollens Victors

Woollens yanked out at 14-10 fastball victory over McGinness with five runs in the top of the eighth. They were fairly even in hitting and fielding, with the trailer men booting a couple of costly ones in the eighth. Hill drove a long ball to right for a homer. The winners used three twirlers, Brooks, Doris and Coughlin, the latter going nicely in the last four heats. Sabourin pitched the distance for the losers. Teams:

Woollens: Weichorek, 3b; Nokes, c; E. Leonard, 2b; Anderson, ss; Manbeck, cf; Boriand, rf; G. Leonard, 1b; Hillier, lf; McMillan, rf; Brooks, p; Doris, p; Coughlin, p.

McGinness: Metcalfe, c; Ferguson, 3b; Killingbeck, 2b; Leether, 1b; Caccavella, rf; Gordonier, cf; Wellwood, ss; Hill, lf; Sabourin, p.

Welland Golfer Makes Showing

MISSISSAUGA GOLF CLUB, Toronto, JULY 5 (CP).—The Canadian bid for the Canadian open golf championship got surprising support Wednesday from a 29-year-old native of Welland, who now plays out of the Frontier Country Club at Youngstown, NY.

Bill Kozak, whose parents still live in Welland, shot a 68, four under par, over Toronto Mississauga's rain-drenched course.

A part-time performer of the United States tournament circuit last winter—he played in five competitions in the south—Kozak said the 32-36—68 was his best score in tournament play.

He caddied at Welland and learned the rudiments of golf there before heading for the US in 1946 after serving in the Canadian Army.

A score of 270 or 271 will win the open, Kozak predicted, and "I expect to have another good round Thursday," although he feels that his 68 isn't a glittering score to put beside those of the leaders.

Ferrier Heads Par-Shattering Golf Assault

By FRASER MacDOUGALL.

TORONTO, July 5 (CP). — The rain-drenched fairways of the Mississauga Golf Club braced themselves today for another assault by some 190 competitors in the Canadian open golf championship, fresh from as furious a par-shattering open day as the 42-year-old tournament has seen.

Defending champion Jim Ferrier headed the 34-man group—close to one-sixth of the field—who completed the first 18-hole round of the 72-hole classic in better than par 72.

Ferrier's smooth work on the greens gave him a dazzling 65 — seven strokes under par—and ranked him as the man to beat in the four-day $15,000 tournament.

But the native of Australia who now plays out of San Francisco faces strong threats from more than a score of challengers whose play crackled as crisply as the thunder and lightning accompanying heavy rain which doused the 6,543-yard course at intervals in the afternoon.

Three players challenged Ferrier with 66s, one had a 67, eight scored 68, five finished in the 69 class. Nine more had 70, and seven had 71.

Hole-In-One

Lanky Dick Borthwick from Hamilton Ancaster added to the opening day excitement with a hole-in-one, the second in the Canadian open. Borthwick, who carded a 72, canned his tee shot on the 185-yard 14th hole. The open's previous ace was shot by Lou Cumming of Toronto Golf Club at Montreal Beaconsfield in 1946.

Murray Tucker, pro from London Sunningdale, headed the Canadian entries with a 68 in an eight-way tie for sixth place — three strokes off Ferrier's pace.

Another Canadian, Henry Martell from Edmonton, was right behind with 69. The former Canadian amateur champion played a consistent 34-35 game to get into a five-way tie for 14th place.

A Canadian led the amateurs—Nick Weslock of Windsor Essex, runner-up to Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver for the Canadian amateur title last year. He came around in 70.

Ferrier's closest challengers were Texans—Chuck Klein, San Antonio, Jack Burke Jr., Houston and Fred Hawkins, El Paso. Each produced a 66. Behind them came Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., with a 67.

Eight players were bunched at the 68 mark with Tucker—Steve Doctor of Kane, Pa.; Bill Kozak, native of Welland, Ont., who plays out of Youngstown, NY; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass; Johnny Palmer, Badin, NC; Doug Ford, Willows, NY who shot a 61 in a practice round over Mississauga Monday; and Smiley Quick, Pasadena, Calif., winner of the Ontario open championship last week.

Ferrier's 65 equalled the competitive record for the Mississauga course—set by Ben Hogan in 1942. Among many of the players, there was a feeling that even the Canadian open record of 268 set by South Africa's Bobby Locke in 1947 might fall by the end of the week.

The field for today's 18-hole round is unchanged from Wednesday barring withdrawals. Friday it is cut to 100 and ties for the third round. Saturday it is cut to 60 and ties for the last 18.

Princess Keeps Tradition Visiting Canada

OTTAWA, July 5 —(CP)—Like great - grandfather, grandfather and her father, Princess Elizabeth is to pay an official visit to Canada.

It has been announced that accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, she will make a coast-to-coast tour this October.

King Edward VII was the first member of the royal family to come to Canada.

Before the turn of the century, when he was Prince of Wales, he visited this country and, in one of his official acts, laid the cornerstone of the old House of Parliament in Ottawa.

Visits to Canada have been a practice of the royal family ever since.

King George V, while still a duke, followed up with a trip in 1901. Many Ottawa old-timers recall the gay time of the visit of the Duke of Cornwall and York and his duchess, the present Queen Mother Mary.

Lumberman's Welcome

Canada's capital then was in the heart of the lumbering industry. The committee responsible for entertaining the royal couple gave them a lumberman's welcome.

They were taken on a car specially built for the occasion—and named the "Cornwall and York" —by the Ottawa Street Railway to the Ottawa River. There they schussed the Chaudiere timberslide on a square timber raft, winding up at a lumberman's shack where they were feted on shanty-baked beans.

The shack later became known throughout the Ottawa valley as the "Royal Shanty."

During the 1920s three visits were made to Canada by Edward, Prince of Wales—now the Duke of Windsor. Last year the Duke returned for an unofficial visit to his ranch at Pekisko in southern Alberta where he had hobnobbed so gaily with western ranchmen in the days of his young manhood.

The last royal visit to Canada was the four-week tour of the King and Queen in May, 1939. It probably surpassed in enthusiastic response any of the previous royal visits.

Difficult Operation

NEW DELHI—(CP)—A Former malaria-ridden jungle in the Nainital area of Upper Pradesh is humming with agricultural activity. Government tractors reclaimed more than 80,000 acres and altogether it is expected 120,000 acres will be turned into good farm land.

South Korea Modifies Stand

PUSAN, Korea, July 5 (Reuters).—The South Korean government today appeared to have climbed down on its flat opposition to peace talks with a statement that it "does not necessarily oppose a cease-fire."

"But," a spokesman said, "the government certainly does not agree with the re-establishment of the 38th parallel (the old North-South frontier line)."

The statement was the first indication that the government had modified its stand. President Syngman Rhee's advisers were reported persuading him to change his unconditional resistance to any cease-fire which did not unite Korea.

The spokesman said the government believed Chinese troops should be withdrawn from Korea as the prime condition of the armistice.

An "acceptable line," as the basis for the cease-fire, would run from Sinanju in the west to Wonsan; in the east, the spokesman said.

Sinanju is about 110 miles north of the 38th parallel and 40 miles north of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. Wonsan is 80 miles north of the parallel.

Philip Stoker On Only Trip To Canada

HALIFAX, July 5 — (CP) — A Halifax couple recalled Wednesday that the last time Prince Philip visited this port he had callouses on his hands as a result of a stint of duty as stoker on a crew-short wartime transport.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Creighton heard with interest their one-time sailor guest was coming to Canada in October with Princess Elizabeth.

The last time he was here was in July, 1941. He arrived with a group of junior officers on the Empress of Russia. This transport had been short of stokers and the young officers, including Prince Philip, had worked up some large-sized blisters and callouses filling in as volunteers.

They spent a warm Sunday in Halifax and Prince Philip was taken to the nearby beach resort for a swim. The next day he joined a British naval vessel and returned to active duty in the war zone.

It is believed that this was his first and only visit to Canada.

Misener Loads Record Cargo

PORT ARTHUR, July 5 (CP)—The Scott Misener, biggest Canadian freighter on the Great Lakes, completed her maiden voyage Tuesday and began loading a probable record grain cargo here Wednesday.

The 654-foot Colonial Steamship vessel, christened two weeks ago, was captained on her maiden voyage by John Misener, 30-year-old son of Colonial president Scott Misener, and Captain James S. Walton, of St. Catharines.

Capt. Misener said the shake-down cruise, which included a voyage from Toledo, O., to Sault Ste. Marie, with 12,000 tons of coal, was "excellent."

George McIvor, of Winnipeg, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, uncapped a grain spout at the Port Arthur elevator to start loading of the 7,000-ton ship's first grain cargo.

FISHING LUCK along the Otonabee River was exceptionally good over the weekend near Wallace Point. While casting Kenneth Williams (left), 109 Chester Ave., Toronto, hooked and landed the 36-inch 'lunge on the opening day. Dette Guenther (right), 1079 Market St., Meadville, Penn., battled with his 5½-pound large mouth green bass after he hooked it while trolling. Besides these, the party also caught seven pickerel, one weighing four pounds.

First Barrel Race Planned At Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 5 (CP)—There's a good chance that thrill-seekers can watch the world's first barrel race over Niagara Falls this August, it was learned Wednesday.

Leslie Sander, 36-year-old interior decorator from New York City, is planning a trip over the falls on Aug. 5 in a 12-foot, double-hulled barrel.

Wednesday, veteran riverman William (Red) Hill indicated there was a strong possibility that he might try a trip over the falls the same day.

Rain Seriously Affects Ontario Hay Harvest

TORONTO, July 5— (CP)—Recent rain storms throughout most of the province have seriously affected the hay harvest, the Ontario Department of Agriculture said Wednesday in its weekly crop report.

Despite the setback in harvesting, hay is in good supply and a bumper crop is expected, the report said.

Other crops in the province have benefitted by the rain storms. Excellent pastures have been reported from all counties. Fall crops may be harvested earlier than usual because of increased growth.

Demand for livestock remained high with good prices recorded. Milk and cheese production was high in most parts of the province.

Green Stuff On Ponds Won't Harm Humans

TORONTO, July 5 — (CP) — Algae, the green gooey stuff that floats on ponds and sloughs, won't harm humans unless it's decomposing. Then it's just a nuisance —it stinks.

Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, Ontario Minister of Health, said Wednesday:

"Most algae—generally green in color—are entirely harmless and they are not objectionable except for appearance and taste given to the water . . . It may drift into a shallow bay and decompose with the result that offensive odors are given off. It is a fresh water growth and will not occur in water which is heavily polluted."

Dr. MacKinnon added, however, that a certain type of algae, blue-green in color, is sometimes poisonous to cattle and other animals when it starts to rot.

Engine Derailed

HAMILTON, July 5—(CP) — A Canadian National Railways Toronto-Chicago passenger train was delayed more than two hours at Hamilton junction Wednesday night when the engine was derailed. No one was injured. Another engine was coupled to the train and continued on the trip to Chicago.

Dies After Accident

BRANTFORD, July 5—(CP)—Reginald Morley, 19, of Norwich, died Wednesday half an hour after his motorcycle was in collision with a truck seven miles west of Burford village. Martin Pinter, R.R. 3, Burford, driver of the truck, said he turned off the road when he heard a crash, the cycle had struck the right rear of the truck.

King's Printer Dies

TORONTO, July 5—(CP) — Robert B. Magill, assistant King's Printer at Queen's Park or 38 years, died Wednesday. He retired in 1947.

Court Allows Woman Proceed With Suit

TORONTO, July 5 (CP)—The Supreme Court of Ontario Wednesday ruled that the Cornwall housewife will be allowed to proceed with a damage action against the city of Cornwall despite the fact that the renewal period for her writ of summons has lapsed.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, in a written judgment, said he was not forbidden by law to "do obvious justice" in, allowing Mrs. Irene Robinson to sue the city for damages as a result of a fall on an icy sidewalk last winter.

He said Harold Sutton, an insurance adjuster for the city, had asked Mrs. Robinson's lawyer to withhold renewal of the writ past the period allowed during settlement negotiations.

The fact that the city had asked for the delay made it unreasonable for it to object to a renewal after the customary expiry period, he said.

Curve Control is a subject many of us women are interested in — for the best of reasons. But there's one kind of curve that ALL women are anxious to keep in hand . . . the Cost-of-Living curve. With every month showing that living costs require more 'n more of our hard-earned dollars, something needs to be done. Fortunately, a ready remedy exists—Personal Planning, the BANK OF MONTREAL's answer to out-of-line budgets. This exciting method of family-financing will not only make your living costs toe the line but will help you save money! Start your family off on Personal Planning without delay. There's an interesting free booklet on the subject awaiting you at your neighbourhood branch of the B of M. Pick up your copy tomorrow!

"A Thing Of Beauty Is A Joy Forever", and I don't know of anything that looks more beautiful than a long row of sparkling, home-made jams and jellies. 'Course, the family won't want to just look at your gems of goodness, so you'll want them to taste just as refreshing, just as wonderfully tangy as freshly picked fruit itself. And that's where CERTO LIQUID PECTIN comes in — to help you make the most true-to-the-fruit jams and jellies ever — in one third the former long boil time too! And what a relief to know that if you follow the simple directions exactly (they're found in the booklet under the label of each Certo bottle) the results are consistently sure! You'll find with Certo you'll get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

There's Happiness Ahead for this designing bride! Deb-and-fashion-model Nina Spencer had modelled a hundred wedding gowns, but when she married James Locke, she designed her own . . . a gown as radiant as her Woodbury-beautiful complexion! Sleek And Slim as a willow wand . . . that's how every woman wants her figure to look. Ain't yet how often we take chances with embarrassing bulges and awkward revealments at certain times of the month. Seems silly, doesn't it . . . when there's TAMPAX to provide sanitary protection by a completely invisible method? Based on the medically familiar principle of internal absorption, Tampax is made of pure cotton, has a dainty, one-time applicator and comes in Regular, Super and Junior sizes. Showers, swims, the scantiest sports apparel . . . it's all the same when you wear Tampax . . . your secret is kept because your sanitary protection is worn internally! Tampax is sold at drug and notion counters everywhere.

"Rise And Shine" . . . with a wonderful breakfast of 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat"! This breakfast treat is so smooth and delicious, it's guaranteed to wake any heavy-eyed sleepyhead! Easy to prepare, too — for 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" cooks to tempting perfection in just five minutes of boiling. And — remember, "Cream of Wheat" gives you Iron necessary for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Remember, too — that "Cream of Wheat" costs less than a penny a bowl, and that the words "Cream of Wheat" and the "Cream of Wheat" Chef are registered trademarks of The Cream of Wheat Corporation.

I Thought "I'd Seen Everything" that those wonderful Blue Bonnet folks could give me . . . but now they've come up with something new in the way of packaging . . . pound boxes of BLUE BONNET De Luxe MARGARINE pre-cut in quarter pounds . . . plus, of course, separate colour tabs for each quarter pound! Just think! There's real flavour protection — each quarter-pound separately wrapped to seal in the country-fresh Blue Bonnet flavour. And cooking convenience, too! Measuring guide in package makes it so much easier to measure pre-cut quarters. Then when you're colouring your De Luxe Blue Bonnet for table use, just colour as much or as little as you need . . . unused quarters stay wrapped, keep fresher! Get flavour, nutrition and economy in the new Blue Bonnet De Luxe Margarine!

Courtesy doesn't add anything to the high quality or superior value of the food you buy at A&P.

But it is the ingredient that makes your shopping trip a pleasant experience rather than a tiresome task.

That is why the men and women who operate your A&P work hard not only to give you prompt and efficient service, but to be courteous and friendly, as well.

They know that even the pressures of rush-hour shopping are no excuse for rudeness.

Fainting In Armed Forces Not Hangovers Doctor Says

LONDON, July 5 — (AP) — A medical expert came forward Wednesday with an answer to Britain's mystery of the swooning soldiers. He said the reason is a rush of blood to the feet.

Dr. Edward Sharpey-Schafer, professor of medicine at St. Thomas Hospital, said the cure is to stop making parade ground warriors stand at rigid attention.

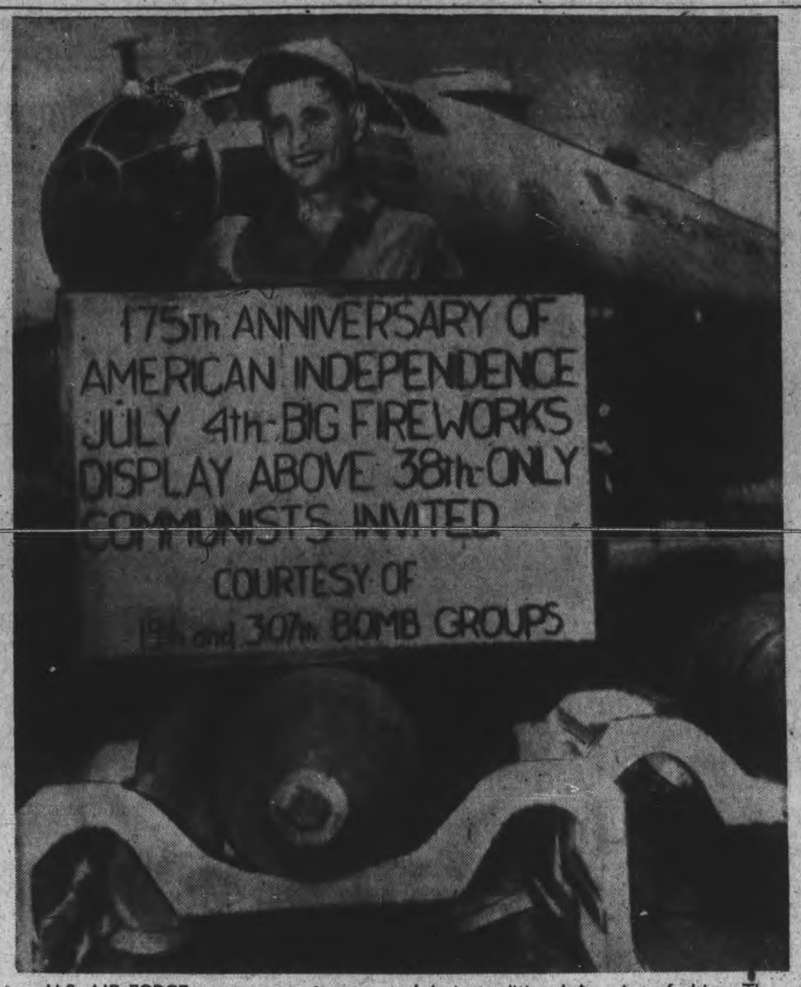
The recent fainting epidemic at army, navy and air force formations was climaxed by the death of a soldier whose bayonet pierced his throat as he fell. In another instance, nearly 100 girls hit the ground at a formation of navy women.

Many of the fainters have been punished by their officers on the official theory that the swoons were caused by hangovers.

Not so, said Sharpey-Schafer in a letter to The Times.

"The faint," he said, "is due to a sudden fall of blood pressure which diminishes the supply of blood to the brain. Standing quite still for long periods causes the blood to accumulate in the lower part of the body and is equivalent to a large haemorrhage.

"This effect is accentuated if the leg blood vessels are dilated by heat."



He noted that the weather was unusually warm during the fainting epidemic.

Dollar Earnings Falling Off Britain Warned

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—Gold and dollar earnings of Britain and the sterling area dropped sharply in the last three months ad Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, warned Wednesday the decline likely will continue.

In a brief statement to the House of Commons, Gaitskell said gold and dollar earnings in the quarter ended June 30 were $109,000,000, compared with $458,000,000 the previous quarter.

Britain and the sterling area's gold and dollar reserves now stand at $3,867,000,000.

The dive in gold and dollar earnings was coupled with a further drop in Britain's over-all trade position—and the need to earn more from its exports to pay for its arms program.

Imports Rise

Imports rose 9 per cent above the 1950 average in the first four months of this year, while exports were up only 4 per cent.

Gaitskell said there were three main causes for the decline of gold and dollar earnings:

1. More dollar imports by both Britain and the sterling area.
2. A decline—partly seasonal—in the dollar earnings of the sterling area.
3. Smaller net gold and dollar earnings in European trade.

To offset these to some extent, he said, Britain's dollar exports had shown a welcome increase. He did not give specific figures.

"It is quite likely that these less favorable influences will continue during the next few months," he said.

HERBERT MORRISON, Britain's foreign secretary, listens eagerly as Mrs. Vaughan Williams reads his hand at the Brockham Green, Surrey, country fair. No prophesy about a forthcoming election was uttered but the minister was told he had a "good hand which showed a clever brain . . . you don't like to be upset. You can get pugnacious, can't you?" And Mr. Morrison had to agree.

Don't Approve Of New Judge

HAMILTON, July 5 (CP). — A meeting of the Wentworth Liberal organization Wednesday night unanimously decided to forward a resolution to Prime Minister St. Laurent asking that more consideration be given to recommendations of local organizations in appointment of judges.

The meeting was held to discuss the recent appointment of John S. Latchford of Cornwall as junior judge of Wentworth.

In a statement after the meeting George Kemp, president of the Wentworth Liberal Association, said that it was felt that there were many persons in Wentworth County who were well qualified for the appointment. It was regretted that the Government had gone outside the county.

Mr. Kemp added that the decision to forward the recommendation to Ottawa had no reflection on Judge Latchford and that the new judge would be welcomed to the county.

VOL. CIII. No. 3 — THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1951 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Two Factories Lay Off Men, Reduce Week

Credit Restrictions Blamed By Officials For Lack Of Sales

Employees in two Peterborough factories are working shorter work-weeks or have been laid off. Company officials in both cases said the reason was that retail sales have been cut, because of strict credit restrictions imposed in the spring by the federal government.

Charles Wishart, vice-president of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company, said that some departments in the factory are working only a three-day week while others are working a full five. This system has been in force for the past two months.

When asked how long it would last, Mr. Wishart said, "If I was a prophet, I'd be glad to tell you, but it will be as long as business remains as it is."

Dealers Stocked

He explained that the retail dealers are well-stocked with goods which are not selling, due to the credit restrictions.

At the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd. plant employees are now working from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. and have been for the past three weeks. The second shift has been laid off and only part of the day shift is now working.

Fred Walker, superintendent, said that he couldn't tell when the situation will ease up, adding that he believed no one else could say. There the problem is similar to the Brinton-Peterborough company—sales dropping off.

Extra Help

Layoffs at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing company were described as "practically nothing" by Reg Reid, personnel manager.

He explained that in the spring extra temporary help was taken on, about 40, and recently some have been released. Others in this group will be laid off later on.

But he emphasized there would be "no drastic change in the general picture" in the factory.

Population Growing

There were 23 more births and six less deaths in June of this year in Peterborough than in the same month last year. These figures were released today from the city clerk's office.

In June of this year there were 140 births and 40 deaths as compared to 117 births and 46 deaths in June, 1950.

Salvage Work Commences On Toronto Boat

Diver Keith Oliver, of the Gordon Boat Works, Bobcaygeon, located the wrecked Toronto cruiser today in 12 feet of water in the Buckhorn Narrows, about two miles south of the village. A crew of six men from the boat company who are handling the salvaging started work with two large craft and gear at noon in an attempt to raise the wreck.

The $25,000 cruiser, owned by Cecil M. Mounce, of 12 Apsley Ave., Toronto, was proceeding south down Buckhorn Lake from Lake Simcoe en route to Trenton on Wednesday morning. The course of the cruiser, set to the wrong side of a black channel buoy which marked a treacherous reef, piled up on it. Mr. Mounce started the cruiser siren to call attention to his plight and his son, the only other passenger, jumped from the sinking craft to rescue his pet, a German police dog.

Sank In Minutes

Though the boat was only travelling at 12 miles an hour, it was said, the grinding impact carried the cruiser over the submerged reef and ripped off the propellor and rudder. It sank in about eight minutes.

The emergency siren alerted about 15 boats from the near shore, chiefly American visitors at the Bruce Hall resort, a quarter of a mile away. They dashed to the scene of the wreck and the first to reach it was George Keatley, of Canton, O., who took Mr. Mounce off the bow of the boat. Following rescuers picked up young Mounce and his dog and the two of them left for Toronto in the afternoon following arrangements for salvaging. Some of the boats that answered the call for help were driven by Mr. Keatley and Jack Driscoll, both of Canton, O., and Richard Noyes and Chritten Ben, both of Geneva, O.

WRONG WORDING

Because the charge against E. A. Scott, RR 1, Peterborough, was worded incorrectly, a case of failure to stop at a stop sign, resulting in an accident, was dismissed today in police court. A. L. Elliott KC, counsel for Scott, heard evidence for the crown given by Miss Marie Woodhouse, driver of the second car, and by Constable W. A. Scott before he commented on the charge's wording.

NINE PEOPLE IN THREE FAMILIES fled from the Downer's Corners district today when lightning struck the pump shed of the Shell Oil depot. The threat of a major explosion was not removed until city firemen put out the last spark. Looking at the burned out pumps and motors in the charred shed (TOP) are, left to right, Deputy Chief Stew Foster, Chief George Smith, and Bob Crowe, oil company employee. Layout is shown (BOTTOM)—To the extreme left are the three tanks containing 16,000 gallons of gasoline. To the right, the tank car containing 6,800 gallons. Young Farmers Visit Ottawa

Approximately 70 members of the Peterborough County Calf Club are spending today in Ottawa. The trip was sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club and the Federation of Agriculture.

The main item on the day's agenda was a visit to the Government experimental farm. But brief visits to the parliament buildings, national museum and other points of interest in the capital were planned.

The young people are travelling in two buses and will return to Peterborough tonight. They were accompanied by Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative of Peterborough county; John Kitney, secretary of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture and three Kiwanians, Wilson Gemmell, Rufus Payne and Art Baker.

Families Flee From Homes Lightning Hits Gas Depot

Fear of a major explosion caused several families at Downer's Corners to flee for safety at 5:30 a.m. today when a bolt of lightning struck the Shell Oil depot. The wooden-frame pump shed on the southeast corner of the Shell property was gutted by fire. City firemen had the blaze under control within 15 minutes and damage was limited to $2,500. But it's not the damage that all the interested parties are talking about; it's what might have happened. Had lightning struck when one of the railway tank cars was being unloaded Wednesday afternoon, or had any one of the three main intake valves not been completely shut off at night, flames would have crept through the pipes into the three large storage tanks containing 16,000 gallons of gasoline.

Frank Foley, manager of the depot estimates that the resulting explosion would have "blasted the lid off the whole place."

It was this possibility that caused two families and part of a third to evacuate to a safer locality as quickly as they could.

Early today as they looked at the gutted shed, firemen, oil company employees and Downers' Corners residents shook their heads as they thought of what might have happened.

"I don't blame those people for getting out as fast as they could," said one employee. "I'd have done the same."

Two Cars Collide Occupants Hurt

Two people suffered minor cuts and three others were shaken up when two cars collided at London and Water Sts. shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The accident happened when a car, driven north on Water St. by James W. Sloane, 630 Little St., pulled right into London St. and then turned back on to Water St. A second car, driven by Arthur G. Bronson, 114 Stewart St., which was following the Sloane car up the street, collided with the Sloane car.

Passengers, Mrs. Bronson, RR 4, Madoc, and Arthur Farthing, 143 River Road north, both in the Bronson car received cuts during the impact. Mrs. Bronson received a small cut on the left knee. Farthing, riding in the back seat, was thrown forward and the handle of a vacuum cleaner in the car hit him below the right eye. Three stitches were required to close the gash.

Passengers in the Sloane car, Mrs. Irene Ireland and her two children, Richard and Christine, 30 Little St., were shaken and were helped into a nearby home.

Damage to the cars was: Sloane car, left front fender, left wheel, left front door, running board and left rear fender; Bronson car, right front fender, front bumper and front axle.

It was investigated by PC W. A. Scott.

Two other minor accidents were reported during Wednesday.

At the corner of Simcoe and George Sts., a truck driven by J. R. Basciano, collided with the rear of a car, driven by Roy S. Pearce, Coboconk. Pearce, driving south on George St. went halfway through the intersection and then stopped to allow a car to pass. The truck following hit the rear of the car, causing slight damage to both vehicles.

PC Harold Andrew investigated.

A third accident was reported at the police station Wednesday morning by Ira Bradley. He said that he was parked on the north side of Romaine St. and when pulling out from the curb cleared the left rear of a car, owned by Les Would, 21 Aylmer St.

95 Boys At Camp Pow Wow Operating In City At Y

Ninety-five boys, between the ages of eight and 14 years, are spending the first three weeks of the summer holidays attending the YMCA's day camp, Camp Pow Wow. More than 100 others have been turned down for various reasons.

The camp was opened Tuesday morning at the YMCA with a devotional service, directed by Fraser Wade, YMCA physical director, and then the program of handcrafts, hikes, sing-songs and swims began.

Gordon Minty, YMCA swimming coach, has his hands full in the swimming periods in the YMCA pool three times a day. He is instructing 48 non-swimmers the elementary strokes in swimming.

Craft Classes

Craft classes take up most of the morning period. The whole program is under the direction of Alex Sinclair, recreation director with assistance from Mr. Wade, Lloyd Hill and James Hefferman.

Now under construction are paper mache fruit, copper tooling, bows and arrows, bird houses, paper puppets and plaster castings.

Lloyd Hall, a 14-year-old, is directing 25 boys in the puppetry class. He attended the Department of Education, Community Programs branch, puppetry course held recently at the YWCA.

Devotional periods begin each day for the camp at the headquarters in the YMCA. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray St. Baptist Church, and Major C. G. Everitt, Salvation Army, conduct services on Wednesday and Friday respectively while on the other days Fraser Wade directs the opening program.

Overnight Hike

An overnight hike was planned for Wednesday night but rain forced a postponement until Thursday night. The boys were then taken for a tour through the Silverwood's Dairy.

If rain doesn't postpone the overnight hike a second time, the boys from 10 to 14 years will spend tonight at the Scout camp at Nassau. There they will cook supper and prepare beds for the night after a swim and some instruction in outdoor craft.

The other boys, under 10 years, will spend Friday on an all-day hike out to Jackson's Park. There they will have their dinner, play games and go for a swim.

For the next two weeks, until July 21, other hikes, swims and visits to the factories have been planned to make the boys' summer interesting as well as educational.

Record Amount Of Rain Falls In Peterborough As Storm Sweeps District

Oil Depot Pump Shed Hit By Lightning Telephone, Hydro Cut Off In Spots Little Damage Done In Spectacular Show

In the 24-hour period ending 10 a.m. today a record rainfall of 2.66 inches came down on Peterborough. It was the local portion of electrical thunderstorms that on Wednesday and today swept through a 300-mile area of Southern Ontario. An early estimate shows not much damage. Lightning struck the Shell Oil depot at Downer's Corners and the loss is estimated at $2,500. And at Campbellford two cattle were killed when lightning struck a tree they were standing under.

Interruptions in hydro power and telephone communication were reported in the rural municipalities. Linesmen are still at work in Ennismore but normal telephone service is now almost completely restored.

Grain Down

One possible cause of accumulated damage is flattened grain crops. Surrounding townships report a good deal of wheat, and some oats and barley down. But most of it will likely spring up again if a similar downpour doesn't occur.

An eyewitness describes the wheat field on the farm of the late William McIlroy, Otonabee township, as looking as though a twister had struck it. Before Wednesday the wheat was in top shape but is now twisted and flattened.

There were no power interruptions in the city Wednesday night despite the severity of the downpour. About 6:30 p.m. hail briefly accompanied the rain.

Between 10 a.m. and 12 noon Wednesday .6 inches of rain fell. And the rest of the tabulation is .43 inches noon to 2 p.m., 1.13 from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., and .5 inches till 10 a.m. today.

Hydro Breaks

Trouble shooters went out six or seven times to repair breaks in the Otonabee power circuits. Interruptions were only brief.

At the height of the storm in the evening pelting rain forced motorists to stop by the side of the streets. They continued when visibility cleared.

It appears to be all over now. The weather for tomorrow will be sunny and warm, says the weatherman. And he is predicting a high of 80 degrees.

Cats Fed Up

City Radiates From CGE Almost 2 Miles

Is the Canadian General Electric plant in the south end of the city? Many Peterborough residents would say yes to this question, but actually the plant is nearer the northwestern boundary of the city than it is to the corner of Concession Rd. and Erskine Ave. in the southwest.

A recently drawn map of the city giving the radial distances from the Park St. entrance of the CGE shows that while the gate is one mile and a half from the corner of Fairbairn and Bellevue Aves. in the northwest section of the city, it is a mile and three-quarters to the southwestern corner. It is also three and a half miles from the corner of Concession Rd. and Erskine Ave. to the north end of George St. McKellar St. is one and a quarter miles from the CGE, as is also Park Hill Rd. Western Ave. on the west boundary of the city is one mile away as is also Water and McDonnel Sts. Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Rd. is within the three-quarter mile radius as is Monaghan Rd. and Weller St. and Hunter and George Sts.

In Ashburnham the eastern limit of the city is one mile and three-quarters from the CGE. Armour Rd. is in the radius of one mile and a quarter and one mile and a half.

STARTING THEIR COMEBACK—Citizens of Chinju, Korea, aren't waiting for the end of the war to rebuild their shattered city, which was 60 per cent destroyed when it was recaptured from the Reds by UN forces. Fully 60,000 of its 80,000 residents were homeless when the Communists were driven out. Here a Chinju farmer plows a field while workers build a new home for him.

War-Wise NCO Holds Back Too-Eager Men

By WILLIAM BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, July 5 (CP)—The young soldier gazed up the mountain top and panted:

"You know, I don't think there are any Chinese up there."

The sweaty, rugged climb was halfway done. There had been no shooting.

Nineteen - year - old Ronnie Brown, of Montreal, was reaching that fed-up point at which cockiness becomes carelessness.

His section-leader, equally tired and thirsty but wiser in battle, deftly checked his reasoning.

"Ever hear that saying about 'the whites of their eyes'?", asked Cpl. Wally O'Neill, of Toronto. "The Chinese know it, too."

No. 2 section, No. 7 platoon of C company was spread out in extended line on either side of O'Neill, clearing the spur of a hill northwest of Chorwon. The 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, was on a patrol deep in the no man's land north of Chorwon, probing the next line of Chinese defences.

Peterson Company

C company under Major Jack Peterson, of St. Thomas, had been ordered to seize and occupy until sunset one ridge running orth-south. Another, under Capt. I. W. Hill, of Hudson Heights, Que., was to do the same on another ridge farther north that ran east-west. The great Chorwon plains lay to the east.

Enemy forces had been reported on both ridges earlier in the day.

In fact, the enemy was known to be in strength on a craggy 2,500-foot mountain directly north of Hill's objective.

O'Neill and his eight men had been on the go since 6.30 am.

They had had only between two and three hours' sleep the night before.

It was a strange game of hide-and-seek they were "playing" with the enemy. The Canadians would raid forward of Chorwon in the daytime. The Chinese would sit back in the hills and take pot shots at them.

At dusk the Canadians would pull back into their lines and the Chinese would reoccupy the intervening hills.

Not Pleasant Spot

"I wouldn't care to have to go to ground here," said O'Neill, threading his way along one ledge, with six inches of water atop the field on one side, the same on the terrace to the left, which was 18 inches lower.

Yet that's just what they would have to do if the Chinese opened fire.

The pace was unbroken. It might have been a parade square.

Observed Pte. Albert Leblanc, of Saint John, NB: "Whoever's at the front can't be carrying much."

And O'Neill, with the deft touch that keeps guys going: "Oh, I guess maybe the major's in a hurry today. But I bet there's a good breeze at the top when we get there."

Leblanc's is an active mind, the sort that stimulates talk in idler moments, and keeps the wisecracks flowing when it's tough.

Chirped Pte. Gerry Delaney of Montreal: "Gee, I thought skinny guys weren't supposed to sweat."

"Don't see any surplus fat around here—and we're all dripping," was the cynical come-back of some one whose identity was lost in the general chuckle.

There was a sobering reminder that "there's a war on," when they passed a Lord Strathcona Horse Sherman tank that had blown up a couple of hours earlier. Driven by Tpr. Laurie Riutta of Sudbury, its whole right suspension had gone, but none of the crew was hurt.

Hard Work

The corporal walked the crest of the spur, the others swept the flanks. It was hard work.

Almost out of sight in the gully was Pte. Bob Linkutis of Montreal, a newcomer to the section. O'Neill switched him with Delaney, one of the section's Petawawa originals. Linkutis wasn't nervous, but the corporal apparently felt he'd prefer being near his leader until he got the hang of the way the section operated.

Hard by, on O'Neill's right, was Pte. Dan O'Brien, also of Montreal, and another keen-eyed newcomer with a ready wit.

Finally, 1½ hours later, Brownie's instinct was proven right. No Chinese.

And O'Neill was right about the breeze. A crisp, cool, constant whisper flushed the hot air from the hilltop and licked the moisture off now-shirtless bodies, sun-baked brown and stretched out on the wild rhubarb leaves and grass with which the top was thick.

Court Rules Drift Fishing Not Offense Under Act

COBOURG, July 5 (ENS). — Charge laid under the Ontario Fish and Game regulations against Jerry Dumont, Oshawa, was dismissed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter. Gordon Conant, KC, was defence counsel. Fish and Game inspector Vic Harris, Gore's Landing, charged Dumont with fishing from a boat in Rice Lake by drifting. Harris testified that on June 16, at 7.20 p.m., he was going down the lake when he noticed a boat off Idlewylde from which a man was fishing. During his observation of it, he observed that it had drifted from 400 to 500 yards. As he drew alongside the accused reeled in his line. There was no anchor in the boat, and no fish.

The section under which the charge was laid, states that fishing is not permitted in the designated area during the prohibited period unless it is from shore or from an anchored boat. Mr. Conant commented on the vague wording of the regulation. He claimed that the charge was a nullity as it did not charge any offense which was against the law. There was nothing about drifting and the fish and game inspector had made something which the accused did not do as the offense.

Magistrate Baxter agreed that the charge did not cover the circumstances and dismissed the case.

FLOATING ALONE—Capt. Norman N. E. Brocker, of the British forces in Korea, decided to take a nice cool dip after reading the headlines which read "All Quiet on Front." Top Golfer Hasn't Time For Boy Friends

By KAY REX

FONTHILL, Ont., July 5 (CP)—Ontario's top woman golfer hasn't time for boy friends. She's too busy playing golf.

At 17, Marlene Stewart is the youngest person to win the Ontario ladies' golf championship. The kid with the engaging grin and freckles walked off with the trophy a couple of weeks ago. Her laconic comment: "Quite a thrill."

On the way to the title in her third season of competitive golf, she trimmed a number of Ontario's leading women golfers. Among them was Ada Mackenzie, the former champion, who also has held the Canadian crown five times.

Marlene now spends most of her time in various parts of the province participating in test matches. "I really don't need to compete in them, but it keeps me in form," she said in an interview after a heavy day on the course at nearby Ancaster.

Marlene, ex-officio, is a member of the 1951 Ontario team which will play in the inter-provincial team matches in Quebec next month.

Born in Cereal, Alta., Marlene came to this Niagara Peninsula town seven years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart. Neither plays golf, nor does Marlene's 12-year-old sister. Trixie, the family terrier, likes to chase balls so he is kept far from the fairways.

Started at 13

Miss Stewart lifted her first iron at 13 when she wandered out to Fonthill's club one day to do a little caddying. She decided that she liked the game.

"I usually work at it now from two to three hours a day," she said. Mornings, she helps around the house. But by 10.30 am she's usually on the links.

Marlene has other interests besides golf. She also plays basketball, badminton, "and a little skiing in the winter." She doesn't claim to be domestically inclined, but she does an occasional bit of sewing. She can cook, too.

The young golfer has another couple of years of high school before she must think seriously of a career. She thinks she will specialize in "phys ed"—physical education.

Her immediate ambition is to make the women's golf team which will play in the Curtis Cup matches in Britain in 1953 when Canada meets the best that Britain and the United States can produce.

Boy friends? "Haven't the time."

Fashion Vignettes

ARTICLE 6

Summer through to fall and oh to walk into a store, pick out some divine costume, accessorize it from head to toe and not to give a thought as to how it fits into one's collection of clothes or any certain groove of living. The groove that sometimes seems like a rut.

Spring does strange things to us women folk. Maybe a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love . . . an older man's to getting the grass seed on and his income tax in. But us, we think of clothes. Or if we try not to think of them, everywhere we're reminded . . . in papers, magazines, conversation of fashion - minded friends.

Suits are forever spring. But not every woman buys a suit for spring. Like a friend who remarked the other day that she'd like to figure out an outfit to take her through till next fall, without having to spend right now on new accessories. On hand she had a good-looking brown felt hat, a sailor, good handbag and shoes, brown, all of which had been worn with her brown seal coat during the winter, and with a beigey white shortie coat this spring.

She's one of the luckies who sews her own. She hunted through the fabric counters and here's what she's worked out. First, she found just the pattern she wanted in a two-piece slim style, rounded neckline, three-quarter sleeves. The skirt is straight-cut. Then she purchased good quality rayon faille, enough for a dress, and equal yardage in a lightweight wool crepe of a beige color so light you could call it creamy Both dresses will be made from the same pattern with these changes:

Brown faille jacket will have turn-back, stiffened cuffs, no pockets, will have largish, square, self-covered buttons. The cream-beige jackets will have wrist-length sleeves, and softened arched pockets a la hipline. On neither jacket will the buttons be sewn fast. They're shanked for pinning, and likely the lady will have two or three extra sets of whatever takes her eye at the button counter, for wear on either jacket. You can see how interchangeable these two frocks are. Both skirts will be coupled with pretty blouses for canasta and bridge sessions.

This is an idea with great possibilities in crease-resistant linen . . . light and dark grey combination . . . chartreuse and navy . . . and always good, black and white. And it's one way to hold to a budget in high fashion if you sew or have a good dressmaker.

Students Speak On NS University

At a gathering in St. Mary's Hall of senior pupils of Immaculate Conception School, High School students in the parish, and their parents, three students from St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., gave addresses.

William Duignan gave the principal address, on life at the University. Miss Margaret Braund, a graduate of Mount St. Bernard College affiliated with the University, spoke of the girls' university activities. John McConkey spoke on the co-operative and credit union work for which the University is famous throughout North America.

Musical numbers were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Leahy and vocal numbers by Mrs. D. Campanaro, accompanied by Miss M. McCabe.

Adele Campanaro read her essay on Marguerite Bourgeoys, founder of the Congregation de Notre Dame, Montreal, which won first prize in the recent CWL essay contest.

Chairman of the evening was Berkley Boyle and a vote of thanks to the speakers was extended by James Byrne.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Sullivan.

Bethany Honors Bride-Elect

Bethany community honored Miss Christella Rowan with a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening, prior to her marriage to Mr. Bernard Neals of Pontypool, which will take place in St. Paul's church, Bethany, on Saturday, July 7.

There were many lovely gifts received, including a woollen blanket from the Girls' Softball club, of which she is a member, and an electric table lamp from the pupils of Ballyduff school, where she has taught for the last several years.

Mrs. T. S. Gault read the address of congratulations and good wishes and Mrs. Charles Reynolds and Miss Maralyn Cavano assisted in opening the gifts.

The Orange hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers, ribbons and bells and the gifts were arranged on a table covered with lace cloth and centred with a basket of pink roses.

Miss Marilyn Cavano was chairman for the brief program which included community singing led by Miss Laura Morton. Catherine Reynolds and Gayle Bristow sang "Mocking Bird Hill." Mrs. Earl Argue, elocutionist, gave two numbers, "The Wedding" and "Advice from Grandmother." Miss Peggy Reynolds was in charge of the guest book. Lunch was served.

Caddick-Dalliday

The marriage of Betty Jean Dalliday, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. H. Dalliday, 548 Bethune St., Peterborough, to Ernest Edward Caddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Caddick Kingston, took place in St. Luke's Anglican Church, Kigston.

Gladioli, snapdragon and peonies decorated the church. The Rev. R. H. Breman performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an ankle-length dress of forget-me-not blue nylon sheer over taffeta and her shoulder veil was the same shade. Shewore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Cecil Caddick as bridesmaid was similarly frocked in shell pink nylon marquisette and headdress of pink net and she wore a corsage of red roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Harold Dalliday, brother of the bride. Ushers were William Caddick and Edward Smith.

The reception was held at the new home of the groom's parents and his mother received in a flowered silk dress with matching hat, assisted by her daughter. Mrs. Edward Smith of Toronto.

Leaving on a short motor trip to the United States, the bride wore a tailored suit of fawn gabardine and white accessories.

They will make their home at 695 Victoria St., Kingston.

Woman's Plans Over Years Make Sons Crack Scullers

By DONALD GORDON

TORONTO (CP). — If the Diamond Sculls should become a family affair for the next several years, you can credit a trim, dark-haired woman in her early 40's.

Mrs. Jack Guest, the St. Catharines girl who married Diamond Sculls winner Jack Guest the year after he won the world's premier rowing event in 1930, has been planning and cooking with an eye to a rowing monopoly since her two sons were born, in 1933 and 1935.

Her eldest son, Jack, Jr., finished doing 10-mile paddles up the Thames River in England to train for this year's Henley Regatta, July 4-7. Her younger son, 16-year-old Don, is training to prove himself Canada's top schoolboy oarsman.

It took 16 years of basic training and two more of intensive coaching and practice to do it.

Mrs. Guest was the body-builder and trainer for the vital 16 years before the boys were fully grown and ready for the strenuous business of singles sculling. Her formula was lots of fresh air and exercise, all the food they could eat and a liberal dose of schooling.

Outdoor Training

"I think boys should be trained for the outdoors," she said. "There should be a good program of outside sports as long as they don't interfere with school."

Guest Senior, overseas for six years with the pay corps during the war, came home in 1946. He took the slim, strong, confident athletes Mrs. Guest had raised and trained them to be tops in sculling. Using his experience over 10 years of competitive rowing, he showed the boys all the tricks and arts needed to sweep their paper-thin shells through the choppy waters of a race course.

As a result, the boys have never lost a race.

Now, while Jack Jr. is training with his father for the Diamond Sculls, Mrs. Guest is working with Don to complete his sculling apprenticeship.

Twice a day this summer Don and his mother will consult the typed training instructions left by Jack Sr. for the regattas Don will enter.

Heavy Program

On July 1, it was Toronto's Dominion Day regatta, the same one Jack Jr. won two years ago in his first race. Then, in the last week of July, Don will compete in the Canadian Henley regatta at St. Catharines in the high school and junior singles events.

Next year, he's entering the intermediate competitions. The year afer, he'll probably be heading to London to make his try for the Diamond Sculls.

As for Jock Jr.'s try this year, Mrs. Guest thinks he has a good chance.

"With Jack's style (a long sweeping stroke) and the excellent coaching he has had, I think he has a very good chance of winning the Diamond," she said.

"It's a different course — we do all our racing downstream in Canada instead of upstream as they do in England—but he has six weeks to get used to it."

When he comes back, Mrs. Guest said Jack Jr. will enroll at University of Pennsylvania on a rowing scholarship in Commerce and Finance.

"Maybe he will do some post-graduate work after that," she said. "But whatever it is, he will be staying close to rowing."

Home-Managing Courses Given 120 College Grads

ST. SYLVERE, Que., July 5 — (CP).—Some 120 young women of this spring's crop of college graduates from Quebec province now are planning a little more schooling—in successful home-making.

And, since good housekeeping begins and ends in the kitchen, the girls will learn how to save on weekly food bills, keep the family well fed, and make use of left-overs.

Mrs. Francoise Gaudet-Smet, founder and director of the Clear Valley Social Centre, claims that "when a housewife sees contented faces around the dinner table she forgets how warm it was in front of the kitchen stove."

To achieve that end, the Montreal newspaper woman and writer teaches how to eliminate waste, routine, clumsiness, and thoughtlessness which she described as "complications that change kitchen work from a labor of love and joy to drudgery."

This summer, as for the last seven years, Mrs. Gaudet-Smet opened her large farm-estate in this St. Lawrence river south shore town and holds court on home-management. Most students attending one of the four 10-day seminar-type courses are brides-to-be.

But all is not kitchen duty at Claire-Vallee, a 120-acre spread which straddles the Becancour river about 20 miles south of Three Rivers, Que.

She has brought together six experts to lecture on various aspects of the complete housewife: literature, public speaking, preserve and candy making, folk singing, handicrafts, and dress making.

Among these are Germaine Guevremont, Montreal French-Canadian novelist; Dr. Elie Borowski, of the Toronto Museum who will lecture on biblical archaeology, and Mrs. Hall-Borowski, who teaches the folk songs of seven languages.

Ayotte-McAvilla

The marriage of Miss Margaret McAvilla of Campbellford to Mr. Steyen Edward Ayotte of Highland Grove took place Saturday in St. Peter's Cathedral, Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler officiating.

Miss Helen Hajnik sang during the ceremony and music was played by Mrs. R. G. Aman.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law Mr. Bernard Ralph of Norwood, the bride wore a dress of Alice blue faille with white accessories and had a bouquet of white roses with Scotch heather. She was attended by Mrs. Joseph McCormick, Peterborough, wearing air force blue nylon and pink accessories and her bouquet of white carnations was also mixed with Scotch heather.

Groomsman was his brother William Ayotte of Highland Grove and the ushers were E. Ayotte and George Clark.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCormick, 298 King St., and afterward the couple motored to Campbellford where a reception was held at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayotte will live at Jackson Park, Peterborough.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Cook Beets Many Ways, Each Appeals

Beets are having a rush in this household. We seem to have rediscovered them. And — my farmer-huckster tells me the crop is "bumper."

You will remember Barb's Beet Salad and how I have given it special space in this column. So, my beet salad today is different—it is moulded.

Here is a lowly vegetable that can be glamorized by unprejudiced cooks. I have a charming but audacious Scottish friend who never hesitates to call them "cattle fodder," even when he is confronted with them on any of his hostess' dining tables.

But have we not all made or heard complaints about prize animals being nourished and tended more scientifically than humans? Let's catch on.

✧ ✧ ✧

Beet Salad Mould

Soak 2 tablespoons gelatine in ½ cup cold water 5 minutes, then dissolve this in 2 cups boiling water. Add ¼ cup lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon each dry mustard and bottled horseradish, and shake of salt. Have ready 1 or 2 cups diced, chopped, shredded or sieved cooked beets and stir these in. When this begins to stiffen when it is chilled add 1 cup finely chopped celery. Chill until set. I like this salad moulded in individual moulds for it is shiny when turned out on lettuce. For a luncheon salad put cottage cheese and a gherkin on the plate too and pass French dressing.

✧ ✧ ✧

Harvard Beets

Frankly I like buttered boiled beets as well or better than Harvard, but everyone knows how to prepare those and this is another way to win beet friends.

The equivalent of 8 or 10 medium sized beets, ¼ cup sugar (or less if you do not have a sweet tooth), ½ tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, ¼ cup vinegar OR 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons water, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Cut beets in slices or strips or cubes. Mix together the sugar, cornstarch, and seasonings, then stir in the water and vinegar and mix until smooth. Stir until thick over low heat. Then add the beets to it, and place over simmering but not boiling water, covered for ½ hour.

✧ ✧ ✧

Pickled Rosebud Beets

This will yield about 7 pints pickled beets.

Eight and one-half pounds fresh bets with tops cut off, but 1 inch of stems on, 3½ cups sugar, 1 or 2 cloves garlic cut, 2 tablespoons mixed pickling spices, 2½ cups cider vinegar, 1½ cups water, about 7 slices, paper thin, onion. Wash beats well, leaving on 1 inch of stem and weigh. Steam in small amount of water until crisply tender—about 35 minutes. Do not overcook beets for pickling. Drain, rinse with cold water, slip off skins and stem. If beets are very small leave whole or cut in halves. If large slice them. Mix together in saucepan the water, sugar, vinegar and pickling spices and bring to boil. In sterilized pint jars put the prepared beets. Add a bit of garlic and onion to each jar. Pour the boiling hot vinegar syrup over to cover beets. Seal tightly. Beets pickled in this way do not require further sterilization.

Beet Cup Salad

If you have large beets a pretty salad can be made by scooping out the centre of cooked beets to make a ¼-inch thick "cup." Fill this with shredded cabbage and chopped walnuts well moistened with mayonnaise. Serve on well-cupped lettuce leaf with hard-cooked egg slices and celery hearts for garnish.

Of Interest to Women

MR. AND MRS. WALTER R. TEDFORD of Douro, the bride formerly Joyce Freeburn.—(Choate Studio Photo)

DOROTHY DIX

Youth, 19, Secretly Engaged Advised To Slow Down

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 19 years old, and secretly engaged to a girl 16. We have planned to ask our parents' permission to marry when she reaches her seventeenth birthday. My financial status is excellent. I own a new car and am negotiating to buy a business, therefore feel quite capable of supporting a wife. She has a wonderful family, and so do I, and both our families get along famously together. I know I could get permission from my family to get married, but we are dubious about asking her parents' consent.

Dorothy Dix

We both act older than we are and the crowd we go out with is much older than we. We have been going together now for nearly a year. I want to do the right thing for both of us, but I fear if our parents knew how much we loved each other they would keep us apart until my girl friend is older.

S. F.

ANSWER: For two young people you certainly seem to have every advantage to make an ultimately happy marriage. Your whole trouble is simply that you want to rush things and are too impatient to await the proper time.

Both of you, and especially your girl friend, are too young to marry, and you should not, in any case, be involved in a secret engagement. If your parents are as wise and understanding as they seem to be from your letter, I see no reason why you hesitate to let them know you love the girl, and to ask their advice on your engagement and marriage. Parents aren't ogres, you know, and I'm sure they will be sympathetic to your problem. I think if you asked permission of the girl's people to become engaged when she is 17, and married a year later, they would at least give consideration to your proposal and among you all I'm sure you'll find a happy solution. While you would still both be very young for marriage, you seem like sensible young people and with the sound financial basis you describe, everything points to a happy future for you.

A delay of a year—or even a little longer—at your age is not the major tragedy you make it. You have many years of happiness before you and it is much wiser to be sure of each other now than to rush headlong into matrimony, then discover it was a mistake. So take both your families into your confidence and proceed with their approval and blessing.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My fiance and I plan to be married in the near future, but we are confronted by a very perplexing problem. His father and mother live in a large home that is really adequate for two families, but we don't want to live under the same roof with them, although they are grand people. His mother thinks as we do, but his father can't see why two families should live separately. Are the three of us foolish in insisting that no two related families should live in the same house?

ALICE

ANSWER: Let me advise you with all the earnestness of which I am capable to insist upon setting up your own separate home and not to go to live in the house with your in-laws, no matter how good and kind they are, or how fond you are of them. You are now on the most beautiful terms. Keep that way by keeping away from them. No house was ever built big enough to house two families of relatives.

Your father-in-law-to-be is looking at the matter from a man's point of view, which includes economy and the using of unoccupied space. But your mother-in-law, being a woman, knows that two women, even when they are mother and daughter, cannot keep house together without clashing because there is the difference of a whole generation in their training and habits. Also she knows that every woman wants her own home in which she can do as she pleases.

4 Fined $78 On Game Counts

Failure to comply with game and fishery regulations cost four men a total of $78 in police court today. Two appeared while the others entered written pleas of guilty.

Martin Corcoran, John Street, Port Dalhousie, argued that a June bug with a worm attached is not an artificial bait. He pointed out that the June bug was called a lure, but with a worm, bait.

Magistrate E. A. Gee said, "We don't want you to go away feeling wrongly convicted." He pointed out that Corcoran didn't deliberately break the law, but did by his ignorance of it.

"You're only one of 50," said the magistrate.

Harry Haigh, 27 Chelsea St., St. Catharines, pleaded guilty to the same charge, fishing with artificial bait from an unanchored boat, in court while John Bradley, 100 Lippincott St., Toronto, entered a written plea of guilty.

All were fined $20 with $2.50 costs.

Gordon McArthur, RR 2, Lakefield, entered a written plea of guilty to drift fishing and was fined $10 with $2.50 costs.

In Lindsay Wednesday, Wesley Switzer, Burnt River, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs for shooting a beaver in April.

6,800 Gallons In Tank Car

He looked at the tank car containing 6,800 gallons of gasoline at one end of the pipe line and the the three storage tanks with the 16,000 gallons on the other; also at the 100 barrels of industrial oil and naptha lying on the ground nearby.

"We certainly were lucky," he said.

Water Service Needed

Fire Chief George Smith was less philosophical.

"I was telling the fire, water and light committee about this Downers' Corners district only yesterday," he said. "This is the second large fire we've had here this summer. In May there was the fire at the Moldaver Lumber Co. and now this one.

"What we need is an extension of the city water services out to here. We put the fire out with booster lines from two pumpers. If it had been larger we wouldn't have got it in time."

The chief also said that here was a fire where short-wave equipment would have been valuable. Purchase of a short-wave transmitter and receiver and walkie-talkie sets was recommended by the coroner's jury in their findnigs on the Zacks building fire, May 19.

Thought Small

The first report of the oil company fire was that only a barrel of oil was burning. To put it out the chief's car and a pumper were sent. When the firemen arrived they saw the serious possibilities and wanted more help.

This meant they had to look for a phone, explained the chief. Because a couple of families had left their homes, the firemen could not get in and they had to go about four blocks to put in the call.

The result: wasted time.

"It could have been a serious matter," said Chief Smith. "Something needs to be done."

Today he took Aldermen A. E. Burrows, chairman of the committee, to look the situation over.

Lives Near Depot

"We thought it was our house that was hit at first," Mrs. John Burke, who lives on Armour Rd., opposite the depot, said.

"My husband went downstairs to phone the fire department and it looked as though the whole place was blazing. We just grabbed a few clothes and left as fast as we could. For years we've been dreading that something serious would happen with all that gasoline there."

The Burkes, along with a boarder, John Doherty, returned 45 minutes later.

Joe Slattery and family, who live across Highway 7 in Otonabee township, decided on a similar course of action.

The Slatterys also thought their house was hit. Mrs. Slattery noticed sparks shooting out of a bedside radio and her husband saw a stream of flames coming from a hydro pole on the northwest corner of the Armour Rd.-Highway 7 intersection.

They gathered up some valuable papers and took their two daughters—Frances, 9, and Helen, 8, to the grandparents. Accompanying them were two neighbouring children—Jimmy and Jean Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash, Otonabee residents who live directly across Armour Rd. from Slattery's store, decided to remain in their home but sent their children to a safer place.

Two other families also stuck it out. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young and their two daughters—Sheila and Lillian; and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Larabie, their daughter Pearl and a visitor, Irene Thomas.

The Young house is on the highway about 100 yards south of the depot. And the Larabies are in a sublet portion of the house.

Three-year-old Sheila Young was the first one wakened by the bolt of lightning. When Mrs. Young got up to attend to her she noticed smoke drifting over the house. At first she thought it was their own chimney. Then she saw the pump shed burst into flames.

The Youngs then turned in the fire alarm.

Early today a group of the residents of the Downers' Corners section met to discuss some means of fire protection. At present both the city and township residents feel particularly exposed. Two dangerous outbreaks in less than two months have made them extra fire conscious.

Defend Selves In Court Two Men Fined

In traffic cases today in police court two Peterborough men pleaded not guilty and tried to defend themselves. Both lost their cases.

Vernon Salt, RR 3, Peterborough, was fined $5. and $2.50 costs for speeding on Water St. north on the morning of June 12. A week ago Mr. Salt appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp when the charge was read and pleaded not guilty. The Crown at that time was not prepared to proceed.

Constable W. A. Scott said that he followed the truck for some distance from the Auburn dam along Water St. nearly to the city limits. He clocked the car at 40 mph against the motorcycle's speedometer.

Constable Scott added that he asked for Salt's driver's licence but the accused didn't have it with him. He was told to report to the police station with it.

Salt argued that Constable Scott never told him he was stopped for speeding and that he didn't know so until he received the summons.

On City Limits

He said that he saw the constable when the motorcycle crossed the railroad tracks on Water St. and if he had gone another 10 feet he would have been outside the city limits.

Salt said he pointed out the policeman to his father-in-law who had just come from England as a "point of interest."

"I would have been a pure idiot to have been speeding."

Salt then claimed that the officer rode along side the truck and drew past, blowing his siren.

"He asked where I was going and asked for my licence." Salt denied that the constable mentioned the speeding.

Salt said that when he received the summons he thought it was a receipt for a previous payment.

Didn't Stop

G. E. Beals, 87 Benson, was found guilty to not stopping for the stop sign on Park Hill Road at George St. and was fined $3 with $2.50 costs.

Constable W. A. Scott said that the car did not stop before turning south on George St. from Park Hill road on June 11.

When questioned by Mr. Beals, Constable Scott said that he was stationed at the gas station immediately across the street. Mr. Beals argued that no one could see if the wheels did stop on the slight incline from that distance.

Magistrate E. A. Gee said that the case was a question of whether Mr. Beals came to a full stop or not. He added 90 per cent of the drivers if they see no traffic change gears into second and proceed.

"They're all breaking the law."

He told Mr. Beals he would have to accept the officer's evidence.

A young couple is a thousand times more likely to make a success of their marriage if from the very first they are thrown upon each other for companionship and help, and if they can do their adjusting when no third party is standing by to referee their quarrels and take sides.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am going with a guy in the Navy. I love him, but before he went away he said I could go out with other boys as he would be gone three years. While has was gone I met another boy whom I liked very much. Now he's gone in the Army and I find it very hard to decide which one I love. I am 19 years old.

MARY JOE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why not try the Marines? With two boy friends away in service, your problem will still be to find someone to take you out. Fortunately, Uncle Sam's services are many in number and it will take you quite a while to go through them all.

Don't worry about which one you love, Mary Joe. You're young and haven't found the right man yet, that's all!

New Liskeard Choir Wins Lincoln Trophy

The Philharmonic Ladies choir, New Liskeard, Ontario, was awarded the Lincoln Trophy and named Canada's outstanding adult choir for 1951.

This award was contested for by five Peterborough choirs at the 1951 Kiwanis festival—All Saints Anglican Church choir, The Coventry Singers, St. Andrew's United Church choir, George St. United Church choir and Trinity United Church choir.

The name of the winning choir was announced at the opening general session of the Federation of Canadian Music Festival's convention held in St. John, New Brunswick.

The trophy is awarded by the choral adjudicator on the chain of Canadian festivals for the best adult choral performance at the festivals at which he is adjudicator. This year the choral adjudicator was Gordon Thorne and the festivals that qualified were: Toronto, Kingston, Chatham, Peterborough, Fort William, Port Arthur, Stratford, British Columbia, Calgary, Manitoba and Saint John.

An annual award, the trophy was presented to the Canadian Music Festivals by the Lincoln Music Festival, England.

It is expected that the Peterborough festival will qualify in 1952 and city choirs will be able to compete for this award. It is also expected that Peterborough festival contestants will be able to compete for the Mathieson Trophy which will be awarded for the best children's or junior performance judged by the entire team of chain adjudicators at festivals throughout Canada.

THESE SMILING AIRMEN are part of a group of 120 French-speaking recruits who left recently for Toronto where they will finish the last half of a four-month course in English. It started at the RCAF's School of English at the St. John's, Que., manning depot.

Have Fireworks At Resort, Ignore Danger

CRYSTAL BEACH, July 5 (CP)—A mammoth Fourth of July fireworks display was held here Wednesday night despite the fact that this Lake Erie's summer resort was without a fire brigade.

All of the town's regular firefighters quit their jobs Wednesday joining 17 volunteer firemen in protest against firing of their chief, George Pietz.

Dismissal of the chief was the latest development in a drive by a group of residents to clean up what they describe as widespread vice and corruption.

A community of wooden frame homes and cottages which is crammed with thousands of summer residents and visitors, mostly from Buffalo, NY, Crystal Beach has been the scene of a sharp controversy over law enforcement.

No one appeared particularly worried Wednesday night when the Crystal Beach Park Company indicated it would go ahead with its big fireworks display on the waterfront despite the lack of fire protection.

Both the fire chief and police chief, Gilbert Robertson, have been dismissed by the town council pending a probe into charges that the resort has become a "wide-open town" rampant with bootlegging and prostitution. There have also been charges of dope-peddling on a sizable scale.

Germany Moves Slowly On Television Programs

By HANNS NEUERBOURG.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Germany, which claims to be the birthplace of television, is only now getting a start on regular programs. If all goes according to schedule the Northwest German radio (NWDR) plans its first scheduled television program in Germany next fall.

The industry hopes to have sets on sale before that time so there will be an audience. At present there are only a few hundred sets which can receive television in West Germany, but the radio people hope sales will mushroom when the programs get rolling.

Britain and France have well-established television programs, and experimental programs have been broadcast for some time in Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Italy and The Netherlands.

According to reports, Communist East Germany is hurrying up its own plans for television. One story is that the "people's owned" radio industry is producing a TV set costing 60 East marks (about $30.)

West German firms will show their first models at the Berlin Industrial Fair next fall. Officials estimate that on a mass production basis, prices will be slightly under 1,000 Deutsche marks (about $240.)

Worst bottleneck for TV-set production is Germany's glassware industry which produces the container for the cathode ray tube. It is in the Soviet zone. The cathode ray tube—heart of the receiver—converts electrical energy into light energy, thus reproducing the image.

In pre-war Germany, the Nazis planned production of a "people's television receiver." They hailed Paul Nipkow, inventor of the "rotating scanning disc," as "father of television." Since 1935 several experimental telecasts were made but regular programs were never introduced.

German radio officials are considering the erection of more transmitters. The only transmitter so far is in Hamburg covering only the city area, with some 50 receivers in hotels and so-called "fernsehstuben" (television rooms).

These officials are far from optimistic about television's future in Germany. "Only a very limited program on a local level can be expected in the near future," said one. "It will take years until television will reach an extended international stage. Above all, it is a question of money."

Maritimes Musician In London Recital

LONDON — (CP) — Lloyd Peach, a promising clarinet player from Halifax, NS, and Bathurst, NB, gave his first major performance in Britain at a series of four concerts organized by the Overseas League.

His recital of chamber music was well received. Peach was picked to represent Canada at a concert aimed to demonstrate the capabilities of Commonwealth musicians.

A student at the Royal College of Music, Peach came to London in 1950 to study after winning top honors in his class at the Halifax festival three successive years starting in 1949. This gained him the Nova Scotia Talent Trust award and enabled him to achieve a long-cherished ambition.

Orillia, a town on Lake Simcoe—Mayor Wilbur Cramp has written the Attorney-General for advice regarding a possible investigation of police administration. The mayor suspended Police Chief W. G. Garson last Friday without informing other members of the council or making his reasons public.

Reds Promise Safe Conduct

TOKYO, July 7. (Saturday)—(AP)—Communist commanders today gave final approval to arrangements for preliminary cease-fire talks—five hours before their emissaries were scheduled to leave for Kaesong. In a midnight message, the top Red generals acknowledged the United Nations guarantee of safe conduct for their emissaries. The Allies already were putting the pledge into effect when the Red Pyongyang radio broadcast the eighth message in the series of radio negotiations. UN war planes were ordered to keep away from the highway down which Communist negotiators will travel today for cease-fire preliminary talks in Kaesong.

Lt.-Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East air forces commander, issued the order a few hours after opposing commanders completed arrangements by radio for a Sunday meeting—and guaranteed safe conduct to the emissaries.

The Communist delegation leaves Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital, at 5 a.m. Saturday (3 p.m. EDT today).

The Communist convoy will fly white flags as it travels down the bomb-pocked Pyongyang-Sariwon-Namchongjom highway to Kaesong, three miles south of parallel 38.

Weyland ordered his planes to make no attacks along the route after 4 a.m. Saturday (2 p.m. EDT today).

Carry Out Pledge

The order carried out the pledge of safe conduct made earlier in the day by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander. And it banned allied bombers from one of their favorite targets—the highway is a main Red supply artery to the western front.

Bombers and fighters also were ordered to make no attacks within a five-mile radius of Kaesong once the Red delegation reaches it. This carried out another pledge Ridgway made when he completed final arrangements for a meeting of three UN officers with three Red emissaries in the no man's land city.

The two delegations meet Sunday to arrange for a cease-fire session scheduled to start in Kaesong Tuesday.

The shooting will continue until an agreement is reached at the second meeting, and approved.

A single Communist plane ushered in Friday's fighting. It drop-

2 Airmen Die In Crash 2nd Near Trenton In Week

TRENTON, July 6. (CP)—Two RCAF pilots were killed Thursday when their Harvard-type training plane exploded in mid-air and crashed near Wooler, Ont., 15 miles north of here. RCAF officials at the Trenton air base identified the men as FO Bruce H. Hoggins, 29, of Winnipeg and Toronto, an instructor, and FO James A. Brown, 32, of North Bay and Sudbury, a student at the Trenton flying instructor's school. They said the men were on a routine training flight when the crash occurred.

Thursday's crash was the second in this area within a week in which RCAF pilots have been killed. On Sunday, a Harvard trainer of No. 400 City of Toronto Squadron crashed near Cobourg, killing FO's Garth Horricks and Dewar Laing.

The Texan trainer was operated by the Flying Instructors' School at the RCAF base here. Brown had recently been re-commissioned into the RCAF and was training to become an instructor.

Wing Drops Off

The plane dropped a wing as it passed over the farm of John Jamieson and crashed to the ground. Witnesses said the plane seemed to explode as it hit the ground.

Hillard Morrow and Carmen Richards of Wooler, who saw the crash, said the plane's engine exploded and the aircraft crashed out of control near a field where they were working. Wreckage was strewn over an area of 500 yards.

"The plane was making a left turn when a wing came off," said Bill Jamieson. "I heard a sizzling sound and looked up just in time to see the wing come off. The plane crashed, hitting the earth before the wing.

"When it hit it sounded just like a bomb. It had been flying at between 1,000 and 2,000 feet."

About 100 yards from the fuselage an opened parachute was found. Neither Bill Jamieson, his father John, nor Edward H. Sharpe, who saw the crash, had seen anyone attempt to bail out.

The light trainer hit with such force it made a crater in the field.

Destroyer Kills 100 Koreans

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—The Canadian destroyer Huron killed an estimated 100 North Koreans in a bombardment early this week during a patrol that took her within a few miles of Russian territory the Navy said today.

The Huron caught the North Koreans trying to repair a shattered railway embankment at night, first spotted them by the light of illumination rockets and then opened up with all guns from 2,000 yards out.

An estimated 300 to 500 men were caught by surprise and at least 100 were believed killed.

The repairs they made to a rail link that would have been used to send supplies to the front line were wrecked before the Huron, commanded by Cmdr. E. T. G. Madgwick of Halifax and Ottawa, pulled out.

The Huron was senior ship of a United Nations naval task element patrolling off the far northeast coast of Korea. American and Colombian ships joined her in frustrating other enemy attempts to reopen the east coast railway.

Being Late For Work Pays Off For Staff

MONTREAL, July 6 (CP)—Being late to work paid off today for employees of the Banque Canadienne Nationale in northend Rosemount—scene of two previous holdups since last February.

Caretaker Arthur Gagnon, 46, said when he entered the bank at 7.45 am, EDT, he was met by two masked bandidts who hid in the cellar after breaking in during the night. He was tied to a chair.

He said he told them he was carrying $95 which he needed for his sick wife. The bandits promised to take only $5 but instead stole $55.

Then, Gagnon told police, the pair squatted on the floor and began waiting for the bank employees to arrive.

For some unknown reason the whole staff was late and the robbers became panicky and fled with $55 of Gagnon's money.

NY Millionaire Ordered Jailed

NEW YORK, July 6 —(AP)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire leftist, was ordered committed to jail today for contempt of court in refusing to tell who posted $80,000 bail for four fugitive American Communist leaders.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan rejected a defence plea to continue the secretary of the civil rights congress bail fund on parole until his appeal is heard this afternoon in New Haven, Conn.

Real Western Funeral For Rodeo Performer

DALHART, Tex. July 6 (AP)—Several months ago, veteran rodeo performer Arthur Hoffman told friends he wanted a real Western funeral when he died.

Tuesday, Hoffman was killed in a bull-dogging event at the annual Clayton, NM, celebration.

Mourners, all clad in Western shirts and levis, gathered for the funeral Thursday afternoon.

Later, at the cemetery, the coffin bearing Hoffman's body and draped with his boots and saddle, was lowered into the grave. A Western band played "Headin' for the Last Roundup."

Canada's Dollar Reserves Up 400 Million From 1950

OTTAWA, July 6 (CP).—Canada's official reserves of United States dollars and gold climbed to $1,683,000,000 on June 30, the highest quarterly figure this year and a gain of more than $400,000,000 from last year, the Finance Department announced today.

These comparatively high reserves held by the Foreign Exchange Control Board, just about $100,000,000 below the all-time quarterly high of $1,789,000,000 on Sept. 30 last year, were gained in spite of a five-month deficit in foreign trade.

The trade deficit for the five months totalled about $300,000,000. Bank of Canada officials said an offestting factor would be the net flow of capital to Canada. No accurate estimate of the amount of capital coming to Canada in 1951 was available, but security sales in the first four months this year were well above sales for the same period a year ago.

The official reserves on June 30 were $30,000,000 higher than the $1,653,000,000 on March 31; $19,000,000 higher than the $1,664,000,000 on April 30 and $1,000,000 above the $1,682,000,000 on May 31.

On June 30 a year ago, the reserves stood at $1,255,000,000. All figures are in terms of United States dollars.

No break-down was immediately available as to how much of the reserves were in gold and how much in US dollars.

Fast Train Kills Girl Driver

On Way To Purchase Wedding Trousseau When Hit By Flyer

BRAMPTON, July 6. (CP)—Patricia Watkins of Guelph kissed her fiance good-bye today and started home to pick up her mother to go shopping for a trousseau. She was killed 15 minutes later when the automobile she was driving was struck by a fast passenger train at a crossing near here.

Miss Watkins, 20, was the daughter of Jack C. W. Watkins, chairman of the Guelph Board of Education. She was to have been married Aug. 18 to Jack Lindecker, 23, of Chicago, a student at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph.

A Canadian National Railways commuter train struck the car five miles west of Brampton. The body, trapped in the wreckage for three hours, was freed by workmen who cut away the chassis with a welding torch.

On Way To Shop

Miss Watkins left the L. and L. farms at Meadowvale, owned by an uncle of Mr. Lindecker, about 7 am for Guelph to pick up her mother and shop in Hamilton. The car was about three miles from the farm when struck. The train was estimated to be travelling at 60 miles an hour.

The car was carried a half mile on the locomotive and its motor thrown about 50 feet to the side of the right-of-way. One wheel was knocked off and flew into a field. Miss Watkins was pinned in the wreckage which was stuck to the front of the train until the train was reversed.

Coroner Dr. W. H. Brydon said the girl died instantly. Her neck was broken and she was crushed in behind the wheel.

The train crew were J. Corbett and William Hueston, both of Toronto, who told police the whistle was blown for the crossing.

Miss Watkins was employed in a Guelph office. She was a former student of the collegiate there. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constables Kane and Heaps of Port Credit.

Portal Resigns Over Red Tape

LONDON, July 6 — (AP) — Resignation of Lord Portal, Britain's atomic energy controller, was announced in the House of Lords Thursday as the government was criticized for allowing its atom-bomb program to fall behind Russia's.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Supply said Lord Portal, wartime commander of the Royal Air Force, now "has work of his own that he would like to do."

But Lord Cherwell, wartime scientific adviser to Winston Churchill, told the Lords that Lord Portal was displeased by the haze of red tape and lack of progress under the government's present atomic energy organization.

Lord Cherwell said Britain not only failed to keep pace with the United States but fell far behind the Soviet Union in the development of an atom bomb of their own.

Lord Alexander, replying for the government, said there had been minor troubles but that no case of action or inaction by the Ministry of Supply was impeding the progress of the country's atomic energy program.

Kennedy Seeking 2,500 Germans

TORONTO, July 6 — (CP) — Attempts are being made to bring 2,500 German farm workers to Ontario, Agriculture Minister Kennedy announced Thursday night.

The Germans would be brought out by the federal and provincial governments and would contract to work on farms for two years. Men would be paid $50 a month and board and women $40 and board.

Scarcity of farm labor prompted the move, Mr. Kennedy said. He felt the German workers would make a good type of settler for Canadian farm areas.

Tariff Concessions Cancelled For Reds

WASHINGTON, July 6—(AP)—The United States has given notice to Russia and its major satellites it is cancelling all American tariff concessions on goods they ship to the United States.

The state department disclosed the action today.

President Truman took the step at the direction of Congress, which has sought to deprive Communist areas of all American trade benefits.

Truman's action means that duties on goods from Communist countries will revert at the rates charged in 1930 before the US cut tariffs under its reciprocal trade programs.

Twitch Or Swoon

LONDON, July 6. (AP)—British soldiers were advised today to guard against swoons on the parade ground by steadily twitching their leg muscles. It was the latest development in the case of the fainting Fusiliers, which has preoccupied the British Press for weeks. Members of the armed forces all over Britain have been collapsing at formations. Most agree that spells of hot weather have been a factor.

Princess Likely To Start Trip Last Of Sept.

LONDON, July 6 — (CP) — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh probably will sail for Canada in the last week of September, a spokesman for the Princess said today.

Arrangements are still in the elementary stage, the informant said, but it seems likely that the royal couple will cross the Atlantic in a Canadian Pacific liner, possibly the Empress of France or the Empress of Canada.

The Empress of France sails from Liverpool Tuesday, Sept. 25, and the Empress of Canada leaves a week later.

It was also learned that Elizabeth and Philip are considering a suggestion, understood to have been made by External Affairs Minister Pearson, that part of the royal tour in Canada should be made by plane.

"The idea is that an aircraft should be used to cover some of the vast distances that would be encountered in Canada," the spokesman said. "Then, when it came to a section of particular scenic or historic interest, the party would travel by train.

No Decision Yet

"We are considering the idea, but no decision has been reached. It is far too early to say."

From a court official in daily touch with the princess, it was learned that Elizabeth always has been "very keen" to see Canada's west coast—perhaps because of the glowing accounts brought back from British Columbia by the King's former assistant private secretary, Sir Alan Lascelles. The King and Queen visited Canada in 1939.

It was also suggested here that Elizabeth will be specially interested in French Canada. She speaks French fluently and has a special interest in French culture.

Two Canadian Highland regiments, the 48th Highlanders and the Argyll Sutherlands, are sure to see the Princess, who is their honorary colonel-in-chief. She is also honorary colonel-in-chief of Britain's Grenadier Guards, and thus has an indirect connection with Canada's Grenadiers.

"The Princess has a direct personal link with the two Highland regiments, and it's safe to say she will be seeing them at some point in the tour," an informant said.

Considerable Discussion

It is understood there was a "considerable discussion" before the royal couple decided to accept the invitation to visit Canada. There is no "master plan" for the royal visits, and a spokesman said it seemed natural that Canada as the oldest of the Dominions would have a prior claim.

The only other Dominion Princess Elizabeth has visited is South Africa. Early in 1947, she accompanied the King and Queen and Princess Margaret on the first visit ever paid by a reigning sovereign to the Union and to the adjoining British territories.

Dick Savitt Wins Wimbledon Singles

WIMBLEDON, England, July 6 (Reuters).—Dick Savitt, Orangeville, NJ, defeated Australia's Ken McGregor 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 today to win the Wimbledon men's singles tennis title.

In trouncing the big Aussie in straight sets before 15,000 spectators on the centre court, Savitt became the first player since 1938 to win both the Wimbledon and Australian titles. Don Budge won all three major crowns, including the American, in that year.

Savitt, former captain of the Cornell University tennis team, displayed a brilliant all-court today. He was in almost complete charge all the way except for a brief period when he permitted McGregor to win the first three games of the second set.

Canada Has Big Hand In Decision

Claxton, Senior Men Go To Washington For 3-Way Parley

OTTAWA, July 6. (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton announced today he will meet shortly with the defence ministers of the United States and United Kingdom to try to hammer out a common policy on a standard rifle.

He welcomed announcement by Defence Minister Shinwell that the United Kingdom has agreed to talks on whether the British Army should adopt a new .28 calibre rifle.

The London announcement followed Mr. Claxton's intervention of a couple of weeks ago when he wrote to Mr. Shinwell and Defence Secretary Marshall of the US to urge all possible efforts to reach agreement on a standard rifle.

Canada now is standardizing on the .30 calibre American Garand.

Mr. Claxton said senior officers and experts will accompany him to Washington to meet with Mr. Shinwell and Mr. Marshall probably "within the next few weeks."

Spectacular Development

His statement represented the most spectacular development in Canada's long-standing but generally behind-the-scenes efforts to bring Britain and the US closer together in adopting new arms.

Both he and Opposition Leader George Drew recently deplored failure of the two major Atlantic Pact powers to reach agreement on the rifle.

Catch Prowler Inside Palace

LONDON, July 6 (AP). — A man found prowling inside Buckingham Palace fled to a garden and was nabbed by British police before dawn today.

He was removed to a mental institution to await a sanity hearing.

Police said a woman member of the palace staff spotted the intruder, who had managed to get into the building despite elaborate security precautions set up since a sailor climbed through a palace window last October.

The woman called guards, who found the intruder lurking in the shrubbery. The arrested man's name was not disclosed.

The Queen and Princess Margaret were at the palace. The King is convalescing at Windsor Castle.

HMCS Ontario Pays California Visit

OAKLAND, Calif., July 6 (CP)—The Canadian naval training ship Ontario is docked here for a four-day good will visit.

The Ontario, on a 13-day training cruise out of Esquimalt, BC, boomed a 21-gun salute as she steamed under the Golden Gate bridge yesterday.

The vessel recently was on patrol duty in the Pacific and served in convoys bound for Korea.

Eastern Canada Suffering Worst Farm Help Shortage

OTTAWA, July 6 — (CP) — Eastern Canadian farmers are experiencing the greatest farm labor shortage in peacetime history, eastern farm representatives said today.

Meeting with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the representatives urged:

1. The problem be placed before the national advisory committee on manpower for "serious study" to find some way of easing farm labor pressure.

2. The immigration department be asked to get more farm labor from other countries, screening immigrants more effectively for "suitability and dependability." In many cases, said the group, immigrants directed to Canadian farms soon deserted rural life for the city and the factory.

R. A. Stewart of Almonte, presiding over the meeting, said the big problem in farm labor was that the fighting forces and defence industry were draining off large numbers of young farmers.

Food production he added must be considered a vital feature of the nation's emergency program. The government therefore had a responsibility in assisting farmers in getting sufficient and suitable farm help.

Represented at the meeting were farm co-operatives of Ontario and Quebec, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Union the Catholic Farmers of Quebec, tre Quebec Co-operative Federee and Maritime Agriculture Federations.

Britain Approaches Iran With Plan To Set Up Board

LONDON, July 6. (Reuters)—The government today announced it is approaching Iran immediately with a view to setting up the board of supervision for the Iranian oil industry proposed Thursday by the International Court. Earlier today Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh turned down flatly the world court's suggestion for a "freeze" in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. He made his statement just after a British embassy spokesman had warned that the British oil men will quit Iran if she refuses to abide by Thursday's court proposal at The Hague.

The ailing premier told students who visited his bedside: "We shall go ahead with nationalization. Iran is not prepared to recognize the jurisdiction of the world court to make a ruling on a matter which is not within its competence."

(In London, the British cabinet called an emergency session for this afternoon as the oil conflict moved toward a new crisis.)

Mossadegh said the court "made recommendations exactly as required by the British government. It is a pity that strong nations are able to use international organizations to impose their will on small weak nations."

Evacuation Inevitable

The British embassy spokesman said evacuation of all British oil men from the country was inevitable if the Iranians rejected the court's proposal.

British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd is expected to see Iran's Foreign Minister Nagher Kazemi Saturday to present the names of two British representatives to the joint conciliation board suggested by the court.

The International Court of Justice sitting at The Hague proposed Thursday that Britain and Iran agree on an interim plan for keeping Iran's oil flowing until the court reached a decision in the bitter dispute. Much of Iran's oil production goes into Europe's defence effort.

Iran rejected the court proposals while British officials termed the court's proposals "very welcome to us."

An embassy spokesman said that evacuation of all British personnel of the Anglo-Iranan Oil Company was inevitable if Iran stuck by its decision not to accept the court's proposal and go ahead with and seize full control of the AIOC's giant holdings.

Withdrawal of British technicians would mean a virtual closedown of AIOC's giant operation. There is little hope that Iran

$10 Million Damage To Crops In Ontario

TORONTO, July 6 (CP)—Wet weather in Ontario during the last two weeks has caused "a lot of damage" to what had been predicted as a bumper farm crop, Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Thursday night. Some estimates of the loss run as high as $10,000,000.

Heaviest damage has been in hay. In some cases, half the hay in the field will be ruined by the dampness, Mr. Kennedy said. The rest will need two weeks to dry out before it can be moved into the barns.

"There has been a lot of damage, but if we have dry weather from now on, there will still be a good crop," the minister said.

Airmen Rescue Three Boys In Quinte Swamp

TRENTON, July 6 (CP). — An RCAF plane on floats taxied into a swamp late Thursday to rescue three boys in a punt blown into the marshy area on the south shore of the Bay of Quinte by a sudden windstorm.

Rescued were Gary Reid, 12, Ronald Ferguson, 6, and Robert Bordeau, 5, all of RR 2, Trenton. All told, three RCAF planes and three boats took part in the hour-long scouring of the Bay of Quinte near Coronado Park.

According to rescuers, the youngsters found an old fishing punt tied up on the shores of Coronado Park, a housing development near the Trenton air station. They set out onto the Bay in it, and were blown about a mile and a half to the far shore by a sudden windstorm.

The punt finally came to rest in a marshy area, hemmed in by reeds. After they had been missing from home for three hours, anxious parents notified the air station and rescue teams were sent out.

Reeds Problem

In addition to the Norseman, Harvard and Beechcraft aircraft took part in the search, as well as an RCAF tender and motor skiff and a motor launch operated by Bill Gidman, of Trenton.

Gidman was the first to spot the youngsters, but was unable to bring his launch through the reeds close enough to effect a rescue — in fact, he snapped his propellor trying. He signalled the Norseman, flying nearby, and it made a pontoon landing, taxied into the marsh and rescued the boys.

Piloted by Flt.-Lt. Ron Gilmour with FO. A. O. Piper, the Norseman took the youngsters back to the air station where they were picked up by their worried parents.

4 RCAF Planes In Collision

CENTRALIA, Ont., July 6 (CP) —One air force flying instructor was killed and three escaped uninjured following a four-plane midair collision of four Harvard training planes early today in the Dashwood area, 32 miles northwest of London.

The dead pilot's name was withheld pending notification to next of kin.

Flying Officers E. D. G. Price, D. E. Donaldson of Lethbridge, Alta. and D. T. Rivoire of Ottawa all were able to land their planes.

Details of the accident were not yet known. The planes are thought to have "slid together" during an air manoeuvre.

UK Mountain Climber To Attempt Everest

LONDON, July 6—(Reuters)—Eric Shipton, Britain's most experienced mountain climber, disclosed today he will lead a new attempt to climb Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain in the Himalayas.

Shipton, 43, has climbed higher than any living human being.

He said his attempt on Everest will be an adventure into the unknown—the first attempt from the uncharted south side and the first in winter.

Shipton said his expedition will probably include three British mountaineers or possibly five. The main purpose of the experition would be to map and photograph the unknown south face.

The government of Nepal has given the climbers permission to climb Everest from the south. This is the first time that the mountain has been attacked from Nepal. During the last 60 years all other expeditions have started the ascent from the north face in Tibet.

Cap Chat Plans To Rebuild, 300 Homeless

CAP CHAT, Que., July 6 (CP)—The Red Cross today estimated there were at least 300 residents left homeless in this Gaspe Peninsula fishing and lumbering village as a result of yesterday's fire.

Leo McLaren, a Rimouski, Que., engineer and disaster relief chairman for that city ravaged by a worse blaze last year, arrived here early today and set up four committees to take care of the dispossessed families.

He said a registration committee of three Quebec City Red Cross girls established there counted 275 persons definitely homeless with more to be registered. Some 37 homes, a store and a small woodwork factory were destroyed in the fire.

During the night, firefighters from Rimouski and Mont Joli completed the work of stamping out smouldering ruins that left a gaping hole on the west side of this town of 2,500 population.

Mayor Gerard Cote, who estimated the loss at $300,000 said he was preparing a reconstruction plan to be submitted to the provincial government for assistance. He gave no details.

Relief Headquarters

Meanwhile, the Red Cross and volunteer Cap Chat residents set up relief headquarters in a boys' college. Each homeless man, woman and child today received a voucher for $1 to purchase food. Supplies were plentiful.

This aid will be continued "for a few days," a Red Cross official said.

Beds and blankets for 100 persons arrived from Quebec during the night and were distributed to persons in need.

Thursday night, all the homeless were taken in by friends and relatives, eliminating the need of communal dormitories.

Plans were being made to house 10 families in classrooms of the college if the need arises.

Except for the odd family, all owned their own homes — small wooden dwellings that were eaten by the wind-driven flames in 4½ hours.

Started In Store

The fire started in the former home of Euclide Gosselin who had converted the building into a store.

The Rev. Charles Parent said "at first it looked like an ordinary fire in a store."

The cure of Cap Chat, who was at Rimouski when a $20,000,000 conflagration wiped out part of the town last May 6, said: "It did not occur to me that this might be a repetition of what happened at Rimouski...."

Shortly after noon, the firefighters, helped by steady rain, were able to bring the fire under control.

Cap Chat, some 250 miles from Quebec City, has no waterworks system and salt water had to be pumped from the St. Lawrence River a half-mile away.

A week ago, property-owners rejected by referendum a proposed $200,000 municipal sewer and waterworks system.

Mayor Cote said the plan will be placed before property owners again shortly.

Offers of relief started to come in Thursday.

R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa automobile magnate, who spends his summers nearby, sent a $5,000 personal gift.

An offer of provincial government aid came from Hon. Onesime Gagnon, provincial treasurer.

METEORIC CRATER?—A scientific survey party of the department of mines and technical surveys has left to investigate this giant depression in Ontario's Algonquin Park. First noticed on this aerial photo taken for a geology survey, it is believed to be a meteoric crater of unknown age. Nearest town is Brent on the C.N.R. line some five miles south. The photo was taken from 35,000 feet, and the depression is about 1¾ miles in diameter. This would make it much larger than the famous Arizona crater and slightly smaller than the one found in Quebec's Ungava district last year.

ped a few small bombs near Allied positions on the Western front, about 90 miles from Kaesong. UN planes were back in the air on rocketing and bombing strikes after flying only 470 missions Thursday.

Relatively Quiet

"No significant action" developed on the ground, the US Eighth Army reported in its Friday morning communique, "and the front remained relatively quiet."

In general the roaring, killing war—that has cost the Communists more than 1,000,000 casualties by UN estimates, and the Allies one-fourth as many—was at a virtual standstill.

The Communist delegation will leave the Pyongyang area at 9 am Saturday (3 pm EDT Friday). It will travel in five jeeps and five trucks, each bearing a white flag.

Allied emissaries will make the trip Sunday morning. They will travel by helicopter or jeep, depending on the weather.

Gen. Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Gen. Peng Teh-huai of Chinese forces suggested the allies travel by jeep regardless of weather—"for their more certain safety and to cut down the possibility of misunderstanding."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN commander, promptly replied:

"My delegates will proceed by helicopter or jeep as indicated by the weather."

Poor Communications?

The Communist suggestion they travel by road may have been an admission of their poor communications. Red prisoners taken in recent days on some sectors had not heard about the armistice talks. Red radios have said poor communication was the reason Kim and Peng didn't agree to holding the meetings earlier as Ridgway had suggested.

The Red Generals' message on Friday said "We undertake to assure . . . safe conduct" of the UN delegation.

In contrast, Ridgway flatly assured the Communist commanders their "convoy will be immune from attack by my forces."

Ridgway also guaranteed that the area within five miles of Kaesong will be respected as a neutral zone from the moment the Communist representatives arrive.

Prices Hold Steady On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, July 6—(CP) — Prices held steady at their higher levels as the session progressed on the stock market today.

Industrials posted increases ranging from fractions to more than a point. Papers led the way with a solid list of issues ahead and agricultures, foods, utilities, textiles, liquors and retail stores followed. Steels, refining oils and manufacturing companies were mixed. Constructions and banks eased.

Consolidated Smelters headed the otherwise fractionally ahead Base Metal section with a jump of $1.25.

Western oils were up pennies in early trading but then became fairly mixed.

Senior golds were mixed with little change while a handful of secondary golds edged upward.

Children Blamed For Warehouse Fire

WINDSOR, July 6 — (CP) — Children playing with matches are blamed for a fire Thursday night that damaged a shed-warehouse at 1187 Wyandotte East and destroyed antique furniture valued at several thousand dollars.

The shed, used as a combination warehouse and workshop by Nicholas Kessler, antique furniture dealer, contained valuable furniture which was being reconditioned for sale.

Origin of the fire is supposed to be in a pile of refuse against one wall of the frame building. It is believed children set fire to the refuse and ran away.

Progress Made On Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The proposed text of a Japanese peace treaty reached the final Tcrossing stage today in the wake of reports that the United States is determined to see it signed this summer.

The state department began distributing a revised draft to 15 other countries which fought Japan in the Pacific war. All but one—the Soviet Union—have indicated they are ready to accept it. Only minor changes in wording are expected.

If, as is expected, Russia refuses to sign, the announced plan of the other countries is to go ahead without delay.

Informed officials here said Thursday that the United States is determined to get a final settlement this summer regardless of the outcome of cease-fire talks in Korea.

Two separate pacts, expected to be signed at the same time, are about ready. One is a treaty with Tokyo authorizing the United State to retain troops in and near Japan. The other is a three-power security arrangement among the US, Australia and New Zealand.

This was designed with a view of the possibility that it might be broadened some day into a Pacific counterpart of the North Atlantic Treaty of mutual defence.

RCAF Changes Vancouver Setup

OTTAWA, July 6—(CP)—The RCAF today announced that it has switched control over its air force organization in Vancouver from North West Air Command at Edmonton to Air Defence Command, St. Hubert, Que.

The Vancouver segment of the RCAF is having its name switched, too, from group headquarters to 12 air defence group headquarters.

The move said the RCAF is the result of a general shift in western air force organization already announced. On Aug. 1 North West Air Command at Edmonton becomes known as the Tactical Air Group, and the Winnipeg RCAF group becomes known as 14 Training group, headquarters. Winnipeg will take over functional control over new training stations being formed in western Canada.

The Vancouver group will continue under the command of Group Capt. J. A. Easton, 42, of Brockville, and will be responsible for general air operations in that area.

Grounds Of Humanity

The spokesman said the evacuation would have to be made "on the grounds of humanity." It would be inhuman to leave technicians sweltering in the heat of the Persian Gulf with no work to do, he said.

Hussein V. Navab, Iranian minister in The Hague, said Thursday night, immediately after the judges' decision there, that Iran considered the dispute outside the court's jurisdiction.

In the southern oil town of Abadan, 30,000 cheering Iranians watched an hour-long parade of Iranian troops, sailors and mechanized units to mark "Id Elfiter"—feast day after the fast of Ramadan.

Their loudest cheers went to a dozen American-made tanks, driven by Iranians.

(The troopship Empress of Australia left Nicosia, Cyprus, today for Port Said, at the head of the Suez Canal which leads through to the Red Sea and Persian Gulf. About 200 British soldiers, who had been due to sail in her to Britain, were told they would not be going immediately.

(Officials refused to confirm or deny the ship might go to Abadan to evacuate the British oil men, if necessary).

Honeymooners In 2nd Crash

BELLEVILLE, July 6. (CP)—Honeymooners Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Arenobine Thursday were involved in their second traffic accident since they set out from New Jersey.

The couple and three other persons were injured in a collision involving a truck and four cars on No. 2 Highway six miles west of here. The crash tied up traffic for almost an hour while provincial police untangled the wrecked vehicles.

Taken to Belleville General Hospital were: Mr. and Mrs. Arenobine, Mrs. Beatrice Fernburg of New York City, William Cummings of Massachusetts and William A. Irwin of Belleville. Mrs. Fernburg received a fractured pelvis, the other four fairly extensive lacerations.

According to police, the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Fernburg's husband swung out to pass an eastbound motor transport, driven by Paul Wycott of Rossmore. Led by Cummings' vehicle, the other three cars were heading west.

When Cummings saw the New York car coming, he jammed on his brakes in an attempt to avoid a crash. Fernburg's car collided, however, and in the confusion cars driven by Cummings and Irwin also became involved. Mrs. Fernburg was flung to the road by the impact.

In a statement, Mr. Claxton said the purpose of the conference "would be to consider the situation growing out of the recent announcement by the UK that it intended to adopt a .28 automatic rifle and the intention of the US to remain, at least for the present, on the .30 calibre. Questions of production and further development of other small arms and weapons, as well as the rifle, would be considered, as well as future procedures looking forward toward standardization.

"To have a standard round (bullet) is even more important than to have standard weapons. If agreement cannot be reached at this time on the rifle and its round, every effort should be made to develop standard interchangeable rounds for some weapons used in as many of the treaty nations as possible.

Strong Factor

"The importance of this is seen when it is recalled that Canada, as a large surplus producer of military equipment, transferred to allied countries, particularly Britain, more than a million small arms and machine guns and some billions of rounds of small arms ammunition during the Second World War. One of the strongest factors on our side is the industrial power of the treaty nations, including the immense industrial strength of the United States and Canada. There should be teamwork in the use of industrial power to match the teamwork we must have of the fighting forces."

The meeting probably will be held in Washington.

The defence ministers' findings will not be final. The results of the parley will be sent to the standing group of the North Atlantic Treaty powers in Washington.

Earlier today, Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell told the Commons Britain agreed to ministerial talks on the rifle after special requests from NATO nations, most of whom use the US .30 rifle.

Got Repercussions

Decision to start producing the new semi-automatic rifle was announced by Shinwell last month. There were immediate repercussions both here and among officials of the other Atlantic Pact countries, most of which use the standard .30-calibre rifle.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill complained that use of different - calibre guns would seriously complicate the ammunition supply problem of the pact partners in the event of war.

Shinwell said Britain had agreed to the talks after being "approached by other North Atlantic Treaty countries." He did not name them.

Shinwell said a joint military "working party" of the Atlantic powers has recommended a standard-.28-calibre rifle for all treaty members. The recommendation has not been accepted by the United States, among other members.

Defending Britain's decision to go ahead with the new gun, he said all of Britain's technical experts "agree that this is the best rifle yet produced or projected."

The present British army rifle, the bolt-action Lee Enfield, dates back to the Boer war and uses .30-calibre ammunition, the standard calibre of the United States, Canada and most other Atlantic Pact armies.

The new semi-automatic gun is cocked and reloaded by the recoil of each shot. Shinwell said it would double the rate of fire.

Scientist Urges Co-operation With Argentine

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, July 6 — (AP) — Argentina's H-bomb scientist Thursday replied to critics in a magazine article, expressing surprise at the criticism and urging western atomic scientists to cooperate in Argentina's studies. Many scientists had said the claims were impossible.

The article, by Ronald Richter, was published in the United Nations World Magazine, a private publication not officially connected with the United Nations.

The magazine commented that Richter's "implications are extremely significant." It did not amplify.

Richter and President Peron of the Argentine announced last March 24 attainment of a great and hitherto-unrealized scientific goal. This was production of thermonuclear reactions.

That means use of great heat (possibly millions of degrees) to cause atoms to fuse together. This fusion produces a new different and heavier atom. It also releases a vast store of heat over and above the heat used to do the fusing.

Won't Make Bombs

Because this fusion is the secret of the H-bomb the Argentine announcement was credited as a possible H-bomb step. Because Richter said Argentine knows how to make an A-bomb, the announcement was also credited as a possible A-bomb development. Both Peron and Richter said the Argentine does not plan to make any bombs.

As in his March announcement, Richter today did not say enough for his claims to be found either right or wrong.

He says the Argentine process uses materials that no country can monopolize by controlling the raw materials.

Richter says also he is working on high-temperature physics and tells of producing "zones" of tremendous heat. Such zones are not theoretically impossible, but no one else has published claims of attaining them.

Report Soviet Made 19,000 Planes In 1950

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The magazine Aviation Age says today that the Soviet Union produced more than 19,000 planes last year as compared to 3,000 turned out in the United States.

"The sprawling, non-decentralized Red aero industry is probably operating at somewhat less than half its potential capacity," the magazine says in an issue entirely devoted to Red air power.

"This industry is represented, according to best unofficial information, by 25 to 28 major airframe plants, between 12 and 15 power-plant factories, and possibly some odd makers of component parts."

The magazine, a trade and technical publication, says Russian MIG-15s are more heavily armed and faster in the climb than "the best jets the USAF now has in service."

1950 Production

Soviet air production in 1950, said Aviation Age, included 8,200 fighters, 3,700 light and medium bombers; 1,200 heavy bombers, 1,800 transports and 4,100 trainers and miscellaneous aircraft.

Russia now is divided into six army areas, the magazine reports, with two air armies attached to each area.

"Present operational strength is believed by reliable Swiss sources to be approximately 1,000 aircraft per air army," the magazine says.

Russian naval air strength was estimated at 2,000 planes of all types. The Soviet, the magazine says, has completed a 20,000-ton aircraft carrier and has two others—one of 23,000 tons and another of 25,000 tons — "well along in construction."

Critics Praise Barbara Ann

LONDON, July 6 (CP)—British critics were uniformly favorable today in their reviews of "Rose Marie on Ice," starring Canada's Barbara Ann Scott, which opened a second-season run Thursday night.

Barbara Ann, playing the title role for the second straight year, was described by the Evening Star as "demure and lovely." Her skating partner, Michael Kirby of Toronto and North Bay, performed "excellently" as Rose Marie's lover, the Star said.

The Daily Mail called "Rose Marie" the "fastest, brightest, most suptuous show in London."

One of the classics of the London stage, "Rose Marie" was transferred to ice for the first time last year.

The combination of tilting tunes and graceful skating against a background of Quebec and Alberta scenery made it an instant success. Promoter Tom Arnold is said to have spent £50,000 on this year's production, including £2,500 a week for the Ottawa skating star.

US Planes Bring Japanese Home

TOKYO, July 6 — (AP)— A marine transport plane today catapulated 19 bewildered, Rip Van Winkle Japanese soldiers from the middle of the Pacific war into post-war Japan.

Last Saturday they surrendered to the United States navy. They had held out on tiny Anatahan Island in the Marianas for nearly six years after the war ended. They had insisted the war still was going on.

A 6½-hour trip from Guam brought the Japanese soldiers to Haneda airport outside Tokyo.

A battery of scrambling cameramen gave the 19 men a hectic welcome. In glum silence they stared at flashing light bulbs and grinding cameras.

All but two had their hair close-cropped, in the style of the old Japanese Imperial Army. They wore United States army boots and khaki trousers.

All seemed healthy, tanned to a dark brown.

Questioned on their feelings about reaching Japan, they replied "happy." A soft light kindled in their eyes as they answered. Then they turned away and lapsed into silence, as if afraid to talk.

New Apartments

LONDON, July 6 — (AP)— A new block of apartments, built by American donations, was opened yesterday in London's badly-blitzed East End as a memorial to the late American ambassador John G. Winant. The 12 new apartments, to be known as Winant House, were built with funds donated by 130 Americans.

Don't Need Blackouts

LOS ANGELES, July 6 — (AP) —Modern radar has precluded the necessity of complete blackouts in case of attack, Rear-Admiral R. H. Berry said Thursday. Berry, Los Angeles civil defence director, said in an interview that radar-equipped bombers do not need lights to find their targets in the dark. But there undoubtedly will be "brown outs" and "dim outs" of street lights and blackout of bright advertising signs.

TORONTO, July 6 — (CP) — The Rev. Henry Garbutt said today that, no matter what happens in his strife-torn east-end parish, he won't resign.

Hearings conducted by a commission appointed by the Anglican Bishop of Toronto into a congregational dispute ended Thursday night. Mr. Garbutt then issued a statement in which he said:

"We have not yet received the bishop's decision, but I feel that it is going to call for my resignation. Whatever happens, I'm going to stay with my congregation, who have stood loyally with me."

He added in an interview that if Bishop A. R. Beverley had sent "the troublemakers" home when they first went to him with complaints, all the confusion and pubicity would nhace benfwyp publicity would have been avoided "and we could have been at peace and harmony."

Critics of Mr. Garbutt objected to his dismissal of a curate over what Mr. Garbutt termed "improper conduct," his reprimanding of eight parishioners for creating dissension and to his alleged interference with youth groups' Saturday night dances.

The Melting-Pot Notion

On Wednesday we commented favourably on the increased immigration into Canada from northern European countries. A correspondent whose letter appears on this page apparently read this as a slight on central European immigrants. No disparagement was intended. To say that northern Europeans are among our best immigrants, does not deny excellence to Britons, central Europeans, Chinese or African negroes. In fact, some of the greatest contributors to Canadian material progress, science and culture have been central European immigrants, or their descendants. But Canadian history of mass immigration shows that northern Europeans have excelled.

* * *

Danes, Dutch, Germans and Scandinavian people merge into Canada well and have to make fewer adjustments to our climate than, say, central Europeans. They also belong to the same northern stock from which the majority of Canadians (French-speaking and English-speaking) are descended. Most of the Quebec people are Normans, the same Normans who settled in England after William of Normandy conquered that country. The Normans themselves came from Scandinavia.

* * *

There is no pride in 'Aryan' race, or belief in 'racial purity' or supremacy in stating that northern Europeans are among the most desirable immigrants Canada could have. Is it wrong or ignoble to prefer one's kind as neighbours? Is a desire for homogeneity in a nation uncouth and harmful? A nation is made up of people who live along streets, in rural concessions, in communities. Do not these people prefer neighbours of similar backgrounds, domestic habits and appearance? Why should Canada, liberal host to thousands of immigrants of all kinds, not have a preference about those whom it admits to citizenship?

* * *

Homogeneity can be carried too far. If it excludes the pepper of heterogeneity, of people with widely varying tongues, minds and idiosyncracies, then uninspiring and unprogressive uniformity results. Nevertheless, a nation is not a nation unless it has a basic, homogenous stratum. Canada has that now, in racial characteristics. According to the last census, 49.68 per cent. of the population was of British Isles origin; 30.27 of French origin, 7.84 per cent. of Dutch, German and Scandinavian origin. The United States has only gradually achieved the homogeneity which Canada has always had; it has taken several generations for the melting pot to do its work.

* * *

Principal Cyril James of McGill University warned a Dominion Day London audience of the perils of a "melting pot" plan to populate Canada. Britons and northern Europeans have a long tradition of political democracy, good domestic standards, and courageous enterprise. And they are used to wrestling with stubborn climates. Other races in central, eastern and southern Europe and in Asia have not the same experience. As immigrants of alien philosophies and ways of life come to Canada there must be maintained a preponderance of people who can keep the basic principles and attitudes in balance.

* * *

A national melting-pot will not do its work if there are not enough ingredients to give the mixture the desired national flavour. The amalgam would be foreign to the country's traditions and nature. If thirty million central Europeans are added to fourteen million Canadians, how can the result be Canadian in the sense of a Canada now motivated by ideals of Saxon, Celtic and Norman character? Even if the American melting-pot has cooked up a splendid national people in the United States, does Canada want such a result? Must it, too, be a melting-pot? Cannot we get people who are already brewed to our taste? One of the spectacles—and problems—of the United States has been hosts of Americans of excitable, capricious southern European disposition trying to act like Pilgrim Fathers. That is not the breed Canadians are now. Must we change it?

"Right On Out . . ."

The phrase, "out of this world," has been in popular use in varying degree for more than a decade; in fact, if we remember correctly, the first time we heard it was about fifteen years ago, and we still hear it occasionally. It means, of course, in popular use, the utmost in human achievement or quality, and is not to be taken literally. There is, however, a growing and increasingly popular field of fiction in which going out of this world is written about freely as an actual fact—the field of science fiction, in which interstellar flight and spatial travel are used as commonplace bones on which many a seemingly fantastic body is moulded.

We were reminded of this by a sentence in a news story published on Wednesday, about the United States Navy plane that set a new speed and altitude record. The speed was estimated by one experienced observer at about 1,300 miles per hour, who based his estimate on the fact that the plane barely failed to hit the mark at which it was aimed —twice the speed of sound at high altitude, 1,320 m.p.h. And the arresting sentence was spoken by the man who piloted the plane at this terrific speed, who said that when the throttles of his jet engines were opened all-out, "you feel like you're going right on out of the world."

Some day, we suppose, a pilot will open the throttles of an airship and experience a similar sensation, for the very good reason that he will actually be going out of the world. Some men of science assure us that the only drawbacks now are human limitations and lack of sufficiently impervious metal or material to be used as a protective shell; they contend that the development of atomic power has made possible the speeds necessary to travel in outer space. Presumably, they feel that the construction of propulsion engines to use this power is merely a matter of application.

It would be unwise to scoff at these opinions or at predictions of flight through space to other planets. Such flight, it is true, may be beyond human limitations, but none may say with certainty that it is. We can remember reading of the mocking criticism drawn by some of the stories of Jules Verne, by persons who felt that his submarines, airplanes and other contraptions were out of this world in another and derogatory sense. But the vivid imagination of Jules Verne fell far short of visualizing the wonders that science has brought to the world today, and it is possible that today's prophets of scientific wonders to come in travelling out of this world, to and from other worlds, see no more than the commonplace of a century to come.

Three Home-Made Wine Permits

The twenty-fourth annual report of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario has lately come to hand. It is for the year April 1st, 1949 to March 31st, 1950. It contains the usual statistics of sales, costs and profits, and some odd bits of information.

Last year (to March 31, 1950) Ontario wineries used 10,503 tons of grapes in the manufacture of their wines, and thirteen tons of cherries. Ontario imbibers must be drinking less native wine, or the manufacturers fear that they may, for last year's tonnage of grapes which went into the presses was smaller than in any other post-war year. In the twelve months ending March 31st, 1946, the industry used 12,573 tons of grapes (but only four tons of cherries). In the next two years the tonnage increased; the 1948 figure was 17,829 tons of grapes, 72 tons of cherries. That was the peak. As we have said, the tonnage of grapes used during the twelve months ending March 31, 1950, was 10,503; of cherries, 13. The sale of domestic wines in the Province also reached a peak in 1948—2,212,118 gallons having been sold. Sales declined thereafter, to 2,068,754 gallons during the twelve months ending March 31 of last year.

It is a wry comment on the age of Ontario wines that the rise or fall in sales coincides precisely with the rise or fall in the tonnage of grapes used. This would indicate that the wine is bottled and sold the very same year it is manufactured. No vintage stuff for Ontario! Does that account for the fact that only 4,932 gallons of Ontario wine were exported during the fiscal year ending last March?

We almost forgot to set down what we started out to say—another tid-bit from the Liquor Control Board's report. Regulations require that any person manufacturing more than a hundred gallons of home-made wine must obtain a permit from the Board. The making of wines at home must be either a secret or a small matter, for during the year ending March 1950, only three permits were issued.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Is there any greater embarrassment than wearing squeaky boots in a public library?

The earth is estimated to receive only one two-billionth of the sun's heat. And on some days it is more than enough.

The re-election of Mr. De Valera as Eire president creates a near stalemate in the Irish parliament which is so like England's that we wonder how it was ever permitted to happen in Ireland.

We like the clarity of mind exhibited by the eleven-year-old girl who was asked on her geography examination to define a peninsula and a gulf. She wrote: "A peninsula is a piece of land with three sides of water; a gulf is three sides of land with one piece of water."

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: What is the proper name of the little 'heat bug' which has a high-pitched hum and is common in this district in hot July weather?

ANSWER: I presume you refer to the cicada (pronounced siKAYde). This winged, chirping insect has a remarkable life-history. It is a baby for seventeen years and its adult life is only four weeks. It lives in the ground as a developing larva for seventeen years, and when it does come out in wing, its chief object is to mate and lay eggs in slits which it makes on the twigs of trees. It dies after four weeks of this activity. It is sometimes called the "seventeen-year locust".

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: Where can one get a copy of the Royal Commission Report on the Arts, Letters and Sciences—the Massey Report?

ANSWER: From the King's Printer, Ottawa, or through your bookseller. I believe that the cost is five dollars. The volume is well worth it.

✧ ✧ ✧

A READER has called my attention to a curiosity of the number 9. Multiply the figure 9 by any number you like and the product always adds up to 9. For instance: twice 9 is 18: 1 plus 8 equals nine. Three times 9 is 27: 2 plus 7 equals 9. Eleven times 9 is 99 . . . You can't get away from the figure 9! Take a number at random; for example 247, and multiply it by 9. You get 2223. These add up to 9. Nine times 5071 is 45,639; the sum of these digits is 27, and 2 and 7 add up to 9.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALPHA: Did Christ's disciples smoke? I know they drank. The question occurred to me because there are many pictures showing the twelve disciples at table with a jug of wine in front of them, but there is no suggestion of pipes or cigarettes.

ANSWER: Since the use of tobacco for smoking came from American Indians to Europe at the end of the fifteenth century A.D., it is highly improbable that people in Asia Minor used the weed in the first century A.D./You impute unpleasantness in your use of the word "drink". It is, of course, certain that Christ and His disciples used fermented wine (had they not, there would have been some mention of the unusual fact in the New Testament) because wine was the staple liquid to use with food, and water was ordinarily impure.

DEAR ALPHA: How does it happen that the word 'lick' means 'thrash', as in the phrase 'a sneaking boy deserves to be well licked'; or 'my father licked me into shape when I was a lad'?

ANSWER: It is indeed a curious use of the word; an old colloquial usage. By an extension of this, it also means to triumph over in a fight or other competition: 'that licks everything'; 'that licks me' (is beyond my comprehension). Then there is the phrase: 'To go as hard as one can lick'.

The word is linguistically, though not historically, linked with the Latin word for tongue: lingua. Actually, the great wealth of meaning of this monosyllable attests its age. Meanings accrue to short old easy words.

The phrase 'to lick into shape' arises from a popular superstition that a bear's cub is born an amorphous mass and is licked into shape by its dam. The idea is a very old one. Aristotle reports it seriously in his History of Animals. Pliny (his 'Natural History') says: "Bears when first born are shapeless masses of white flesh a little larger than mice, their claws alone being prominent. The mother then licks them gradually into proper shape."

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: How long has Peterborough had postmen?

ANSWER: The first street mail delivery in Peterborough was made in May, 1907.

DEAR ALPHA: Before the present liquor sales system in Ontario, a person in need of a bottle of whisky could get it from a drug store, on prescription Can druggists still sell liquor?

ANSWER: No. Druggists are issued special permits by the Liquor Control Board. These allow them to purchase spirits in limited quantities for compounding medicine for use as a solvent or preservative. They are also permitted to buy rubbing alcohol for resale. But they no longer deal in brandies and whiskies. Officials of the Liquor Control Board inspect drug stores periodically and examine the records of the sales of rubbing alcohol which druggists are required to maintain.

DEAR ALPHA: Did you notice in your recent visit to Italy (wish I could go to take a look around the old joints), any indication of a new Fascism? I remember that in 1944, after we had captured areas, some of the natives would forgetfully give us a Fascist salute.

ANSWER: No; I saw nobody giving anything that resembled a fascist salute; as for the political tempers of the people, it is impossible to judge on a brief visit. I do know that in Venice particularly, German tourists —of whom there were many—were received warmly. English-speaking visitors were treated with a polite reserve approaching coldness. There was almost open dislike of American tourists. In Florence, which has long been a sanctum of Englishmen and English ladies on small pensions (there is a Church of England in Florence; also, I believe, an American church), English-speaking people are treated with more cordiality than in Venice.

Venice is the closest Italian tourist centre to Germany and Austria. For that reason it has always had many German-speaking visitors. Perhaps the Germans in occupation of Venice (and on leave to it) during the war were very well-behaved and left a good impression on the Venetians. There is this consideration, too: Italians and Germans were together during bombings and in defeat. The Anglo-Americans were the bombers and the victors. Thus there might be expected a sympathy for Germans, and no cordiality for English and Americans. All the same, it is disconcerting to people who rescued Italy from Nazis and Fascists and have contributed financially toward its post-war recovery to find Germans preferred above them.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: Nothing of special importance, except that I hear a rumour that the City Council is considering inviting Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to drop in on the city during their brief Canadian tour next October, and if possible, to open the new City Hall.

'I'LL GO TO THE FRONT—YOU TAKE THE BACK'

A Noteworthy Canadian Voyage

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

A POTENTIALLY important Canadian voyage started last week when the Transport Department vessel, C. D. Howe, sailed from Montreal on the Eastern Arctic patrol. This is a trip to capture the imagination when one traces on a map the course of the voyage—an expedition which will take the participants far inside the Arctic Circle, north of the 75th parallel to Ellesmere Island. There, at Craig Harbour the Royal Canadian Mounted Police post is to be reopened with two R.C.M.P. constables and two Eskimo families as the population. This Canadian outpost of civilization is 2,200 air miles from Vancouver, Toronto and Halifax.

Seldom has a small expedition had more to do than has this one. Nearly 1,500 tons of supplies will be distributed at far-northern posts, and mail will be carried to isolated points. Paramount among the objectives is the welfare of the Eskimo people sparsely inhabiting the far northern empire which for too long has been regarded merely as a frozen and useless wasteland.

Duties of the expedition will include hydrographic surveys, aerial photography and game conservation, the latter being of prime importance to the natives.

Attention will be given to matters pertaining to the decennial census, relief, family allowances and old age allowances to the Eskimos. The Department of National Health and Welfare will be represented by doctors and nurses who, equipped with X-ray apparatus, surgical, medical and dental facilities, will attend as many white and native residents as possible. Justice, no less sure because of its delay, will be administered by a judicial party with one case already on its docket, a fatal shooting on Resolution Island, N.W.T.

The Dominion Observatory is sending along a survey party to determine the strength and attraction of the earth's magnetic field at each port of call. And even the cultural aspect of that lonely land is not being neglected. Awaiting the ship's arrival at Cape Dorset on the south shore of Baffinland since last February is a young couple from Grand'Mère, who have been working among the Eskimos in the interests of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild. J. A. Houston is a talented young artist, who already, in two previous years has made a notable collection of Eskimo sculpture and other native items.

Perhaps most important of the responsibilities of the voyage fall upon J. Cantley and Alex Stevenson, both of the Arctic Services of the Department of Resources and Development. Theirs is the task of co-ordinating this 29th annual patrol. It may be hoped that they will bring back a comprehensive report upon affairs and conditions revealed by the voyage.

For Canada's northland is by way of being America's last frontier. It is one which, by and large, has been too long neglected. It includes latitudes in which other countries have made notable progress in development and Canada owes it to herself not to lag too far behind.

Letter To The Editor

WE ARE ALL CANADIANS

Sir: I found your article "More Immigrants from Northern Europe" most disgusting. It seems that at the time when the parliament of Ontario puts in power a law of no difference as to race, religion etc., there are still some people in this country dreaming of Anglo-Saxon stock—northern races—better quality of men etc., etc. Sometimes I get a feeling I still hear the old Nazi-propaganda of German super-race and its northern brothers. This country—once called "New France" is a creation of all nationalities and no one has the right or title to insult anybody as to his origin directly or indirectly. Nobody here is French, English, Scandinavian, German, Ukrainian, Polish or Italian. We are all Canadians and it doesn't matter of what stock. We find industrious people every place and if many of them even don't speak English or their names are queer to pronounce — it doesn't mean a thing.

Your article therefore, as I came from Central Europe myself, hurt me deeply. I would ask you to be in future more careful and delicate in expressing your views publicly.

Sending you my kind regards, I am,

Yours truly,

(NAME WITHHELD.)

(Ed. Note: The article referred to (July 4th) noted that immigration from northern Europe had increased this year, at a rate faster than the increase in the number of immigrants from central Europe. It said "These people (northern Europeans) are of our own stock, used to a climate not unlike ours, and are progressive, industrious types". It concluded: "The Germans, Dutch, Danes and Scandinavians have proven in the past to be among our very finest immigrants. It would be an excellent thing for Canada if, as the number of immigrants increases, the proportion of these nationalities continues to increase.")

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana, in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing.

But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus. Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes. . . . As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread. . . . Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise.

This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead. So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs. (John 21: 2-6, 9, 13-15.)

Tackling Big Figures

(Lethbridge Herald)

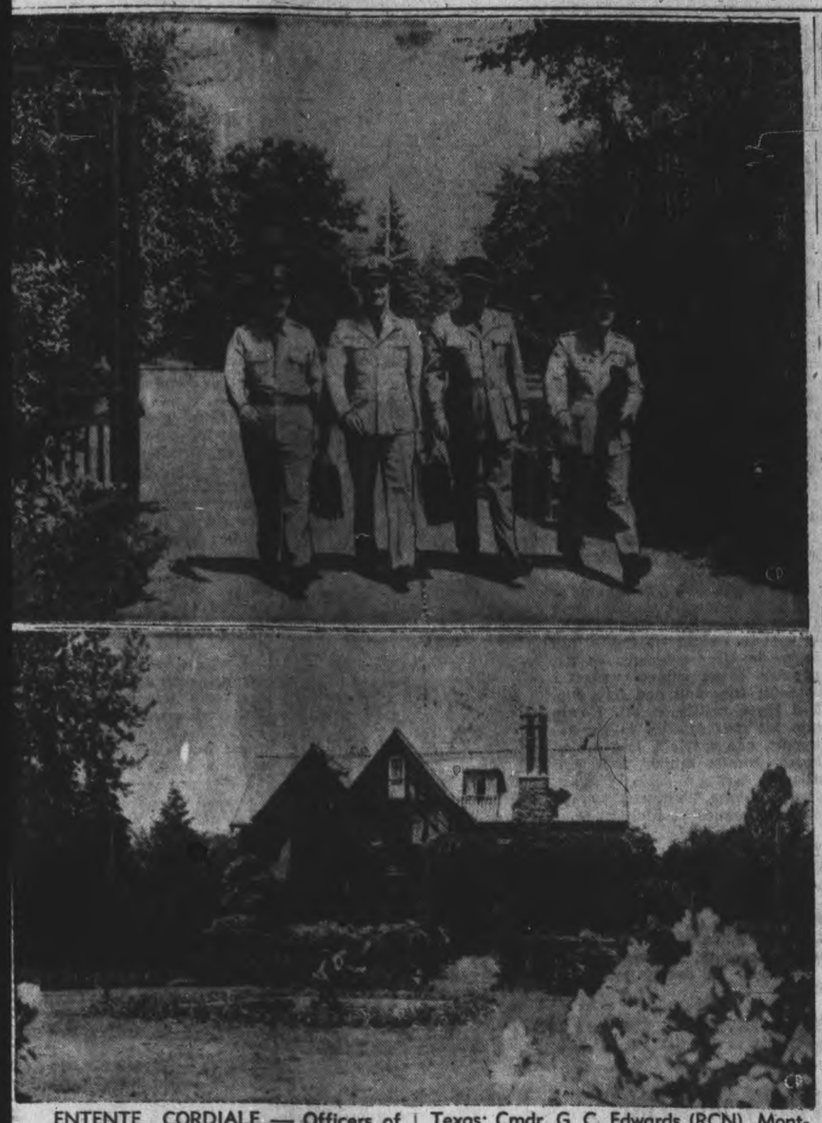
When a newspaper man starts bandying trillions about he's in pretty deep water. Newspapermen as a rule do not like working statistics and when they get up to one with 12 noughts attached they're out of their depth.

So when Hon. N. E. Tanner, Alberta's oil minister, started talking about the Pincher Creek gas cap here in South Alberta the other day and said that one and one-quarter trillion feet of naphtha-laden gas are recoverable from that area just 60 miles west of us, we sharpened up the editorial pencil and tackled the problem.

First, we asked, what's a trillion anyway. Research in the office dictionaries assured us a trillion was a million million, which is a one with 12 noughts on the right side of it. That means that one and one-quarter trillion would be 1,250,000,000,000 (We hope the linotype can spill out that many noughts without running dry).

✧ ✧ ✧

Now if natural gas at the well head sells at 10 cents per thousand cubic feet, what is a trillion and a quarter feet worth, provided there's a pipeline to take it to somebody who is willing to pay probably five or ten times that much per thousand cubic feet? That was a stickler. And then to figure out that 3,000 barrels of natural gasoline recovered from 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily for 12,500 days; and the value of 700 barrels a day of butane and 550 barrels a day of propane and 430 tons of sulphur a day!



✧ ✧ ✧

We worked it out to $481,875,000 — and didn't believe so much wealth could come out of a few holes more than two miles deep. Just when we were about to throw up the sponge, a hard-headed Scottish engineer came into our office. We threw the figures at him. We knew he wouldn't throw away a nought, that being against his Scottish thrift. Nor would he add a nought, because of his innate Scottish honesty. He checked and rechecked our figures and put the final O.K. on them.

But somehow or other we still don't believe the answer we got. There just can't be that much money to be taken out of a few holes in the ground—even two-mile holes that cost a million dollars each to drill.

"WHY NOT? I ONLY RISK ANOTHER BROKEN LEG"

ENTENTE CORDIALE — Officers of three nations get together at the RCAF Staff College in Toronto towards the end of a 10-month course designed to train them for staff positions. The school, formed in 1943 for wartime purposes, now is used to train both Canadian and Allied officers of all three services. Shown, left to right, leaving by the main gates, (Top) are: Major F. B. Ball of the USAF, Houston, Texas; Cmdr. G. C. Edwards (RCN), Montreal and Ottawa; Sqdn. Ldr. W. F. Cameron of Vancouver; and Sqdn. Ldr. J. C. Stead of the RAF, Southampton, England. Lower photo shows part of the beautiful grounds of the College. The campus covers 27 acres of landscaped gardens, fountains and tree-dotted lawns of the old Glenalton estate, taken over by the RCAF in 1943.

RCAF College Located On Lovely Toronto Estate

BY RON EVANS

TORONTO,—(CP)—In a remodeled stable on a 27-acre estate on Toronto's northern outskirts a human chain is being forged.

Air Commodore L. E. Wray, Commandant of the R.C.A.F.'S. staff college, says of the school's 28-man 15th class graduated recently:

"They are the links in the chain that will knit the armed services of Canada and her allies closer together."

The college was formed in 1943 on the Glenalton Estate, a half-mile north of the city limits. The campus covers acres of landscaped gardens, fountains and tree-dotted lawns.

There are three buildings—the stables, now housing the lecture rooms and administrative offices, Commandant Wray's home and the main residence, now known as the mess.

In the ivy-covered residence are the rooms for officers, a spacious lounge, dining-room, games roon, sun room, bar, conservatory and library.

Mixed Class

In the class rooms and on the campus officers of three countries and three services mingle. On their shoulders gleam the gold braid of a Royal Canadian Navy Commander, the oak leaves of an United States Air Force Major, the crown of a Canadian Army Major and the stripes of Canadian and British Air Force Squadron Leaders and Wing Commanders.

Most of the officers, like Major Frank Ball, U.S.A.F., of Houston, Texas, live in Toronto with their families while they are taking the course.

The main purpose of the school, in general, is to broaden an officer's outlook.

BROAD TRAINING

The men are specialists,—or rather they were 10 months ago when they entered the college. As graduates, they are trained co-ordinators, trained for staff positions in the many basic principles and limitations of the three services.

They have studied science in war, the employment of land, sea, and air forces, government, leadership, economics and many other subjects.

During their 10-month stay they have made four trips. The first was known as the north-west tour, and took them to such places as Alaska, Churchill, Man., Whitehorse in the Yukon and Yellowknife in the North West Territories.

The second was to the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston. The third to the U.S.A.F air university in Alabama and the fourth to the R.C.N. college at Dartmouth, N.S.

Most of the R.C.A.F. officers attending the college, like W. S. Quint of Calgary and J. E. Creeper of Owen Sound, are Squadron Leaders.

Major J. E. Leach, Winnipeg of the Canadian Army, summed up the impressions of his fellow students:

"This course gave us an excellent opportunity to get extremely well acquainted with members of a sister service."

In the mess lounge hangs the school crest with its motto—"Scientia Potestas Est"—Knowledge Is Power.

Columnist Charges Radar Files Stolen

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Columnist Drew Pearson said Thursday 12 cases of United States' Army Signal Corps files on radar developments have disappeared. The army denied knowledge of any such disappearance.

Pearson, testifying before a Senate sub-committee, said the documents vanished from Fort Monmouth, NJ. He charged that the Justice Department "has been strangely inactive" in investigating both the alleged disappearance and what he said were leaks which placed radar secrets "in the hands of the enemy" just before the Second World War.

The Justice Department declined to comment on Pearson's statements.

His two sons, Buddy, 15, and Paul, 10, were saved by two other Ohio boys in a nearby boat. Walter Violett, 16, and Nick Swagler, 13, both of Wadsworth, O., rescued the two Hykes boys but lost their grip on the father.

Rev. W. Tonge Speaks To WA

FAIRVIEW, July 6 (ENS). — The Rev. Walton Tonge of Lakefield United Church was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Fairview Women's Association held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Cephas Heard.

There were 25 ladies present.

The worship service was taken by Group Two with the leader, Mrs. Stanley Boyce, in charge Mrs. Robt. Fowler read the scripture. Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough gave the lesson thoughts, and Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer.

This being the missionary meeting, Mr. Tonge, a returned missionary from China, gave a very instructive address on conditions as they exist today in China, stressing the great need of missionaries and friends to carry on the work which is so desperately in need.

Mrs. Harold Lewis thanked the speaker.

Mrs. Everett Cockburn thanked the hostess.

President Mrs. Wesley Bell took charge of the business.

Rattigan Play In Double Bill At Queen Mary

Last year the challenge of the Summer Theatre's season was the production of "Dream Girl" which filled the air at the Queen Mary Auditorium with an exciting mood of anticipation. The first season's challenge was "The Importance of Being Earnest", and now this summer it promises to be next weeks' playbill. Two entirely different one-act plays will be presented, and each of them comes from the pens of two of England's top - ranking playwrights — Terence Rattigan and the inimitable Noel Coward.

Mr. Rattigan, author of "While the Sun Shines" and "The Winslow Boy," has given us this time a beautiful play with an equally beautiful title — the Browning Version. It is the story of a brilliant schoolmaster, a man with a fine mind who has been deeply embittered by certain aspects of his life — one of them being his wife. The play is more moving and powerful than the current motion picture, starring Michael Redgrave and Jean Kent, which has rightfully entered the cinemas Hall of Fame.

The summer theatre is now striving to make next week's production of the Browning Version a memorable one. Bill Needles will star as the schoolmaster, Andrew Crocker- Harris, and Betty Leighton as his wife. Frank Perry will play the part of a fifteen year old schoolboy, a different type of role for a versatile actor. Kate Reid, Michael Sadlier, Peter Mews and Gerry Sarracini will be featured.

Red Peppers

Noel Coward is a man of many talents, actor, composer, director-producer, and an author of many fine plays ranging from the sublime to the wonderfully ridiculous From "Cavalcade" to "The Red Peppers" and "Bittersweet". The Red Peppers is wonderfully ridiculous, and also a musical comedy. So next week the Summed Theatre is presenting a musical comedy! The Red Peppers is a sketch of two fabulous characters, George and Lily Pepper, Music-Hall artists extraordinaire, cameos of Merry Old England itself. Peter Mews and Betty Leighton who won audiences in Charley's Aunt and The Vinegar Tree respectively will be starred; while Gerry Sarracini will perform at the keyboard and play the role of the Music Di-rector. Anne Murray and Cal Whitehead will be seen in the supporting cast. The Red Peppers is filled with song and dance and typical rippling Noel Coward dialogue.

These week's productions are the Summer Theatre's first double - eve..t playbill — The Browning Version and The Red Peppers.

Hodges Gets 27th Homer Helps Dodgers Win 8-4

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Maybe it's time to take Gil Hodges seriously.

With 27 home runs in Brooklyn's first 73 games, the Dodger first baseman is running five games ahead of Babe Ruth's all-time record pace of 1927.

The Babe didn't hit No. 27 until July 8 in the Yanks' 78th game. Brooklyn won't play its 78th until after the all-star game break.

No wonder the Brooks are 7½ games in front of the second-place New York Giants and pulling away fast. Their recovery from a mid-summer slump coincided with Hodges' latest burst of homers.

Gil ripped into Larry Jansen for his 27th Thursday night at Ebbets Field, a few seconds after Andy Pafko also rifled a Jansen pitch into the stands.

Although the Giants wobbled big Don Newcombe in a four-run eighth inning, the Brooks clawed back with three and went on to win 8-4. It was Newcombe's 12th victory.

If Hodges and the Dodgers are running away from the National field, the American four-way race can provide any missing thrills.

Down Washington

New York climbed back into first place, a half-game ahead of Chicago, by bopping Washington 8-2 in a night game after Chicago had been shut out for the first time 8-0, by Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson.

Boston closed in on the leaders by manhandling Philadelphia 8-3 with Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr hitting homers to back up Walt Masterson's brilliant relief pitching. The Red Sox are only two games back and Cleveland, rained out of its night game at St. Louis, is only 4½ away.

The Giants' third straight loss at Brooklyn not only dampened their pennant hopes but left the team vulnerable to attack from the rear.

Down Chicago

St. Louis chewed up Chicago 10-2 to breeze within one-half game of New York. The Cards trail Brooklyn by eight. Cliff Chambers knocked off his third win in a row with a five-hitter. Wally Westlake and Red Schoendienst led the Cards' 14-hit attack on Johnny Klippstein and a parade of Cub pitchers.

Boston edged the Phillies 7-6 in 11 innings but lost two starting pitchers—Vern Bickford and Johnny Sain with injuries. Bickford pulled up with a sore shoulder after four innings and Sain's pitching hand was injured by deflecting Granny Hamner's grounder in the eighth. Both will be out a week.

With Ralph Kiner sitting out a three-day suspension, Pittsburgh succumbed to Howie Fox's pitching in a 4-0 Cincinnati win. Lloyd Merriman and Dixie Howell hit homers to ruin Howie Pollet's bid for his 100th major league victory.

Texan Golfer Jack Burke Leading Field

By FRASER MacDOUGALL.

TORONTO, July 6 (CP). —A field of 101 crack golfers set out today in pursuit of a boyish Texan and his 12-under-par score of 132 in the first 36 holes of the 72-hole Canadian Open Golf Championship.

But 28-year-old Jack Burke, Jr., from Houston will take a lot of chasing. Making his first bid for a title which eluded his golfing father 38 years ago, he shot an electrifying 66 Thursday to put alongside another 66 he carded in Wednesday's opening 18-hole round.

That put him three strokes in front of his closest competitor, another Texan, at the halfway point in the $15,000 classic.

Soggy greens and a fierce, gusty wind offered no handicap to the curly-headed Burke whose long drives, accurate approach shots and deft putting gave him six birdies and 12 par holes against a par 72 in his second round.

Chasing him in second place was Fred Hawkins from El Paso who slipped to a 69 from his opening 66. A third Texan, Chuck Klein from San Antonio, was a stroke behind with the 70 he put alongside his starting 66.

Hopes on Leonard

Hopes for the first Canadian victory since 1914 rested with slight Stan Leonard five strokes off the pace with a 137 he owes to the hottest nine-hole round of the tournament.

The Vancouver pro, with 70 on Wednesday, toured Thursday's first nine in 37. Then he suddenly caught fire and reeled off a string of six consecutive birdies on the second nine, for a six-under-par 30 and an 18-hole figure of 67.

Leonard stood in a three-way, fourth-place tie with Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who slipped from his opening-day pace-setting 65 to an even par 72.

Behind them came Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., with 70-68—138. Two Canadians held down eighth place—professional Murray Tucker from London Sunningdale with 68-71 and Nick Weslock of Windsor Essex who headed the amateur brigade with his 70-69.

ONE-MAN CLUB—Billy Goodman, back at first base, has done everything for the Red Sox, but pitch and catch, volunteered to do the latter. When Ted Williams returned to the Boston Americans' lineup last mid-September, Third Baseman Johnny Pesky, hitting .313, suggested that he be benched to make room for Goodman. That enabled the slightly-built Concord, N.C., youngster to get in 110 games, and officially lead the American League in batting with .354.

Jack K. Cooke Buys Leafs Baseball Team

By DON PEACOCK.

TORONTO, July 6 (CP).—Jack Kent Cooke, 38-year-old supersalesman who pyramided a door-to-door bookseller's job into ownership of a radio station and one of Canada's largest-selling magazines, has bought himself a baseball team.

Cooke, in typical fashion, promised the long-suffering Toronto ball fans "a new deal" and a winning team by September. At present his newly-acquired club, the Toronto Maple Leafs, is fifth in the eight-team International League.

Commenting on Leafs, who have lost 43 of their 80 games this season, Cooke said:

"We have a team that definitely belongs in the first division (top four of the eight-team league) and we'll get there—if we have to buy out the entire Chicago White Sox roster."

Cooke, who takes over as club president, said he bought his stock from retiring president Donald G. Ross and directors Max Haas and John K. McCausland.

Paid Plenty

The price? "It was plenty," Cooke said.

The transfer got him a franchise in the International League; a lease on Maple Leaf Stadium; contracts of 25 ball players; general manager Joe Zeigler and team manager Joe Becker.

Cooke, a native of Hamilton, is owner of Toronto's radio station CKEY. He also is publisher of New Liberty Magazine.

The second fixture saw Hobart sink three and Seabrooke, Batley and Brennan one apiece for the winners, the latter also aiding on one. Jones scored three for the losers, Galley and Scriver getting one each, and Sullivan an assist. Teams:

Cherney's — Simmons, Brioux, Pammett, Woodgate, Curtis, Hunt, Green, Tarkington, Scott.

Cricket Notes

Both local cricket clubs see action this Saturday. The "A" team entertains Dentonia at the Oval while the "B" team meets North Toronto in Toronto. Both are council matches, return games, the Peterborough teams having lost earlier.

A match was played recently between Canadian-born and Old Countrymen at Toronto, players being drawn from the cricket council. Frank Booth, local captain, played for the Old Country team and scored 24 (not out) of his side's total of 101. The Canadians replied with 112.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Manager Ed (Gunner) Whitehill was uncertain earlier as to which pitcher he'd start tonight when the Petes play Toronto Staffords here. An 8.30 floodlight Viaduct Major League fixture in Riverside, weather being okay. Perhaps even Jim Crowley, husky young right-hander from Canton, New York. He also has Bill Edger, Lefty Dadson, Doug Plunkett and Bunny Maeson available and all are rested up, due to recent rainy postponements. With Oshawa Merchants moving up fast to within striking distance of the league leaders, the Petes have to keep winning to maintain their position. It should be an interesting tussle before a hefty Friday night turnout.

* * * * * *

For those who like their junior lacrosse, Miller Bowl is the spot this eve at 8.45. — always provided the weather behaves. An OLA junior contest betwixt Toronto Maitlands and Lou Vitarelli's young Petes. The latter and Mimico are presently tied on the top rung, so the local lads will be hustling to grab that berth by themselves in this tilt. As in junior hockey, these husky youngsters shoot the works all the time, being full of fight and in swell condition by now. It wouldn't be too surprising to see this team take it all in provincial competition in '51 and go after the Minto Cup. Not if they keep up their present pace.

The Show Must Go On

Being good troupers, the pro grapplers know that the show must go on at all costs We've seen the big fellows here put on a long and stirring show with only a handful of fans watching. Gave it all they had, just as if before 10,000 Maple Leaf Gardens customers. A few nights ago, Whipper Bill Watson and huge Hi Lee (well-known in these parts) staged a dandy up in Sudbury. In the open air on a makeshift ring planking, covered with a blanket — instead of a pad — and during a violent hail and rain storm. Thunder and lightning, too, but 'tis reported they staged a whale of a scrap for quite some time 'ere the Whip threw Lee so hard that the ring crashed down.

* * * * * *

Sudbury scribe said: "Don't know how much rain fell in some 30 minutes but it was a new record for the year. A man could easily paddle across the ball park in a canoe. Grappling addicts deserve bouquets, too. We saw one man clutching a small child in his arms in the open bleachers all through the rain and hail. Another lady waded through the mud and water in her bare feet to stand by the ring. Lee and Watson went on wrestling as if nothing had happened, slipping and sliding through a carpet of hailstones the size of marbles. We wouldn't have missed it for a million It was the most spectacular show that we've seen since the artillery barrage on Cassino."

UEW And Revoy's Win

UEW men softballers had to come from behind in the late stages at the Bowl last evening to beat Lakefield 9-6 in a neat number. John Hinton (who hit well, too) and Dick McCracken opposed each other on the slab. Howie Dalton had a good night afield and at bat for his squad, while Bill Twist shone defensively for Lakefield as Jack Larkman led 'em at bat. In the other joust, the belt was off the power plant with Revoy's winning a 26-17 slugfest o'er the Orphans. Buck Legrow pitched the win, Terry Woods hitting grief in the seventh on the other mound. Shortt, Spencer, Legrow, Thomson, Fryia and a few more belted the ball hard for Revoy's, with O'Donoghue, Scriver, Woods and Sullivan hitting okay for the O's. UEW and Revoy's are tied now with nine and three, Orphans have five and seven, and Lakefield but one win.

Word this morning was that the Boston Gardens Corp. has an option until Aug. 1 to purchase Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League. All is reported not well in the executive end of the club and the attendance dropped off last season. If the move goes through with chief shareholder Wes Adams selling out, it would be the first change since the club started 27 years ago. The proposal is to take over the remainder of the contracts of Manager Art Ross, Coach Lynn Patrick, and Chief Scout Hal Cotton. We understand that Dit Clapper owns some stock in the club, too, and is a director. George (Red) Sullivan is the playing property of Bruins.

Rain Delays Cricket Match

MANCHESTER, England, July 6 — (Reuters) — Overnight rain which left the pitch wet and soggy held up the cricket test match between England and South Africa today.

No play was possible before lunch. Another inspection of the pitch will be made after lunch.

The gates were opened and several thousand people were admitted but they were warned that no money would be refunded.

Overnight England had scored 50 for one after dismissing South Africa for 158.

UEW Edges Win By 9 to 6 Over Lakefield

Lakefield Merchants dropped a tough one to UEW 9-6 in the opener of last night's softball bill at the Bowl, after leading for seven innings in another fine showing. UE tied the game in the eighth and scored three with two away in the ninth, following an infield bobble.

Dick McCracken went the route for Merchants again and gave a fine display opposing John Hinton, who also worked well on the hill, hit safely twice, scored a run and drove in a pair to earn plaudits. It was a close struggle, a crowd-pleaser all the way as both teams played heads-up ball. Bill Twist again proved the fielding star in centre with six sparkling put outs.

Jack Larkman led Merchants at bat with a single, double and homer in four tries. The fielding of Howie Dalton proved a big factor in UE's defensive as the popular coach snared several difficult flies and had five outs and three assists in all. Howie also hit four safeties in six attempts, one a triple, and tallied twice. Hinton fanned four and allowed but six safe bingles. Castle, Robson, White and Thompson each connected safely twice.

Faulkner Holds 2-Stroke Lead

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland, July 6 (AP).—The British Open Golf Tournament shaped up today as a battle against the elements. The players who can get on the course either before or after the winds and drizzle are the ones most likely to break or match par.

Max Faulkner, of Britain held a two-stroke lead as the competition entered the home stretch—and has a good chance of holding his margin. Faulkner, in the past three British opens, never has gone more than two over par in any one round. He's that steady.

But he still lost the title to Bobby Locke, the South African wizard by four strokes both last year and in 1949. This time, though, Max has a four-stroke margin over Locke after 36 holes, 141 to 145.

Faulkner got out Thursday before the drizzle and came home with a two-under-par 70. Locke's 145 was good for no better than a five-way tie for fifth. Locke played in the rain and complained that it caused the grass around the cups to rise, making some of his putts curl away.

Roy Rogers Prepared To Invade TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (AP)—Roy Rogers, free from his film contract after almost 14 years, is getting ready to shoot it out with Cassidy, Autry and the other television cowboys.

The Cincinnati cowpoke's pact with Republic ended recently and he now has the right to appear on TV. I asked him if being off TV hurt him.

" I don't think so," he replied. "I think it helped me. Now the situation is less confusing. All the routine westerns have been played out and the audiences are looking for quality."

Rogers indicated that his TV competitors hadn't hurt his popularity. He said that last year $21,000,000 worth of products bearing his name were sold—"It was our biggest year."

There have been reports that the Western Star might sign again with Republic boss Herbert Yates. But although Roger's lawyers are still talking about it, he doubts if he'll return to his old roping grounds. The situation was not aided when Yates announced that newcomer Rex Allen would be billed "The King of the Cowboys."

"I thought that stunk," Roy remarked bitterly.

He was also upset by reports that Yates will release old Rogers films for vehicles. "I'm suing him over that," Roy said. "And I think I've got a good case. My contract gave me all the commercial rights."

Making TV Films

Rogers will soon start making his TV films, producing them with his own company. He reported that five sponsors are dickering for the films, which will be half-hour adventures with a complete story in each one. One film will take three days to shoot, at a cost of approximately $20,000.

His movie future is undecided. A couple of companies are dickering for his services in a western series, he said, but he is in no hurry to sign. He would like to do more pictures like his next one, "Son of a Paleface," a big-budget epic with Bob Hope and Jane Russell.

"I'll play a sraight role in that one." He assured, "And let Hope do the clowning. I told them at the start that I wasn't going to burlesque westerns. After all, that's my living, and I'm not going to bite the hand that feeds me."

CHICKEN B YTHE BUSHEL—Giant Dominion Day barbecue at Truro, N.S., called for bushels of chicken for some 5,000 guests. Chef Emile Bezan piles them in a basket for Frank MacNeill of New Glasgow. The Nova Scotia Farmers' Association staged the big outing.

Canadian Sappers Build Airfield In 47 Minutes

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, July 6 (CP)—Lifted in the breeze at the top of its 70-foot mast, the windsock stretched over the field as though to boast:

"Now here is an airstrip worthy of a theatre commander."

Twelve aircraft were drawn up on either side of the 1,350-foot runway, many with the silver-starred plaques that indicated their users to be officers of general's ranks.

One, with four stars, was that of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme commander in the Far East, on one of his frequent fact-finding trips to the Korean front. Ridgway has chosen the Canadian sector for his rendezvous with the commanders in the area.

Another, with three stars, belonged to Lt.-Gen. James Van Fleet, commander of the United Nations' Eighth Army. Others belonged to the "smaller fry," ranging from a corps commander down to divisional and regimental (brigade in the Canadian army) chiefs.

Off on one side was the plane for which the strip originally had been built, the observer aircraft used by Brig. John M. Rockingham, commander of the Canadian 25th Infantry Brigade group.

Had To Act Fast

When the aircraft arrived the brigade was operating in the Chorwon area and its engineers, under Maj. Don Rochester of Toronto, had to produce an airstrip.

"The Rochester General Construction Company," as the outfit now is known, chose a likely-looking barley field, turned loose a bulldozer, a self-propelled grader and a heavy truck as a roller, and in four hours produced an airfield 60 feet wide, by 1,350 feet long.

Barely an hour before Ridgway's party was to arrive—a week later—Rockingham's headquarters was told to have a runway ready capable of accommodating 10 aircraft.

Rochester was called in.

The bulldozer, manned by Sprs. Edward Rollheiser of Goodsoil, Sask., and Hector Gravel of Ottawa, leveled off more of the barley field. Crews cleared the surface of stones by hand. L. Col. Glyn Nott of Timagami subbed as roller with his heavy truck and water-trailers driven by Sprs. F. A. W. Jones of Montreal and William Millson of Guelph, sprinkled water onto the surface.

The job was completed in 47 minutes.

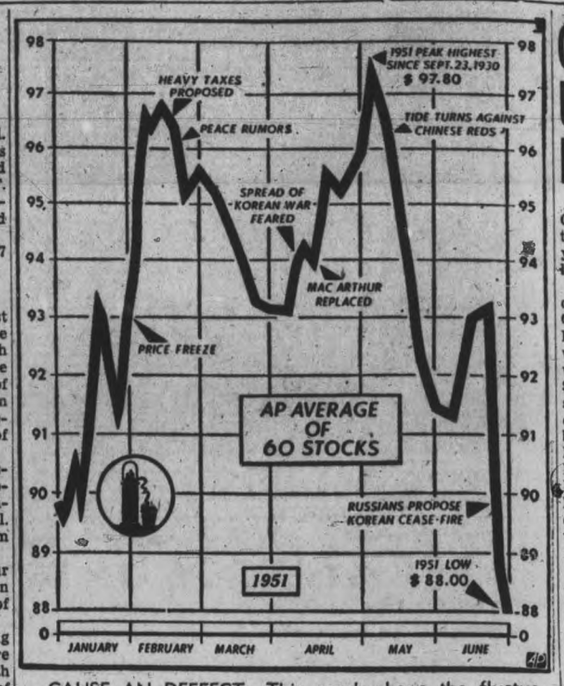
First Committed

The sappers were the first troops in the new brigade to be committed when it moved north from Pusan. While the rest of the formation concentrated south of the Han the engineers were given an infantry role and told to defend the Han River bridge east of Seoul.

They did, and took three prisoners — suspected Korean saboteurs who floated into the Canadians' position in a boat. L. Cpl. Byard of Preston, NS, took them into custody.

Since then, says Rochester, "our major job has always been on roads—they take up 75 per cent of our effort."

The engineer troops working with the infantry battalions are under Lieuts. Lorne Cook of North Vancouver, Arthur MacDonald of Halifax and John H. Keating of Ottawa.



Out On Patrols

Such sappers even go out on patrols with the riflemen, especially when tanks are along, so that they can improvise bridges and fords at different tank crossings.

On one patrol a team comprising Cook, Cpl. Walter Bebie of Pembroke, and Spr. Howard Hutton of Owen Sound, had a field day setting booby-traps for the Chinese. They lifted Chinese-laid mines from the road and booby-trapped them.

Another engineer responsibility is the operation of a water-point. Spr. Patrick Legary of Kingston and Englehart, is in charge of the installation which has purified and pumped as much as 70,000 gallons of water in 24 hours into the trailers of Canadian, British and American units in the area.

Maj. H. W. Ball of Santa Monica, Calif., and Vancouver, is second-in-command of the unit.

CAUSE AN DEFFECT—This graph shows the fluctuations of the New York Stock Exchange for the first six months of this year, as shown by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The average moved within a 10-point range, closing at a low of $88.00 after reaching its highest point since Sept. 23, 1930, with $97.80 in early May. The graph exaggerated the variation, only showing the 10-point range over which the average moved.

PORT COLBORNE, July 6—(CP)—The Scott Misener cleared Port Arthur for Port Colborne Thursday with a record cargo of grain.

The 654-foot freighter is carrying 618,329 bushels of No. 5 wheat.

VITAL AREA

The city of London proper is an island of only 677 acres among the 443,455 acres of the greater London area.

18 Forest Fires Burning In BC

VANCOUVER, July 6—(CP)—Eighteen forest fires, three of them out of control, were burning in Southwestern British Columbia Thursday.

Broken terrain was hampering 47 firefighters trying to stop a fire near the Pacific Great Eastern Railway tracks about 100 miles north of here.

Also out of control were two 600-acre fires, one near up-coast Pender Harbor and the other on Redonda Island between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Board Proposes 1-Way Formula

TORONTO, July 6 — (CP) — A rare "one-way" formula for a cost-of-living bonus was proposed Thursday in a conciliation board report.

The board suggested that 44 Toronto Electrical Contractors grant their 1,000 employees, members of Local 353, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AF of L-TLC), a five-cent-an-hour wage boost for each five-point rise in the cost of living—with no deduction if prices drop.

The report proposed also an hourly rate of $2.10, retroactive to June 1, plus an additional five cents an hour in June 1952. Electrical workers now receive $1.85.

Plan Special Court

TORONTO, July 6—(CP)—A special court may hear horsemeat-selling charges against five Toronto butchers, a federal government lawyer said Thursday. At the request of the lawyer, Walter Martin, the cases were adjourned until July 26. Accused under the Food and Drugs Act of selling horsemeat as beef are Percy Boyd, R. F. Newton, William Aziz, Service Meat Supply and Chris Johns. An inspector said horsemeat can be sold legally in Ontario if properly marked.

Bread Supply Cut

NEW YORK, July 6—(AP)—The Metropolitan area's bread supply, cut by a strike of bakery truck drivers, was curtailed further Thursday when drivers of two large independent bakers discontinued service because of "threats of violence." In a new outbreak of violence in the four-day strike, four men sprayed a truck loaded with bread with a vile-smelling chemical earlier Thursday.

Bombard Coast

TOKYO, July 6—(CP)—The official naval communique said today United Nations ships—including the Canadian destroyer Huron—continued Thursday to bombard military targets on the Korean east coast. Enemy shore batteries answered as Wonsan harbor was under bombardment for the 140th straight day. The Communist artillery was silenced after a 75-minute duel.

Double Meat Ration

LONDON, July 6—(AP)—The British weekly meat ration—now about the sizes of a penny matchbox—will be doubled from about the end of August, Minister of Food Maurice Webb announced in the House of Commons. The weekly ration now is 10 cents worth of fresh meat. Card-holders also get five ounces of bacon a week. Most canned meats, and cooked meats and sausages, are not rationed.

TORONTO, July 6—(CP)—A tunnel under Toronto harbor's western gap will be built within the next two years if steel and other material can be obtained, Controller Leslie Saunders said Thursday. Controller Saunders said the tunnel, to connect the city's island airport with the mainland by road, is being planned by the Toronto Harbor Commission as part of a master plan for the development of the waterfront area.

Office Union Seeks Wage Hike

Compulsory Checkoff Also Asked For By Local Members

Office workers at the Outboard Marine Co. have directed their negotiating committee to ask the company for salary increases and a compulsory checkoff in the bargaining unit.

Seventy-three office and clerical workers are affected. They are members of Local 231, Outboard Marine Workers' Union, a local chartered directly to the Canadian Congress of Labor.

"We feel we need the upward revision in salary rates to parallel the gains that have been won recently by industrial workers," said George Sedgwick, president of the union and chairman of the negotiating committee.

At a membership meeting Wednesday night, the salaried workers voted to press for salary increases, and a compulsory checkoff for each worker in the bargaining unit whether he is a union member or not.

Tentative agreement was reached on a number of other contract items after only a couple of days of negotiations. Resumption of talks on the basis of the membership's new demands is expected shortly.

The office workers received their charter from the CCL May 1, and they are negotiating their first contract. Production workers at the plant signed their contract with the company earlier this year.

On the negotiating committee are Mr. Sedgwick, Jean Weir and Clare McDougall.

THE LAUNCH THAT HIT A REEF and sank in the Buckhorn Narrows, two miles south of the village, on Wednesday, was raised by Ted Gordon and his salvage crew on Thursday afternoon. The boat, owned by Cecil Mounce of Toronto, was lying on a sloping rock shelf in 12 feet of water. Sling chain hoists were slipped under the hull and the bow of the wreck. Left photo, was raised to surface by 5 p.m. Probing with ropes and grappling hooks, in Right photo, are David Powell, Ted Gordon and George Hill; they are directing the diving operations of Keith Oliver, in the water. —Examiner Staff Photos

FUTURE BIKE CHAMP

Peterborough has a future bicycle champion. If not then Jim Harrison, engineer at the filtration plant, has missed his guess. His five-year-old grandson, also named Jim, recently rode his tricycle from Romaine St., near Monaghan Rd., to the filtration plant which is half a mile north of the city. The total distance is about four miles and it took the young lad two and a half hours to complete his trip and visit his grandfather who was on duty at the time. Young Jim went via George St. and apparently obeyed the traffic lights on all corners. The return journey was in grandfather's car.

Post Office, Bus Lines Fail To Agree

Postmen Walk More As Ottawa Balks At New Price Quoted

Letter carriers who feel they walk far enough in a day as it is, now have some extra walking to do.

Beginning this week they were rationed bus tickets. And now there are no more free rides to and from the post office on city buses.

A contract between the Peterborough Bus Lines and the Post Office Department, Ottawa, has ended and a new one has not been signed. Whether or not an agreement will be reached between the two parties is not known at this time.

A difference of opinion on the price that the Department should pay the Bus Lines is understood to be the snag.

Previously the posties rode city buses free whenever they were in uniform. This included going to and from work, and to and from their routes.

Now they are issued tickets only for the trip out to their routes.

They also receive a ticket for the homeward journey if the difference between the place where their route ends is more than 500 yards greater than it would be if they were to return to the post-office. They also get tickets if they have to return to pick up special delivery mail.

Unless some new agreement is reached it means extra hoofing for the 28-man force.

Sarnia Names Manager To Run City

E. R. Colter, executive director of the city of Saint John, NB, has been selected as the first city manager for the city of Sarnia, it was announced today.

Mr. Colter expects to commence his new duties about September 1.

The selection was made by city council from 14 applications in conjunction with members of the advisory committee of the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce of which Harold G. Burley is chairman.

A native of the Maritimes, Mr. Colter who is 48 years of age, served in various municipal offices in the city of Fredericton, NB, before assuming his position in Saint John. He was first assistant clerk and treasurer of Fredericton, and Chief Assessor of that municipality.

He was secretary-treasurer to the bishop and Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Fredericton, from 1940 to 1944.

Mr. Colter has made an intensive study of the city manager form of municipal government during his years of service in Fredericton and Saint John.

WILD ANIMALS? POISONOUS SNAKES?

A letter from a prospective American visitor to the provincial police at Apsley speaks for itself: "This request may seem unusual to you but it is made to stop worries of my mother who has an obsession on the subject. I am planning to bring my family, including two children, to Chandos Lake for our summer vacation. My mother is sure that the children will be devoured by bears or wolves and bitten by poisonous snakes.

"Could you please write me a letter assuring me that wild animals have not been reported in your area for several years and that poisonous snakes are not found there either."

Sunken Launch Raised To Surface In Narrows

The launch, owned by Cecil Mounce of 12 Apsley Ave., Toronto, which hit a reef east of the black channel buoy on Wednesday, two miles south of the village of Buckhorn in the Buckhorn narrows, was raised at 5 p.m. on Thursday. Ted Gordon of the Gordon Boat Works, Bobcaygeon, with a five-man salvage crew undertook the job.

Weather conditions made the difficult job more arduous as a strong north wind shifted the anchors of the two salvage launches used in the operation. From two cross timbers, diver Keith Oliver went down time and again to slip sling ropes and cable harness under the boat's bow. The craft lay under 12 feet of water on the edge of a ledge. Each time the bow slings were raised with chain hoists, the boat slipped further back over the underwater shelving until a bow purchase anchor was secured to the engine's lifting ring.

May Beach Craft

By 5 p.m. the bow of the boat was exposed and secured between the two salvage craft. At that time, and the Examiner has not been able to reach the salvagers since, boatbuilder Ted Gordon thought the sunken craft would have to be beached on the spot for quick repairs to holes in the hull's bottom and ransom. It could then be floated to his boat factory for a complete repair job.

Mounce, his son and their pet dog were on a trip from Lake Simcoe to Lake Ontario travelling through the Trent Canal route. Some considerable distance of the route is through lakes such as Buckhorn Lake where channel buoys mark the course.

The Mounce craft wandered off course and struck a rock tearing part of the bottom and the transom out of the craft. It continued about 100 feet before it sank. Veteran sailors of the district who saw the craft estimated its value at about $10,000 rather than the $25,000 first reported.

Neither Mounce, nor his son was hurt in the accident and nearby people in boats quickly rescued them and the dog.

Judged Drunk In Care Of Car, Jailed 7 Days

Found guilty of being drunk while in control of a motor vehicle, James Rhude, Burleigh Falls, was sentenced today in police court to seven days in jail. His car was impounded for three months Rhude pleaded not guilty.

Provincial Sergeant Stanley Palmateer said he and OPP Constable Wallace Mohns, went to Lee St. on June 29 and found Rhude's late model truck cross-ways on the street. Rhude was laying across the seat.

Sgt. Palmateer said that he flashed his light on the driver's seat and saw Rhude stretched out on the seat. The policeman saw a $20-bill on the truck floor and picked it up. After some difficulty, said Palmateer, Rhude was taken out of the truck, "smelling strongly of beer."

Sgt. Palmateer testified that there was an unopened case of beer in the back of the truck and four empty bottles in the front seat, with foam in them, and some beer spilt on the floor.

Unsteady

Rhude, when out of the truck, was unsteady on his feet, commented Sgt. Palmateer.

The officer observed more money sticking out of Rhude's pockets and shirt and "I had to use force to take the money for safekeeping."

When asked about Rhude's sobriety, Sgt. Palmateer answered, "definitely intoxicated."

In cross-examining, Emmett F. Sheehy, counsel for Rhude, suggested the accused's actions were perhaps excusable because Palmateer was in civilian clothes and Rhude may have thought that it was a holdup.

Showed Badge

Palmateer answered, "No, I identified myself, showed him my badge."

OPP Constable Wallace Mohns verified Sgt. Palmateer's testimony.

Called by Mr. Sheehy, Fred Alley, Wolsley St., said that on their way home from a construction project, Rhude and he stopped for a beer each at Atherley, near Orillia. When home they drank another beer each.

When asked about Rhude's condition when he left, Alley answered, "he didn't seem to be out of the way as I could see."

Affected Nerves

Rhude in his own defence said that he never had any more beer than the two pints.

He explained that every time he has one or two beers, his nerves become affected, ever since he was liberated from a prisoner of war camp. He added that he stopped the truck until his nerves were better which was usually after a half to an hour's sleep.

"I seldom ever take a drink on account of that (meaning the nervous effect). I objected to taking the money. Any man in his right mind would do the same."

Lightning Bolt Knocks Out Four Fishermen

A bolt from a highly-charged storm centre played hob with things at Park Hotel, Burleigh, at 11 a.m. on Wednesday in a matter of seconds.

In a flash, the blue comet with a burning tail entered the hotel boat house, 2000 feet north of the main building, knocked out four fishermen cold, jumped to the hotel switchbox in the second storey hallway, down two flights of stairs, turned at right angles through the office-gift shop, right angles again through a dining room wing, zig-zagged in and out in the service pantry and disappeared out an open kitchen window.

In its wake it left the following damage: in the boathouse John Hinko and his friend a Mr. Bournman both of Cleveland, O., were hit by the bolt. Hinko severely and Bournman on the right arm. They and two other companions were knocked down and out. They were attended by Dr. Hugh Gastle of Lakefield. The fuses were blown in the main hotel switch box as well as those in a refrigerating plant and hot water heater in the kitchen.

Proprietress Mrs. Peter Efe was sitting in her office chatting with Mrs. Hazel Szel of Toronto and Mrs. J. Auer of Buffalo when the bolt shot between them and the shelves and counters which were loaded with expensive gift china. None of this was touched but the ladies were quite dazed by the proximity of the bolt.

Steam Blew

The Examiner reporter who got a lead on this story from Mrs. Robert Beal at the Trading Post store next door to the hotel asked her why she did not let the newspaper know about it.

"There was wild confusion in the store at the same time," she said.

The gas supply had been turned off from their propane gas-fired hot water tank and the steam pressure took that particular instant to blow its top. Things were hectic at Burleigh everywhere at once for a few minutes on Wednesday.

Canadian Authors Reorganize Office

BANFF, Alta., July 6 — (CP)— The Canadian Authors Association annual convention Thursday decided to reorganize its Toronto head office. Delegates also decided to co-ordinate the work of provincial branches with their national endeavor.

A former newspaperman, Dr. Louis Blake Duff of Welland, criticized comic strips, contending that the reason Canadian authors do not have a greater Canadian following it because of the influx of comics from the United States.

3-Way Battle In By-Election

CALGARY, July 6—(CP)—The possibility was seen Thursday night of a three-way battle in the forthcoming Calgary West federal by-election caused by the resignation of A. L. Smith, Progressive Conservative. No date has yet been set for the voting.

J. Leslie Hill, president of the Calgary Social Credit Constituency Association, has announced that Arthur J. Dixon, an unsuccessful candidate in the 1949 general election, has consented to allow his name to go before a nominating convention.

C. O. Nickle, oil editor of The Calgary Herald and publisher of The Daily Oil Bulletin, said he intends to allow his name to be placed before the Progressive Conservative nominating convention.

Another possible candidate appeared when Dr. F. G. Buchanan said he had been approached by the Calgary West Liberal Association to permit his name to go before a convention.

The resignation of Mr. Smith was delivered formally Thursday to Speaker Ross Macdonald in Ottawa.

Bottle Thrown Girl's Leg Cut

Twelve-year-old Shirley Vinette, 1 Vinette St., was severely cut when someone threw a beer bottle out of a car window Thursday night on Armour Road. Taken to Dr. Robert Young, she had stitches to close the gash near her ankle.

Walking north on Vinette St. at Armour Road, the youngster met a car proceeding south on Armour Rd. The bottle was thrown out the car window and landed at her feet. Splinters of glass flew up cutting her leg near the ankle.

The car never stopped, but police are checking licence plate numbers offered by witnesses.

Acting Sergeant Claire McGillen and Constable Jack Wilson investigated.

Fewer Tourists Ask Information

Inquiries at the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth, Charlotte St., have slackened considerably since the high level total over the July 1 holiday weekend.

Bill Duignan, in charge of the booth, said today that the total number enquiring at the booth since Tuesday morning is 113. Over the weekend the total was 326. He also stated that this weekend will be another busy two days with the second large influx of tourists expected to pass through the city.

To date inquiries are still mainly for fishing accommodation with a stress on housekeeping cottages. Mr. Duignan said that most of the accommodation in the Kawartha district is filled up, but there are still a few openings.

Toronto Girl Hurt In Crash

LINDSAY, July 6 — Patricia Hardy, 19, Toronto, suffered facial lacerations when the car in which she was riding skidded and left the Bobcaygeon road about six miles from Lindsay, Wednesday.

Douglas Budden, 19, Toronto, driver of the car, escaped without injury. Damage to the car was estimated at $700.

The car was proceeding east when it went into a skid, left the road and travelled 45 feet before striking a clump of trees. The impact turned the car on its side and it skidded another 18 feet in this position. Dropping off a steep bank, the car righted itself and came to rest on its wheels.

During the car's travels, both Budden and Miss Hardy were thrown from the vehicle.

Taking Chances

JOHANNESBURG (CP)— The 66,000 visitors to the Kruger National Park last year were pretty well behaved on the whole, says the annual report. It noted however that tourists persist in the dangerous habit of feeding baboons, while one party poked poles into the sides of the long-suffering elephants.

Cross was taken to hospital where he was treated by Doctor Robert Young and Warren Gamble for a cut on his right leg below the knee.

Constables W. A. Scott and Jack Wilson investigated.

Slight damage was caused in two other accidents Thursday night.

At 3 p.m. a car, driven by John F. Noyes, 465 Roger St., met in collision with a car driven by Miss Doris Skinner at Park and Rubidge Sts. An hour later Michael Martino, 500 Murray St. reported at the police station that he was backing out of a laneway and scraped a parked car.

Farm Cost Accounting Plugs Financial Leaks and More and More Farmers Are Every Day Becoming "Cost Accounting Conscious" — Farmers Then Can Be Assured They Are Getting Fullest Use From Their Fixed Labor and Machinery Expenditures

The United States farmer has become "cost accounting conscious" writes Dorothea Kahn Jaffe in The Christian Science Monitor.

Some farmers have heard this gospel from agricultural department and OAC experts and have adopted it to their own practices and business. But in many instances the seed of exhortation and advice fell on barren soil. Official fingers have been pointed at the "boarder" cow in the herd, or hen in the flock, but in two many instances nothing much was done about it.

The Jaffe treatment of a prosaic and long familiar subject, begins as follows: "The old hen used to lay her eggs, set and hatch her chicks pretty much as she pleased, picking her own time. Farmers didn't know how much it cost them to humor the lady . . .

But cost accounting has changed things. Good farmers study their operations much as manufacturers do. They know their production costs down to an egg. When it comes to poultry to take one example, their figures show them that they can do better to buy their baby chicks from a commercial hatchery at a time when they, not Mrs. Hen, want them . . .

By getting their chicks in January, months before the natural laying season, the pullets start laying earlier, and the egg-production season is prolonged. Incidentally, as a result of this practice, together with improved breeding and feeding, average output for each hen is up about 33 per cent over the 1930's. Mrs. Hen now has to lay 165 eggs a year just to be average."

That is a sample of Mrs. Jaffe's style of brightly presenting farm trends.

"Good farm management has become more important than ever before because of the high cost of labor and machinery. Little leaks on the farm, as in industry, can be very expensive."

The main part of her story relates the course of establishment of the Farm Bureau Farm Management Service by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, begun on a small scale 35 years ago. It is now a thriving organization with 2760 members and eight regional divisions. Fourteen field men are employed.

"These professionals set up accounting systems for members, make analyses of each farmer's annual report with the co-operation of the University of Illinois, and help members figure out ways to increase the efficiency of their plants in the light of their analyzed records. . .

The field men make periodic visits to members' farms and work with the operators to devise plans which will bring better returns on investment and at the same time conserve the soil."

The average cost is $50 a year, but: "In two groups of 48 farms each (high income and low income groups) the modernizing half totalled an average annual increase in earnings of well over $4,000 higher than the half that did not change its practices."

That is the conclusion of the article on farm bookkeeping, but to go back to "the plugging of the leaks:"

Farmers want to be sure they are getting the fullest use from their fixed labor and machinery expenditures, that they are following crop rotations that give them fullest production with the least harm to the soil; that they are feeding their livesock so as to get the biggest gains in weight possible for their feed dollars; and that they are not diverting costly labor to operations which do not pay, such as keeping a cow for family use when it's cheaper to buy milk.

To get the answers, cost accounting is essential. It has become as necessary to today's farmer as a pitchfork was to his Dad.

Packing Plant Purchase Questioned In Middlesex

Middlesex Hog Producers Association set forth their reasons for "lack of enthusiasm", according to criticism directed at them, for the proposed co-operative purchase of the Duff Packing Plant in Hamilton.

The body of their letter to Wilfred Bishop of Norwich, chairman of the committee which has been proposing the project, presents some factors of general interest to the industry.

"One of the main objections is the matter of working capital. Farmers were told the reason the Duff plant is for sale is due to the lack of working capital to continue operations. We were informed that this should amount to $100,000. It is difficult to understand why the Duff packing plant, which is one of the long-established plants in Ontario has been unable to maintain working capital, partcularly when it was suggested that the plant would continue under the management of the Duff company.

Another objection is the matter of purchasing a highly competitive enterprise at present inflated values, and especially at this time when another round of wage increases for packing house employees is anticipated.

We have been informed also that the Duff Packng Co. would assume a first and second mortgage on the said property. At the same time the present management would continue to operate the co-operative plant. While not doubting the honesty and sincerity of the Duff Company, we question the wisdom or legality of allowing a mortagee to operate a factory in which several hundred thousand dollars of farmers' money has been invested.

While it is true that production may be stepped up at the Duff plant under co-operative ownership, there is no assurance of increased sales. With little or no export markets available, all products must be sold on the domestic market. It is true that some packing plants are forced, at times, to sell surplus products to the big packers in order to dispose of what they cannot sell locally.

The directors of Middlesex County Hog Producers Association are most anxious and eager to co-operate in every possible way to better the lot of the Ontario livestock producers. However for the above reasons we cannot at present wholeheartedly endorse the proposed purchase until further information is forthcoming."

Farm Has Three Trench Silos

Mitchell F. Hepburn is digging two trench silos on his Yarmouth Township farms, and has plans for a third later in the year. Initial cost is labor and the use of a power drag. Concrete lining may be added as a development, permitting most of the permanency of the traditional tower silos, but minus their comparatively heavy construction cost.

The work has been begun with the co-operation of OAC agricultural engineers, using Hepburn labor and machinery under the supervision of Professor C. G. Downing, head of the agricultural engineering department of the Guelph institution.

OAC's interest in the Hepburn trenches stems from the grass silage research program initiated there by the president, Dr J. D. McLachlan. Prof. Downing will engineer the silos and test grasses and corn to be used separately in each; later samples of ensilage will be sent to OAC for chemical analysis.

Mr. Hepburn says he is satisfied that the day of the upright concrete silo is over. The trench silo can be filled by blower or from dump truck, and its capacity can be enlarged by increasing the length of the trench.

In Research Stage

Prof. Downing said this week that under proper conditions ensilage from the horizontal silo was just as good as that sored in the concrete cylindrical type familiar in the farm scene of Ontrio. How long it might be stored economically, he said, he did not know. "It is one of the things we hope to find out in present research."

He also said that trench ensilage has been usable after storage for eight years in the United States where the "big ditches" are increasing in number.

As to filling operation: Grass is placed in thin layers along the length of the trench and thoroughly packed — usually by the weight of the vehicle used in transporting the loads.

The trench is filled two or three feet above its curbs to allow for settling. Then the silo is sealed with straw or low grade hay, and soaked. Earth can be used as top cover.

The element of structural strength is in favor of the trench. Increasing use of highly compacted grass ensilage threatens the old tower silo to crack at the base under the load.

Choice of soil for the trench silo location counts in efficiency of operation. At the Hepburn place, one trench is being dug on the south end of the home farm. It is based on an OAC table indicating that it will feed 40 cows or two-year-old steers—computed on 35 pounds a day for 180 days' feed. The bottom is of sandy soil.

The other, now in the course of excavation, is in clay, at a second farm. Maintenance of the moisture content and heat in winter is a factor in favor of the trench method. Banking with earth acts as an insulating blanket.

As to disadvantages, it is said that removal of silage may be more difficult than from the old type unit, and it may not be easy for farmers to locate trenches convenient for feeding. It may plug with snow in winter, unless roofed.

These possibilities influenced Prof. Downing in applying academic reserve to his enthusiasm for the new development. He said that in some instances the trench might be used only as a supplementary unit to the farmer's traditional vertical container.

The Hepburn experiment is not alone in that area. There is a trench silo at Ridgetown Experimental Station; another has been built with Veterans Loan Act assistance in the district, and OAC is building one. At the College, bulldozers encountered rock bottom in trench construction.

It represents new practice in Ontario agricultural, and should be of interest to farmers who are facing silo reconstruction or the building of new ones.

Find Unions Heavy Losers In New Zealand's Longest Strike In History

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z.,— (CP) — Since February New Zealand has been facing the longest strike in its history involving several of the country's most powerful and militant unions. So far the unions are the heaviest losers.

The longshoremen, who began the strike in February over a wages issue, have lost the support of all moderate unions, their organization has been decertified thus losing all industrial benefits, and new independent longshoremen's unions are functioning at almost all ports.

Some of the strikers have abandoned their leaders and joined the new unions. Large numbers have permanently lost employment on the waterfront, as the port registers are filled with new union men from other industries at some of the big ports. The old union, once the most powerful in the country, is now in danger of disintergration.

Unions of meat and transport workers who supported the longshoremen at some centres have also been replaced by new unions.

Now the underground miners are finding that the strike has immensely weakened their position. As a reuslt of the strike, the government, which owns nearly all the country's coal mines, has vastly increased open-cast working to a stage where some of the main coal areas will soon be producing as much by open-cast methods as they were from all sources before the strike.

OPEN-CAST OUTPUT UP

In the past the miners have been able to secure benefits and urgent attention to their case, as industry has been quickly paralysed by mine strikes. In this dispute, however, open-cast miners refused to back the underground workers in support of the longshoremen. Open-cast mining was at once greatly stepped up and large quantities of earth-moving machines are now stripping new areas with a view to a further 50 per cent increase in output.

Production from open-cast mines and a few underground mines which kept open has proved sufficient to keep essential industry going throughout the four-month stoppage. Some railway services have been cut; gas has been rationed to a few hours a day and housewives have had to use wood instead of coal. But there has been no major breakdown in community life.

Sufficient coal workable by open-cast methods has been discovered in recent years in the Huntly district, south of Auckland, to supply the whole Dominion for many years. Moreover the modern equipment being used on the field can be operated by troops or other workers in an emergency.

The only major union involved in the strike not to suffer a heavy blow is the coastal seamen's union, but even it has nothing to gain from the strike and it has been unable to stop vital trade. A skeleton fleet of coastal vessels has kept essential supplies moving. Some of the vessels have been manned by merchant navy officers and others by naval ratings.

New Minister Inducted At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, July 6 (ENS)— The congregations of St. Andrew's United Church and Cavan United welcomed their new minister and his wife, the Rev. A. N. and Mrs. Butler, at the induction service held on Tuesday evening. The Rev. H. G. Douglas, of Knox Church, Peterborough, chairman of the Presbytery, was in charge of the service, and Mr. Butler was presented by the Rev. H. B. Herrington, Keene, secretary of the Presbytery. The Rev. James Hampson, Bethany, preached the sermon.

Declaring that faith was the rock on which the church was built, Mr. Hampson urged church members to "live in the faith and to live out the faith" that they should not grow discouraged, because through faith they had at their disposal all the resources of Divine Grace.

The Rev. Walton Tonge, Lakefield, gave the charge to the minister and to the congregations of Millbrook and Cavan churches. Mrs. G. A. Spicer took the solo part in the anthem "Seek Ye the Lord," by J. Varley Roberts.

Clergymen present were the Rev. H. J. Douglas, Knox Church, Peterborough; the Rev. H. B. Herrington, Keene, Rev. James Hampson, Bethany; the Rev. Walton Tonge, Lakefield; the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon, Trinity Church, Peterborough; the Rev. Bernard Heywood, Bailieboro; the Rev. A. A. Chote, St. Thomas' Anglican Church, and the Rev. Harold Heustin, Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook. Present also were Mr. E. L. Sackville, George Street United Church, Peterborough, and Mr. J. A. Porter, Lakefield, lay reprsentatives of the presbytery.

Following the service refreshments were served in the Sunday schoolrooms by the Women's Association under the direction of the president, Mrs. John McKnight. Rev. A. A. Chote and Rev. Harold Heustin and Mr. W. Fred Fallis spoke, welcoming the Rev. and Mrs. Butler to Millbrook. Mr. Douglas welcomed Mr. Butler and also Mrs. Butler, who as well as her husband, is an ordained minister, to Peterborough presbytery. Mr. and Mrs. Butler replied thanking the people for their kindness. Dr. Bruce Gordon pronounced the benediction.

Pays To Hitch-Hike With Horse, Girl Finds

CALGARY, July 6 (CP)—Take it from Marjorie Childerstone, of Kelowna, BC—hitch-hiking with a horse is the best way to travel.

She and her chestnut gelding, "Rusty," have just finished a four-week, 600-mile trip through the Rocky Mountains.

The hitch-hiking horse and his 19-year-old rider came through sleet, snow, hail and rain from Kelowna to Calgary. They never parted company.

The two ramblers were saved many miles on their trip by truck drivers and ranchers who stopped to give the hitch-hikers lifts.

Aussies Urge Canadians To Pay Country Visit

Written for The Canadian Press By MARGARET ECKER FRANCIS

SYDNEY, Australia (CP). — Several hundred Canadians annually visit Australia as tourists, but Australians are looking to the day when the number can be greatly increased.

"An influx would mean more than the bringing of tourist dollars to Australia," says Les. M. Lewis, Public Relations Director of the British Commonwealth Pacific Airline. "It would increase understanding between the two dominions, and that understanding and the affection it would bring could be very important to all of us if troublesome times should come to the Pacific.

Australians want very much to see a steady flow of Canadian visitors southwest across the Pacific by plane and ship. But they seem to feel the services they offer are not up to North American standards, and that the scenery here has not the magnificence of the Rockies, for example.

Here Australians are the first to criticize regulations that reduce night life to a minimum even in cities such as Sydney, with a population of more than 1,500,000. They realize that to most Canadians a holiday in Australia appears a lengthy and expensive undertaking. And they hasten to explain that such is not the case.

By sleeper plane across the Pacific, with berths more comfortable than the average train berth, Sydney is only 30 hours' flying from Vancouver. There is only about $100 difference in fares between Vancouver-Sydney and Vancouver-London, England.

Exciting Continent

Canadians who turned south and west to Australia rather than eastward to the United Kingdom and Europe would find the experience a new and rewarding one. They would find a continent that differs as widely in scenery, atmosphere and climate as does North America.

Lower costs of living and a high rate of exchange for the Canadian dollar, ($2.35 buys one Australian pound), allow luxury they couldn't afford elsewhere. A steak dinner in a good restaurant, with more food than the average Canadian can eat at a meal, can be found esily for under $1. Good native wine is as low as 50 cents a bottle, with excellent Australian champaigne at $1.50.

A room with bath and breakfast in a medium priced hotel would be about $3 a night. The breakfast would be fruit, steak with eggs and fried potatoes, toast and marmalade, tea or coffee.

Hotel Room Scarce

The catch would be to find the room and the hotel. Hotel accommodation hasn't kept pace with Austarlia's galloping population and reservations have to be made months in advance. Booking offices in Canada of course make this possible.

The private hotel is an institution in Australia and accommodation is easy to find in these. A clean, attractive one in Sydney, plus a hearty five-course breakfast, is usually about $2.50 a night. Accommodation is even less expensive and easier to find away from Sydney, Melbourne or Brisbane. Travel organizations are providing hotels in less crowded areas as modern as anything in Canada.

Leisurely Cities

Australian cities fascinate the Canadian visitor. All of them are attractive, modern and leisurely. The larger ones are all set in beautiful surroundings with golden beaches a few minutes from the city centres.

Sydney, sprawling amongst the endless bays and bluffs of Sydney harbor, with its wide, palm-lined streets likes to interpret itself as the most North American city in Australia. A Canadian may find it more England than that. Even at its heart there are glimpses of the harbor and acres of parks bright with semi-tropical flowers.

Melbourne, a town-planned city, has even wider streets, more parks. Since in both cities public drinking ends at 6 p.m. neither offers a very vigorous night life.

Brisbane in the north is the tropical city, starting point for the luscious tropical islands of Barrier Reef. Far south, Tasmania is a green miniature of England, where Hobart sits lazily beneath Mount Wellington on another endless harbor.

Great Harmony

Canberra, the federal capital, rests amongst blue hills in the clear, dry inland air. It's a city in the making where town-planners have created a complete harmony of garden, woods and metropolitan area.

Fishing, surging, horse-racing, boating, are all easily available to the seaport cities.

Australians, fanatically fond of their own country, provide inexpensive and excellent methods so they may see it. Internal airlines fly tourists at rates as low as under $20, for example, from Sydney to Brisbane.

Austin Denies Charge Of Atrocities By UN

UNITED NATIONS, NY, July 6 (AP)—American delegate Warren R. Austin Thursday denied Communist-backed charges of atrocities by UN troops in Korea and called on Soviet delegate Jakob Malik to make possible an impartial investigation.

Austin replied in a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie to the atrocity charges made by a commission of the Women's International Democratic Federation. These charges were circulated last month by Malik while he was president of the Security Council.

"The charges contained in the paper are false," Austin said. "They were fabricated for the purpose of propaganda designed to discredit the United Nations effort in Korea."

WON'T AFFECT

TORONTO, July 6—(CP)—A projected ban on installation of new equipment for natural gas heating was expected to have no effect in Ontario. Advised that the petroleum administration for defence had drafted a "tentative" order barring installation of such equipment, Premier Frost's office said Thursday such installations in Ontario already are governed by permit, with householders getting priority.

Golden Jubilee Celebrated By Smelter City

TRAIL, BC, July 6. (CP) — This smelter city, once the jackpot in a fabulous game of stud poker, this week is celebrating its golden jubilee of incorporation as a city.

Trail, heart of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company operations, was known until last year as "Smoky City". The Chamber of Commerce, after herculean efforts, finally got the 11,500 residents to refer to their home town as the "Silver City" and the name seems to have stuck.

"Silver City" is appropriate enough, for Consolidated now supplies eight per cent of the world's silver, plus 10 per cent of the world's zinc and lead; 100 per cent of Canada's refined lead, 76 per cent of Canada's zinc, 55 per cent of her silver, 100 per cent of her tin, indium and antimony, 87 per cent of her bismuth and ammonium sulphate, 84 per cent of her cadmium.

The world's largest combined lead - zinc - chemicals producer, Consolidated now has under way or planned projects totalling more than $65,000,000.

The first white man to set foot on what now is the site of Trail was David Thompson, who mapped the Columbia River in 1806.

Gold Found

In 1890, gold was found on Red Mountain, seven miles from Trail. Trail became a docking point for Columbia River steamers taking ore from the new boom town of Rossland. In 1894, it was swept away by a Columbia River flood. Years later, in 1948, Trail survived another onslaught by the the river.

Which brings up that famous game of stud poker.

The townsite of Trail then was owned by a syndicate of three men —E. S. (Colonel) Topping, F. Augustus Heinze, a 24-year-old poker-faced youth from Butte, Mont., and A. E. Humphreys.

They finally decided to divide the lots. They became tired of pulling slips of paper out of a hat and produced a deck of cards. Humphreys won the pot—most of the city of Trail.

It was about that time the first smelter was built and in 1901 Trail was incorporated as a city.

Ask Government Action

WINNIPEG, July 6 — (CP) — Farmers and poultry dealers in the Portage La Prairie, Man., district are urging more government action to curb the epidemic of Newcastle disease, which has caused heavy losses in flocks. Dr. V. R. Giesbrecht, of Winnipeg, a member of the Manitoba Veterinarians' Association, Thursday said "the danger of future losses is tremendous" if the present epidemic goes unchecked.

Canadians Spend More Abroad Visitors Spending Less Here

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians are relative spendthrifts when they go to the United States, compared with what American visitors spend here.

This is indicated in a study of "The Tourist Trade and Canada's Balance of Payments" in the current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It says:

"In 1950 Canadians travelling in the United States spent 73 per cent. as much as Americans travelling in Canada, in spite of the fact that the population of Canada is only one-tenth that of the United States.

"Canadian tourist expenditures in that year accounted for almost half the total foreign tourist revenues of the United States".

And, Canadian tourist expenditures across the border are increasing, while American tourist spendings here are decreasing. For, in 1950, Canadians visiting the U.S. spent $191,000,000, up $26,000,000, over 1949; while American visitors to Canada spent $261,000,000, down $8,000,000.

Factors in this shift include increased American travel in Europe, and lessening of restrictions on Canadian travel spending.

However, the United States still is Canada's great source of tourist income, and accounted for 94 per cent. of the $275,000,000 which travellers from all countries spent here in 1950.

The Bank letter adds:

"Continuation of the increase in Canadian travel in the United States and decrease in American travel in Canada would rapidly diminish the substantial credit balance from international travel which Canadians have enjoyed for at least a quarter of a century . . .

The letter, in a review of present "general conditions" has another comment on Canadian-U.S. dealings.

Buying More

It notes that in the first five months of this year Canada has bought $300,000,000 more goods from other countries than it has sold to them, and that this trade deficit has resulted in a decline in foreign exchange reserves (of $90,200,000 in the first quarter of the year). It adds:

"These losses are not alarming as our reserves are ample and it is proper to use them to tide us over the transitional period until settlements for United States defence contracts placed in Canada begin to be reflected in our accounts."

Concerning "general conditions" in Canada, the letter concludes:

"Rising incomes, the growing demands of the defence effort, and a continued high level of capital formation indicate, on balance, a continuance of inflationary influences."

3rd Bad Fire In 14 Months

By The Canadian Press

Thursday's fire at Cap Chat, Gaspe Peninsula lumbering and farming community, was the third to strike the lower St. Lawrence River south shore area in 14 months.

The Cap Chat blaze destroyed more than 40 homes and left 250 persons homeless. Estimate of damage was $300,000.

May 6, 1950, fire destroyed or damaged 312 homes at Rimouski, 180 miles east of Quebec. About 2,000 persons were left homeless. Damage was placed at $20,000,000.

May 9, 1950, Cabano, a sawmill town 60 miles southeast of Rimouski, was partially destroyed by a $6,000,000 fire. The homeless were estimated at 1,500.

Ask Boys Pull Trigger Youth Dies Of Wound

PORT DOVER, July 6—(CP)—George Gollan, 19-year-old shooting gallery attendant, Thursday night held a .22-calibre rifle with the barrel pointed at his head and invited nine boys touring this resort's boardwalk to pull the trigger.

At first, the boys, although apparently believing the rifle to be unloaded, hung back. Then, police said, a 13-year-old Hamilton boy stepped forward and pressed the trigger. The rifle discharged. Gollan, a resident of River St. John, N.S., who started work here three weeks ago, fell to the ground with a bullet in his brain. He died in hospital 3½ hours later.

OPEN WEATHER—Jim Ferrier, Australian-born golf wizard now playing out of San Francisco, shelters from Toronto's rain as he lines up a putt in the first round of the Canadian Open Golf Championship. Cheques In Mailbag Get Convict 3 Years

WINNIPEG, July 6—(CP)— A bundle of wheat board cheques, sent in a tattered mail bag to Stony Mountain Penitentiary, led to the sentence Thursday of Harry Slavin, 37, to three years' imprisonment.

Defense Counsel Samuel Freedman told court that mail sacks are sent to the penitentiary for repairs. Slavin acquired the cheques, sent in one of the mail bags, while he was in the penitentiary.

Total value of cheques uttered by Slavin was $3,106. He pleaded guilty to four charges of conspiring to defraud.

Freedman accused the post office of "literally inviting the commission of a crime."

The Khatanga River, flowing from east Siberia into the Arctic Ocean has an estimated length of 700 miles.

70 Bush Pilots On Strike As Buddy Fired

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 6—(CP)—Bush pilots who fly in supplies to Saskatchewan's booming north country went on strike Thursday.

They walked off the job with other employees of Saskatchewan Government Airways to protest the dismissal of Pilot Stuart Miller. The 70 strikers are members of Local 1, Canadian Airlines Employees Union (CCL).

Reinstatement of Miller is demanded by the strikers. The reason for his dismissal was not made public. Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank said the government-owned airline would favor arbitration of the issue.

C. G. Palmer of Regina, CCL region director, said the strike was 100 per cent effective. Picket lines were set up at the airline's Prince Albert base.

"The pilots flying out of northern points due to take off shortly after dawn Thursday remained at their bases," Mr. Palmer said. "There is noihtng moving at all."

Ian McLeod, acting manager of the airline, said the strike would not affect mining activity or other northern industry. Most freight is flown in during the winter months.

"Our traffic during the summer is mainly in fresh and perishable foods," he said. "I believe that the northern settlements are stocked up sufficiently on staples to last all summer without air transport."

There will be delays in mail delivery. Thirty bags have accumulated at Prince Albert Postoffice.

Union officials said pickets would be on the job around the clock at Prince Albert base. They will also keep the base closed at Lac La Ronge, about 130 miles north of Prince Albert.

Mr. Palmer said pilots from outlying posts have been instructed by the union to converge on Lac La Ronge. From there they will fly in to Prince Albert.

The union offered the services of one pilot to fly emergency ambulance flights in and out of Prince Albert.

"MADE IN CANADA—Canadian fashions on sale this Fall will include the frontiersman jacket at left. For sports and outdoor wear, it will appear in red, cinnamon, green or beige fringed English suede. For wet-weather wear is the raincoat at right, either full-backed or belted, with matching rain hat with softly-tailored crown. A wide range of colors will be available, from bright green to different shades of brown.

Designers Favor Tartans For Sportswear In Autumn

TORONTO (CP). — A suit of corduroy velvet with separate "party" skirt for special occasions will be found in milady's wardrobe if she heeds the Canadian fashion trend this fall.

The suit, plus coat styled for "double duty" were among the models displayed at advance showings of fall styles by Toronto designers. They were two of the highlights the experts have planned in their effort to provide clothes within reach of the average office-girl's budget.

The coat is complete with fur collar and chamois lining. Both can be removed, leaving a gently-tailored number ideal for wearing either to the office or late-season football-games. It also comes in a variety of shades, although manufacturers claim Canadian girls are conservative in their color choice, clinging chiefly to greys and blacks.

The suit comes only in black, embroidered with red and white squares, Swiss style. The separate "party" skirt makes this practically an all-occasion outfit.

Tartans Popular

Tartans promise to highlight next season's sportswear. Several tartan skirt and vestee combinations will be seen on this fall's market.

Bright spot for a rainy day will be the full-backed (or belted) raincoat complete with rain-hat with softly tailored crown. This comes in a wide range of colors, varying from bright green to different shades of brown.

There's also a frontiersman jacket in red, cinnamon, green, beige and of fringed English suede. This is ideal for the outdoor type of girl.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Cool Ice Cream Desserts Ideal For Summer Meals

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nothing can beat ice cream as an ideal summertime dessert. It's easy to make and a freezerfull will keep for days in the family refrigerator. Any number of variations may be tried with the standard recipe.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer the following basic vanilla ice cream recipe:

Ingredients:- two tablespoons flour; one-half cup sugar; few grains salt; one cup milk; one egg; 1½ teaspoons vanilla; one-half pint (1¼ cups) whipping cream—chilled.

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Mix to a smooth paste with one-quarter cup of the milk. Add remaining milk. Cook in top of double-boiler, stirring constantly until thick. (About 10 minutes. Add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten egg and stir into the mixture in double-boiler. Add vanilla. Cook two minutes stirring constantly. Chill. Whip cream and fold into chilled mixture: Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm (about two hours).

Variations

Fruit ice cream: one cup sweetened strawberry, raspberry or crushed peach pulp and juice.

Butterscotch ice cream: Melt two tablespoons butter; add three-quarter cup brown sugar. Cook one minute. Omit other sugar in basic recipe.

Chocolate ice cream: Melt 1½ ounces unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Add three tablespoons hot water and stir until smooth. Add to basic recipe.

Hot Weather Menu

At least one hot dish is necessary to provide balance when hot weather makes a cold-cut dinner a matter of course.

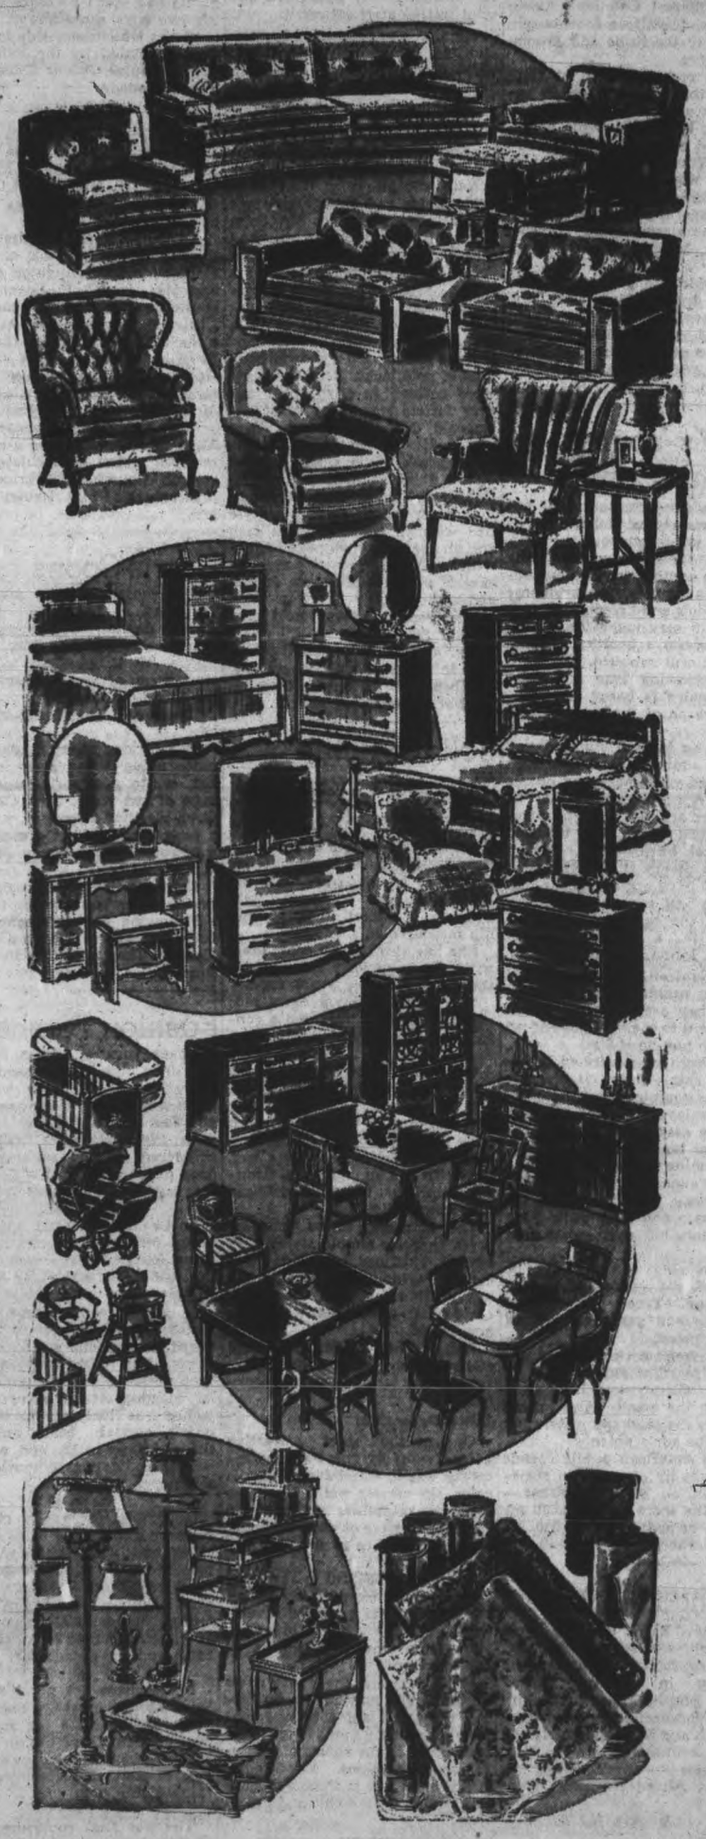
Potatoes just naturally go with cold meat and the Agriculture Department's home economists suggest Creole fried potatoes as the necessary "hot dish."

Ingredients: five medium potatoes; two medium onions; two tablespoons bacon fat; three tablespoons tomato catsup; one-half teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Peel potatoes and slice thinly. Peel onion and slice thinly. Melt fat in heavy pan, add potatoes and onion. Cover and cook until tender. (About 40 minutes). Stir often to prevent scorching. Remove cover. Add catsup, salt and pepper. Stir well and continue cooking, uncovered, for 10 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Salad Days

The health department reminds that salads can be glamorous as well as healthful. On a hot day, cool green vegetables can be appetizing with salmon, eggs, cheese or cold meat. Fruit salads, too, with cottage cheese or peanut butter balls, will supply vitamins and minerals.



Incidentally ice cream with fruit salad and crisp hot buttered toast is an excellent dish for a light luncheon.

What's Your IQ — On Sun Tan?

As "Let's see your sun tan" becomes the standard Monday morning greeting throughout the land, with both men and women vieing with one another in the development of a bronze hue, consideration of "do's and "don'ts" relative to the sun may make the difference between a healthy sun tan and a painful sunburn.

The following true and false questionnaire is based on scientific research of the top sun specialists.

1. If you have a sun tan you can't get sunburned.—False. Even brown and yellow-skinned people burn.

2. There are two kinds of ultra-violet rays; those that tan and those that burn.—False. Latest scientific theory is that the same rays that burn are also those that tan. It's just a question of how much of the rays can be eliminated with a screening agent (sun-tan lotion, to you).

3. Mineral oil and baby oil will prevent sunburn.—False. And how! They are both completely transparent to the sunlight and all they help you do is fry.

4. Sunburn is actually an injury to the skin.—True. It involves partial or complete destruction of the outer layers of the skin and, in severe cases, may prevent the skin from tanning again.

5. Sunshine is always healthy.—False. Taken in moderation the sun is very beneficial, but too much may not only ruin your complexion, but even cause skin cancer.

6. The skin can actually be thickened and coarsened by too much sun.—True. Sailors and fishermen and gardeners are all cases in point.

7. You won't get sunburned unless you're right out in the sun.—False. Cloudy and hazy days are often the worst. And reflection from the sand and water may double the sun's potency.

8. The American public spends more annually on sunburn remedies than on sun-tan lotions.—True. The score is $7,000,000 for sunburn remedies; $2,000,000 for sun-tan lotions.

Northcott-Dobbie

The Rev. E. W. Rowland, Peterborough, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Armstrong, solemnized the marriage in Trinity United Church, Smiths Falls, last Saturday of Margaret Isabelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Edward Dobbie, Smiths Falls, to Mr. Victor Charles Northcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Northcott, Toronto.

Mr. Dobbie gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her sister Miss Barbara Dobbie as maid of honor, Misses Jean O'Neill and Margaret Kerfoot as bridesmaids and flower girl was little Kathy Duimage. Mr. John Northcott was groomsman and Messrs. Donald W. Hill, Jerry and John Kileeg ushered.

The bride wore a gown of seafoam daisy lace and net over satin and fingertip veil of tulle held by an open-crowned net bonnet and she carried a shower bouquet of goldilocks. Her attendants were gowned in crisp white net over taffeta set off by sashes of emerald green satin and they wore white picture hats with emerald green ribbons and carried Shasta daisies and adiantum. The flower girl wore white organdy in a floor-length crinoline style tied with an emerald green sash and an open crowned poke bonnet with matching green ties and she carried a basket of Shasta daisies and adiantum.

The reception was held at Rideau Ferry Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Northcott will live in Peterborough where Mr. Northcott will be on the teaching staff at Queen Mary School.

Believe Philip Caused Change Princess' Styles

Princess Elizabeth has slimmed considerably since the birth last August of her daughter, Princess Anne, and now competes with Princess Margaret in waist and hip measurements.

She has also broken completely with the somewhat fussy styles she favored a few years ago.

The four-day Royal Ascot race meeting recently provided a conspicuous example. Elizabeth chose four outfits.

One with marked appeal was a tailored coat of princess line with long revers, neat waist and classic shoulder-line. Combined with wide cartwheel hat of classic severity, dark gloves, shoes and bag, the outfit had an unbroken, clean-cut simplicity that suited Elizabeth's new slimness.

The Princess shows marked preference for simple styles with straight-cut lines in both day and evening wear. She scorns the heavy trimmings and over-elaborate collar-effects that were once her choice.

Unlike her sister, Elizabeth dislikes strapless gowns, preferring those with deep-cut necklines.

Little Decoration

One of the most attractive gowns worn by the Princess recently was in unrelieved white, a color, she carries well. Her most elaborate crinolines have a single spray of flowers or embroidery at shoulder and hip as the only decoration.

Remaining faithful to the royal rule to avoid exaggerated styles, the Princess has modified several details in her clothes to bring the styles into line with the latest fashion trends.

Still choosing the same dress designer, she now insists on seeing the latest sketches and materials, spending much longer than previously in the choice of clothes for state occasions. Friends believe this is due to Prince Philip's admiration for the [illegible] to-ilets.

Fewer Weddings 1st Week of July

On the first Saturday of July only five weddings are taking place in city churches, according to announcements. Two are at George St. United and two at Knox and one at the Immaculate Conception Church.

Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, 220 Murray St., will marry Mr. Douglas George Shield of Buckhorn at George St. Church at one thirty o'clock, and Miss Betty Mather, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Mather, 704 George St., is to wed Mr. Douglas Harris at two-thirty.

At Knox Church the first wedding is at two o'clock of Ethel Roberts, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Edgerton of Bailieboro, to Mr. Elwood R. Little of Peterborough. At three o'clock Miss Dorothy M. Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Godfrey, 128 Park St., will be married to Mr. Hugh Alexander McLean, formerly of Meaford.

Miss Alice Anne Leonard and Mr. William S. Pearson are to be married at the Immaculate Conception Church. The bride-elect is daughter of Mrs. Daniel Leonard.

Harris-Coons

The marriage took place on Thursday in Lakefield United Church manse, of Bernice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Coons, RR 1, Lakefield, to Vince Harris, son of Mrs. E. Harris and the late Levi Harris.

The Rev. Walton Tonge officiated.

The bride wore a gown of navy nylon sheer, navy picture hat, white accessories and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Clarence Coon was her attendant, wearing a pink check taffeta dress, white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Clarence Coons, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony the bride and groom left on a trip to Quebec. They will live in Smith township.

Fashion Flashes

Never such a season as this for linen, the fabric used for everything from beach to ballroom wear. Aqua blue linen for a strapless sheath dress for evening wear, the snug bodice richly embroidered in gold sequins, the deep neckline flanged with a narrow cuff. Skirt is street-length.

✧ ✧ ✧

Looks like another big year ahead for ribbed fabrics such as velvet and corduroy and even now the call is for velvet or velvet-trimmed hats, with velvet handbags getting a big share of attention. At a fashion show we admired an exquisite wedding gown of very fine ribbed corduroy with deep neckline and triangular collar forming capelet sleeves. The bodice was richly embroidered in pearls, crystal beads and gold thread. Cape collar and edge of basque bodice was trimmed with self fabric ball fringe.

✧ ✧ ✧

Good deal for a city child in summer would be a dress of fine black and white checked gingham, done on button-down-the-front coat-dress lines, the flared skirt having a wide lining of taffeta at the hem. Collars and cuffs of white organdie are heavily embroidered and detacheble.

✧ ✧ ✧

Everywhere we go, it's lace this season, even at the beach. One designer cites as a big success a beach ensemble of boyish shorts, strapless bandeau and coolie-type coat of all black lace over white terry cloth.

✧ ✧ ✧

The Far East continues to influence fashion, especially clothes designed for sports, casual and at-home wear. Fine cotton is used for smart separates in an interesting Siamese print. The blouse and the front panel of the skirt are done in green, blue, yellow and pink in a broad and narrow band design. The skirt is a pale pink. The blouse has an off-shoulder neckline held by straps and bows, and closes with temple-bell buttons.

✧ ✧ ✧

Crisp and pretty is the little hat of starched white lace. Little bonnets, pillboxes and helmets in heavy white lace—some jewel-trimmed; others with tiny velvet touches—are seen about town just now.

✧ ✧ ✧

Scarcely a strapless dress has been seen at smart resorts when jackets or capelets are removed, especially at smart daytime events. Usually the dresses have straps wide enough to accommodate bra straps, or have scoop necklines and no sleeves.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sheer luxury that is very wearable is nicely typified by a duster coat of pure silk organza printed in a large leaf and petal design in tones of orange, green lemon and white. With it a choker high sleeveless sheath dress in orange birdseye pique with interesting buttoned neckline bands and pocket detail.

✧ ✧ ✧

Interesting things are being done by designers in fur. Russian broadtail, so supple and so rich, is worked like a man's shirt for a smart jacket, complete with handkerchief pocket. Pearl button closing down the front to the shirt-tail hemline.

Local Women Give Veterans Collapsible Wheel Chairs

A party of 15 from Peterborough on Thursday afternoon attended the dedication at Sunnybrook Hospital of two collapsible, light-weight, steel chairs presented by the Silver Cross Women, Peterborough Chapter.

Mrs. B. W. Harvey, local president, made an address which she concluded with this remark: "We have always wanted to do something for the comrades of our boys. Ours did not return—but these boys we can help in this practical way."

The chairs with ball-bearing wheels are specially designed to fold up so they can be put into a car or under the seat of a train. At the hospital they are used by the men unable to walk to get about the long corridors. One of these corridors on which the party walked while touring the hospital is just a few feet less than a mile long. In the dining hall was noted a table built to accommodate about 60 men in this type of chair.

Purchased by the Peterborough women at a cost of $120 each, the chairs were accepted as a gift by Mr. Brady, newly appointed administrative staff officer.

The tour was conducted by Mrs. Oldfield, hostess at the hospital, who called attention to gifts from various clubs, military units and business houses. Especially admired were two murals, each covering a wall of a lounge room. One done by Angus McDonald is a map of Canada and Europe with pictographs including the totem pole of BC, Ottawa Peace Tower, skiing in the Alps and the Laplander with his kiak. The other, done by Eric Oldwinkle depicts the life of the Knights of Good King Arthur.

The visitors were impressed by the size of the hospital which has 40 solariums with infra red glass. There are seven operating theatres and surgery of the highest calibre is being performed daily. The operating room is explosion proof and each minute detail has been planned and tested carefully for the protection of the patient. There has been great success in treatment of neuropsychiatric cases and the arthritic clinic is one of the largest on the continent.

Refreshments were served the party in the Red Cross Cafeteria where service is done entirely by volunteer workers of the Red Cross Society.

When leaving the hospital the givers had much pleasure in seeing two boys, quite happy, riding in chairs which bear this inscription: "Donated by the Peterborough Chapter, Silver Cross Women of Canada."

Mary Joan Hutchison Wed To Dr. W. G. Whittaker of BC

An all-white floral background was beautifully arranged in All Saints' Anglican Church Friday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Mary Joan Hutchison to Doctor William George Whittaker who pledged their nuptial vows before the rector, the Rev. M. P. Poole.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brown Hutchison, 603 Weller St., and was given in marriage by her father. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Whittaker of Youbou, Vancouver Island, British Columbia.

Flowers in the setting were gladioli, roses, delphinium, poms and Esther Reed daisies. The music was played by Miss Margaret Flowers.

The bridal gown selected was ballerina length of white imported Swiss organdy over satin. The taut bodice was fashioned with a drop shoulder sleeve and a portrait neckline which was outlined by a seraphic collar of cut-out design of embroidered organdy which matched the motif of the floral and leaf design at the hemline of the bouffant skirt. She wore matching pointed gauntlets and her elbow length illusion veil was caught to a pleated organdy cap. She carried a cascade of starlight roses and stephanotis.

Miss Lenore Hutchison, maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. A. L. Wigston of Toronto, bridesmaid, were frocked alike, also in white. Their dresses were of frost white organdy over taffeta, ballerina length, and made with full bouffant skirts caught with wide emerald green taffeta sashes which tied in bustle bows. They featured batou necklines with petal collars and tiny cap sleeves and were accented by wide bands of embroidery across the bodice and the skirt. Each wore a cap of fish net veiling with cluster of daisies at the side and carried a bouquet of old fashioned daisies.

Groomsman was Mr. W. E. Redpath of Toronto and ushers were W. E. Fanning Jr., Peterborough, and Fred Cockburn, of Toronto.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Hutchison received her guests in a gown of navy silk organza over taffeta with dusty pink reveres appliqued with French lace. Her navy hat of French maline was softly draped with a subtle arrangement of tiny pink and white French flowers and she carried a spray of sweetheart roses on her purse.

When leaving later for the west coast the bride wore an ice blue doeskin suit and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Dr. and Mrs. Whittaker will live in Smithers, British Columbia.

Believe Princess Planning Clothes For Canada Visit

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, July 6. (CP)—The Royal dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, visited Clarence House on Thursday to discuss the clothes that Princess Elizabeth will wear on her visit to Canada in October.

British fashion writers promptly gossiped that the Princess would have an entirely new wardrobe for the visit. Official sources at Clarence House confined themselves to saying that, naturally, the Princess would require some new clothes.

London's three main evening newspapers all made the forthcoming Royal tour a leading item in their gossip columns, a regular feature in most British papers.

The Evening News forecast that the Princess' styles would set the autumn and winter fashion for smartly dressed women in Canada.

Varied Weather

The Star noted that the Royal visitors would have to be prepared for rain (on the west coast), cold (on the east coast) and plenty of snow if they visited the Rocky Mountains.

"So the Princess' choice," the Star said, "is bound to be tweeds, woollen dresses and small hats."

The Evening News, on the other hand, recalled that Canada often is favored with Indian summers, particularly in Southern Alberta, and thus the Princess "may have a chance to wear the light weight coats which suit her so well."

As for color, fashion experts take the view that Princess Elizabeth will prove to be partial to brown, green and grey, shades to which Hartnell is giving a big play this year. When Queen Elizabeth toured Canada in 1939, however, she wore pinks and sky blues.

Work Before Wife Can Ruin Promising Young Marriage

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married for four years to a typical businessman, upright, kind, generous, a good provider. But he is interested in nothing but his business. Works all day and five nights a week, half the time needlessly. He eats, talks and sleeps with his work and has no time for me. Three years ago we moved to this city where we are strangers, and while he has business friends, I have none. I have joined a church and the guilds and clubs belonging to it, but they always forget to notify me of their meetings. I am just plain lonely, Miss Dix, and slipping and desperate. What shall I do?

L. K. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Here is a young couple with all the materials for makir a happy and successful marr..ge throwing them all away because they haven't intelligence enough to see each other's point of view and to realize that unless they can make some sort of a working agreement they are headed for divorce.

Here is a husband who is making the mistake of putting his business before his wife. He thinks that he has done his full duty toward her when he provides her with a comfortable living and that she should be satisfied. He is so interested in his work and his ambitions that it doesn't occur to him that it bores her when he talks to her about what he is doing and his plans for the future.

He Doesn't Understand

The husband doesn't realize the agonies of loneliness from which his wife is suffering. Surely, if he understood this he would give her some of his time and do something to amuse her while she was going through the inevitable period of getting adjusted to a new environment. It is a small price to pay for keeping his home and making his marriage a success.

Here is a woman who is silly enough to be jealous of her husband's business; who doesn't sympathize with his ambitions; who doesn't see that he works long, hard hours because that is the only way a man can get to the top, and who has no intention of being a helpmeet to him. Worse still, she is a self-pitier and considers herself a martyr because she has to go where the husband's job calls her.

What a pity that she can't see that her happiness, or misery, lies in her own hands; that she is bound to lose her husband's love if she keeps on whining and complaining and trying to balk him in his career; that she will never get to know people and have friends unless she takes the initiative and makes herself so circle to take her in. A young those she meets will widen their attractive and agreeable that chance in life to be happy, makcouple with health, with every ing a mess of it all. Isn't it tragic? Isn't it stupid?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 27 and wish to know if there is a solution to my problem. I have been married eight years and kept company with my husband for several years before we were married. He is the type who demands to have me do as he says. He doesn't dance, won't go out except to a show and refuses to go with me. I have worked most of the time since we were married to help him get a home and some of the luxuries we both want. He is the only child in his family and is really spoiled, selfish and inconsiderate. He feels I should work as hard as he does, then come home and pick up his clothes after him.

We have a nice home and everything we want in a material way but are constantly arguing. We have no children. Our latest argument was over my going out with the girls to celebrate the birthday of one of them. When I got home my husband was all packed to leave unless I promised not to go out again. Should I continue to work, then spend all my spare time home, in order to keep my husband?

PEGGY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: As I have said before, and shall doubtless say again some women are just born doormats for husbands. They seem to love it, and while they will occasionally ask for advice, no one is fooled into believing they'd take it. I don't know what you have in place of a backbone, Peggy, but I do know that regardless of what I, or anyone else, says to you, you will continue to work long hours, to buy luxuries, then come home and sit patiently until your darling comes home to enjoy them. What you get out of marriage is beyond me, but you must enjoy your role of martyr and I wouldn't dare suggest that you give it up.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man in my late twenties. I work the night shift in a local factory, therefore have only week ends to devote to social life. For several months now I have been dating two girls, one Saturday, the other Sunday. I like them both very much and know they feel the same way about me. My friends are advising me to give one of them up because they say I am not being fair to either of them this way. What should I do?

TED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Do the girls know about each other? If they do, and are satisfied to share your dating nights, there is no question of not being fair, but if you are deceiving them, you must make a decision. Try having no dates at all for a few weekends and see if you miss one of them more than the other. With you it seems to be a case of:

"How happy could I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away?
Were t'other dear charmer away?"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Reader Gives Expert Tip How To Make Smooth Gravy

QUESTION: Dear Emem: I read your column each morning while taking my coffee. Several times now you have told about gravy making. Now what I can't understand is why you (and every other cooking expert I've ever read) always use boiling water or boiling vegetable water, then have the messy job of straining your gravy?

Now gravy is one thing I can make and it comes to the table smooth as cream and no straining. Here's how!! As you say, experience tells you how much flour to use in your fat. Anyway, I leave the fat I think necessary for the amount of gravy I want, add enough flour (small amounts at a time, so I won't have too much) so that it is thoroughly saturated with the fat. Keep stirring and scraping from pan until quiet brown. Now comes the thing that makes smooth gravy. You have likely drained your vegetables before gravy making. This should be quite cool. (Easy to cool it in the sink anyway.) Most times my vegetable water isn't enough anyway, as we like lots of gravy—so add cold water to make enough and pour all at once into your hot browned flour. Now stir well and as the water heats, the flour and fat combine beautifully. Scrape the pan (sides and bottom) for extra brownness. Cook until it has bubbled well a few times, salt to taste and presto! Lovely smooth rich brown gravy. If you're in a hurry, add about half of your liquid cold, and when well blended add remaining liquid boiling. Hurries the process some. Yours for better and less messy gravy. Try it some time.

G. E. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Three cheers for complete detail. Thanks Mrs. P. for sharing your idea and for taking the trouble to give us a clear picture of the method. Let me help you sometime.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I missed getting your receipts for summer salads, as some one gan off with the paper. Would it be possible to print them again at some later date? I always read your column with a great amount of interest and am planning on making your "Downy Cocoanut Cake" today. It sounds very delectable indeed. I do hope it is a success and turns out just as nice as if you yourself had made it for me. Ina L. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One printed recipe followed by dozens of different bakers probably results in dozens of different cakes. The individuality of each baker is expressed in her cake. The only thing I hoped when I printed the Downy Cocoanut Cake recipe was that everyone would carefully peel off the brown skin of the fresh cocoanut and have their cake pure white. Yours probably will be a beauty. I hope by now you have seen the salad column I wrote, for earlier in the week. I'm a salad fiend so they will be mentioned plenty of times this summer.

The following salad is currently enjoying a popular run in our house.

✧ ✧ ✧

Jellied Tomato Salad

Two tablespoons gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 2 cups tomato juice, ½ cup mild vinegar OR ¼ cup lemon juice mixed with ¼ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons drained bottled horseradish, (an extra tablespoon of lemon juice if only vinegar is used), 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup finely shredded cabbage, 2 cups very finely chopped celery, 3 tablespoons each chopped green pepper and canned pimiento. Soften gelatine in cold water and vinegar. Boil together for 5 minutes the tomato juice, onion, salt and pepper. Stir in softened gelatine, sugar, horseradish and lemon juice until gelatine is dissolved. Cool until slightly thickened. Add all remaining ingredients. Pour into large moistened mould. Chill until very firm. This yields 20 servings so is handy to have in the refrigerator to add to your salad plates as you assemble them.

Woman Sells Industrial Filters

CALGARY.—(CP)—Ida Triggs of London is a director of an English firm which makes filters for everything from diesel engines to beer.

And when Miss Triggs starts talking industrial filters, she can put most men to shame.

She visited Calgary recently on a business trip across Canada.

In 1926, after just one year with the firm, she had risen from private secretary to chairman to company secretary and director. That's something, in the masculine world of business.

Some filters are used in diesel and other engines to keep the lubricating oil clean. Others filter gasoline in R.A.F. planes. Another type strains beer to produce a cleaner brew.

Miss Triggs leaves intricate details of production and servicing to men. "That's an engineer's job," she said. "Mine is the commercial and financial side."

Canadian food was overwhelming after five years of belt-tightening rations in Britain. Though she said beefsteak was "almost revolting," because a Briton's digestive organs just weren't prepared to cope with " a struggle like that', Miss Triggs confessed she gained 10 pounds in the first month she was in Canada.

Growing Prices Hamper Housing In New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. —(CP)— The building industry in New Zealand is buoyant at present but the time is fast approaching when rising costs will outstrip the demand.

This was the conclusion of a report to the annual conference of the New Zealand Master Builders' Federation. It said that costs are nearing the limit beyond which it will neither be possible for the industry to recover an economic return on capital invested in new buildings, nor for the would-be home builder to contemplate even the simplest of homes.

This warning, said the report, is given "disregarding the possibility of an adverse turn in trading conditions, international or local, and the subsequent repercussions."

Costs Soaring

Cost of a modest home of minimum standards for wage-earners rose by about three per cent in 1949 and another six per cent in 1950. This year the price is expected to rise another 10 per cent, at least.

The survey said that since 1929 wages had risen nearly 146 per cent. Raw materials rose between 60 and 300 per cent. It estimated cost of the average building is divided as follows: 45 per cent for direct labor (building); 27 per cent for indirect labor (production of material); 28 per cent for basic cost of raw material, administrative and capital charges, overhead and profit.

Indirect expenses affecting building costs include higher charges for professional services; higher standards in household fittings; material shortages causing loss of productive and supervisory time, and labor shortages aggravated by demands from "mushrooming" industries.

Boy's Hobbies Show Great Talent

MONTREAL— (CP) — Peter Halley of oMntreal looks like any other 11-year-old but he is an accomplished artist, mechanic, skilled wood an dmetal worker, scholar and athlete to boot.

Peter, who is a California-born Montrealer, had at the age of seven already exhibited oil paintings in Montreal's art gallery. He has since had offers of free instruction from recognized artists "any time he wishes to take art seriously."

His scale working model of the 960-foot freighter, H.M.S. Bonaventure, recently won national recognition and first place in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. hobby show. This is the third consecutive win.

On the eve of this show Peter was thumbing through a magazine when a photograph of two boxers caught his eye. He promptly put the scene on canvas, took it to the show and won a special award. The same morning he drew from memory in school, a sketch of Canada's parliament buildings which brought him another award.

Gives Director Credit

Peter gives all the credit for his work to Kenneth Murray, director of Camp Arrowhead, Lake Memphremagog, where he spends his summer holidays.

Though he began his hobby only five years ago when a friend gave him a construction set, he has developed his natural talent through a genuine interest and hard work.

But he is unimpressed with his own talent and, except for the fact that he never has any spare time, his day is like that of any other schoolboy his ge.

His future plans include a construction engineering job and he hopes, through scholarship, to attend McGill University.

FUNNY BUSINESS — By Hershberger

"We have to cut down somehow since taxes went up again!"

Find Spinsters Quite Problem

NELSON, Lancashire, England (CP).—When does a woman become a spinster—and when can a spinster be safely considered "on the shelf."

That's the problem facing Alderman H. Dewhurst, chairman of a local committee responsible for letting a new block of apartments build especially for "spinsters, on the shelf."

The committee has received many applications from single women in the early 20s and 30s.

"It would be most awkward if someone got a spinster flat and then got married," said Dewhurst. "We will probably decide that a woman who has passed her normal marrying age—say 50—is a suitable applicant."

Women of 65, or more, are out of the running. They qualify for "old people's" houses.

6—In Memoriam

ANDERSON—In loving memory of my mother, Alice Anderson, who passed away July 6th, 1950.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid:
One who was better God never made,
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million, that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
A wonderful mother, that, mother, was you.
—Ever sadly missed by your son, Parker.

LEWIS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Albert, who passed away July 6th, 1950.
—Sadly missed by wife Pearl and children Harry, Regetta, John and Roy.

LEWIS—In loving memory of a dear grandfather, Albert Lewis, who passed away July 6, 1950.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us
Though you died one year ago.
—Ever remembered by Irene and Max.

McCUE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bert McCue, who passed away July 6, 1950.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Sadly missed by wife, three sons, one daughter, grandchildren.

Unions Organize Teaching Plan

MILAN, Italy, July 6. (AP)—The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions today began drafting a program for teaching workers in backward areas how to organize unions.

A committee of the ICFTU already has recommended that some $700,000 a year be spent on the program, which will be carried out by regional offices to be established in Africa, Asia and the Middle East.

Similar regional offices are functioning in Europe and South America.

A. Phillip Randolph, president of the International Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, led off the debate in the ICFTU Congress here today with an address on behalf o fthe "North American bloc" of CIO, AFL, United Mineworkers and the six Canadian delegates who represent the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

He assailed the speeches of some delegates Thursday for "impugning the motives" of US and Canadian trade unionists.

One speaker Thursday, Pakistan's Aftab Ali, criticized what he called the "paternalistic attitude" of British and American unions in sending missions to Asian countries.

Snores Or No Snores Loses His Wife

CHICAGO, July 6. (CP) — Richard, Michalak, 25, whose snores irked his wife, now has no snores—and no wife.

The wife, Florence, 20, today won a divorce. The grounds — cruelty.

Michalak actually lost his fight April 2 when he found his snore cure wouldn't win her back. She previously had told the court she would return to Richard—if he'd get rid of those awful snores.

Michalak's plight had won country-wide sympathy. He was deluged with suggestions and finally announced he had won out.

But Mrs. Michalak changed her mind. She said she didn't want Richard back — snores or no snores.

Today Mrs. Michalak was awarded $20 a week support for the Michalak's one-year-old daughter, Cynthia.

Benjamin Johnson

The funeral for Benjamin Johnson, 294 Stewart St., who died Monday was held Thursday from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. Turner of Bowmanville conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Merton Storey, Charles Quinlan, Robert Dutton, Wilfred Collinson, B. D. Hall, Norman J. Crook. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Toronto Leafs Defeated 6-5 By Springfield

By The Associated Press.

Jack Kent Cooke is the new owner of Toronto Maple Leafs today, but he'll have to look far down in the International League second division to find his team.

The Leafs dropped another one Thursday night, losing 6-5 to the last-place Springfield Giants. Statistically, here is what Cooke, a publisher and radio station operator, finds as he takes over:

The Leafs are 18 games out of first place and 6½ games behind the fourth-place Rochester Red Wings.

Montreal is making a runaway of the race, 10 games ahead of the runner-up Buffalo, 10½ ahead of Syracuse and 11½ up on Rochester.

Cooke predicted his team will be in the first division by the season's end.

"Even if Joe Seigler (general manager) and I have to pitch and catch, we're going to make Maple Leaf Stadium the most pleasant and interesting place to visit in Toronto."

Swamp Orioles

In the only other game Thursday night Buffalo swamped Baltimore 10-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Rudy Minarcin who chalked up his seventh straight victory.

In the Toronto - Springfield game, the Leafs were ahead 5-0 until Springfield came up with all its runs in the eighth inning. Max Peterson, who relieved Irv Medlinger in the big inning, was charged with the defeat.

The Montreal-Syracuse and Ottawa-Rochester games were rained out.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Joe Louis, old and tired though he may be, still is rated as the only logical contender for Ezzard Charles' heavyweight title by the National Boxing Association which released its quarterly ratings Thursday.

In the light heavyweight division the NBA named no less than six boxers as logical contenders for the championship now held by Joey Maxim.

Ike Williams, longtime king of the lightweights who lost his title to Jimmy Carter, listed as a welterweight, was rated no higher than seventh. Fitzie Pruden of St. Catharines, was ranked 10th in the welterweight class.

Sugar Ray Robinson, rated by many as the finest fighting machine in the business today, got an indirect vote of approval from the NBA who said they could find no logical contender for the middleweight title.

At Henley, England, Ebbe Larsen of Denmark, conqueror of Toronto's Jack Guest Wednesday reached the semi-finals of the Diamond Sculls Thursday by defeating John Gaze of Britain.

He will meet another Briton — Ronnie Lutz who Thursday beat Hussein El Alfy of Egypt.

The other semi-final will be between the Cambridge University sculler, Tony Fox—who eliminated the Belgian veteran Willi Collet—and Demoulin of Belgium who upset the Dutch champion, Tom Neumeir, by one-half length.

An option to purchase the majority stock of the Boston Bruins' National Hockey League club was obtained Thursday by the Boston Garden-Arena Corporation. The latter's president, Walter A. Brown, said the option will expire Aug. 1.

Brown has been negotiating with president Weston Adams, of the Bruins for several weeks. Adams owns 60 per cent of the stock in the hockey club, organized in 1924 by his late father, C. F. Adams.

All 14 former college basketball stars, accused of rigging games at Madison Square Garden, Thursday pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges. Judge Saul S. Streit fixed Oct. 2 for sentencing.

The charge to which they pleaded guilty carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail.

The 14 were accused of conspiring with four alleged fixers to rig the scores of games so the fixers could cash in on "sure things."

Owner Lou Perini says he has no intention of selling the Boston Braves.

His comment came in reply to a report a group of Milwaukee businessmen want to buy the club and move it to that mid-western city.

"No one has talked to me about buying the Braves," Perini said. "I have no interest in selling."

Some 200 athletes are expected to compete in the Ontario Men's and Women's Track and Field championship at Hamilton Saturday.

Held in connection with the Ontario events will be the Canadian marathon championship which has attracted some top-flight distance runners. Paul Collins, school teacher from Wolfville, NS, is favored to win. Walter Fedorick of Hamilton, running for the Canadian Legion in nearby Dundas, also is highly rated.

Part of the revenue from Toronto's Long Branch and Dufferin race tracks will be given to charity, it was announced Thursday in the Ontario Gazette.

Incorporation of the AM Orpen Charitable Foundation "to receive and maintain a fund . . . for religious, charitable or educational purposes within the Province of Ontario," was announced in the Gazette as a means of giving part of tracks' revenue to charity.

Fred S. Orpen, son of the late A. M. (Abe) Orpen, who built and operated the tracks, said the foundation will be separate from the Orpen interests he now is operating.

UN Helicopters On Way To Kaesong Truce Area

Republicans Planning New Attack

Say Special Report On MacArthur Has More Charges

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—A proposed Republican report on the MacArthur ouster charges that the Truman administration has allowed its foreign policies to be "dictated by fear of Russia."

The document, prepared by a three-man staff under direction of Senator Harry P. Cain (Rep.-Wash.), circulated today among Republican senators. It urged that the United States take a "positive" stand and prepare to make the necessary sacrifices to defend the free world against Communism.

Senate members who have seen it said the document accuses the Truman administration of failing to give consistent support to the Chinese Nationalists and blames the fall of China to the Communists largely on the Yalta agreements.

Other Points

Reviewing Far East policies since 1944, together with the April 11 removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Pacific commander, the draft was represented as saying also that:

1. A delay in tightening an economic blockade on Red China caused "needless bloodshed" among American troops fighting in Korea.

2. US allies have failed to realize their own vital interests in Korea are involved and have not provided sufficient support for United Nations' efforts there.

3. American fliers have died because the "unanimous" US military approval for "hot pursuit" of enemy planes across the Manchurian border was overruled by political objections of six allies.

4. MacArthur offered the only program pointing to a "positive" conclusion of the war (although the MacArthur program was not specifically endorsed).

Bridge Breakdown

MONTREAL, July 7. (CP)—Traffic through the Lachine Canal was at a standstill today following a breakdown of the jack-knife bridge in suburban Ville St. Pierre. Twenty lake boats were tied up along both sides of the idle bridge as Department of Transport men worked to repair the mechanism which lifts it to allow boat passages. Shipping men said for each day that a lake boat is tied up costs about $1,400.

CCF Criticizes Subterfuge Of Ottawa Gov't

WINNIPEG, July 7 (CP).—M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader, Friday night criticized what he termed "subterfuge" by the Federal Government in its attempts to arrange compensatory payments with Britain as part of the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement.

Mr. Coldwell said the "subterfuge" was "one of the most dastardly acts in Canadian history." He spoke at a wind-up banquet in connection with the Manitoba provincial CCF convention.

"I fear greatly the damage it may do in future trade relations with Canada's best customer," he said. "I fear our American friends are only fair weather friends."

The "subterfuge" was explained as a liberal attempt to get the Labor Government to use the $65,000,000 remaining from Canada's billion-dollar credit loan as a compensation payment to the Canadian farmer.

"This arrangement, according to Government thinking, would then lead the people to believe that Britain was paying the compensatory adjustments."

Not Having Any

Mr. Coldwell said that such an agreement did not reach initial stages when Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer, said Britain was accepting no more credit, which "virtually wiped out the $65,000,000."

In an attack on Canadian daily newspapers, Mr. Coldwell said, "These people (daily newspapers in general) are trying to keep a wedge between the farmer and worker to retain their own privileges."

He said most of the Canadian daily newspapers condemned Western farmers for requesting compensation, but when a bill came before the Hosse for revision of the Post Office Act to reduce the mail subsidy a "roar of protest" was heard from these newspapers.

Red Route Ordered Neutral Zone

Air of Excitement In Allied Hdqts. As Conference Nears

SEOUL, Korea, July 7. (Reuters)—Two United Nations helicopters left Seoul tonight for a point just south of the Imjin River, the first stage in their flight to the preliminary cease-fire talks at Kaesong Sunday.

Weather permitting, they will pick up Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's delegates at the forward base Sunday and take them on the last 50 miles to the historic meeting with the Communist emissaries. If the weather is bad, the representatives will go by road.

The huge H-19 Sikorsky helicopter which can carry five passengers, joined a smaller H-5 already hovering above the airfield and the pair wheeled away to the north.

A minor fault in the Sikorsky's engine had delayed the start for an hour.

Take No Chances

United Nations planes gave a wide berth to the cratered Pyongyang-Seoul highway today to permit a Communist liaison team safe passage to Kaesong.

The Communists, riding in five trucks and five jeeps bearing white flags, said they would leave Pyongyang, North Korean capital, at 5 a.m. today (3 pm EDT Friday) for the 100-mile journey to Kaesong, three miles south of the 38th parallel.

The Reds have not announced that they actually left. Presumably they have.

For Sunday's meeting the Chinese and North Korean commanders, Kim Il Sung and Peng Tehhuai, are sending three liaison officers, including a colonel, two interpreters and "reception and personnel and assistants."

Getting Excited

100 People Injured In Violent Iran Street Riots

TEHRAN, Iran, July 7. (AP)—Iran today pushed ahead with plans to take over the billion-dollar properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, following violent street demonstrations against a compromise suggested by the International Court. Shouting "death to Anglo-American imperialism" and "death to The Hague Court," bicycle brigades of 10,000 young pro-Communists rode through the city Friday night protesting the Court's ruling that Iran suspend its nationalization laws. About 100 persons were injured.

The Court recommended that a five-man board of two Britons, two Iranians and one neutral supervise activities until a compromise could be worked out.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government denounced the court's decision and said it had no jurisdiction over the dispute between Iran and the British-controlled company.

Door Left Open

British Ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd delivered a note to Foreign Minister Bagher Kazema today asking Iran to abide by the court's ruling.

Iran then issued a statement saying the court's decision was not "valid." It did not formally reject the British suggestion which left the door slightly open for negotiations.

A government spokesman said Iranian oil commissioners hope to start control of the giant oil refinery at Abadan in two weeks and then move into the Khuzistan oil fields. A British embassy spokesman said Iranian rejection of the court proposals would make withdrawal of British technicians inevitable. Observers feel such a withdrawal would bring about a collapse of the oil industry.

The bicycle brigade ran into opposition from youthful members of the labor party, an offshoot of Mossadegh's national front. Both groups favor oil nationalization but are otherwise opposed.

Melees Break Out

Melees started in various parts of the capital as two groups fought each other with fists, sticks, knives and tree branches. There were many broken arms and legs but no deaths were reported.

The youths were in high spirits celebrating the end of Ramadan, the Moslem month of fasting.

At Abadan, the end of Ramadan was made the occasion for a parade by 2,500 goose-stepping government troops. Nearly the whole division which guards the Khuzistan oil fields paraded, showing off their American, British and Italian equipment.

Bomber Crashes On Farm In Scotland

PRESTWICK, Scotland, July 7 (AP).—A United States Air Force B-29 aerial tanker crashed and burned in a mist-shrouded valley 40 miles from here, apparently killing the 11 crew members aboard.

(Reuters News Agency said five of the 11 crew members were reported to have escaped death but were badly burned).

Nine bodies have been recovered from the wreck of the huge four-engined plane, which had been converted to a tanker used for in-flight refuelling.

The big plane spun out of the clouds with smoke trailing from it and crashed in flames in a wooden area near Carsphairn, Kirkcudbrightshire. Firemen had to pump water from a river 200 yards away to fight the flames which roared through the wreckage for more than two hours.

Headquarters of the US Third Air Force at Ruislip, on the outskirts of London, said the crashed plane was based at Lakenheath England, and assigned to the Second Bomb Wing.

The plane and its crew were in the United Kingdom for 90-day training under the strategic air command's rotation training plan.

At the time of the crash the plane was on a navigational training flight from Lakenheath, officers said.

Engine Trouble

Villagers living near the crash scene said they heard the plane's engines laboring as if in difficulty before they spotted the huge craft.

Miss Moll Campbell, on whose farm the crash occurred, said:

"We saw the plane dive out of a cloud. Smoke was trailing from it. It circled in the mist as though trying to find a place to land. Then it spun seven times before nosediving into the glen."

Miss Campbell and two farmhands ran to the crash to help.

"We tried to get near it," she said, "but the flames were so intense with the gasoline exploding that it was hopeless. We had to hold back 70-year-old Bruce Blyth (one of the farmhands) who wanted to rush into the flames to help the airmen."

Malik Forgets Passport For Trip Home

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP). — Jakob A. Malik, who touched off the Korean truce talks with his June 23 ceasefire speech, sailed on Swedish liner Gripsholm Friday for a summer vacation trip home to Russia.

"Best luck and wishes to those in this country who fight for peace and friendship between our countries," the chief Soviet delegate to the UN remarked into newsreel microphones.

Malik at first declined to speak for the newsreels, asserting his radio speech broaching the ceasefire possibility had been censored when it was carried later on television and in newsreels.

He said part of his comments quoting Stalin "on the possibility of peaceful co-existence of capitalism and communism" had been eliminated.

Station WCBS carried in full the original speech, and two days later used a shortened version on its television station, WCBS-TV.

Remembers In Time

Malik was accompanied by his wife and seven-year-old daughter Svetlana.

There was just one mishap. Malik couldn't find his passport.

"I must have left it home," he said.

A secretary was dispatched to Malik's Park Ave. residence and returned with it before the sailing.

The Maliks will disembark at Gotherberg to proceed to Russia.

Expert Flying By 3 Pilots Saves Lives In Collision

CENTRALIA, Ont., July 7. (CP)—Expert flying by three RCAF pilots was credited today with saving their lives when four Harvard training planes collided high in the air over nearby Dashwood. The fourth pilot, FO W. B. Pollin, 29, of Westmount, Que., was killed in the collision Friday.

FO E. D. G. Price, 28, of Exeter, guided his plane, which had a crippled tail assembly, to a crash-landing in a wheat field. FO D. E. Donaldson of Lethbridge, Alta., and FO D. T. Rivoire of Ottawa nursed their planes, with damaged wings and propellers, back to their base here.

All the fliers, instructors at this western Ontario air station, were taking part in a 12 plane formation practice flight. Each was alone in his two-seater trainer.

In "V" Formation

Witnesses said the planes were flying in "V" formation of threes. The four planes at the rear of the formation locked wing tips and went out of control. The aircraft flown by Pollin and Price plunged eastward, while those with Donaldson and Rivoire as pilots went only temporarily out of hand.

Pollin was a Second World War veteran who rejoined the RCAF last February. He was graduated from the instructors' school at Trenton after a refresher course and came here in May.

Fellow pilots at the air station said the three survivors showed great skill in bringing their battered machines safely to earth.

They said they could not understand how Price particularly, managed to jockey his plane out of a spin and down to a wheels-up landing after most of its control surfaces had been torn away.

Woman's Body Found In Ditch

WHITBY, July 7. (CP)—The body of a woman, covered with an automobile blanket, leaves and branches, was found early today in a ditch four miles west of here. Police said the woman's head had been pierced with a screwdriver.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Anna Slobodian. Her husband, Roy Slobodian, was held in custody in Whitby jail. No charges were laid.

Police found the body about 2:20 a.m. shortly after Slobodian had surrendered to the Provincial Police. Death was believed to have occurred about 10 o'clock last night.

Whitby is 25 miles east of Toronto.

UK Steamer Sinks 12 Seamen Rescued

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 7 (Reuters).—Twelve British seamen who took to the boats when their tiny ship sank after a night collision, were picked up safely today, radio reports said.

The 691-ton Jargoon sank after a crash with the Spanish ship Tormes about 19 miles southeast of Selsey, on the south coast of England.

Several ships searched for hours in dense fog for the crew.

The men were picked up by the British Royal Navy tug Spite and taken to Portsmouth naval base.

The Tormes is continuing her voyage.

Five-Year Treaty

RANGOON, Burma, July 7. — (Reuters)—Burma today signed a five-year treaty of friendship with India. An official announcement said the agreement was aimed at "strengthening and developing the many ties of friendship that bind the two countries and the maintenance of perpetual peace and friendship which exists between them."

More Bad News For Redhead

DENVER, Colo., July 7 (AP)—More bad news awaited red-headed Virginia Hill today as she flew homeward after a day of alternately tossing punches at reporters and tearfully telling them that all she wants is "ordinary life."

For good measure, investigators for the Denver district attorney detained the one-time girl friend of gangsters briefly for questioning.

At Spokane, her home was seized by the federal government for alleged non-payment of $161,000 in back income taxes.

Her plans to visit friends in El Paso, Tex., were ruined when reporters learned of her presence in the boder city. She tossed a shoe at one, slapped another and bo[illegible] for Denver, en route to Spokane.

Ever since mobster Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel was found slain in her Hollywood home four years ago, she said, "I haven't had a minute's peace."

Police Clear Market

VIENNA, Austria, July 7 — (Reuters)—Police used truncheons to clear Vienna's main meat market today when several hundred housewives staged a near riot in protest against a sudden increase in meat prices, in some cases up to 25 per cent. The butchers claimed they were only passing on increases made by slaughterhouses.

Indo-China Next?

SAIGON, Indo-China, July 7.—(Reuters)—The Vietnam cabinet met in the rebel-threatened Tonkin Delta to discuss the effect a cease-fire in Korea may have on Indo-China, the Vietnam press reported today. On the eve of the Kaesong meeting, Indo-China observers feared the Chinese Communists may turn their attention to Indo-China if peace comes.

Want Red Coats Back To Lift UK Spirits

LONDON, July 7—(AP)—The Daily Mail says today Britons' spirits would get a lift if red coats were restored to all regiments of the British army.

In a front-page editorial the newspaper says battle dress — "whatever its virtues in the field —is about the most uninspiring costume every devised for a soldier."

Only the King's Brigade of Guards now wears the traditional red coats.

Trade Agreement Signed In Berlin

BERLIN, July 7 (AP)—Western Germany and the Soviet zone Friday night approved a $100,000,000 trade agreement. They left it to the four ocupying powers to work out a guarantee for unhampered movement of goods through the Russian zone.

The new agreement means that East-West trade probably will be resumed shortly, authoritative sources said. The old trade pact expired Tuesday, halting the daily exchange of $250,000 worth of goods between the Western and Eastern zones.

South Seas Author James N. Hall Dies

PEPEETE, Tahiti, July 7—(AP)—James Norman Hall, American author who was a famed teller of tales of the South Seas, died Thursday night of a heart attack. He was 64.

Hall was a native of Colfax, Iowa. He gained fame as the co-author with the late Charles Nordhoff of a trilogy on the story of the British ship Bounty—"Mutiny on the Bounty", "Men Against Thesea", and "Pitcairn's Island".

Candy Ration To Be Increased

LONDON, July 7 — (AP) — The ministry of food which gave housewives an increase in their meat ration Thursday, added something for the kids Friday. The candy ration is going up.

Starting July 15 an extra one-half ounce a week will be added to the present six-ounce sweet ration, an announcement said.

The ministry of food said that the meat ration—now approximately the size of one small chop a week—would be increased slowly until it is double the present amount by August.

It now is 10 cents worth of fresh meat. Card-holders also get five ounces of bacon a week. Most canned meats, cooked meats and sausages are not rationed.

CAMP PICKETT, Va., July 7. (AP) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip have a definite invitation to visit the United States, in Baltimore.

Brig.-Gen. William C. Purnell, president of the St. George's Society of Baltimore, said Friday night he had sent the invitation through Prime Minister St. Laurent. The general is on national guard summer training manoeuvres here.

Patrols Have Brisk Fight

WEST SECTOR, Korea, July 7 —A brisk fire fight developed Friday between at United Nations patrolling force and Chinese dug into hilltop positions well north of the Chorwon area.

The UN troops—whose mother tongue is not English—had almost reached the top of the position before the enemy revealed his presence.

The UN force in this sector patrols aggressively each day.

(Censorship precluded Boss from identifying the UN force mentioned in this dispatch).

Millionaire Has Own Bail Problem

NEW YORK, July 7—(AP) — Millionaire Frederick Vanderbilt Field, bail fund trustee for 11 convicted Communist leaders, had his own bail problem today as he languished in a jail cell.

Field was sentenced Thursday to 90 days when he refused to tell a judge who put up $80,000 bail for four fugitive Communist leaders.

His application for bond was granted too late Friday for lawyers to arrange his relase, and he spent Friday night in the federal detention headquarters here. The week-end holiday may cause new delays.

The 46-year-old Field was ordered jailed for contempt of court. Field's detention prevented him from attending the appeal later in the day before Appeals Judge Thomas W. Swan in New Haven, Conn.

Judge Swan ordered Field freed in $10,000 bail pending a formal appeal of contempt sentence. The government described the bond amount as temporary and said it may be changed after further consideration.

Blackmail Overseas Chinese Pay Or Families Tortured

WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP) —The state department radio said today that Communist China is demanding large sums of money from Chinese abroad, with threats to torture or kill their families at home.

An estimated 10,000,000 Chinese live in the Philippines, Burma, Thailand, Malaya and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

"Within recent weeks, Chinese (Swatow) merchants and manufacturers in Hong Kong have been receiving urgent telegrams from the families on the Chinese mainland," a broadcast by the Voice of America said. "These telegrams demand large sums to meet Communist 'land reform' obligations.

"And these overseas Chinese have been informed, that if the money is not forthcoming their aged mothers or other members of their families in China will be tortured or killed," the Voice said. It added:

"They have also been informed that among the milder forms of torture that would fall to their families in the event of non-payment are the following: Crawling on broken glass; hopping and barking like dogs; and the so-called 'water treatment'.

Similar letters and telegrams have been recived by the leaders of the overseas Chinese communities in Singapore, Saigon, Djakarta and in Burma and Thailand.

"And other, less wealthy overseas Chinese heard that the Peiping regime had ordered Chinese who have wives in China to return to the mainland. Otherwise the regime will force their wives to marry other men."

The Voice said that Chinese leaders in Hong Kong and Singapore have decided to ignore the demands in the belief that compliance would lead only to further demands and threats.

HOLD TIGHT—An unidentified spectator holds tightly to the corner of a factory as a wall of water more than three feet deep swirls down a Cincinnati street after a 40-foot water main broke with startling suddeness. Automobiles were flooded above their fenders and many factory basements in the area were inundated. Damage ran into many thousands of dollars.

Alleged Deserter Shot In Windsor

WINDSOR, July 7. (CP).—An 18-year-old youth, termed by police a Canadian Army deserter, was shot and wounded seriously today in a scuffle following an early morning break-in in mid-town Windsor.

Detective Ted Lepage grappled with Mike Wachoski of Fort William when he tried to escape. Lepage fired two warning shots, then fired the shot which wounded Wachoski.

The fleeing man was dressed in the uniform of a private of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

RCAF Shuffles Top Men In New Program

OTTAWA, July 7 (CP). — The Air Force announced shifts for three of its top men Friday in a move dictated by the big expansion program now under way.

Headquarters announced it has cancelled plans to post Air Vice-Marshal F. R. Miller, 43, a native of Kamloops, BC, to the National Defence College, and that he will become vice-chief of the air staff, the No. 2 man in the service.

Command of the Defence College will go instead to Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlap, 43, a native of Sydney Mines, NS, who only recently took over the Air Defence Command—Canada's equivalent of Britain's Fighter Command.

The new boss of Air Defence Command will be Air Vice-Marshal A. L. (Art) James, 47, a native of Montreal. The job makes him the key man in the field in development of Canadian air defence.

The changes are effective Aug. 1. The main result is that AVM Miller won't be heading for the Defence School at Kingston, but will be kept here to put his valued talents to work in direction of operations, training and air plans. His job is to boss one big division which used to be two.

It means he is deputy to Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of the air staff. There has not previously been a vice-chief, although both the navy and army have one.

The fact AVM Miller—the rank is equivalent to the army's major-general—won't be allowed to leave headquarters is one sign of the tempo of the present expansion program.

See End of Cortisone Shortage

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The end of the shortage of cortisone, latest wonder drug, was seen Friday in an announcement of a new way to make it from a poisonous Mexican yam. All cortisone on the market at present is made from ox bile. It was predicted that the new method will, within about one year, double the present supply, and within two years multiply this at least ten-fold. The makers of the new cortisone are Syntex, Inc., of Mexico City, one of the world's largest producers of steroids, the basic substances which make many different hormones. Cortisone is a hormone, of your adrenal glands.

The company made the announcement today through its American branch here, the Chemical Specialties Company, Inc. The announcement said that the cost will be about the same as the ox bile method but that the yam way is simpler and that costs are likely to drop as production increases.

Present price of the ox bile cortisone to doctors is $30 a gram, a drop from $200 a gram in two years.

Fairy Tale

The yam story is a chemical fairy tale. The botanical name is discorea, the popular Mexican name cabeza de negra. It is not edible because it is a blood destroyer. This yam grows to the size of a boulder, sticking partly above ground. Its weight reaches as much as 500 pounds. It has a brown barklike skin and inside is yellow and white.

For many years Mexicans have used it as a soap and as poison to catch fish. Seven years ago Syntex organized to apply chemistry to the mighty yams. They produced all the male and female sex hormones from the yam and some others, a total of 11. There is no difference in these and the hormones your own body makes.

Two years ago they started on making cortisone. Some of the steps in producing the other hormones were useful in synthesizing cortisone.

The company's only plant is in Mexico City, now using 500 tons of yams a month. A $2,000,000 expansion is starting and will take two years to finish.

The importance of the yam is the inexhaustible source. It now grows wild. Cultivation is starting. There are other sources of cortisone under development in the United States, including soy beans.

Says Russians To Invade Iran

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP).—Ray Brock, America Broadcasting Co. correspondent, said Friday night the Russian army is preparing for a full-scale invasion of Iran.

In a report to his New York office from Ankara, Turkey, Brock said, "Russian soldiers in tanks and jeeps conduct almost nightly forays across the Azerbaijan border in Northern Iran to test Iranian defences."

Brock quoted an "official US army observer recently arrived from Tehran" as saying the "Red army is receiving the full co-operation of the Iranian Communists (members of the Tudeh party) in these patrols across the border."

Brock quoted the US army observer as saying the Russians are arming the Iranian Communists in the hope of an uprising and that "the Russians will then invoke the terms of an old Russo-Iranian treaty whereby the Red army is permitted to come to the aid of the Iranian Government."

AP correspondent Nate Polowetzky with the US Eighth Army said the headquarters was swept by an air of excitement and hope as the time neared for the first peace talks.

Observers at headquarters, he added, felt that Sunday's meeting will settle little, although they did not rule out the possibility the representatives might agree to a temporary truce in the fighting during main negotiations.

Neutral Zone

Ridgway announced that a five-mile radius around Kaesong is a neutral zone. Planes were ordered to stay away from the Pyongyang-Seoul road after 4 a.m. today. Even spotter planes were keeping clear of the territory.

Policeman Saves Woman's Life

NEW YORK, July 7—(AP)—A patrolman, lowered in a life belt from the floor above, thwarted the threatened leap early today from Brooklyn's Hotel St. George of a 51-year-old woman.

Police identified her as Mrs. Bessie Adelman of Queens. She was taken to hospital for observation.

Officers found her barricaded in her 10th floor room and threatening to jump from the window if they entered.

A policeman was lowered to the sill of a window of her room from the floor above, entered and held her until he could open the door for other officers.

England Loses Six Wickets

MANCHESTER, July 7 —(Reuters)— Trapped on a difficult drying wicket, England lost six wickets for 114 this morning in the third test against South Africa.

At the lunch interval, there were 164 for seven in reply to South Africa's first innings 158, made Thursday. Play was washed out by rain Friday.

With 50 runs for one wicket on the board at Thursday's close, the Britons might have complained about their luck in finding the pitch so tricky today. But they could consider themselves lucky that South Africa did not bowl better.

Athol Rowan, the off spinner, claimed three of the wickets which fell before the interval. But in contrast to this usual accuracy, he bowled numerous half volleys and some long hops to captain Freddie Brown.

Brown, coming in after the fourth wicket had gone down for 91, hit a fighting 42 and with Willie Watson added 36 for the fifth wicket.

Star batsman Len Hutton and Reg Simpson were out for 27 and 11 respectively, and Tom Graveney, playing in the first test, went for 15.

2 Die In Blaze

ENGLEWOOD, NJ, July 7—(AP)—Two men died and eight others were injured Friday night in a fire that gutted a wooden dormitory occupied by 47 sleeping employees of Englewood hospital. The hospital itself did not catch fire. Roused by an alarm, some of the men jumped out of windows. Others fled down the fire escape at the rear of the building.

SEEMS PLUMB CRAZY—An unbelieving worker at site of a municpal housing development in St. Paul, Mins., stares at what appears to be outdoor indoor plumbing. Passersby at first thought it was something new in lamp-posts. Simple fact was that plumbers got ahead of carpenters and installed pipes and fixtures before the houses were up. There was some speculation on what would have happened if the roofers had gotten there first.

Rev. R. Newman Inducted At Havelock

HAVELOCK, July 7—(ENS)—"And He entered into one of the ships which was Simon's." These words from Luke's story of Christ teaching the people from Peter's ship were used as a challenge to the congregation on Thursday night by the Rev. H. B. Herrington, of Keene, when he delivered the sermon at the induction service of the Rev. R. G. Newman, MA, BD, as minister of the Havelock-Trent River charge of the United Church of Canada.

Means Of Livelihood

Simon Peter not only gave himself to Christ, Mr. Herrington said, but his boat as well, which was his means of earning his livelihood, or in other words his place of business. There are any amount of Christian people give themselves to Jesus but do not give their boat. They consider their business is their own and they do not use it for the glory of God but for their own pleasure. Jesus had entered the boat because the crowd was pressing him on the shore and he could make relatively few hear, but by speaking from the boat all could hear Him. Here again Mr. Herrington drew a parallel for today by asking, "Is your place of business such that Jesus could speak from it and are you running it so that the voice coming from it will be that of Christ?"

The Rev. H. G. Douglas, of Knox United Church, Peterborough, chairman of the Peterborough presbytery, was in charge of the induction service. The Rev. Bernard Heywood, of Bailieboro, presented Mr. Newman to the presbytery and congregation and the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity Church, Peterborough, delivered the charge to the minister and congregation. Dr. Gordon spoke of the responsibility that rests on the minister in the preaching of the Word and referred to Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost and how Peter and his fellow disciples went on and on spreading the gospel, the crumbling ruins in that part of the world visited today by many travellers, being evidence of an ideology of bygone days.

The Rev. H. D. McCormack, recently inducted as minister of St. James' United Church, Peterborough, and the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, of the Havelock-Norwood charge of the Presbyterian Church were also present.

A social time in the SS auditorium followed the service, where short addresses were given by the ministers and officers of the church. Refreshments were served by the Women's Association.

Mr. Newman came to Havelock from Braeside in the Renfrew Presbytery. He graduated from Victoria College, Toronto, in 1928 with his MA degree and received the degree of BD at Emmanuel College, Toronto, in 1931. He is a native of Spencerville, Ontario, and returned from Japan in 1937 where he served as a minsiter for six years. Mrs. Newman was born in Japan. Her father, the late Rev. R. C. Armstrong, PhD, was dean of the United Church College at Kobe, Japan.

Mr. Newman has held charges at Dolbeau, Que.; Winchester Springs and Braeside. Mr. and Mrs. Newman have three sons and two daughters. Robert, their eldest son, is a candidate for the ministry. The others are: Paul, David, Doris and Ruth.

Canada Packers Wins Tax Cut

OTTAWA, July 7—(CP)—Canada Packers Limited of Toronto has won an appeal to have the duties it pays on imports of United States vegetable oils for the production of margarine reduced to 17½ per cent from 20 per cent.

In a judgment published in the Canada Gazette Friday, the tariff board said it has granted the company's appeal against the revenue department, reducing the tariff on certain shipments.

The case involved shipments by tank cars of mixtures of 80 per cent of hydrogenated cottonseed oil and 20 per cent hydrogenated soya bean oil.

Normally, cottonseed oil bears a duty of 17½ per cent, but the revenue department in this case argued that when the oils were mixed, they had lost their original identity and should be taxed as a new commodity under a tariff item calling for the higher rate.

The board said it was satisfied that the mixed product resembled the cottonseed oil more than anything else and should be taxed as such.

Many Cities Want Princess

TORONTO, July 7 — (CP) — Almost every Ontario city wants Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to visit it on their October tour of Canada. Six municipalities in the last two days have issued official invitation and more are expected.

Galt, Stratford, Brantford and Port Arthur sent messages to Ottawa where an inter-departmental committee is drawing up an itinerary for their Royal Highnesses when they arrive this fall.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume, of Windsor, however, extended the welcome of his city to the private secretary of the Princess. His invitation was forwarded to Ottawa.

The sixth place heard from was Hamilton. Lt.-Col. John A. Farmer, DSO, ED, commanding officer of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Canada, said Friday that the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh had been invited to visit the regiment there.

Princess Elizabeth is colonel-in-chief of the regiment and its parent unit in Scotland.

Toronto hasn't yet sent an official invitation. It knows that this city is on the royal itinerary, anyway.

CANADIAN SEALRIGHT COMPANY celebrated its 25th industrial birthday with "open house" on Friday. City people, tourists and children viewed operations and enjoyed a pass-around picnic. Looking through the core of a roll of wax paper is Carol Goy, 2½ years, whose father, John, is helper on a waxer and slitter machine. Douglas Thompson, 7, learns something from his father, Eldon, operator of a winding machine.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Canadian Sealright Co. Opens Doors For Inspection

If Dad works at the Canadian Sealright Co. plant, Aylmer St., chances are that from now on the family will be able to make some intelligent comment when he starts to talk shop.

This unusual domestic situation would develop from the "open house" held Friday afternoon at the plant. Families of employees, as well as anybody interested enough to drop in, went through the factory while production went on.

They saw the whole manufacturing process: from the stage where the paper or cardboard entered the plant in raw form until it emerged at the other end as finished attractive containers.

Refreshments

To top it all off, the company closed down manufacturing shortly after 4 p.m. and everybody adjourned to the lawn in front of the main entrance. There visitors and employees enjoyed sandwiches, soft drinks, and ice cream in company containers.

The whole thing was an indication of good employers-employee relations.

Last Christmas, at the annual company party, a number of the relatives of the employees said they would like to see the plant running on full production. So company officials thought it would be a good idea to combine the "open house" with the 25th anniversary of the Canadian sealright Co. Ltd.

Friday afternoon the 86 production workers exhibited their skill while curious relatives and friends leaned over their shoulders and listened to guides explain the particular mechanical operation.

Fire Departments

The plant has five production departments: round can, bulkan, bottle cap tube, and bottle cap. Each has a blackboard prominently displayed showing the target figure for the month and the amount actually obtained.

To the inquiring eye of the visitor everything was spotless. The women employees wore blue smocks and most of the men wore uniform light-brown clothing.

Samuel J. Whitehouse pointed out that the firm is expanding and in the future will likely add paper-type milk bottles and hoods for the milk bottles.

Richard Sheehan Douro Tax Collector

Richard Sheehan has been appointed tax collector for 1951 at a salary of $250 per year. The appointment was announced at the July meeting of the Douro council.

A motion was passed that subject to the approval of the Ontario Department of Highways, the roads in the Veterans Land Act sub-division be accepted and incorporated in the township road system.

It was decided that an application be made the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners for an order that the existing private crossing of the CNR in lot 2, block C, plan 12, Douro be changed into a public crossing.

The council approved of the following names for the streets in the Veterans Land sub-division; Edgewood Ave., McNab Ave., Highland Ave. and Valleyview Ave.

Accounts totalling $788.76 were ordered paid. These included road accounts of $368.77 and general township accounts of $292.39.

Eden Looking Forward To Canadian Visit

CHICHESTER, England, July 7 (Reuters)—Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the Conservative opposition in the House of Commons, said Friday night he is looking forward to visiting the United States and Canada next month.

Eden is to speak at Denver (Colo.) University Aug. 6. He will also give an address in Chicago.

"On my way there I plan to spend a short vacation in Canada," Eden said at his country home near here.

Eden added the date of his departure for Canada was still uncertain.

Sale Of Cars Down In May

OTTAWA, July 7—(CP)—Sale of new motor vehicles declined during May, the second full month in which new credit restrictions were in force, the Bureau of Statistics said Friday.

Financing of new car sales also declined during the month, but financing of used vehicles went up.

The bureau reported that new motor vehicles sold in May totalled 36,446 units against 40,645 a year ago. However, the retail value of the sales was higher at $92,573,530 against $81,113,607.

There were 11,314 new motor vehicles financed to the extent of $16,717,611, compared with 13,503 financed for $18,502,851 in May, 1950. The number of used vehicles financed rose to 29,025 from 25,173 while their financed value advanced to $17,073,855 from $16,532,217.

The credit restrictions were first imposed Nov. 1 last and required one-third down on motor vehicles, with the remainder to be paid in 18 months. Effective March 19, the down-payment was increased to one-half and the instalment period reduced to 12 months.

Armistice Won't Affect Commonwealth "Div"

TOKYO, July 7 (Reuters)—The possibility of an armistice in Korea will have no effect on formation of the first British Commonwealth Division, a Commonwealth military official said Friday.

He said staff arrangements for the division are virtually complete. The division will be commanded by Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels.

In the event of a cease-fire it would serve in Korea for whatever period deemed necessary by the United Nations, the military spokesman said.

The division will include the Canadian 25th Brigade—made up of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Royal Canadian Regiment, and the Royal 22nd Regiment — Canadian artillery units, and British, Australian, New Zealand and Indian forces.

PLANS FALLS TRIP—William (Red) Hill, Jr., son of the late famous Niagara River man, William (Red) Hill, plans a trip over Niagara Falls in this barrel he has been secretly constructing for the past two years. It is built of truck tire tubes—13 in all—and with it, Hill plans to prove a man, knowing the river as he does, can go over the cataract in the simplest barrel ever used. The barrel, shown with Hill beside it, will remain hidden until the day set for the attempt, several weeks from now.

More Newsprint Mills Needed Ease Shortage

LONDON, July 7—(Reuters)—More newsprint mills are needed to meet the world shortage of newsprint, Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of the Bowwater Corporation Friday, told visiting Commonwealth newspaper executives.

He said his group is actively investigating new areas of potential production. It had considered schemes in Canada and New Zealand, and now contemplated setting up a mill in the southern United States.

The Candle That Melted

A well-meaning donor offered to put in U.N.'s new headquarters a candle that would last for 2,000 years, to symbolize world friendship and the aspirations of United Nations. The offer was accepted, and a New York State firm of candlemakers began to construct the candle of "Eternal Peace" four months ago. The candle was sixteen feet tall, two feet in diameter and weighed 2,200 pounds. It was practically ready for the lighting ceremony which was to have taken place at U.N.'s birthday celebrations in September. Last Tuesday fire broke out in the candle factory and the 2,000-year "Candle of Eternal Peace" was reduced to a puddle of molten beeswax and paraffin in ten minutes.

* * *

There is a wry symbolism in this quick demolition of a candle of Eternal Peace. It is something like peace itself—destroyed by a lick of war-fire in a twinkling. Is the eternality of the candle no less than the eternality of the peace it symbolized, melting in a blaze of atomized energy before it sputtered, before it was even lit? What of the future of the U.N. before whose portals the candle was to have been lighted once a year for two milleniums? Will U.N. melt too in the fierce heat of these times? Perhaps human beings should not plan 2,000 years ahead, but live in the light of each day and decade.

Ontario Whips Into The Tourist Business

For the last five years the Ontario Government has had a Department of Travel and Publicity, presided over by a Cabinet Minister and a Deputy Minister. Its chief purpose is to angle for tourists. It fishes energetically.

According to the report of the Publicity Branch, almost 200 million invitations to visit Ontario were extended during 1950 by means of advertisements placed by the Department of Travel and Publicity in American and Canadian publications. These include:

—185 advertisements in 23 magazines and 40 newspapers in Canada (outside of Ontario) with a total circulation of 12,200,000.

—204 advertisements in 33 metropolitan newspapers in the United States—thus accounting for 52,161,738 "invitations".

—96 advertisements in 23 nationally circulated American magazines to a combined audience of 52,161,738.

—Special advertisements in a Canadian magazine's Ontario distribution, urging residents of this province to Get Ready For Visitors and informing them that what the trade calls 'literature' would be sent free on their request to any American friends and relatives.

In addition to this advertising there was "special promotion". The Department sponsored tours for American and Canadian columnists writing about the outdoors, played host to representatives of Chambers of Commerce, newspapers, and travel agencies from various states of the Union.

During the year (1950) the following booklets and pamphlets were prepared for distribution: Lure Book (88 pages) —100,000 copies; Best Bet (a four-colour folder)—200,000 copies, setting out the boundaries of Ontario's 52 vacation areas; Fisherman's Ontario (a booklet) —50,000 copies; Cruising Book (two-colour booklet with charts)—20,000 copies; Snowtime Vacations (an old booklet, now revised)—5,000 copies; Where-to-Stay Lists: considerable quantities of these, one list for each of the vacation areas instead of the old thick one-volume book covering all spots; Heraldic Map of Ontario: "20,000 copies of an exceptionally colourful map of Ontario, created in fourteen colours . . . prepared and placed on sale, in limited quantities, at Reception Centres and through a number of commercial outlets"; Place Mats: 50,000 packages, placed on sale at Reception Centres. Apparently these are popular with tourists who buy them to send home to friends. Book Matches: 200,000 books, for distribution at Reception Centres. A further two million books of matches were also distributed in the U.S. by a firm engaging in this sort of publicity; Post Card: 300,000 showing the Ontario Parliament Buildings; Windshield Stickers: 200,000; Gummed Stickers about 'Tourist Service Week': 275,000. (Sorry, that is one of the hundred-odd special 'weeks' during the year which escaped our notice.)

In addition to these promotional activities, the Branch issues films and 'news releases'. One new film issued this year and produced last is a sound and colour twenty-minute reel on the Haliburton area, called "Highland Legend."

Potential visitors from neighbouring provinces were not overlooked. Advertisements were placed, in French, in Quebec journals, and in English in other Canadian papers. The annual report of the Publicity Branch magnanimously states that "Advertisements placed in Canadian publications conveyed the impression that visitors from neighbouring provinces would be welcome in Ontario." It's very nice of this province to be so warm-hearted!

All this costs money, a great deal of money. To it must be added the efforts, publicity and expenses of the Federal Government in promoting tourism. Is the cost justified? Whether or not it is due chiefly to the Government Department's activities, more than half a million visitors last year passed through Ontario's fifteen Reception Centres which are operated at the chief ports of entry, and dish out free information and a free cup of tea (iced or hot). The influx was a record. Last year, too, 36,000 more United States cars entered Canada through Ontario ports than in 1949. The grand total for the year was 1,236,290 foreign motor vehicles.

How much money did all these bring into Ontario cash-registers? There is no accurate way to assess the dollar value of the tourist industry; a profit-and-loss account is not possible. That is why, from a business point of view, the tourist industry is a fuzzy sort of enterprise. However, this is sure: Canada needs American dollars, and the revenue from foreign visitors last year amounted, across the country, to 275 million dollars. Our own travellers spent 222 millions abroad, chiefly in the United States. So Canada is a little ahead of the game, and in that game, Ontario plays a major part since she is host to about sixty per cent. of all visitors to Canada.

Tomorrow's Armistice Talks

Tomorrow American and Chinese military officers are meeting to lay plans for cease-fire talks between U.N. and Red emissaries in Korea on Tuesday. Hopes of an armistice and of subsequent peace in Korea must not be pitched too high. The Reds have a way of prolonging negotiations aimed at a settlement of East-West issues when in fact they are not prepared to negotiate at all. The almost interminable Paris conference of the deputies of the Foreign Ministers to arrange an agenda for the Ministers' conference was a farce, played out until the Americans broke off the discussions, realizing their futility. This gave the Russians a propaganda weapon.

An Armistice is needed in Korea. It is folly to prolong that miserable war; but what is folly in Western eyes may be strategy in Mao's and Stalin's. Mao may be angling for time to give his battered army a rest and to re-group. The Chinese Communists propose talks not only on "cessation of military action" (which is the limit of the American purpose of the talks) but also on the "establishment of peace." This formula would allow the Communists to talk on any political questions they like, and either drag out the talks to win by negotiation what they did not win by arms, or put the onus of a breakdown of armistice talks on the United States and the United Nations. Uncle Sam could thus be propagandized as the warmonger; Uncle Joe as the peace-maker who was spurned.

Miss McLean Travels Too Late

We read that Miss Sarah McLean has retired from teaching at the Seaforth Public School, near Stratford. Her age is 84, and she was one of the oldest active teachers in Canada. It is reported that she now looks forward to being able to travel. That is all very well, but if Miss McLean wanted to travel, what has she been doing the last forty-odd summers during school holidays?

Too many people, by force of circumstance, postpone travelling days until they are too old to enjoy strange sights, sounds and foods fully; too worn to be able to profit mentally and spiritually from travel. Teachers are not forced to postpone travel days until they are retired. It is actually selfish of a teacher to wait until his teaching days are ended before he or she visits other parts of Canada, and abroad.

Miss McLean should have been travelling years ago: to the Canadian Rockies and the Mississippi to enrich her geography lessons; to Gaspe and Hastings to stand where Cartier and William the Conqueror stood; to the English Lake country to give vitality to her classroom reading of Wordsworth; to Durham and Florence to cultivate her taste in architecture, to the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the Louvre in Paris to see great masterpieces of painting at first hand; to Vienna and Venice to condition her ears to fine music. But perhaps Miss McLean taught only mathematics. Well, she should have gone long ago to the British Museum to examine astrolabes. Is she setting out on her travels only now, when she is 84, and no longer has classes to whom she can give the benefit of her journeying?

Perhaps we are maligning Miss Sarah McLean. Perhaps she is an inveterate summer-holiday traveller, from Peru to Persia. Perhaps in all these years she has taught geography, history, singing and citizenship from first-hand acquaintance with their places and pillars of development. She may now be setting out on a really grand tour—an affair of a year or two's duration, from the Kremlin to Korea. If so, good luck to a good teacher.

How Ivan Lives In Austria

by
G. E. R. GEDYE (In Vienna)

WHAT sort of life does the ordinary Russian soldier live in the various Western European countries he is now occupying? Doubtless each of the four military intelligence services of the Powers in occupation of Austria have accumulated masses of more or less useful information concerning the military strength and proceedings of the others. Russian intelligence at least does not have to spend a kopek on finding out how Tommy, the G.I., or the poilu live, since that is something the Western Powers have no interest in covering up. But the Russian military authorities are at nearly as great pains to surround the everyday doings of Ivan with mystery as if it were some new tactical secret.

* * *

AN accidental encounter has enabled me to learn quite a bit about the lives of the usually unsmiling, familiar yet remote, khaki-uniformed Russians in our midst in Vienna and surrounding us beyond the city's demarcation lines. Towards the outskirts of Vienna one day this week, two Russian soldiers signalled to me to stop my car. Up to a couple of years ago, it was not unusual to be asked by a Russian for a lift, but now this never happens, having apparently been forbidden by their authorities. One of them asked me in bad German whether I was going through Wiener Neustadt, which is about half-way down the British corridor road from Vienna to our zone. When I told them I was, they called out to an Austrian civilian on the pavement, said, "Kamerat goes with you", and opened the car door. The civilian got in beside me apologetically.

* * *

FOR some reason he apparently assumed I was a business man just passing through Austria. After keeping a wary eye on me for some time, and finding that I showed no curiosity as to why the Russians had commandeered a lift for him, he eventually began to talk. He said he had been employed for the last three years as a translator at one of the military depots in Baden (Russian General Headquarters, Austria). He was not a Communist. As his work was non-confidential, and his knowledge of Russian and its technical terms almost perfect (after seven years pre-war residence in Klieff, as a technician) and as his wife and family, living in the heart of the Russian zone at Wiener Neustadt, made reliable hostages, nobody bothered about his politics.

"Not everyone realises", he said, "that the more Red Army men Russia can keep in Europe, the less her army costs her. It is not only the Austrians have to pay the usual occupation costs. Nothing whatever comes from Russia to maintain the troops. Rations, clothing, boots, all come from one or other of the satellite countries, mainly Hungary and Czechoslovakia."

* * *

I ASKED him if the rations were good. He shuddered. "I don't know whether other soldiers would look at them. There is enough, certainly, with very coarse black bread as the mainstay. There is never any other meat than scraggy Hungarian beef, and not too much of that. Vegetables of a kind are sufficient in summer—in winter there is nothing but cabbage. The men get no cigarette ration and can't buy cigarettes they get a ration of makorka—shocking stuff—which they roll in strips of newspaper to smoke. From the infinitely small sum of pocket money they get they cannot possibly buy cigarette paper, or anything else. The officers get a small allowance of Russian-style cigarettes, with the long cardboard mouthpiece, but even they do not come from Russia. They are made from evil-smelling raw Hungarian tobacco in an Austrian factory."

* * *

THE average duration of stay of a Russian regiment in Austria is two to three years. The men usually remain in the same place throughout their service here, save in the summer when, as at present, every available soldier is on manoeuvres in an "area near Austria's eastern frontiers".

My companion went on to say that there was, of course, a risk in working with the Russians, but he needed a job, and anyway would not be allowed to leave their service —they had often told him so.

* * *

HIS safeguard was that he was not really interested in their affairs, never put a question and never volunteered information on any subject. "They are good-natured, but erratic and undependable children, deeply imbued with suspicion—quite as much of one another as of foreigners, like myself. Except when they drink—they have no money to buy drinks, but if they get it otherwise, drink without the least self-control—they are tight-lipped among themselves, always fearing the comrade may be an informer. The great fear is of the political commissars who go around inspecting detachments—every officer and man lives under an obvious strain until the unwanted visitor leaves."

"Do they believe war is near?" I asked. The Austrian shrugged his shoulders. "Who knows what any tight-lipped Russian believes in his heart? They certainly have little personal fear—or enthusiasm—for anything. They say they know Stalin will never go to war, but that if the West attacks Russia's enormous strength will teach the west a needed lesson: But then, that's what their papers tell them to think."

Neither officers nor men seem to have an independent thought. Every unnecessary contact with Austrian civilians has long been forbidden and none of those who know German dare read Austrian newspapers. A soldier associating with an Austrian girl promptly disappears. If they are impressed with what they see—and little things indicate that they are—of the vastly superior standard of living of the workers in the West, they know better than to say so. Sometimes they seem to think it just isn't so—that Austria has surrounded them with an atmosphere of unreal prosperity like that of the papier-mache "Potemkin villages" erected to deceive Catherine The Great.

Tinted Goggles

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

Sun glasses are expected to hit the $75,000,000 mark at retail this year in the United States. Makers estimate a record 50,000,000 tinted goggles, 20 per cent more than last year, will be produced.

To make women sun-glass fashion conscious, the industry will push 150 different frames, including such oddities as glasses set in a veil.

This sort of thing could change an entire nation's outlook.

PEACE DELEGATES TO MAO

Hardly Bubbling Over

(MONTREAL STAR)

THE British Prime Minister's pallid response to the appeal for European unity made by General Eisenhower at the English-speaking Union dinner in London was hardly designed to add to the inspiration which Mr. Attlee said he had personally received. The reply was indeed more in the nature of a rebuff than anything else, and a good many people will be glad that Mr. Churchill was present to say something into which he could put his heart.

There is a tendency in England for people to turn up their noses at American gestures and overtures and suggestions. It's quite all right, such persons seem to think, to take American dollars when offered; but they hasten to add that Americans are brash and ill-informed folk who do not understand the complexities and traditions of British and European culture.

What they forget, however, is that General Eisenhower, whose task is to build up a European force designed to protect the whole free world (including England), was expressing in his speech a deep and growing sentiment whose roots lie, not in America but on the Continent of Europe. Again and again since the war observers have returned from Europe to report that the younger generation there wants above all else to sustain, and if necessary to fight for, a free and united Europe. This, thank God, is "The Wave of the Future."

Mr. Churchill, his sweeping and creative imagination unimpaired by his years, saw this clearly as much as five years ago. It was because of this that he threw himself into the support for the Council of Europe, and it is one of the tragedies of the post-war world that the Labour party has so resolutely refused to give that movement the leadership it deserves.

The reasons for its hesitations are manifold. Not least has been the obduracy of that socialist doctrinaire Mr. Hugh Dalton who may be in due course regarded as the evil genius of the Labour party (if the competition for that honour does not become too hot). The chief public explanation of British reluctance is that Britain's responsibilities to the Commonwealth impose the utmost caution upon its leaders. Canada is a not unimportant member of the Commonwealth but we have yet to hear or read a word in this country which offers much support for the British contention. The Commonwealth, it may be hoped, is not being used as a respectable cloak to cover up something else.

Anti-Inflation May Be Too Successful

(CALGARY HERALD)

IN some respects, the federal government's measures to check inflation appear to have been too successful. Men are being laid off by the thousand at the Ford and Chrysler plants in Windsor; whether the layoffs can be attributed to shortages of raw materials for making new cars, or to the decline of the market for new cars, or to a combination of both, is not clear.

Whatever the causes, the result is disturbing. The government's latest restrictions on credit were designed to reduce the demand for civilian goods so that materials, manpower and productive capacity could be diverted to defence purposes. On the face of it, it appears from developments in the automobile industry that the cutback in civilian demand is running ahead of the needs of the defence program, and that the productive capacity released by the lowered sales of new cars is not being used to make armaments. Something, somewhere, is out of step.

The government views the situation with studied calm. Early in the year, it says, the auto-makers deliberately manufactured cars well in excess of the probable demand in order to offset the effects of any new taxes imposed in the April budget, and are now in possession of more finished cars than the public is willing or able to buy. Ottawa is standing pat, therefore, on the regulations which require that a buyer pay half the price of a car in cash and dispose of the balance in 12 months or less.

What we would like to know at this point is exactly how far shortages of raw materials are responsible for these cutbacks in production, and how far they are the result of decreased demand. If decreased demand is primarily responsible, have the manufacturers considered the possibility of reducing prices? We find it hard to believe that the list price of 1951 cars represents the irreducible minimum and that it is beyond the ingenuity of manufacturers to find ways of knocking off a few dollars here and there.

If raw material shortages are responsible, then the government must take the blame. Nothing is more urgent at this moment than that Canada's productive machine should be fully employed; if thousands of automobile workers are to remain idle, then their skills and their productive power are going to waste, and this must not happen. If they are not needed for making armaments, then they should be making cars, because the more goods we can produce the safer we shall be from inflation. If the government's anti-inflationary policy is reducing demand beyond the point necessary to make room for the defence program, then it must be revised. There is no virtue in austerity for its own sake.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses said unto the Lord, See, thou sayest unto me, Bring up this people: and thou hast not let me know whom thou wilt send with me. Yet thou hast said, I know thee by name, and thou hast also found grace in my sight. Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy sight, shew me now thy way, that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy sight: and consider that this nation is thy people.

And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest. . . . And he said, I will make all my goodness pass before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the Lord before thee: and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will shew mercy on whom I will shew mercy.

And he said, Thou canst not see my face: for there shall no man see me, and live. (Ex. 33: 12-14, 19, 20.)

Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are! (Job 22: 12.)

Then Job answered and said. . . . Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat! . . . Behold, I go forward, but he is not there; and backward, but I cannot perceive him. . . .

But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth. (Job 23: 1, 3, 8, 13.)

Letter To The Editor

OUR VIEW NOT GENERAL MacARTHUR'S?

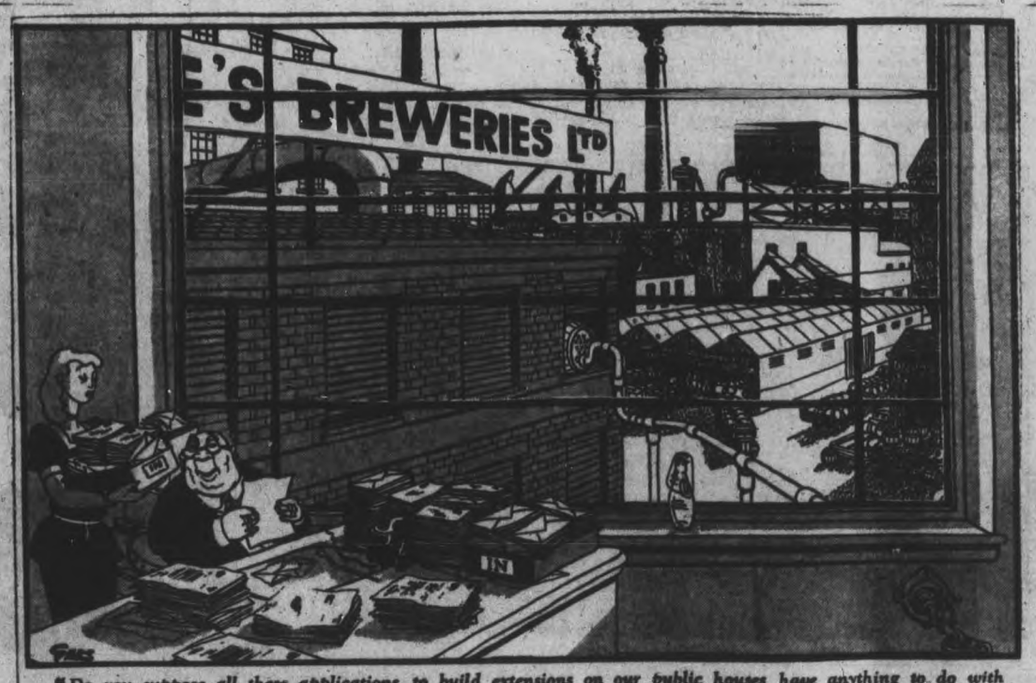
I am sure many were sad to read your 'leader' of July 3rd. under the caption "Korea." You make a cruel attack on missionary effort especially as it affects Korea today. In your blind attack you fail to realize, and much less understand, it is the very work you blame that has suffered so much under the advance of Communism and its satellites. Are you aware that hundreds of missionaries have lost homes and everything they possessed? And the native Christians are being crucified rather than give up the democratic way of life or yield to vile and Godless Communism?

The brave and gracious General MacArthur by no means shares your views on missionary effort for he has seen and known the value of the Bible in his great work in Japan.

I am, yours faithfully,
ROBERT J. WILDING

A Piano Collapses

(Windsor Star)



Accident records prove the home is a dangerous place. In fact we still have much to learn as to just how dangerous it is.

In suburban Detroit the other day a four-year-old child was crushed to death when an old piano collapsed. He was playing near it when it broke down, fracturing his neck vertebrae and skull.

Many homes have old pianos, which are regarded as the last word in weight and rigidity. If the householder were asked to point out the least fragile piece of equipment on the premises, he'd probably shake a fist at the old piano sitting there foursquare and defiant.

It defies a woman's muscle when she wants to dust around and behind it. It yields only grudgingly to a man's, and when moved resents being restored to place.

Its weight suggests great structural strength, just as its proportions indicate tremendous durability. And generally this is true. Yet it is not invariably true, as the Detroit accident demonstrates.

"Do you suppose all these applications to build extensions on our public houses have anything to do with Mr. Churchill's suggestion to recall the Home Guard?"

Did you ever watch the doings at a wild bee tree, observing the flights of the busy insects flashing in brown threadlike lines from fields and gardens to their hive?

If you haven't the nearest thing to it was the swarming tourist traffic, Kawartha bound, that Peterborough experienced last week-end. And like bees, those American cars loaded with tourist pollen dollars, began making tourist honey dollars as soon as they reached the innumerable resort hives. Better than that, a good deal of this pollen is brushed off on the way to the hives in the form of meals, equipment, food, clothing, bait and fishing licenses. Each one of us in the district got a dusting. Heretofore, the American tourist was called the Goose that laid the Golden Eggs. Far better that we should call them the Busy Bees from over the Border.

Together with all these busy bees in the field we have drones in the hives — the discourteous, chiselling, apathetic characters — that give our great honey-making industry a bad name. Nature has a simple method of dealing with drones; they are driven from hive or killed outright.

I would no more think of watching the fishing season start each year without reclining at the foot of the oracle for some profound knowledge. On Sunday evening I visited my old philosopher and guide, Bob Bucktail. He took me trollin' for a spell.

Lying in the bottom of the canoe while old Bob shouldered his easy paddle strokes across the evening water, we talked of many things.

What were the prospects of a successful fishing season?

They looked all right to Bob. He had lived at the lake nigh onto six years and allowed there were more fish in the waters than ever before. Ten times as many fishermen, too.

Was the type of fisherman a better one these days?

Bob thought they were in too much of a hurry, runnin' around the lakes in them outdoor motors and not giving the sport half a chance. There was nothing like a quiet troll around the weed beds and if the fish — this meant only muskies to Bob — were in the mood, they might strike. And if they didn't so what?

Did he think the opening day's luck was disappointing?

Decidedly not. If every fisherman took his limit the first day or two, it would be mighty poor sport indeed. A few teasers now and then and maybe one or two big ones should be a decent average for any man, according to Bob's way of thinking.

How had he spent the winter?

Danged near got burnted up in the spring. How come? I had a big fire in the cabin stove, Bob began, and opened the door half way for to cool off. I was sittin' on my bunk when a cottontail bounded through the doorway. What do you think was after it? A big owl with a wing spread that-a-a-t long; it was so long he had to bank sideways to get through the doorway. Well, sir, he sailed over the table and knocked the chimbley off the lamp and I throwed an old mackinaw over him and locked him in the back shed for the night. Next morning I shot him but the rabbit hung around inside the shack for several days. He still comes around the doorway for a visit.

Our visit was cut short as a outboard roared up on us, cut close behind our stern and disappeared. Of course they snapped off the trolling line and Bob cussed and cussed and cussed. It was a battered old Delaney spoon he had had for years, the talisman of his scanty bait box.

* * * *

Summarizing Bob's comments of the fishing situation in the Kawarthas, the first day was a poor starter but has picked up considerably since them. At first many undersized muskies were taken and released and everyone was wondering why those same fish had not put on a few pounds during the winter. But the good ones started to hit, especially at Pigeon Lake, and of second importance down at Rice. Bass, both black and green, have struck well since opening day and nice catches have been reported in all lakes. Pickerel, it was felt, was not too good, but they, too, have started to nibble at lures and are being taken in fair numbers. Big lake trout in Drag Lake, Haliburton, are putting up an excellent show. One Peterborough fisherman has given the green light to all metal linesmen.

Trent Called "Wild Project" In Parliament Million Dollars Spent On Canal To 1889

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Although overshadowed by the growing railway netwo., the roads of the Kawarthas also contributed to regional prosperity, particularly for the farmers and the villages remote from railways. Maps of Peterborough and Victoria Counties in the 1880s show that nearly all the present county roads were then present; Peterborough County was spending $15,000 to $20,000 a year on roads and bridges, and Victoria County almost as much. All main roads were gravelled and graded, but the township concession roads were still rutted and muddy in bad weather. The provincial government did little to maintain the Haliburton and other northern colonization roads in fair shape, and the lumbering tote-roads soon became impassable after logging operations ceased in any area; the county councils sent repeated representations to Toronto about the "decay of bridges, crossings and swampy road sections" in northern townships, with little effect unless local legislative members were on the government side. This deterioration of roads to market was one main reason why so many settlers moved out of the northern townships once the timber had been cut. In areas remote from rail and water transport, stages operated once or twice weekly bringing mail and passengers, while wagons carried the products of farm and mill and factory to railhead or steamer wharf, amid billowing clouds of dust most of the time.

Trent Canal

The 1880s began disappointingly for advocates of improved canal communication. In the 392-page report of the Chief Engineer of Canals, Department of Railways & Canals early in 1880, there was not a word about the Trent Valley Canal. However, survey work continued under Thomas Belcher, Superintending Engineer (who had his office at Peterborough), and surveyors David Starke and Thomas Rubidge (Rubidge was accused of being lukewarm about the Trent project, and soon had to drop out due to local pressure). Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways & Canals, made guarded promises of construction during his 1880 trip along the proposed route. Supporters of the route pointed out that it was 70 miles shorter than the Welland route between Lakes Huron and Ontario, and went through a region rich in timber, minerals and waterpower. Opponents claimed that the shallow winding waters and small locks of the Trent route would be more expensive and inefficient than the Welland route. Incidentally, one of the leading local opponents was George Laidlaw of Bexley township, who said that the $20,000,000 needed to build the canal would be much better spent in improving livestock breeds in the district; but he was in a small and unpopular minority in the Kawarthas.

"Wild Project"

Liberal leader Mackenzie, speaking in Parliament in 1880 called the Trent survey "a wild project . . . a waste of public money". Tupper defended the proposed route, and in that year $3350 was spent by the Dominion on surveys and repairs along the Trent and Otonabee rivers. Supt. Belcher's 1880 annual report outlined the growth of industry along the route and concluded "There now seems to be life and activity along the entire route of the extensive navigation, which is nearly 200 miles in length." In 1881 some local enthusiasts applied again to Parliament for incorporation of a private company to build and operate the canal from Midland to the Bay of Quinte, but they were refused a charter with the intimation that the government proposed to proceed with the work shortly. The "Examiner" in 1882 reprinted and distributed the reports of Lyons and Keefer, made in 1846, favouring completion of the canal; Lyons estimated the cost at £255,304, and Keefer at £399,303.

In 1882, an election year, Parliament voted $298,000 for Trent navigation, to be used on the Lakefield-Balsam Lake section, and an additional $1,000 for dredging at Peterborough. In 1883 $6,000 was provided for Trent surveys, $246,000 for the Lakefield-Balsam Lake section, $3,000 for dredging at Peterborough, and $1,200 for Otonabee dredging. In 1884, when $185,000 was put in the estimates for the Lakefield-Balsam Lake section, the Minister of Railways and Canals told Parliament that this section of the canal was expected to cost over $6,000,000. In 1885, $115,000 was provided for the same Lakefield-Balsam Lake section, and in 1886 another $263,000. Completion of the canal was a Conservative slogan in Central Ontario for the 1887 election again, but not so potent with the voters this time as the Liberals also were on the band-wagon supporting completion of the Trent Canal, at least in their Central Ontario campaigning.

Locks Built

In October, 1882, McDonald & Company got the contract to build two stone locks (of local limestone) and a short canal at Fenelon Falls, the locks to be each 134 x 33 feet with 14-ft. lift. The next year contracts were let for two similar locks at Burleigh, one at Lovesick and one at Buckhorn Rapids, plus short canals at each place; Tupper told Parliament that the work was planned for completion: At Fenelon in 1883, at Buckhorn and Lovesick in 1884, at Burleigh in 1885. But at Fenelon considerable trouble developed and the locks were not ready until 1886, after which it was discovered that the canal to Cameron Lake had to be dredged deeper, and that the stationary railway bridge barred steamers from proceeding north (a swing section was finally installed in 1894) Stony Lake and the other eastern lakes were thoroughly surveyed for the first time in 1836, and in the next year the work at Burleigh, Buckhorn and Lovesick was completed. Between 1885 and 1887 also the dam and lock at Lindsay were rebuilt, a stone dam 304 feet long built at Fenelon Falls, and new wooden dams built at Young's Point and Lakefield, to regulate water levels. Navigation was theoretically open from Lakefield to Balsam Lake and down to Scugog, and from Chisholm's on the Trent River to Fenelon and Lindsay the locks were all standard 134 x 34 feet. The old wooden lock at Rosedale, however, was a shallow 100 x 30 feet; the Rosedale and Young's Point locks were controlled by the Ontario Government until after 1900.

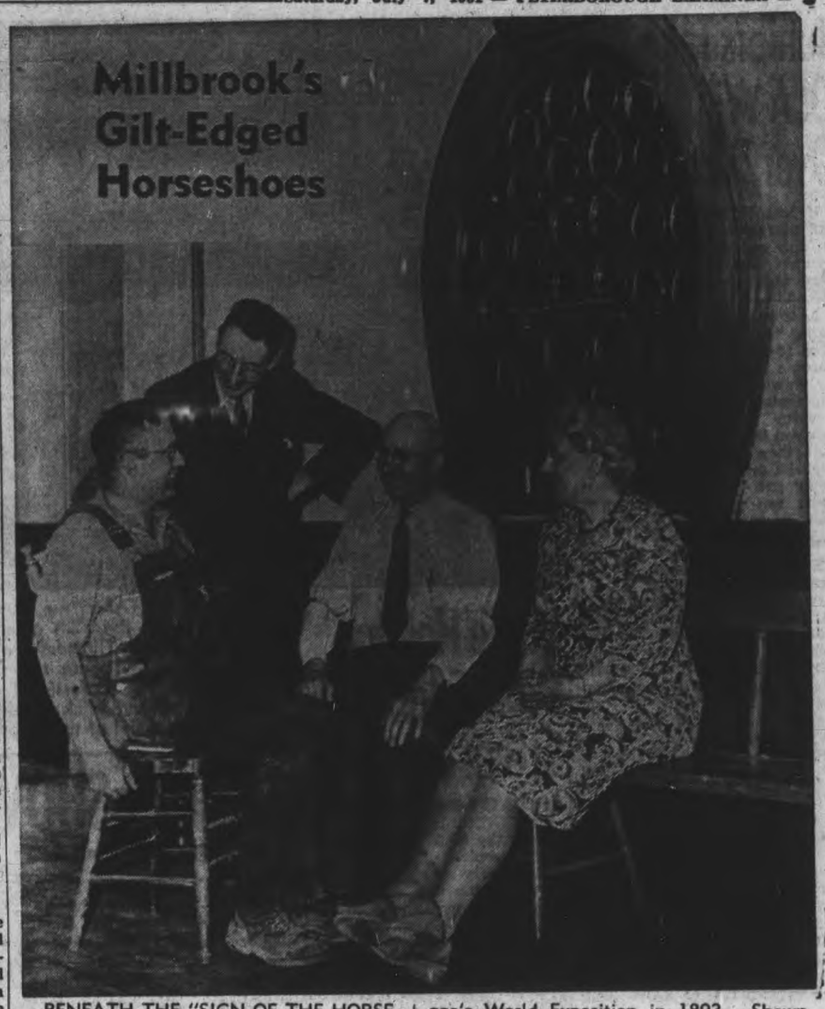
BATTLE FOR FREEDOM

We are losing the battle of freedom for the press because we are losing the battle for freedom itself.

—Edward J. Meeman, editor Memphis (Tenn.) Press-Scimitar.

Meanwhile, the demands for completion of the Trent Canal grew stronger. Trent Canal Associations were organized in Peterborough and other communities. Delegations from the Midland-Trenton district descended on Ottawa regularly to convert the government and individual members of Parliament; one such deputation was arranged at a meeting in Peterborough February 10, 1886, under Chairman James Stevenson and Secretary E. A. Peck, going to Ottawa on March 11 via CPR at a special reduced rate of $5.60 (return); the delegation included the Mayors of Lindsay, Peterborough, and Trenton, the Wardens of Peterborough, Victoria, Ontario and Hastings Counties, and representatives of numerous towns along the route.

Pamphlets and newspaper articles favoring the canal were showered on readers and politicians: for example, the Peterborough "Morning Times" of December 8, 1887, carried a four-column front-page letter signed by "Progress" (a leading supporter of the Canal) giving "A Masterly Review of This National Enterprise," using highly selective statistics to prove that the Trent route had more industry and commerce in products of field, forest, animals, fisheries, mines and manufacturers than the Ottawa Valley waterway, on which the government had already spent over $5,000,000.



He then compared the Trent with the Erie Canal which also had many locks and shallow stretches, and yet carried an enormous trade yearly. "The rebellion of 1837 prevented any further prosecution of the (Trent) work in Mr. Baird's time. It got a fresh start in 1882, and has now arrived at another crisis in its existence....It rests with the people of the Newcastle district to see that it receives a fresh impetus forward....It has its enemies who are awake and active, open enemies and secret ones, at home as well as abroad ....The great fall of 60 feet now held up as the curse of the Newcastle district, so far as the TVC is concerned, is on the contrary a blessing, when looked upon in proper light. EVERY FOOT OF THIS WATERFALL MEANS DOLLARS AND CENTS....untold wealth in its grasp—cheap power for mills and factories of all kinds. When once the canal is opened up, and manufacturers have raw materials landed at their doors by the boats that carry their manufactured articles to the markets of the world, without having to pay for a mile of railway carriage, then you will see factories of all kinds spring up all along these waters. There is room for thousands of them ...when you combine CHEAP POWER WITH CHEAP FREIGHTS BOTH FOR RAW MATERIALS AND FOR MANUFACTURED GOODS, you have a combination which few districts can offer.. and which will make the Newcastle district the MANUFACTURERS' PARADISE.... Wheat coming through the canal can be milled anywhere from Georgian Bay to Trenton...."

Royal Commission Studies

Montreal interests favoured the Trent in a half-hearted way, and Toronto capital was strongly opposed. The government evaded the decision by appointing a Royal Commission to study the project once again. The Trent Valley Canal Commission, appointed in 1887, consisted of Judge C. Weller of Peterborough, John Kennedy C.E., of Montreal, and Frank Turner C.E. of Toronto, "to consider the question of further extending the line of water communication between Lakes Huron and Ontario, and to determine whether it is advisable that an extension of the main work should be undertaken, and if so, to what extent." Tupper, in view of the election campaign, explained that the Commission was "not to make an estimate of the cost nor a report of the propriety of proceeding with the work (for of the latter they were satisfied), but a report as to which would be the best sections to put under contract."

In the next three years the Commission held hearings at many points between Midland and Montreal, as well as Albany and Buffalo; they were at Peterborough early in 1888 and again at the end of 1889. Of the 24 questions asked of witnesses, the following were most important: 1. What amount of traffic in tons per annum would be likely to pass through the Trent Canal? 2. Is it probable that the Trent Valley route would take any part of the through freight which now passes by the Welland route, and if so, what proportion? 3. What proportion if any of through freight now carried by railways would the TVC be likely to obtain? 4. Would the TVC cheapen the cost of transporting produce and manufactures between points within the region through which it passes, or from that region to places beyond? 5. Would the lumber, iron and other mining industries in the Trent Valley and surrounding districts receive any benefits from the construction of the TVC? 6. The works being already completed from Balsam Lake to Lakefield, would the traffic likely to flow through the entire canal justify the construction to connect Lakes Huron and Ontario, estimated by the Chief Engineer of Canals to cost about $9,334,500? 7. Should the entire canal be not constructed, would local traffic justify its completion from Balsam Lake to Bay of Quinte, at an estimated cost of about $5,000,000? 8. Should the canal be not extended to Bay of Quinte, would local traffic justify their extension to Peterborough so as to afford continuous navigation from Healey's Falls to Balsam Lake, the estimated cost being about $1,500,000? 9. Would the advantages of a canal connecting Lakes Simcoe and Balsam be sufficient to justify its construction at an estimated cost of about $2,200,000? 10. Would the

BENEATH THE "SIGN OF THE HORSESHOES," Millbrook people often gather to gossip in the hallway of the Town Hall. The unusual horseshoe-shaped case holds 8 steel plated varieties of shoes made by former village blacksmith William Buck and were showed originally at the Chicago's World Exposition in 1893. Millbrook's Gilt-Edged Horseshoes

Horseshoes Exhibited At World Fair

(By The Examiner's Millbrook Correspondent)

In the entry hall of Millbrook town hall, fastened to the wall, is a large wooden case with a glass front, shaped like a giant horseshoe. This case is filled with horseshoes of varying shapes and sizes which were made by William David Nugent and exhibited by him at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. Four large shoes are in his original finish, and the rest he had nickel-plated.

Mr. Nugent was a skilled craftsman. He specialized in shoeing horses for show purposes and for racing. Another specialty of his, as can be seen from some of the shoes in the case, was the shoeing of horses with some deformity of the feet. Shipping the case to Chicago in 1893 was a much larger undertaking than it would be to-day. It took several weeks for it to reach its destination.

The shop in which these shoes were made stood on the north-east corner of the property now owned by Mrs. Wilkinson across the tracks from the C.N.R. station.

INQUIRY DENIED

Soviet science cannot succeed in the long run, because the system denies the scientist freedom of inquiry.

—Dr. James B. Conant, president Harvard U.

When this building was destroyed by fire Mr. Nugent re-modelled a barn which still stands on the property, and continued business in it until his retirement.

Learned Trade Near Orono

Mr. Nugent was born in Cavan township, but shortly afterwards moved with his parents to Manvers. He learned his trade in Kirby, near Orono, and married Sara Ann Hugill of that place on September 21st, 1872. At the time of their marriage they moved to Millbrook where they lived until Mr. Nugent's death.

They had four children, two of whom died in childhood.

A son, David Bertram Nugent, after graduating from the University of Toronto joined the staff of the Time Service of the Dominion Observatory in Ottawa, and was head of the Division for some years before his retirement. A daughter, Annie Maude, married the Rev. George Frederick Metzler, B.D., Ph.D., and lived in Syracuse, N.Y., where her husband taught mathematics in Syracuse University. Since her husband's death Mrs. Metzler has made her home with her brother, Bertram, in Ottawa.

Iron Work On Tower

At the time of the building of the present United Church in Millbrook, St. Andrew's, in 1881-1882 it had a tower with ornamental iron work around it, which was the work and gift of Mr. Nugent. A few years ago this iron work had to be taken down because the woodwork was giving way and making it unsafe.

ECONOMICAL USE OF NUTMEGS

If a person begins to grate a nutmeg from the stalk end, it will prove hollow throughout; whereas the same nutmeg from the other end, would prove solid to the last. This is because the centre consists of a number of fibres issuing from the stalk, and extending throughout the centre of the fruit. When the stalk is grated away, those fibres, being attached to no other part, loose their hold, and drop out, and a hollow is formed through the whole nut.

A very useful tincture of nutmeg, ready for immediate use, may be made, by adding three ounces of bruised or grated nutmeg to a quart of brandy. A smaller quantity may be made, by observing the same proportions. This will be a very grateful addition to all compounds in which nutmeg is used; a few drops will suffice to impart a flavor.

We have heard of a would-be wit who kept a nutmeg-grater on his table, in order to say when a great man was mentioned, "There's a greater."

Home-Growers Can Give Tomato Plants Much Care

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Tomatoes "don't care if they don't get the care" imposed on them by many home gardeners, an extension horticulturist at Ohio State University said recently. Prof. V. E. Keirns said many gardeners overdo the care of tomato plants.

Im the soil is in good condition to start with and gardeners have applied fertilizer ahead of planting, they can do more harm than good by side-dressing plants with dehydrated manure, fertilizer, various hormones and other materials on the market to "promote" plant growth.

Overwatering is also a common mistake. Keirns said watering tomatoes seldom is worth the effort on most home garden soil if there is a reasonable amount of rain.

When the weather does turn dry and water is needed, do a thorough job, Keirns advised. Apply enough water to soak the ground 3 or 4 inches deep. Then wait at least a week before watering again.

Too much water, fertilizer or manure early in the season often causes blossoms to drop from tomato plants.

The tomato used to be called the love apple, long before it gained the popularity that has made it king of garden crops. But the enemies of the love apple have grown powerful, too, and early blight, late blight and septoria leaf blight are among the maladies that may lay your tomato crop low. And a dozen or more insect pests may do almost as much damage.

Fortunately, these diseases and insects seldom all attack your garden tomatoes at once. But even more fortunately, you don't have to recognize them all, to ward them off. By using an all-purpose tomato dust you can prevent damage by all these pests.

Gardening Questions

Q—What care should be given chrysanthemums now?—J. R.

A—Chrysanthemums should be kept growing by frequent cultication, and watering if there is a dry spell. Unless the soil is poor do not start feeding until late July. Pinch tip growth now and twice more at two-week intervals to keep them bushy and more productive of blooms.

Q—Will dahlia tubers or potted dahlia plants produce the larger blooms? What are the soil requirements?—W. C.

A—There will be little difference in the size or quality of blooms provided good cultural practices are followed. My preference is the potted plants since they are already started and ready to go. Choose only strong, healthy plants and be sure to set the supporting stakes before planting. A well-drained, loamy soil containing plenty of humus is necessary for good results.

Q—A lilac bush, seven years old, and growing very well has never bloomed. We have fertilized it with manure. Does it need a companion for cross-pollination?

A—Failure of lilacs to bloom may be attributed to one or more of the following: Lack of sunlight. Pruning in spring, thus cutting off the flower buds. Lack of lime and phosphorus in the soil. Too deep planting and excessive moisture about the roots. A single lilac will bloom without help.

Q—Is it true that rhubarb leaves are poisonous? What part of the plant is used for pies?—M. W.

A—The leaves of rhubarb, or pie-plant while not deadly poisonous, are not edible because of their oxalic acid content. The leaf stalks are excellent for pies and sauces and should be used in late spring and early summer before the flower heads appear. After the flowers have set seed the stalks are strong in taste and not the least bit tender.

Juniors Take OLA Win Over Toronto

If Lou Vitarelli's junior Petes had played throughout the game as they did in the last quarter, Toronto Maitlands would have been reduced to a midget team after the game.

As it was, Peterborough's future senior "A" players homped to an easy 16-2 junior OLA win over Toronto 16-2 Friday night at Miller Bowl. This was their sixth win against one defeat this season.

Never did the Maitlands threaten the league leaders. Never did they bother either Bill Nicholls or Carl Simmons in the Petes' net. In fact the Toronto game can easily be shown in shots-on-goal, 12.

Broke Fast

Breakaways counted for the Petes as they broke quickly throughout. In the first period on goals by Heffernan, Batley, Morrissey, Nickle and Brioux they went up 5-1, the lone Toronto tally coming late in the quarter by McConnell with Rawbons helping.

From there in it was Peterborough all the way, Toronto dawdling around the Peterborough defence and no further. Lou Vitarelli's boys went up 9-1 at the half, slowed in the third to 11-1, and finished strong with five to Toronto's one in the fourth.

Tempers flew just at the final bell. Gary Robinson and Toronto's Corrick first teed off with sticks. Then sticks and gloves were dropped in favor of bare fists. They were quickly separated.

Rock Batley, favorite with the fans for his biff-bing-bang play, was lost to the Petes in the fourth. On a solo rush through the Toronto defence he caught a high stick in the face, dropping him. He was carried to the dressing-room where he came to after the game.

Lou Nickle led the scoring parade for the Petes with four goals, closely followed by Heffernan with three. Pairs went to Batley, Brioux and G. Robinson with singles to Morrissey, B. Robinson and Fitzgerald. McConnell and Rawbons were the Toronto scorers.

Lineups:

Toronto Maitlands — Stewart, Bond, Rawbons, Davidson, Pawell, Dancy, Weller, Cheesman, McConnell, Bourke, Garrick, Forbes.

Petes — Nicholls, O'Reilly, Nickle, Powell, Brioux, G. Robinson, B. Robinson, Burns, Morrissey, Heffernan, Batley, Farley, Fitzgerald, Simmons, Groves.

Mimico Downs Torontos 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

Mimico Mountaineers led by high-scoring Denny Peterson, came from behind to take Toronto West York 16-11 in a senior lacrosse game Friday night.

Toronto took the first period 3-2 but couldn't hold their lead against the snappy Mounties. They were slowed by the loss of starry Frank Facto who suffered a gashed forehead when checked by Mimico's Don McPhail and sat out the rest of the game. McPhail was given a major penalty.

Top scorers for Mimico were: Denny Peterson who netted five and Don McPhail with three. For Toronto Leo McNulty led teammates with four goals and Leo Teatro tallied three.

FOR HIGH STAKES — Three colorful golfers draw a large gallery at the 12th green at Toronto's Mississauga Golf Club during Thursday's play in the $15,000 Canadian Open. Burke Holding Slight Edge In Golf Tourney

By FRASER MacDOUGALL.

TORONTO, July 7 (CP). — A tip on the 1951 Canadian open golf champion:

He'll carry a name like Burke, Ferrier or Hawkins—with a long-shot chance for Oliver, Ed Furgol, Leonard, Klein and Demaret.

That was the shape of things today as the 63 survivors of the original field of 192 headed out over Mississauga golf course on the final 18-hole round of the 72-hole test for a $15,000 pot.

Jack Burke, Jr., held the edge. The smiling Texan, darling of the gallery of some 4,000 Friday, laughed off a sad three-over-par first nine to finish with a par 72 and 54-hole score of 204.

His fighting comeback gave him a two stroke margin on defending champion Jim Ferrier of San Francisco and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., deadlocked in second place with 206 apiece.

Ferrier, opening day pace-setter with 65, bounced back to a 69 Friday from his second day par 72. Hawkins blew a four-foot putt on the 18th hole which would put him one stroke off the leading pace.

The field now comprises 23 Canadians, 38 Americans, an Argentinian and a Hawaiian.

Oliver Threatens

Ed (Porky) Oliver from Seattle turned into a threat with a sparkling third-round 67—best of the day—for 208 and fourth place. Deadlocked at 209 were Stan Leonard of Vancouver, leading Canadian, on a 72 Friday; Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., on 72; and Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Tex., on 73. Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., shot a 72 for 210.

After three days of play, 25 players had scores of par 216 or better. Only 12 bettered par on the third round, compared with 18 the second day and 34 the first.

Royal Canadian Golf Association officials looked for a crowd of 8,000 or more today. Attendance so far has totalled about 10,000 and gate receipts Friday night were about equal to the total for the full four days of the championship at Montreal a year ago.

Only four amateurs remained in the field, cut to 60 and tied for the final round with a score of 224 the qualifying figure. Nick Weslock of Windsor Essex and Art Severson of St. Clemens, Mich., were amateur leaders with 214 apiece giving them a 13th place tie in the general standings. Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener got in with a 223 and Bill Mawhinney of Vancourver, 1950 Canadian amateur champion, made the charmed circle with the minimum 224.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Fergus Thistles tackle the Petes here tonight at 8.45 in Miller Bowl an OLA senior "A" fixture. We didn't get much notice on this one, it being a postponement replayed, official word just coming through late yesterday. However, the paper comes out earlier on Saturday, so folks will have sufficient notice to make plans accordingly. This item was written ere the Petes' game last eve in Fergus, so we don't know how they made out — but will ere column's end. We expect a lively scrap here tonight and it's a break for the many lacrosse followers in these parts who weren't expecting any home action till well out in next week.

Up at the Peterborough Golf Club links this aft. play starts for the Glover-Dobbin Trophy between top golfers of the Kawartha and Peterborough clubs. On Monday, the OGA junior qualifying round is on, open to chaps in three age brackets up to 18 years of age, and they don't have to be club members. They go at the northend links, too, with good prizes up, idea being to encourage the game among youngsters. A week from today sees the big Ontario Golf Association district tournament for adults at the Peterborough Club, entry lists being posted at both local clubs. Entries to be in by Tuesday eve. for the draw to be made in Toronto by E. H. Banks, "Mr. Golf" of the OGA.

USA Players Take All

While on the subject of golf — and don't forget the big tourney at Kawartha on Civic Holiday weekend — it is no surprise to see U.S.A. pros taking down the main money prizes in Toronto at the Canadian Open. They've being doing this for many years, and rumor hath it that Canadian pros want the Open to be for Canucks only. This may be the case next year. Our clime doesn't permit the year-around golf that the States has, these tourney travellers following the weather around and keeping in top shape 12 months of the year. So, many pop over here each summer and pick off juicy plums at the Canadian Open. Doesn't seem fair to the home-brews, but top U.S.A. talent does lend a lot of interest to the big golf competition of the year.

Belleville Redmen, of the baseball variety — not hockey — this time, come here Monday night to play the Petes a floodlight Riverside Park exhibition at 8.30. The COBL crew from the Quinte city are managed this semester by Pat Wilson, who often gets into the lineup, too. Pat played here last season but had a bad game in the final one with Oshawa during playoffs, so he sought other fields—after playing a sparkling game of hockey for St. Mike's last winter. It will be interesting to see how the present COBL brand of play stacks up against that of the Viaduct Major League, which the Petes are leading. Belleville is close to the top in the Central Loop.

Petes Had To Hustle

Many ball fans figured on another soft win for the Petes o'er Staffords here last p.m., but many took in the tilt, anyway. And they saw a dandy. The Toronto team played fine heads-up ball, as did the loop leaders, and it wound up 4-3 for Ed Whitehill's crew. But Staffs had three aboard in the ninth with only one out. Dadson relieved Bunny Maeson then and saved the day. Maeson and Barnes had pitched an quite even terms till then, and the hits and errors—one to a side—were even, also. Bill Huntley rapped out four for four to easily lead the locals at bat, and Maeson smashed out two triples. Fielding was okay all the way. Jim Crowley, Canton pitcher, decided to do his hurling nearer home—after promising to play here—so the Petes are still seeking one more twirler. Their game in Toronto tomorrow was called off.

* * * * * *

Our lacrosse teams split last p.m. The local juniors trimmed Toronto Maitlands 16-2, with Lou Nickel scoring four goals, Heffernan three, and Batley, Brioux and Gary Robinson two each. They all clicked well, and a fight enlivened things at the finish. Rock Batley was hurt in the fourth when hit by a stick. Fergus Thistles at home pulled an upset by edging the Petes 11-10, leaving the Crowe crew still in a first-place tie with St. Kitts. Goalie Ralph Speck, Bill Killingbeck, J. J. Hill, Dobie and Bob Gear all went well for the Thistles, and they threaten to do a similar job on the Petes here tonight. Latter missed Don Ashbee and Dootch Vitarelli in that encounter.

THREE STIMULATED

Only three horses of 43,000 tested on member tracks in the United States this year were found to have been stimulated, the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau said Friday.

"Advanced methods of testing for stimulation may soon put this nuisance in a class with the ringer as a thing of the past," said Spencer Drayton, head of the TRPB.

Drayton said that for the first six months of 1951 some 4,776 races were run at Thoroughbred Racing Associations tracks and only three positive reactions were discovered.

Lindsay Blanks Cobourg Legion

LINDSAY, July 7.—Twirling a four-hitter, fastballer Doug Loucks blanked Cobourg Legion 4-0 here Friday night to tighten Lindsay Merchants' grip on first place in the Lakeshore Intermediate League.

The young ex-Peterborough flinger allowed only one visitor to reach third base and he spaced four scratch singles throughout the seven inning eight.

Veteran Max Smith was nicked for only seven hits, but doubles by portly Grant Wicket, Vic Jewell and Stu Hicks gave the homesters single tallies in every inning but the fourth and fifth. Youthful Chuck Harden opened the seventh with a single, but leftfielder Lou McTaggart grabbed manager Ross Sealand's pinch-hit bid for a Texas leaguer and doubled Stu Lingard at first to end the game.

It was the 10th win in 14 games for the Merchants and their first victory over the 1950 champion Legionnaires, who trail by a game and a half.

Fergus Downs The Petes In OLA Tussle

FERGUS, July 7 (Special)—The Petes lost a golden opportunity to take over first place alone in the OLA senior race here last night when Fergus Thistles pulled out an 11-10 victory over the Lumbermen. It leaves Peterborough and St. Catharines tied for top position, well up on Hamilton, Mimico, Brampton, Toronto and Fergus, in that order.

The visitors were minus a few regulars and they couldn't get untracked properly till the game was half over. Penalties also hurt their cause. The Thistles, on the other hand, struck hard and early to pile up a good lead. They battled to the finish to hold off a determined last-half drive by Don Crowe's squad, and Goalie Ralph Speck proved tough to beat in the home net. Moon Wootton also was solid in the hemp.

Play was fairly fast and quite rugged in spots, but not too many penalties were handed out, apart from the second quarter. These same two teams meet again tonight in league play on the Peterborough pitch. The Petes were minus Don Ashbee—under OLA suspension till July 10 at least—and Dootch Vitarelli, out with a sore leg.

Thistles led 4-2 in the first and had it 8-4 at the half, being in front 10-8 going into the urth. Jay Hill had four goals the Gears getting two each. Bob Thorpe and Ike Hildebrand hit the twine twice apiece for the Peterborough pack. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Wipper and Magee, centre, Powless; wings, Thorpe and Hildebrand; rover, Dugan; alternates, Fitzgerald, Pammett, Creighton, Mason, O'Hearn, Slater and Whitnell.

Out At The Kawartha

Thursday was an unsettled day as far as weather was concerned but it didn't keep earnest golfers from the fairways.

In the Ladies' Section, 18-hole players, Mrs. H. Woodcox was low net winner and was given a cup and saucer. Mrs. J. Cranfield was winner of the golf ball for the day competition of par threes. Mrs. L. Browne and Mrs. H. Woodcox were tied on this competition and were given a point each.

In the 9-hole players' section, Mrs. Wm. Nash won the low net competition and was credited with a point. Mrs. R. Payne and Mrs. H. Hamley won a cup and saucer and golf ball respectively.

Business Girls

Due to vacation and weather about thirty girls teed off at 5.30. The handicap competition is getting under way nicely and the committee in charge of handicaps will keep it moving along without holdups. The day competition was low score on hidden hole, which was No. 1 and as Roma Brindle had previously won a spoon, she was given a point and Audrey Allan, who was tie winner, was recipient of the sterling spoon.

Next Thursday, July 12, the Business Girls will be hosts to the men, members with tee-off time at 5.30 on both holes No. 1 and 10.

Petes Yank Out Close Win Over Staffs In Fine Game

The Petes kept three games ahead of the second-place Oshawa Merchants in the Viaduct Major League by edging Toronto Staffords 4-3 here last night before a good-sized crowd. It was a fine ball game and a tight fit for the Whitehill crew. They came from behind in the seventh to win out but had to stave off a ninth-inning drive by the Staffs who loaded the bases with one out. Lefty Bill Dadson then went in to relieve Bunny Maeson, who had pitched fair ball until then. Bill promptly put out the fire to leave three stranded. Altogether the visitors left 14 on the paths, with seven Petes dying on base. Jim Barnes went the route in fair fashion for the losers.

Good Fielding

Some neat fielding was seen in this contest as each side booted but one throughout. The visitors came up with a double-play on some odd base-running by the Petes as a man tried to score from third on a shallow infield pop. Fine catches were pulled off by Don Couch in centre for Staffords and by George Brabin in left and Andy Milne at third for the Petes. Freddy Garvey handled seven chances flawlessly.

Stocky Bill Huntley smashed out four for four to continue to lead the Petes at bat, and Bunny Maeson helped his cause a lot with two towering triples to drive in two runs. Huntley drove in the other two and took time out to steal three bases in a nifty showing. Andy Sheretko topped Staffs at bat with three for four, while Ralph Hosking was good for two in five trips.

Scored First

Staffords scored two runs in the second on singles by Sheretko and Barnes with two walks, a wild pitch, a sacrifice and a hit batsman all figuring in on the markers. The Petes got them right back in their half on a walk, Maeson's triple and a single by Huntley. Staffs took a 3-2 lead in the sixth when Bevington singled, took second on a hit by Couch, third on Barnes' sacrifice and came home on a squeeze play by Weir as smart ball was served up. The Petes won out with two in the seventh. Edger singled and stole, scoring then on Maeson's triple to left, the latter racing in shortly after when Huntley again blasted out a safe blow. With one out in the ninth, Hosking beat out a hit and Sheretko walked. Dadson went in then and Danes' pinch single filled the sacks, but Bill fanned pinch-hitter Ralley and Couch rolled out to first. Marines Gain Neat One Over Cobourg

Marines won 11-9 over the Pavs in Cobourg last evening, the locals replacing Westclox (on vacation) in this girls' softball game. M. White, who relieved J. Hart, pitched fine ball, a six-hit effort as eight went down on strikes. J. Davies went the route for Cobourg. I. Reed and A. Dufton went best in the field for them and M. Huffman had a nifty running catch. A. Dufton had two for five at bat, one a triple. M. Behan shone afield for Marines and J. Hart pulled off a running grab in the fifth. A. LaPlante came through with a perfect night at bat, smacking out a homer, triple and two doubles. M. Gillen also hit a homer. Teams:

Browns Nip Chicago 4-1 Splitting Doubleheader

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

How about Ned Garver for the American League starter in Tuesday's all-star game?

If St. Louis Brownie ace isn't all-star, nobody is. With 11 wins for a last place club he represents 50 per cent of St. Louis' 22 victories. Furthermore he beats the contenders.

Garver's 4-0 nod over Chicago in the second half of a twi-night doubleheader Friday night was his third over the White Sox this season. It was the second time inside a week he barred the Sox from the American League lead.

Bill Veeck celebrated the occasion of the Browns' first home game under his ownership with fireworks, free beer and soda and Garver. Ned saved the day for Bill after his Browns had lost the opener to Chicago, 4-3.

Of course, manager Casey Stengel of the American All-stars may be pretty impressed by Boston's Mel Parnell after Friday night's [illegible] Mel shut down the Yanks with nine hits 6-2, while the Red Sox routed Eddie Lopat. Dom DiMaggio's two-run homer and Clyde Vollmer's two-run triple were the chief wreckers.

Cling To Lead

Still the Yanks clung to the lead by seven percentage points with Boston only one game back and Cleveland a fast-closing fourth on Bobby Feller's 7-4 win over Detroit, his 12th.

Gil Hodges, Brooklyn's home-run happy first baseman, continued his attack on Babe Ruth's all-time record as he hit No. 28 in a 6-2 win over the Phillies. Hodges now is four games in front of Ruth's 1927 pace.

New York, reeling from three straight losses at Brooklyn, came up with four runs in the eighth inning to trip Boston 12-10 in a wild battle. The teams hit five home runs in the third inning to tie a major league record. Each club hit three homers in the game.

Giants Still Trail

As a result of Brooklyn's night win, the Giants still trail the Dodgers 7½ games. St. Louis Cards, 3-2 winners over Pittsburgh, are close behind, only one-half game back of New York.

Wally Westlake, the former Pirate, hit a triple and single to drive in two runs and scored the other one off Murry Dickson.

Feller needed relief help from Lou Brissie in the eighth to tuck away the Indians' 11th straight over the Tigers.

The Indians broke up a pitching duel with three in the seventh to disappoint Detroit's largest crowd of the year [illegible]

Washington cut loose with five runs after two were out in the eighth to rip Philadelphia 6-3. Sam Mele's single tied the score and a double by Sam Dente and single by Gene Verble clinched it.

Directors Deny Spain's Charge

TORONTO, July 7—(CP)—The board of directors of Barcelona Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd., Friday issued a statement made last month in a joint declaration of the Spanish Minister of Industry and the British Ambassador in Madrid, John Balfour.

Barcelona Traction was declared bankrupt by Spanish court order in 1948, on the ground that it was in arrears in bond interest. The company, in proceedings that still are going on, has claimed that the bonds interest was not paid because the Spanish government would not release the necessary foreign exchange.

The June statement, signed by the Spanish minister and British Ambassador, says that the report of a commission of experts which investigated the matter "threw into relief irregularities of all kinds in the behaviour of the companies." (Barcelona and subsidiaries).

Today's statement from Barcelona directors protests that the Spanish minister and British ambassador have not heard their side of the matter, and that they are ignorant of "the unspecified irregularities." They add that on the sole matter of complaint of which they have information, they enter categorical denial.

Mr. Lockington completed 36 years of service in Nassau as bridgekeeper, January 3, 1950. He moved to Peterborough in April of the same year.

He was born and educated in Nassau, son of the late William Lockington and Margaret MacNaughton. He started as bridgekeeper in 1914. Five years later he married the former Harriet Reid, daughter of the late Alexander Reid and Margaret Ann Johnston.

For the past two summers, Mr. Lockington has worked at the Kawartha Golf Club. He and his wife are members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and he is a member of LOL No. 457 Nassau.

Pioneer Lumberman Founded 2 Villages

MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

"Henry Fowlds, pioneer lumberman, and in a sense, founder of the villages of Westwood and Hastings, was one of a large number of enterprising men in the square timber business, who, in the years between 1847-1867, thinned the forests and swelled the export of this great staple to an enormous extent . . . . an immense amount of capital being invested every year in these operations." Poole, page 93.

Born in Kilbride, Scotland, November 27, 1790, Henry Fowlds was from boyhood possessed of an indomitable will and untiring energy—qualities which stood him in good stead in his chosen vocation, but which may have helped to earn him the sobriquet of "The Great Mogul" in township politics.

Married September 21, 1813 to Jean Marshall Steele, the first years of their life in Glasgow, where Henry Fowlds was employed in the grain trade, were saddened by the loss of their two eldest children—Eliza 1814—1815 and John 1816—1817. The third child, James Steele born in 1818, accompanied his parents to America and died at Hastings January 27, 1884.

At the end of the Napoleonic Wars, Europe, including the British Isles, had a depression. Crop failures in Great Britain made the distress acute and caused the government to take over the distribution of grain, and this resulted in the closing down of some firms. In 1820 Henry Fowlds decided to try and better his fortunes in the New World, so with his wife and son, left for London to arrange a pasage to New York, where they had some connections. In London in 1820 another son, Robert, was born. He died of a children's disease.

Depression In Europe

The year was one of unprecedented unrest in London, ending in the expulsion of Queen Caroline from the coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey by her estranged husband, King George IV. England was divided over this scandalous proceedings, and when the unhappy Queen died three weeks later, there was rioting and unrest. Long afterwards in Westwood, James Fowlds would tell his children of those exciting days when he was carried on his father's shoulder through the crowds to view the coronation procession.

On September 19, 1821 they set sail from Gravesend, and reached New York on December 7. Their first home was at 155 Chambers St., New York and there another daughter, Elizabeth Jean was born in 1822. She later came with her parents to Upper Canada, married John Sharpe and died in Toronto in 1900. In 1825 another son, Henry Martin, was born. He died in Hastings in 1907.

Owned Washington Square

By this time Henry Fowlds had succeeded in amassing considerable property in tenement houses in Greenwich Village. The city soon extended to the village and the buildings were torn down to form part of what is now Washington Square.

In the autumn of 1828, they moved to Swanton in Vermont, and there Henry Fowlds lost most of the small fortune he had accumulated. Swanton was noted for its quarries of beautiful dove-coloured marble, and it was in some such mining venture that he invested with disastrous results.

Swanton was also a centre of an anti-British community, and a few years later some of its citizens begged their governor and the government of the United States to aid the rebels in the Rebellion of Lower Canada. It became increasingly apparent that there could be no future in such an atmosphere for an alien. He did not like the Blue Laws of New England, and was thoroughly British in sentiment, so Henry Fowlds decided to move to Canada. Sometime early in 1835 the little family, increased by the addition of another son, William John, born in Swanton in 1829, (died at Hastings in 1896) set out on their journey north.

It is thought they landed in Prince Edward County where they may have stayed for a time, however they arrived in Marmora August 15, 1835, to find the only available accomodation in a log house near Lily Creek. This house was owned by a retired cavalry officer, Colonel Campion, who also had a tract of land and lived the life of an old country squire, with plenty of good horses to ride. He continued to dress in the manner to which he had been accustomed—knee breeches and shoes with silver buckles—rather than the dress of the backwoods. Long afterwards, his daughter, Mary Victoria, married Henry Martin Fowlds and came to live at The Maple, Hastings, where she died in March, 1913.

It may have been the newly discovered marble deposits around Marmora which attracted the attention of Henry Fowlds. But the discovery was made about the same time of a "mountain of iron ore" sufficient it was optimistically believed to supply the entire needs of British North America forever. Whether it was Richard Birdsall, an old friend of the Campions, who told Henry Fowlds about the newly surveyed townships along the Trent River and Rice Lake, is not known but the next move was made in March, 1836, when they "came down Rice Lake", to clear the east half of lot 14 Concession 2 of the Township of Asphodel for its owner, Captain Archibald MacDonald of Cobourg, who had it as a Crown grant. This is now the Garvey farm, just north of Westwood.

So far no mention has been made of the youngest member of the family, Theresa Almira, born in Marmora in October, 1835, and the only Canadian. The "pretty little blue-eyed child" died soon after they moved to their new home in Westwood in May, 1846, of 'spasmodic croup', casting a shadow over what should have been an occasion for great rejoicing.

Taking Out Timber

On Januray 8, 1838, Captain Richard Birdsall and Walter Scott were ordered to muster the Asphodel company of militia for the defence of Toronto against an expected attack by the followers of William Lyon MacKenzie. The men were marched to Peterborough where it is said the rebel had hoped for assistance from the Peter Robinson settlers. In this they were disappointed, for not a man joined them. The militiamen were billetted round for the night and paraded next morning when the best men were chosen —equipped with the scanty accoutrements of the pioneer militia and marched off to join the volunteers from the towns and townships along the Front. With them went Richard Birdsall's nephew, Buttle Hudson; 16-year-old Urton Hill, lot 6 Con. 4.; Arch. Fulton and Peter Anderson, lot 7 Con. 2.; and Thomas Buck, Jr. lot 19 Con. 16—all of Ashpodel. The remainder were allowed to return home.

Along with Henry Fowlds and his eldest son, James, when they were mustered, was Robert Harrison, 22, "living with H. Fowlds" on the east half of lot 14 in Con. 2. Mr. Harrison always seemed to know so much about my great-grandfather's life in those days, that I was glad to find out the reason from the original Muster Roll of 1838, signed by Capt. (Acting Major) Richard Birdsall, and now in the possession of his great-grandson, F. E. Birdsall. Mr. Harrison wrote an invaluable account of eary Asphodel for the Peterborough Review of Oct. 25 and 27, 1902 telling how Henry Fowlds had introduced the making of potash in the Westwood district, whereby the logs and timber were burned to make black salts, the basis of potash and pearlash—valuable staples worth about £5-0-0 per barrel and exported from all the lake towns. About the same time, the Harrisons cleared the driftwood from the Ouse River as far up as Walker's Mill. They also were the first to take out and float square timber from the forks of the Ouse down to the Trent.

In March, 1838, Henry Fowlds signed a contract to clear lot 1 Con. 2 of Asphodel for Richard Birdsall and its details are interesting;—

The arranged price was to be £3-10-0 an acre with a fine of five shillings for every acre not cleared by September. A third of the price was to be paid when a third of the task had been completed.

The land was to be cleared of all timber; and all underbrush of six inches and under—to be cut close to the ground. The fencing was to be "good and substantial", and as well laid as the adjoining fence in front of lot 1 Con. 1. where Richard Birdsall lived on the shore of Rice Lake. The fence was to be eight rails high—of rails 12 feet long—of pine, cedar or oak, with a six-foot corner, and either a stone or cedar block under each corner. The good standing timber was to be cut into" good and merchantable saw logs of usual length", to be piled not less than 4 logs high. Half the logs were to be the property of Mr. Birdsall and half "for the use, benefit and behoofe of the said Henry Fowlds" with permission to leave them there till the following March, or to remove them at any time.

Shantymen were choppers, hired at 2/6 a day; loggers with oxen at 7/6 and hewers of masts and square timber, who appear to have been paid a little more—since Louis and Joseph France got £5-0-0 monthly with board for working on the new mills in Westwood in 1843-4 and £6-0-0 for hewing and making masts. Henry Fowlds employed his sons, James and Henry at all these tasks and expected them to hold their own with the veteran woods' men, thereby teaching them how to manage men and oversee their work.

"Grub" in the shanty consisted of a good deal of whisky according to our present day standards, but almost a necessity for men who were often wet through for days and who all suffered from the prevalent Lake Fever, or ague or malaria; indeed James Fowlds' account of his "wellday"—every third day, sounds like the Terian Fever of the Mediterranean Sea, during the first War. Pork was a staple at £3-5-0 a bbl., flour was taken to Keene or Keeler's Mills and cost about 4½ d. a lb., beans cost 5/-a bushel, tea, 4/6 a lb., salt 2d. a lb. and tobacco, 1/3 a lb. This restricted diet was common to all setllers at that time, but every year more vegetables and fruits were being grown.

Apparently Henry Fowlds and Robert Harrison acted as sub-contractors for Dr. Gilchrist who had built a saw mill at Keene in 1825, and who, in addition to a large practice, had developed an extensive trade in lumber. In fact, this mill furnished much of the timber used in the construction of the first dam at Crooks' Rapids in 1837-8.

During the winter of 1839-40 they were employed in getting out a large quantity of red pine timber and taking it down to Lake Ontario—a distance of about 60 miles, a great part of which was very rapid. A dram of timber went the last 9 miles in 18½ minutes with from 6 to 17 men on it. It was then put in larger rafts and taken to Quebec for shipment to the old country. It was a dangerous business and young Henry M. Fowlds, then about 15, got badly hurt going over a falls at the head of the rapids in a bark canoe. Others went through on small cribs of timber except for a thorough ducking, however one man drowned.

The best account I have read of the rafting of timber and its transportation down the St. Lawrence is "The Saga of the St. Lawrence" by the late D. D. Calvin, whose grandfather established the well-known Garden Island firm of raftsmen, whose business was to take the timber that was brought down the various rivers and creeks north of Lake Ontario and rebuilt into cribs—3 floats and ten traverses went to a crib and several cribs when joined together formed a dram. But these terms seem to have been loosely used and crib and dram often meant the same thing. On a small scale the same procedure was followed along the inland rivers and lakes and men were busy along Rice Lake making floats and traverses and toggles—the various methods of fastening the sticks of timber together.

What Is A Christian Home? Have Homes Deteriorated?

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

My days of college debating are long gone by, but some time I should like to hear a good, old-fashioned, up-standing debate upon the question whether homes have improved, say from the days of our grandparents to our own.

It would be a distinctly debatable question, and I think the decision might rest ultimately upon the extent to which homes have been, and are, under definitely Christian influences. Of course such a debate would in some respects be unsatisfactory, for we should probably find that some homes are better, and others worse, than those of our fathers and grandfathers.

But generalization would none the less, have some value, for ideals, practices, and trends can be roughly appraised from generation to generation, with a resulting emphasis upon moral and social values, and a corresponding discovery of moral and social [illegible]

Home and family life has been at a very low ebb, as newspapers attest, in homes of some of the wealthy, as well as among the very poor. From outwardly poor homes, moreover, have come some of the contry's finest and ablest men and women.

But what of the average homes, of average people, of the good, church-going type—homes such as those in which many of my readers, like myself, were raised? I have formerly related how my father, a busy merchant, and a very hard-working one, no matter how great the pressure of the day, always found time to read a portion of the Scriptures and have prayer in the family circle—there were six of us—every morning, and often at night as well.

I am inclined to think that this was standard practice in many Christian homes, and I am equally inclined to think that it is a vanishing practice. I would not lightly conclude that because this is so, that life in such homes has deteriorated or is even less religious.

Conditions have changed, and this may account for the change, rather than any lack of Christian spirit and purpose. Family circles tend to be broken, especially in the morning, by the staggered hours at which the members hurry to work, or school.

Also, the organization and development of religious education, worship and instruction, of the sort formerly practiced in a Christion home, is now more centered in church, Sunday School, religious day schools, Bible classes and the various phases of organized religious education.

Nevertheless, one may question whether there has not been a distinct loss to homes and communities [illegible] er considerably wide practice of family prayer, and Bible reading. It is possible that I overestimate the extent of this practice in other homes in those bygone days.

I should like to know what others have to say!

Car Cracks Hydro Pole Starts Fire

5 Acres Grass Burn In Smith Township Auto Disappears

A car or truck cracked a hydro pole beginning a grass fire which swept nearly five acres of grassland on the third line of Smith township Friday. The vehicle disappeared.

The accident is believed to have happened shortly after the noon-hour. The car or truck went off the narrow road about 100 feet from the crest of a slight knoll. The right side of the vehicle hit the pole, snapping it off at the [illegible]

When hydro men arrived, only a rim off the headlight could be found.

The first indication of trouble along the line was at 3 p.m. when the hydro station at the Auburn dam was notified that power was off to several farmhouses in the vicinity of the Ross Dobbin station. A line crew was sent to the scene.

Wires Shorted

The fire started when the high voltage wire and the ground wire in the pole were shorted by the impact. It spread up the pole burning it for 15 feet then leaped same time began to catch the dry grass along the road.

The flames quickly spread through the dry grasses along the roadside for 150 feet then leaped the hill fences in various places into an open field. From there the fire raged across to a nearby swamp, burning everything on its way.

The Smith township fire department were called to assist the hydro men.

Plant Workers Win $300 Each For Ideas

More than $300 each was awarded to two CGE employees recently for suggestions. The two employees were Bob Whitesides of industrial control and Orville Braden of the punch press department.

Mr. Whitesides received a cheque for $340 for suggesting that a certain type of overload relay be manufactured at the Peterborough works in place of purchasing it from a vendor which will be cheaper and save space.

A cheque for $310 went to Mr. Braden for suggesting that 3/32 inch material be used in the manufacture of latches for fractional motors rather than ⅛ inch thickness in current use.

AT PERTH CONSOLE

John D. Hooper and family have moved from Peterborough to Perth where Mr. Hooper begins Sunday his professional career as musician, at the organ of the Anglican church in that town. Mr. Hooper was formerly engaged in the family confectionery business and was director of the Coventry Singers. While in Perth he will continued his advanced musical studies, carried on since the war under F. G. Mann in conjunction with McGill University.

More Safety

A liquor store and beer warehouse in Bobcaygeon will increase safety on the highways, is the new argument being used by the Bobcaygeon committee for government stores. They contend that if people can buy their supplies in the town, they won't be driving on the highway to other towns where they can buy it. Therefore, fewer cars on the highways and fewer accidents. The drys aren't impressed.

2 In Car Hurtle End Over End In Ditch, Hurt

BANCROFT, July 7 (ENS). — Two Wollaston Township men are in Bancroft Red Cross Hospital with minor concussion after an accident late Friday afternoon in which their car turned end over [illegible]

The accident was on the county road between Ormsby and Coe Hill, 180 miles north of Peterborough.

Charles Conlin, 16, was admitted to hospital in a semi-conscious condition. His companion, George Hennessy, 70, was less seriously injured.

Conlin was driving his father's car home from the Martin sawmill on the outskirts of Ormsby. He has only been driving about a week.

As both of them live in Wollaston Township, Conlin was giving his elderly workmate a ride home. A mile west of Ormsby, on the Coe Hill road, he lost control of the car. It twice turned end over end in the left ditch and came to rest on its side, 40 feet from where it left the shoulder of the road.

Dr. S. S. Lumb of Bancroft is attending the two men. OPP Constables George Lloyd and John Hawkins investigated.

Aluminum Theft Case Dismissed

COBOURG, July 7—(ENS)—Magistrate R. B. Baxter dismissed a joint charge of theft of aluminum cable against Orville Hannon of Cobourg and Edward Burtenshaw of Toronto. The preliminary hearing was held last week and resumed Friday. The last crown witness, Dr. Joselyn Rogers, was not available.

The pair were accused of theft of several reels of aluminum cable from the rural HEPC here on May 5. Identification evidence was very slight. A pair of pliers found in the room of the accused in a Toronto boarding house at the time of their arrest was examined in the RCMP laboratories at Ottawa and found to execute the same cutting marks on a sample piece of aluminum cable as those on the stolen cable, but this was the only definite evidence and by itself was not sufficient to warrant a commital for trial. J. C. M. German was defence counsel.

Hannon, however, was found guilty of theft of a stationary engineer's certificate and on this charge was sentenced to five months in the reformatory, consideration having been given to the fact that he had already spent more than a month in jail awaiting trial.

TURN SOD

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry will turn the sod Sunday at 3 p.m. for the new Separate school at Reid and Brock Sts. The building will be opened in September, 1952.

Louis Yeotes Visits Mother In Greek Home

"They think the world of Canada," said Louis Yeotes, 446 Gordon Ave., of the Greek people after a trip to Greece where he fulfilled a 20-year dream to see his mother again.

Mr. Yeotes explained that the people appreciate the help Canada has given in Greece's revival from the efforts of Second World War and its internal warfare since. They appreciate especially the help without sending Canadians over to supervise the work.

But the thrills and surprises presented by his native land could not compare with the joy of meeting his 92-year-old mother, Mrs. Tina Yeotes, once more.

Good Eyesight

His greatest surprise on the whole trip was to find that "she could see just as well as I can." Worried that such an elderly woman would be losing her eyesight, Mr. Yeotes took along several pairs of glasses, of varied strength, for his mother. These were distributed to other women who needed them.

Full of that certain special pride that a son has for his mother, Mr. Yeotes said, "She spoke to me just like as though I was a youngster, advising me and asking me to pray for her death, figuring that she has lived as long as anyone is entitled."

Probably his second joy of the trip was a visit to Salonika, "the greatest seaport in the Balkan States." There, said Mr. Yeotes, the youth of the Greek army is stationed "ready in any case."

Marshall Plan

Through the Marshall Plan, which has "done a great job," the Greek army is now "afraid of no one." Mr. Yeotes said that through the plan the army is fully-equipped, well-dressed and well-fed.

Although the Greek people are nervous of war, said Mr. Yeotes, they have "more confidence now with the equipment."

"They don't want war but if attackers come through they're ready."

He was greatly impressed by the expansion of Athens in the past 20 years. When he left there 20 years ago, the population was only 125,000 but since has enlarged to 1,500,000. The building program has been helped also by the Marshall plan.

Mr. Yeotes heard about and saw the plight of the Greeks along the northern border where food is scarce. There the Canadian ambassador and his wife to Greece have visited the worst places. They began the return trip to Canada on June 26, and when here will try to promote a program for assisting those people.

For a moment on his trip, when he changed $100 into 1,500,000 drahmas, Mr. Yeotes felt like a millionaire. But his feeling lasted only for a couple of hours because even that number of drahmas "doesn't go very far."

An over-all description was, "It was a wonderful trip."

Family Away, Fire Starts Destroys Most Furniture

Fire of unknown origin Friday afternoon caused $2,500 damage at the home of Sapper William Anderson and Mrs. Anderson, 731 McKellar St. The flames started in a rear bedroom of the six-room house and spread through the hall and up into the second floor. Bedding, and most of the furniture were destroyed. A bookcase was saved from the sitting room at the front of the building and so were a chesterfield and a chesterfield chair. All three were damaged by the blaze.

Mrs. Bernice Carey was living in the upstairs rooms with her three-year-old daughter Linda. The walls and doors by the landing at the top of the stairs were burned and the rooms will have to be redecorated.

The intense heat upstairs caused the paint to peel off doorways and furniture but flames did little damage.

No One Home

Nobody was home when the fire started. Mrs. Anderson was helping a neighbor across the street with some ironing and housework, and Mrs. Carey was just finishing work at Canadian Sealright Co.

Little Linda Carey was with Mrs. Anderson, and the two Anderson children — Alva, 7, and Bobby, 5—were partying next door to their home. Most of the neighborhood children were at the party given in honor of Marie McCarroll, 737 McKellar St., who was celebrating her eighth birthday.

The fun ended before the birthday cake was even cut, Mrs. W. E. Gaunt, who lives directly behind the Andersons on Gillespie St., stepped out of the McCarroll home and saw smoke pouring out of the bedroom window.

She shouted to the other women who were at the children's party that the Anderson home was on fire. And they informed Mrs. Anderson who was across the street.

Heard Fire Trucks

Mrs. Carey was at the Canadian Sealright Co. "open house" when she heard the fire trucks go by. She had just finished work and was preparing to enjoy herself at the anniversary celebration when she was informed of the fire.

A crowd of nearly 200 people soon gathered outside the house to watch the firemen fight the blaze. A ladder was put up to the second storey and the window was smashed to let out some of the smoke and the intense heat.

Another five minutes and the flames would have got through into the roof, firemen estimate.

Nothing was salvaged from the rear bedroom. Bed clothing, mattress and furniture were destroyed. The walls and the floor were charred.

The main sweep of the flames was from the bedroom through the hallway and through the ceiling into the second storey. A tentative estimate of damage is $2,500.

Berries Invade New Market

Strawberries, raspberries, blue berries, goose berries, red and black currents, all were on the farmers' market today on the George St. outdoor lot.

As strawberries were making their last appearance of the season at 40c a quart, raspberries were making their debut at 35c a pint or 60c a quart. Both types were not too plentiful.

Two stalls were loaded with freshly-picked blueberries. These went slow at first at 50c a quart, or $2.50 a basket.

Both reported that the berry crop is "not bad for just now" in blue berries, but warned that the increase in moisture has quickened the ripening period, the opposite to other years.

Goose berries were fairly plentiful at 25c and 30c a quart while red currants went slowly at 25c to 35c a quart. A quantity of black currants sold at 65c a quart.

Cherries were plentiful and were selling moderately fast throughout the morning from $1.25 to $1.50 a six-quart basket.

Flowers were mostly sold in bouquets, a few lilies and canterbury bells sold by the spike. Bouquets, a mixture of the early summer flowers, Sweet William, a few peonies and canterbury bells sold between 50 and 75c. The white lilies averaged 15c a stem

Flowers, colored by dye in water, were arranged in bouquets by a Hagersville, Southern Ontario farmer, and sold for 50c each.

Fresh vegetables went quickly. The prices averaged: new potatoes, 50c a six-quart; carrots, two bunches for 25c; beets, two for 15c; head lettuce, three for 25c; cabbage, 15c each or two for 25c; cukes, two for 15c; cauliflower, 2 for 15c; radishes, two for 15c; onions, two for 15c; peas, 25c a quart or $1 a six-quart basket; leaf lettuce, 10c each or two for 15c.

Eggs were 75c for Grade A large and 80c for Grade A extra large. Chickens were 55c and 60c a pound.

G. Coppaway Indian Chief Dies In Lake

Unable To Swim Drowns 30 Feet From Shoreline

George Henry Coppaway, 59, chief of the Mud Lake Band, Mississauga Indians, was drowned late Friday afternoon when his boat overturned in Buckhorn lake.

The chief, a non swimmer, drowned about 30 feet from shore within a stone's throw of his own dock at the Curve Lake Indian reserve. His body was recovered at 8.15 p.m.

Today the whole Indian reserve is in mourning for the man who has been their chief since 1946 [illegible] munity affairs for years before that.

A new chief will have to be elected, probably this September.

No Witnesses

There were no witnesses to the drowning. It is believed he stood up in the boat, lost his balance, and fell in as the craft rocked in the choppy water.

His body was recovered by OPP Constable Russell Pollard in 12 feet of water, 30 feet from shore and just southwest of his own boathouse.

Earlier in the afternoon he had been fishing for minnows in a large weed bed a couple of hundred feet offshore. Presumably he was returning to his own dock with his catch when the boat upset.

Saw Boat

First indication that anything was wrong was when his wife Lillian went down to the boathouse about 4 p.m. She noticed his overturned boat, with the motor still attached, 30 feet or so offshore. The boat was semi-submerged.

Mrs. Coppaway raised the alarm and soon some 20 boats, manned by other members of the Mud Lake band, began a search. A minnow tub and a minnow net were found on the bottom of the lake near where the boat foundered.

Proper dragging operations could not begin until provincial police arrived. Constable Pollard recovered the body in less than five minutes.

"His death is a great loss to the whole community." Allen Adams, supervisor of Indian affairs, said today. "It will be difficult to replace a man of his ability."

Mr. Adams, in a general tribute, laid particular stress on the strong sense of responsibility he had shown during his elected term as chief. He added that a new chief would probably be chosen this September.

Chief Coppaway succeeded the late Dan Whetung as head of the Mud Lake Band.

He was born in the reserve where he lived a lifetime. His father Alfred Coppaway, 83, is still a resident there. And his mother, the former Ellen Taylor, died only last year. She was noted throughout the district for her garden.

He also leaves his wife, the former Lillian Jacobs; five sons—Eldred, Aubrey, Edward, Wilson, and Jimmie, all of Curve Lake; a daughter, Rosemund; and four sisters—Mrs. George Henry Taylor (Esther), Mrs. George Sunday (Flora), both of Curve Lake, Mrs. Wesley Beaver (Clara), Alderville and Mrs. Percy Nichols (Luella), Peterborough. A brother Elwood lives at Curve Lake.

The body is resting at the residence where the funeral will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday, the Rev. Willard B. Day of Church-on-the-Rock, Burleigh Falls, officiating. Burial will be in Curve Lake cemetery.

Teach Adults To Swim In Pool

Adult swimming instruction on a large scale will be started for the first time in the city at the Lions Club swimming pool Monday.

These adult learn-to-swim classes will be exclusively for non-swimmers who did not receive the wide program of swimming instruction which is now carried on for children.

Registration for these classes will begin Monday and continue until the end of the week. The actual classes will begin on July 16. The classes for men will be held Tuesday and Thursdays and for women Monday and Wednesdays for the remainder of the summer.

Bill Lech, pool instructor, said today that the objective of the classes will be for every one who registers to be able to swim 50 feet. He believes that this can be achieved in three weeks or six lessons.

Service clubs and social and athletic clubs of industries in the city have been approached with details about this program in the hope that as many people as possible will know about this opportunity and take advantage of it.

A 45-POUND BABY

A two-year-old doe gave birth to a 45-pound fawn early today in the small cages of the Filtration Zoo Park. The boys that look after these things have posted a notice giving time of arrival, and so forth, and asking for suggestions for a suitable name. "Bambis are a dime a dozen," says superintendent Jim Harrison. "Here is a chance to use some originality. How about 'Dawn', or something like that?"

CHIEF GEORGE COPPAWAY

CPR Excursion Will Bring 2,000 To City

One of the largest picnics to ever come to Peterborough is expected here next Saturday when the Canadian Pacific Recreation Club, Toronto, stages its annual outing. Two special 15-car trains will pull into the depot at 10.00 a.m. and 10.20 a.m. bringing more than 2,000 excursionists to Peterborough and Nicholls Park.

At the station, buses will be on hand to take those who want to go directly to the park, but it is expected that many others will visit the business section of the city before going to the park for the afternoon sports' program.

The city has supplied three large tents and the CGE Pipe Band will be on hand for the afternoon. The program will consist of various sports events, and Mayor Max Swanston is expected to extend a welcome to the visitors.

The two trains are scheduled to leave the city for Toronto at 6.30 p.m. and 7.15 p.m.

Will Give Up Drink If Wife Stops Nagging

A nagging wife and a drinking husband aired their troubles in Lindsay police court on Friday. Before Magistrate E. A. Gee, a 57-year-old Pleasant Point man, who had been brought to court on the charge of threatening, stated that he would give up drinking if his wife would give up nagging.

"I'll see you in your coffin before the summer is out," was the statement allegedly made by the accused last Saturday when he attempted to take an ice box from the interior of the family dwelling to the verandah where he had set up estranged living quarters.

It was a confusing case all 'round. The accused had been living on the verandah since March while his wife occupied bedroom and kitchen. Nagging caused the accused to turn to drink, and separation under their own roof, evidence showed.

It was suggested by Crown Attorney Jordan, KC, that the accused sign a bond stating that he would keep the peace, stop drinking and support his wife, and that she would not get so agitated if she would refuse to listen to advice from neighbors.

J. C. Poolman Lays Off 30 Workers

No Orders To Fill Almost All Out Back Next Week

J. C. Poolman Manufacturing company, 551 Romaine St., laid off 30 girls (almost its full staff) this week due to a shortage of orders. The company which manufacturers children's clothing hopes to be back at full strength again in a week's time.

Gordon Pullman, co-owner, said Friday that the layoff was nothing to get excited about. He explained that the retailers early this year increased their orders from the usual 25 per cent on the [illegible] hoping that there would be a price increase. But that has failed to materialize.

Caused Rush

The change in buying this year caused a rush at the small factory during March, April, May and June. Until 15 days ago the plant was busy.

Mr. Poolman said that the recent weather has been unfavorable to selling the summer clothing for children. This has caused the retailers' stock to pile up, resulting in no additional orders being placed.

"Everyone is trying to cut their stocks down," he said.

On Tuesday morning the company was forced to lay off temporarily the girls on the staff, leaving only four men in the plant.

Christmas Orders

These workers, said Mr. Poolman, will be gradually brought back as the orders increase. He thought that production would be back to normal by Tuesday, July 10, when the Christmas orders will begin arriving.

This is the first time that the plant has closed due to shortage of orders. Other shutdowns in the past eight years have been due to cotton shortages.

Mr. Poolman said he understands that some Toronto and Montreal companies have been affected in a similar manner.

Summer's Approach Starts Dreams of Country Homes

With the approach of summer a great many city dwellers begin their annual dream of a "home in the country" and freedom from the ceaseless grind of the city and its elusive opportunities, smoke and confusion. Well and good. But at the risk of being labelled a "wet blanket," let's examine some of the more common problems you are likely to encounter.

First, will it provide that dreamed-of-security? For those of us who would like to work in town and live in the country, a good job in town and a good home in the country are likely to mean security and happiness — but should you lose your city income, simply having a home in the country will not necessarily provide a living. Bear in mind that like the city business, farming requires its own skills and specialized "know how" and also a sizeable investment in equipment.

On the other hand, the family in the country with a good garden, a family-sized flock of hens and perhaps a cow will have less difficulty in paying the grocery bill when temporary financial difficulties occur than they would if they lived in the city.

Through most of the year, driving from country to city is only a matter of miles and minutes. But after a winter snow storm—or spring thaw—you'll want chains and a good constitution to get by. While you can't expect to have paved roads right up to your doorstep, there's no point in choosing a location that's bound to become snowed-in during a good part of the winter. Unplowed bogs in the spring will soon sour even the most enthusiastic of us.

Another point to consider if you plan to live in the open country is the desirability of adding a second car to your budget for marketing and other necessary daytime trips while you are away for the day.

Country people judging a farm, place great importance on the water supply—and you'll soon find out why. In town you turn on a faucet with little or no consideration of the quantity used. In the country it's different—the supply is usually too easily exhausted. Without an adequate supply of water, a farm or country home can't operate.

No matter how attractive house and land may appear, don't take the owner's word for water supply. Always inquire among the neighbors whether the spring always flows or the well goes dry in summer drought periods. And, too, be sure to have the water analyzed for purity. Just because former owners have been drinking it for years is no guarantee of its purity.

If you find you'll have to dig a new well, figure a price and expect the worst. Wells get more expensive every foot they are dug or drilled. Check too on whether the water is hard or soft and how it tastes. Given a good water supply of course, an electric water system can be as automatic and give you the same dependable system as any municipal plant.

Only an experienced farmer can make use of big acreage—so don't overburden yourself with land. Do look with favor, however, on a good woodlot—it needs no care and will provide a fine firewood supply. Make sure you do have enough land to protect you from encroaching nuisances and enable you to keep your place attractive for possible resale, however remote you may look on this possibility at the moment.

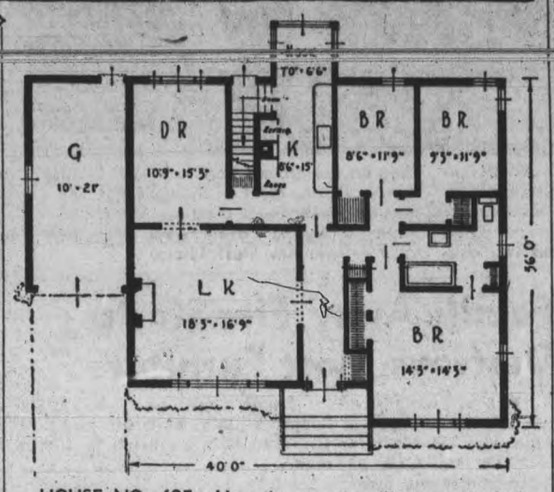
Fencing represents a considerable investment on a large tract of ground, so be quick to determine what replacements or repairs must be made—and which sections are the responsibility of your neighbors. New fencing may be obtained for around $3 a rod (15 feet), including labor, posts and wire—adding up to well over $1,000 for a square 50-acre tract.

Check on telephone and electricity—do they go right past your door or will they have to be brought in some distance? Be prepared to accept something a little less convenient than your city telephone — you'll likely find yourself sharing a line with a number of others. Check too on bus and train service—the availability of a taxi to town or railroad station—on delivery service for groceries, fuel, milk, bread, etc. Get all the information you can about schools—where they are located and what provision can be made for transportation if necessary.

The house may be an architect's dream but don't let yourself be carried away by appearance alone. Go over it carefully, appraising first its foundation. Many old houses are without proper footings under the walls and if poorly drained, the constant freezing and heaving may have left foundation walls in need of expensive repairs. If such is the case, you'll be wise to include a thorough water-proofing job, with weeping tiles around the outside of the foundation in addition to the actual repair of the walls. Check too for rotted beams, rafters and sills.

Be careful of chimneys that do not go down to the foundations—this fire-hazard has been the cause of destruction of a good many old farm houses. If built without flue linings, the burning of green wood soon builds up a coating of inflammable creosote.

Inside plumbing, adequate wiring and a modern kitchen should be regarded as just as important in the country as in the city. Maybe you'll be willing to put up with, perhaps even enjoy, some of the rustic inconveniences associated with the summer cottage—but their novelty will soon pall. Temperature will likely be a little lower than in the city, too, so make sure the heating system is adequate.



Gone will be your city twice-a-week collection of garbage. Find out who hauls away garbage in the vicinity—how much he will charge—and whether he'll take everything, including trash.

When buying city property, a person is apt to be most particular about the length and breadth of his purchase. When buying a farm however, do remember that soil has depth as well—it may vary from a few inches to over a foot. It's much cheaper to buy fertility in the land than in a fertilizer bag.

TIMBER WEALTH

Finland's timber industry exceeds in value that of any other European countr yexcept Russia.

Pool Room Vagrant Becomes Kitchener Chief Of Police

KITCHENER (CP).—A stranger picked up in a city pool room 11 years ago on a vagrancy charge now is Kitchener's chief constable.

John Patrick, now 36, was arrested by police officers serving under him in his present job as chief constable when the pool room proprietor reported there was a suspicious stranger hanging around. Patrick was hauled in and charged, but was released when he told his story to the deputy chief.

That was May 18, 1940, when the Ontario Attorney-General's Department was investigating the Kitchener police force. Patrick had been working as an undercover investigator for the criminal investigations branch, but was forced to publicly assume duties following his arrest.

In less than 10 years—Jan. 1, 1950—he had taken over as Kitchener's chief constable.

Patrick's police career started in January, 1935, when he landed a job as probationary constable with the Regina police force. He was 19 then, and six months later helped quell the "on-to-Ottawa" demonstration at the Regina market place.

Came East In 1938

He came to Toronto in 1938 and was a department store investigator until early 1940. During that time he became acquainted with Inspector W. H. Lougheed of the criminal investigations branch who brought him to Kitchener.

The 220-pound chief is keenly interested in sports, particularly as a means of combatting juvenile delinquency. His men, many of them former athletes, supervise baseball and hockey teams.

Patrick, himself, is a former athlete. He played football for the Regina Rough Riders in 1934, but a broken shoulder halted his playing career almost before it started. He is also interested in baseball, but gave up after he "beaned a guy and nearly killed him."

The chief has done much to streamline the force since he became chief. He formed the city's first traffic squad this year and recently reorganized the morality squad.

He permits officers to patrol in shirt-sleeves during the summer. New open-neck coats have replaced the old uncomfortable closed jackets.

Foreign-speaking citizens find Patrick an understanding chief. During his 16 years as a police officer he has been called on numerous times to interpret in court. Besides English, he can speak German, Czechoslovak, Polish and a smattering of French.

Aachen Church To Be Site For Pilgrimages

By HELGA BROCKHOFF

AACHEN, GERMANY, July 7 —(AP)—The devout are turning their footsteps to this ancient German city on the first pilgrimage in 14 years to the holy relics of Aachen Cathedral.

From July 8 to 22 thousands are expected to come to this cathedral where the Emperor Charlemagne is buried. They will seek four major relics: a cloak said to have been worn by the Virgin Mary, swaddling clothes and a loin cloth of Jesus and the decapitation hood of John The Baptist.

There are several lesser relics, among them belts of the Virgin Mary.

The most important relics are kept in a silver shrine embossed with figures of saints and scenes in the life of Jesus.

stored away during the war although the cathedral itself was damaged.

Charlemagne Relics

The relics of Charlemagne include an arm bone and a portion of skull. In one niche is a wedding dress given the cathedral in 1475 by Princess Margaret of York, wife of King Charles The Courageous. A century and a half later, a Spanish princess donated a cloak on which 40,000 pearls were embroidered.

The cathedral's collection also is notable for the Lothar Cross, given by the German Emperor Otto The Great in the 10th century. In 1929 the British National Museum reportedly offered £3,500,000 for it.

Each afternoon the holy relics will be displayed.

The octagon corner of the cathedral—its oldest section—will be reopened in a special ceremony. New windows have been fitted in the octagon, built about 800, which was damaged in the Second World War.

Space Requirements, Costs Key to Selection of House

The popularity of the 1½-storey house in Canada is closely associated with the search for a type of house which will give the greatest amount of livable floor space for the money available.

In a 1½-storey house the roof space, which is often unused in a bungalow or two-storey house, is utilized to provide one or two bedrooms. If a similar amount of space is provided in a bungalow, increased foundation, roof and exterior wall construction is necessary and building costs are substantially increased. However, single dwellings up to 900 square feet can best be provided in the one-storey plan. The economy of the 1½-storey house if of particular benefit to young couples since it can be designed to provide complete living accommodation on the first floor, leaving the upstairs unfinished. This reduces initial costs and, as additional funds are available, extra bedrooms can easily be provided by completing the second floor. A ground floor bedroom can then be used as a dining room.

In comparison with a two-storey dwelling, a 1½-storey storey house will prove less expensive providing the owner does not attempt to utilize in the second floor more than 75% of the ground floor area. When the percentage is greater, construction costs soon exceed the cost of a two-storey dwelling having the same area because expensive dormers and a general breaking up of the roof will be necessary.

No matter which type of house is built, the prospective home-owner should consider the economy of a design which is as close to a square as possible. This is easily explained by comparing a square and a rectangle which enclose the same area. The latter will have a greater perimeter and will therefore require greater excavation, foundation and roof

Mother Asked, Can I Help

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Can I help?" how often a small child asks this question as he watches mother or dad busy at some task. This eagerness to be of use is a precious thing. If a small child's offer of assistance is refused or postponed to some other day he will be less likely to want to help another time. Children don't like to be rebuffed any more than adults.

It does take time and patience to include a little boy or girl in performing some job. Dad can bring in the wood and light the stove faster all by himself than if he waits for Junior to collect his pile of sticks. Mother can mix muffins much more quickly if she does not stop to delegate the beating of the egg or the greasing of the tins to Mary... But how much Junior and Mary will miss not only in training to be contributing members in the work of a home, but in the sense of companionship and in the pride of achievement which a father-and-son or a mother--and-daughter completed job brings with it.

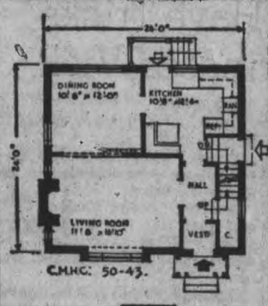
When a child wants to help if at all possible put the youngster to work then and there. See that daughter is properly clothed for the job—an apron on for baking. Make sure that your child has the right tools—such as a mixing bowl and beater to beat an egg. Then work alongside the child at your part of the job. If you must give more instructions or criticize the way the child is working, do it in a constructive kindly way. If a task is a little too difficult for a child or he is taking too long to do it, help him finish it. Don't take over the job and do it yourself.

The next time the child is helping delegate more responsibility and cut down on directions. If the child is old enough and keen about that particular task, work toward the time when the son or daughter can complete the task all by himself or herself. Use encouragement and show a child how to avoid making the same mistake twice. Be generous in your praise of a job well done.

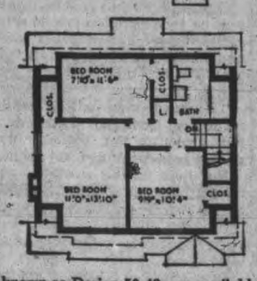
Sometimes in a home where there are older boys and girls at school, the youngsters have become more and more pre-occupied with their school work, their friends and their own interests and activities. They rarely ask "Can I Help?" Often mother, in a mistaken idea that she is being "good to the children," asks little or nothing from them in assistance in the work in the home. She may not realize it, but a house where mother does the children's beds, tidies up and picks up after them, is an excellent training ground for her son and daughter to become a selfish husband or a helpless wife in a few years time.

In the fair division of the work of the home, father, because he is away so much and can look on things with a more impartial view, should give some direction. Everyone, even a small child, should have some work to do A Family Council when father reviews all the work mother does each week is a good idea. In some homes each child is allowed to choose at the end of the week some job he likes to do which he will carry out the next week. The tasks that no one is likely to pick (such as washing the dishes) are written out on slips and rotated around so that each one has a turn.

Abraham Lincoln once said: "Wanting to work is so rare a merit that it should be encouraged."



What happens in your home when a child says "Can I Help?"



Giant Hay Stack

KEMPTVILLE — (CP). — A 69-inch stalk of timothy hay was found by T. J. Coppinger on his farm near here. Average height of the plant, used as horse and cattle feed, is three to four feet.

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

There is a clean-cut look about this one-and-a-half storey house with its simplicity of design and trim exterior suitable to any residential neighborhood.

Several features enhance the "living area" of this well-planned house. There is a large dining room and, in addition, space in the kitchen for a table and chairs or built-in nook which would be ideal for informal family snacks. This arrangement is particularly useful when small children have to have supper earlier than other members of the family.

Window space is arranged so that rooms are bright but there is enough open wall space for tasteful furniture arrangement. The open fireplace and built-in china cabinet are other interesting features which will add to the comfort and convenience of the house.

The second floor area is slightly smaller than the first floor area but this does not detract from the roominess of the three comfortable bedrooms and conveniently located bathroom.

The house is 24 feet by 26 feet and for estimating purposes the area of the first floor is 633 square feet and the second floor is 555 square feet. The cubic contents are 17,598 cubic feet.

Working drawings of this plan, known as Design 50-43, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

HALIFAX, July 7 —(CP) — Chairman M. B. Canada's Kiddies Pack Up Heading For Summer Camp

By The Canadian Press

It's summer camp time and Canada's children are heading for the hills. But a lake or river almost anywhere, if the hills are too far away, will do.

Through with schoolbooks until September, most of Canada's 4,200,000 boys and girls under the age of 16 yearn for a change of scene. Not all of them will get it, but for those who do, a supervised summer camp is a popular outlet for their restlessness.

The youngsters have a wide choice, a Canadian Press survey showed today. The padding in father's pocketbook apparently will be the deciding factor in the choice. Rates range from $1 a week to $60—and in Montreal, the youngsters can spend a day on Mount Royal for 10 cents.

Camp names vary as widely as the activities listed on their programs. There is Camp Chief Hector near Banff, Alta., and On-De-Da-Waks in Ontario. A camp in Manitoba offers an economics course in addition to the customary summer's activities of swimming, boating, fishing and all-round lazing.

Serious Objective

There is fun and sports at a summer camp, be it in the mountains of the east and west, the woodlands of northern Ontario, on the shores of innumerable lakes across the country or by the sea. But all camps have a serious objective, too: To turn out young Canadians proud of their country and fit to play a part in its building.

Many summer Bible camps are operated by churches. The sea, army and air cadets hold summer training camps. The Salvation Army and service clubs sponsor free camps for underprivileged children.

Organizations such as the Young Men's Christian Association, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides have permanent sites in every province. Like most camps, they teach handicraft, woodcraft and related subjects in between swimming periods, canoe trips and other sports activities.

Of the more than 100 camps in Ontario, the Young Women's Christian Association operates 20 day camps. The largest is in Hamilton on Lake Ontario and can accommodate 3,044 children.

Australian Woman Politician Would Like To Visit Canada

Written for The Canadian Press
By MARGARET ECKER FRANCIS

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Nancy Wake, doughty Australian woman politician, would like to visit Canada to see friends she made in France during the Second World War.

Running as a Liberal in the recent Australian federal election, she was defeated in a Sydney constituency by fewer than 300 votes after waging a hard fight against Dr. H. V. Evatt, the popular Labor leader.

"My dear, dear friends," she calls several dozen men of the Canadian army and RCAF whose lives she saved during the war.

New Zealand-born, Mrs. Wake was raised in Australia and went to Europe as a free lance journalist just before the war. She married a Frenchman, Henri Fiocca, and with hi mplunged into underground work when France fell. Fiocca was shot by the Nazis when captured, but his wife escaped and made her way to England for training in further underground work.

Later she returned to France by parachute to organize the trans-France escape route for captured Allied servicemen. More than 1,000 airmen alone were brought to safety by Mrs. Wake.

Favorite People

"A large number, I don't know how many, were Canadians, and they were among my favorite people," said the casual, tomboyish woman with a humorous twinkle in her grey eyes.

"Their letters urge me to go to Canada and visit them, and I'm going to soon. I can never thank them for the great contribution they made to freeing my adopted country."

She had trained in underground work in England with Canadians, "some of the bravest, most resourceful operators we had."

Dieppe Big Thrill

One of her most thrilling experiences resulted from the arrival of men who escaped the Germans at her underground depot.

"They reached my depot in the south of France even before we knew the attack on Dieppe had taken place. You have no idea how it boosted our morale in those days to know that at last the liberation was beginning."

Mrs. Wake has another reason for the visit she will soon make to Canada.

"I want to talk to women in politics there," she said. "From meeting people like Mrs. Tillie Rolston of Vancouver, member of the British Columbia Legislature, I realize that politically women have advanced further there than in Australia.

Too Lethargic

"Women here just won't realize that nothing will be done about the things they complain about unless they have government representation. They are lethargic. They feel men are far superior to them, so they sit back and let the men run everything. I want them to realize they too could play a part."

Mrs. Wake is a strong defender of democracy, with all its implications.

"From my life in France, I can realize what a threat there is to the free world today. If more women realized this, they would be willing to try to do all in their power to defend our system. From what I hear, women in Canada realize this more than do Australian women."

Journey Home Boosts Morale Of War Brides

By KAY REX

TORONTO—(CP)—It's important that war brides get home once in a while. That's why the Canadian War Brides Association was formed.

"Most of them like Canada and would never want to live any place else," says Mrs. L. A. Preston of Toronto, a member of the association executive. "Once they see home again, they are more satisfied to return to life in Canada."

Every time a British girl who married a Canadian in the Second World War heads home for a visit, she brings the CWBA a step closer to its objective; special rates for groups of war brdies going home to see their relatives.

"We could guarantee to fill the planes and steamships," says Mrs. Preston.

Many of the women were young girls when they came here as brides. They didn't fully realize how far they were going from their own people.

The association is a branch of the Federation of Trans-Atlantic Brides and Parents Associations, formed three years ago in Britain. In Canada there are between 5,000 and 6,000 active members of a potential 50,000.

Dominion-Wide Groups

The groups are scattered across the country. In each, members co-operate on such money-raising projects as bazaars, dinners, dances. Profits are divided among the women, to go toward the funds needed for that return visit to the homeland.

"We's not a philanthropic organization," explained Mrs. Preston.

However, where necessary, the groups have helped individual members.

The CWBA group in the Toronto area recently contributed toward the return fare of one of its members doomed to die of cancer. The British-born wife of a Canadian soldier lived at nearby Ajax. She wanted to go home to die.

Funds were raised to send her, her husband and three children to Britain. The young Englishwoman died the day after she reached home.

The Toronto group plans to publish a bulletin similar to the monthly pamphlets distributed from headquarters in England.

The British bulletin carries lists of parents coming to Canada and their destination. This is distributed to associations throughout the country. Similary, the Toronto bulletin probably will carry the names of war brides visiting in Britain.

Mrs. Preston says "quite a few" of the girls now are back home. Others plan a visit this autumn.

Shell Analysis Wins Degree

CAPETOWN (CP)—Miss A. C. Vos does not sew sea-shells on the sea-shore but she undertook the almost equally formidable task of analyzing egg shells — 55,000 of them—in her study and found it profitable.

The thesis she wrote on her studies won her a doctor of science degree at Stellenbosch University recently.

She analyzed the shells to see what effect poultry feed had on the shells of hen's eggs. She found that inherent factors affect the nature of the shells of hen's eggs more than anything placed in the poultry food.

And she did study sea-shells after all. She discovered that they increased the calcium value of eggs.

Weather May Have Tricks In Store For Princess' Visit

By The Canadian Press.

So a Canadian October means "cold, rain and snow" to the British. So Princess Elizabeth's choice of clothes is "bound to be" tweeds and woollen dresses.

Careful, there—the weatherman could have a few tricks up his sleeve. He might trot out some of them when Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh visit Canada next fall.

A London dispatch quoting British newspaper comments about the Royal couple's forthcoming trip—forecasting crisp, even, cold, weather suitable for heavy clothes—sent a reporter digging into 1950 weather records.

Remember last year? Ottawa had a high of 81 degrees Oct. 2. On the same date, Toronto thermometers climbed to 76. Montreal was almost as warm. Halifax registered between 67 and 74 degrees throughout the first week of October.

"Cold West"

The "cold west?" Regina had 73 degrees on Oct. 8.

Perhaps some lightweight garments should be included in the Royal wardrobe.

Another London account forecast that Her Royal Highness' styles will set the autumn and winter fashions for Canadian women.

That's doubtful. Her dresses will be seen here too late to affect styles. Canadian designers weeks and weeks ago set their fall fashions. They're now well into their winter planning.

The Royal visit will indeed influence Canadian fashions — but probably not before next spring, mid-winter at the earliest.

But back to the weather—perhaps a raincoat should be included in Princess Elizabeth's wardrobe. The British papers were right about rain in October on the west coast.

Last year's west-coast weather from Oct. 3 to Oct. 12: Rain.

Candlelight Wedding For Mary King-Arthur Wells

Choral music by the full choir highlighted the candlelight wedding in George St. United Church Friday evening of two of the choir members. Miss Mary Beatrice King and Mr. Arthur Frederick Wells were united in the ceremony performed by the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews.

The processional was "O Perfect Love," and as the bride came up the aisle the choir sang "Faithful and True" from the Lohengrin opera.

When the couple knelt at the altar after their marriage the Hebrew Benediction was sung, and while they were signing the register the group sang The Lord's Prayer.

The more than 50 choristers then formed a guard of honor outside the church as the bride and groom came out.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. King and was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wells, all of Peterborough.

Floral setting for the wedding was of pure white and pastel-shaded delphinium. The music was played by organist Mr. Charles E. Allen, who also arranged and directed the choral music.

A gown of white Swiss eyelet embroidered organdy over white faille taffeta, made on princess lines with Queen Anne neckline, was chosen by the lovely bride. She wore a fingertip veil of silk net with scalloped edge, caught to a halo of Swiss eyelet embroidery, and her cascade bouquet was of red Bettertime roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Frank Armstrong of Toronto, the groom's sister, was matron of honor, and Miss Yvonne King, the bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid. Their frocks were of apple green Swiss eyelet embroidered organdy and pink dotted organdy, worn over green and pink faille taffeta. They wore picture hats in matching colors and carried baskets of garden and field flowers.

Mr. Jack King, brother of the bride, attended the groom. Ushers were Jack Carew of Lindsay and William King Jr.

Elaborate decorating of the church basement where the reception took place was done by the choir, members of which also served the wedding refreshments.

Receiving with the bridal party, the bride's mother wore a gown of navy triple sheer and picture hat of navy straw, and her corsage was of pink Briarcliff roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore orchid moire satin with a white straw hat and had a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells have planned a wedding trip through Eastern Canada and United States. On return they will live in their new home at 977 Monaghan Rd.

The bride's going-away outfit was a black and white check sharkskin ensemble with red and white accessories and she wore a corsage of red roses.

DOROTHY DIX

Pre-Marriage Test Of Wife By Student Low Trick

DEAR MISS DIX I am a medical student, engaged to a wonderful girl. Now the talk around here is that girls who become engaged to medical students are strictly social climbers and we fellows have devised a test to weed out the parasites. In essence, the test is this: to inform the girl that you are giving up your studies and taking a job (such as clerk or teacher) so that you may be married right away, and see how she reacts.

Dorothy Dix

I do have an infinite amount of faith in the girl, but am fascinated by the test and intend to try it out. Probably I am doubtful of her loyalty because I was not very successful with girls until I became a medical student.

Don't tell me that this is a low trick; I know that, but I do want a wife who'll stick out the coming meager years without nagging and pushing. I have a strong conviction that love is based on character and what a person is—not on what he does. Do you think this is too harsh on the girl if she loves me?

JOHN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm glad at least you have the decency to realize that the plan you have in mind is a low trick! If you go through with this test, and your girl finds out about it, I hope she gives you your walking papers right quick. Just where do you get the idea, anyway, that medical students are such a catch? If you were as study medicine as you are now, I don't wonder you weren't too successful with girls.

What Can You Offer?

You sound as though you were bestowing the wealth of the Indies on your prospective bride. What, actually, are you offering her? As the wife of a young doctor she will have in addition to her own housework and family, the duties of an office nurse and secretary (presuming that you aren't wealthy enough to afford these luxuries). She will be expected to be quite active in the social life of the community—no one will want a doctor whose wife is too reserved to participate in such affairs. Everything about her must be above reproach: her house must be spotless, her clothes good but not flashy, her grooming perfect, and she must maintain an impartial attitude toward all. No one in town, with the exception of the minister's wife, is open to so much criticism as Mrs. Doctor, and believe me, it's no fun trying to please everyone.

Her sleep, of course, will be constantly broken by telephone calls and her days will be well occupied listening to the ailments, mostly imaginary, of all the women in town. And you expect to prove a girl's ability to do all this by a practical joke! You'd better turn your head over to a fellow student and have it examined!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Has a girl of 18 the right to go out once in a while with a decent boy? I have only gone to a dance once, but my parents object to it and think I have done a terrible thing. Am I wrong to want to have some pleasure and nice boy friends?

MARIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly not. It is the most natural thing in the world because you are at the playtime of life when you have a right to all the innocent fun you can get. Your parents should help you to have all the good times you can instead of trying to thwart you. For girlhood lasts such a little time and the cares of life come so soon upon a woman, and after she is married and settled down, no matter how happy and content she is, she still lacks the gay, carefree heart of youth.

There are queer things about parents. One is that it is so hard for them to realize that their children ever grow up and are entitled to any freedom or any lives of their own.

It is a pity that parents take this attitude toward their children because it not only makes so much unhappiness at home where there is constant friction between fathers and mothers who object to everything their children want to do, no matter how harmless it is, but also because it alienates children from their parents and drives them into lying and deceit.

It deprives the girls especially of so much protection they would have if their parents accepted the situation reasonably. The girl who can have her boy friends at home and whose father and mother make them welcome does not pick up boys on the street or at the corner drugstore, and her parents have a chance to know what sort of chaps they are.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a friend who has been going with a boy for two years. She has competition in his love for water sports. She doesn't share his enthusiasm for the water. He enjoys fishing trips, swimming and boating. When he fishes he leaves her waiting on the pier. What can she do? HARBOR LIGHT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Definitely her solution is to learn to fish, swim and row, herself, even though she thinks she has no enthusiasm for such things. Your friend could certainly have more dangerous competition than a fish, but none more engrossing. A man who wouldn't wait for his wife five minutes will spend hours on a pier waiting for a fish to bite. As a word of encouragement—enthusiasm for fishing is contagious and after your friend lands her first bass she'll be a follower of Izaak Walton for life. Tell her to try it!

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I have several jar rings (zinc or metal) that are used on the crown and corona jars (glass jars for preserving or canning). Several of these jar rings do not grip when screwed on jars. I have kept these rings thinking that they might be OK on other jars and find that they do not tighten up when tried out on other jars. I would like to know if I had better discard these rings. Mrs. Gordon C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: They have worn and stretched and will never fit the jars again, so save your storage space by throwing them away. You could never take a chance and use them on glass jars for they might permit spoilage. I was glad to hear from you again. It has been long time since you have written.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: This is the first time I have written to you. Would you mind sending me the calorie chart and would it be possible for you to give me a 7-day diet. I have very high blood pressure and as I'm very stout I'd like to lose some weight. I read your column all the time and your recipes help me very much. Thanking you in advance. Mrs. G. L.

6—In Memoriam

DAVIS—In loving memory of a dear friend Marjorie Davis who was taken from us so suddenly July 7, 1950.
Nothing can we take away,
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger day by day,
Remembrance keeps her near.
—Ever remembered by Hazel Jay, Whitby.

DAVIS & McCLAY—In loving memory of Robert and Marjorie Davis; also Stella, Charles and James McClay who were killed July 8, 1950.
The call was sudden, the shock severe
To loose those we loved so dear;
'Tis sweet to know we will meet again
Where troubles are no more.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad, sisters and brothers.

McQUARRIE—In loving memory of dear Allan who was killed in action July 8, 1944.
He paid the debt to his country.
In the fight for right he has won
And the King of Kings has spoken
"Thou faithful one, well done."
—Ever remembered by Mother, Father, sister and brothers, and his wife in England.

WEYER— In loving memory of our granddaughter, Marjorie Ann Weyer, who passed away July 8, 1946.
The depths of sorrow we can not tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well;
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Ever remembered by Grandma, Grandpa, Uncle Bob and Aunt Mary.

WEYER—In loving memory of our little girl, Marjorie Ann Weyer, who passed away four years ago today, July 8, 1946.
She was only a little white rosebud,
A sweet little flower from birth.
God took her home to heaven
Before she was soiled on earth.
—Sadly missed by mamma, daddy Raymond, Marion and Carolyn.

Trent Called

Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay be sufficient to justify its construction at an estimated cost of about $2,000,000? 11. Would the advantages of a canal connecting Peterborough with Trenton be sufficient to justify its construc-

$3,500,000?" From other questions asked, it was evident that the government hoped to levy tolls on traffic at least sufficient to defray annual upkeep expenses.

Testimony to Resources

M. M. Boyd of Bobcaygeon was a leading witness when the Commission visited Peterborough; he testified "The remaining forest products through this section of country are something enormous and difficult to estimate . . . I do not think it would be too much to say that from 3 to 4 million TONS from each of the dozens of townships would be made available . . ." He also mentioned the minerals of the northern areas, as well as lime, building stone and lithographic stone. In the meantime, work continued on the Balsam Lake-Lakefield section; for this section in 1887-90 the estimates included $271,400 for work, including $8500 for dredging, $19,000 for a dock and drydock at Bobcaygeon (completed 1890), and $5900 for landing piers at Lakefield and Buckhorn. The cost of Trent Canal construction up to July 1, 1867 (Confederation Day) was $309,371.31, and the cumulative total up to June 30, 1889, was $1,060,609.79.

The Commission presented a short report on Dec. 17, 1890, calling special attention to "the expensive class or character of the works upon the locks lately constructed at Burleigh, Lovesick, Buckhorn and Fenelon Falls . . . They suggest that locks of a class of work somewhat similar to those at Bobcaygeon, Young's Point and Peterborough would be sufficient for the purpose of this canal . . . The Commissioners are of the opinion that an extension of the main work should be undertaken by the completion, as soon as convenient and practicable, of the work necessary to give continuous navigation from Balsam Lake to the Bay of Quinte. This would embrace the sections between Lakefield and Peterborough and between Healy's Falls and Trenton. In the opinion of the Commissioners a waterway would thereby be made which would not only greatly increase the value of the works already constructed, but would assist and develop the industries along its route, and open up the resources of the country through which it would pass, to such an extent as to amply compensate for the expenditure necessary to be incurred although the work itself would not be expected to produce direct revenue . . ."

This partial scheme was received on the Kawarthas with something less than full enthusiasm, since it discouraged the cherished dream of a barge route bringing western grain through Peterborough, but at least it promised some action on the southern section. Prime Minister Macdonald in a letter of March 3, 1891, to D. R. Murphy of Trenton promised definitely "The Trent Valley Canal Commission having reported favorably on the completion of the scheme, Parliament will be asked in the estimates next session for a grant for the purpose." However, Macdonald died on June 6 following, and work was further delayed.

Market Makes Recovery During Week

By BILL DANIELS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prices rolled quietly upward on stock markets this week, making a recovery from the previous week's setback.

After turning lower two weeks ago, prices dipped sharply last week as Russia's peace bid was announced. A recovery began this week with prices climbing steadily but at no time showing any extreme upward rush.

Trading, however, was at its lowest pace of the year as the sluggish dealings of the previous 19 weeks continued. Outlook for the future was said to be fairly bright but the trading slump that began in mid-February was by no means over.

As the week started Canadian markets were celbrating the long Dominion Day weekend. In New York, mild buying support came into the market and prices posted a steady advance in quiet trading.

Take Lead

On Tuesday Canadian markets took the lead from New York and under selective buying most leading issues moved ahead. Montreal stayed fairly mixed, with papers and golds higher and utilities lower. In New York prices continued Monday's steady advance.

Wednesday it was the US market's turn for a holiday. Without New York direction Canadian investors hesitated to take a stand.

Volume of the Toronto Stock Exchange of 742,0000 shares was the least it had been since last Dec. 26. Prices on both Montreal and Toronto markets were mixed with small changes. Base metals made a little headway in Toronto.

New York traders came back to work on Thursday, and that market chalked up its sharpest advance of the year. Buying interest was spread over a broad front, and the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, in adding $1.70, showed its best increase since Dec. 27 last year.

Canadian market men did not pay much attention to the American upsurge and prices edged slowly ahead. In the final half hour, however, a buying spree developed, and by the close the Toronto industrial index had gained more than four points.

Continue Drive

Canadian markets continued their late upward drive, but at a much slower rate. Most price changes were limited to fractions and trading was dull. New York, on the other hand, finally met downward pressure.

The Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed for the week industrials up 8.0 at 173.51, golds .91 at 78.78, base metals 3.36 at 168.09 and western oils 2.07 at 103.04.

In the Montreal averages papers were up 23.36, industrials up 4.3 at 291.6, banks off 0.4 at 29.53, utilities off 0.2 at 74.9, combined up 2.8 at 174.7 and golds up 1.63 at 60.38.

In New York the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $2.90 at $90.90.

Royals Subdue Springfield In 7-5 Triumph

By The Associated Press.

With Montreal Royals running away with the pennant, interest in the International League has centred on the hot fight for the remaining playoff positions.

The Royals are roaring along 11 games in front of the runner-up Buffalo Bisons but Buffalo are only a half game in front of Syracuse Chiefs and Rochester Red Wings.

Jim Hughes, with help from Bill Voiselle Friday night pitched the Royals to their 13th straight victory over Springfield Cubs 7-5. Butsy Fiala sparked the Royal drive, knocking in three runs on a pair of singles. The triumph was Hughes' seventh without a loss.

The Wings nipped the Bisons 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Habenicht. Rochester scored all its runs in the second inning on a home run by Steve Bilko and Lou Ortiz's run-scoring single.

The victory moved the fourth-place Wings to within one percentage point of Syracuse.

Drop Decision

Syracuse dropped a 3-2 decision to Ottawa Giants. George Bamberger, staked to a 3-0 lead, faltered in the seventh and saved the game for him.

Johnny Hetki, the league's top winner, gained his 12th victory as Toronto Maple Leafs edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2. Home runs by Bobby Rhawn and John Ostrowski and Les Fleming's run-scoring single accounted for Toronto's runs. Marv Rickert poled a home run for the Orioles.

Ball Manager Suspended For 90 Days

NEW ORLEANS, July 7 (AP). —Southern Association president Charles Hurth today described his action in suspending Atlanta manager Dixie Walker for 90 playing days as dictated by the rules.

Walker drew the suspension and a $100 fine Friday for allowing his players to abuse an umpire.

Walker took news of his suspension hard.

Once the pride of Brooklyn, he played 15 years in the majors before drawing a fine.

The suspension grew out of a June 29 game against Mobile. Umpire Paul Roy called a Mobile player safe at home because he said Atlanta catcher Leroy Jarvis was obstructing the basepath.

"The Atlanta team almost to a man charged me," Roy said in his report to Hurth. "I repeatedly warned him (Walker) to get his men away from me and let the game get underway. Manager Walker, it seemed, lost all sense of reasoning."

Roy declared the game forfeited to Mobile after Atlanta players did not heed his order to play ball during the allotted time.

Declare Game Forfeited

The umpire may declare the game forfeited if a team does not take its position in one minute after the order "play ball" is given, under Southern Association rules.

The suspension deposes Walker as manager of the all-star team which plays Little Rock July 11. The Atlanta club drew a $300 fine which Hurth said was mandatory.

Hurth described Walker's suspension as coming under this penalty rule:

"The manager responsible for his team's refusal to play shall be subject to a fine . . . and suspension for a period of not less than 90 playing days."

Walker has ten days to appeal to the president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Veeck Gives Fans Free Beer And One Victory

ST. LOUIS, July 7 (AP). — After their first sample of Bill Veeck's flamboyant method of running a ball club, fans here are convinced there must be something to those stories they've heard about the new owner of the Browns.

The Browns' first action under their new owner, a twi-night doubleheader against the Chicago White Sox Friday night, drew 10,392 paying customers. That's a fair-sized crowd for the Browns, and Veeck didn't disappoint the fans.

There was a fireworks display, band music and free beer and soft drinks for all. Veeck helped personally to pass out the free drinks —lugging a bucket full of them to the bleachers.

This brought the customers to their feet, and they gave Veeck a noisy cheer. He was stopped time after time by autograph seekers as he passed out the drinks, and he signed for them all.

The Browns dropped the first game 4-3 but came back to win the second game 4-1 behind the pitching of Ned Garver.

Drink on House

Shortly after the second contest opened, an announcement from Veeck was broadcast over the public address system.

"As a tribute to the Browns' future success, let's all have a drink on the house," Veeck said.

Immediately after the doubleheader, the Shriners' clown band from nearby Springfield, Ill., toured the park in a truck blaring music.

Then the park lights were turned off for the big fireworks display.

It was the end of a busy day for Veeck, who took over ownership of the last-place American League club Thursday. He spent most of the day on long-distance telephone, trying to round up some player help for the Browns.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Owen Sound Mercurys, 1951 Allan Cup hockey champions, say they want no part of a grouping to which Toronto Marlboros are admitted. However, they would play against Marlboros—a major team — in exhibition contests which would not count in the standing.

This is the policy their representatives will put forward Monday night at a Toronto meeting that will decide the future of the Ontario Hockey Association Major and Senior A series. Hamilton, Kitchener, Niagara Falls, Brantford, Stratford, Chatham, Toronto and Owen Sound are expected to be represented.

It was suggested recently that the Marlboros, part of the Toronto Maple Leafs organization of the National Hockey League might enter the senior OHA league and that the two top teams would play off for the right to enter the major playoffs, while the rest of the clubs would battle for the right to go into the Allan Cup playoffs.

Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League will hold their annual tryout camp at Welland next week, from Tuesday to Thursday. Pirate scouts John Haddock, Frankie Pytlak, Bob Medline, Gardner Debo and Max Kaminsky will assist camp director Dick Fischer.

Fischer said youths from western New York State would take part in the tryouts as well as Canadians. He said he has sent 25 Canadian players into organized ball from Welland camp during the last five years.

The president of the minor leagues Friday said Bill Veeck, new owner of the St. Louis Browns, must sell either San Antonio or Oklahoma City of the Texas League before the two teams next meet.

President George Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball League said Veeck owned Oklahoma City of the Texas League before he acquired the Browns Thursday. With the Browns, Veeck also gets the San Antonio club as a farm.

At Long Beach, NY, Cesar Brion 194¾, Argentine heavyweight, won a unanimous eight-round decision over Keen Simmons, 203¾, Bayonne, NJ, in the eight-round feature bout Friday night.

Warren Wright, financier and owner of race horses, left an estate of $12,572,452 when he died last Dec. 28 at Miami Beach.

The appraisal of holdings filed Friday did not include the famed Calumet Farm at Lexington, Ky., nor his thoroughbreds topped by Citation, Coaltown and Bull Lea. Nor was his palatial ocean-front estate listed. It was held in the name of his widow, Mrs. Lucille Parker Wright.

Lawrence J. Skiddy, 59, sports editor of The Syracuse Herald-Journal, died Friday night in hospital after a four-week illness.

A native of Glens Falls, Skiddy began his newspaper career there as a reporter in 1908. After 10 years with the Times and the Glens Falls Post-Star he joined the Syracuse Herald.

Last year he was president of th International League Baseball Writers' Association.

Max Faulkner Captures British Open

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland, July 7 (AP) — Max Faulkner's five-year plan reached a successful culmination Friday when the 34-year-old Englishman won the British Open golf championship.

The methodical British Ryder Cup star set his sights on the British Open five years ago. A stickler for physical fitness he even spent one winter milking cows to strengthen his golfing hands.

And then he called on Henry Cotton, England's foremost pro and leading golf instructor, to straighten out the kinks in his game. Under Cotton's tutelage, Max sharpened every aspect of his play and became a dead-eye dick on the greens.

All of Faulkner's planning paid off Friday when he won the coveted title with a 72-hold score of 285. His score was the highest since 1937 but still it was good enough to best his nearest rival—Antonio Cerda of Argentina—by two strokes.

Faulkner went over par 72 only on his last round. He started out with a one-under 71, went around the next two times in two-under 70s and finished with a 74.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, wound up as the leading amateur for the third straight time, with a total of 295. In the over-all standings, Stranahan tied for 12th place.

The great Bobby Locke, seeking his third straight British Open crown, wound up with a 293 and a tie for sixth with four others. Locke's famous putting skill deserted him on the final round.

Predict Match Regular Event

NEW YORK, July 7 (CP). — An informal team match between Canadian and United States golfers that may become a regular event was announced today by the United States Golf Association.

The match, between members of the Royal Canadian Golf Association and the USGA, will be played at the Saucon Valley Country Club, Bethlehem, Pa., on Sept. 7. It will precede by three days the USGA amateur championship being held at Saucon Valley this year.

The USGA is inviting members of the 1951 US Walker Cup team, who can qualify for the amateur championship, to represent the US team.

Each side will be represented by nine players. The scoring system for the 18 holes in morning and afternoon play will be the same as in the Walker Cup series between the US and Britain—each match will count one point; a halved match will be scored as zero.

"The informal team match at Saucon Valley," the USGA said, "may be the forerunner of a series between the RCGA and the USGA. This possibility will be considered later by the two associations.

Census Enumerators Picnic At Round Lake

HAVELOCK, July 7 (ENS)—The census enumerators for Havelock, Norwood and district, with their families, held a basket picnic at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby, Sr., at Round Lake on Wednesday.

The rain curtailed the activities planned for the occasion, the dinner having to be held in the cottage. The afternoon was spent in the enjoyment of music and singing at a neighboring cottage.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann, of Trent River; Mr. and Mrs. William Aunger, Marmora township; Mr. and Mrs. E. N. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. W. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Charles McMillan and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen McMillan, Mrs. James McMillan, and Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby, Jr., and family, of Trent River.

Mrs. Gordon Warner Westwood Hostess

WESTWOOD, July 7—(ENS)—Mrs. Gordon Warner was hostess to the members of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society on Wednesday evening.

An interesting program on Trinidad was enjoyed under the leadership of Mrs. Ernest Warner. Mrs. James Clysdale told of the WMS work in Trinidad, and a reading, "Trinidad through the eyes of a visitor," was given by Mrs. Clayton Brackenridge. A reading, "What is in Thine hand?" by Mrs. E. Sargent, inspired the members to further missionary endeavour.

A letter of thanks for the bale sent to Italy was read from the supply secretary, Mrs. A. Milburn, of Peterborough.

Miss Jessie Davidson gave a reading, "Friendship Is Rich."

A hymn and prayer by Mrs. G. Warner brought the meeting to a close. A social time and lunch was served by the hostess.

Tom Gard's Note Book

My lawn roller never seems to be home. Possibly I should make another one — just to lend to people! Fooling aside, this borrowing tools and then forgetting to bring them back can be most annoying — and I'm not guiltless. I was all set to roll the area just spaded for late vetetables when I discovered it was missing. The predicament was finally settled by borrowing Herb's sleek "store" job. It gave me the idea of looking for a short, fat hot water tank and fixing up a handle attachment from inch water pipe. Its weight can be regulated by the amount of water used in the tank — quite an improvement on my present one filled with heavy concrete. Possibly that will be my first job when holidays are over.

Chintz Canopy

Here is a simple way to perk up your kitchen window, noticed while in the St. Thomas area. A light canopy was constructed from building board and fastened on the inside to the edge of the window frame. Bright chintz was sewn in the form of an awning to fit the frame and thumb tacked in place, with the tacks out of sight. It was most attractive. After repeated attempts to describe its construction to my usually bright "better half", I finally took the hint and built one. Now she will have to get busy and cover it.

While she is sewing the canopy, maybe I can talk her into covering the guest book I made out of a cigar box last spring. It's quite attractive in its natural finish but it will be even better covered with some of the drapery material that was left over.

Knick-Knack Shelf

If you want a small shelf for light keepsakes try your hand at making one from coat hangers. It will take a bit of patience to form the wire into the desired pattern but it can be done.

Fonda Learns US Audiences Differ Greatly

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 7 (AP) —Looking at the week's news:

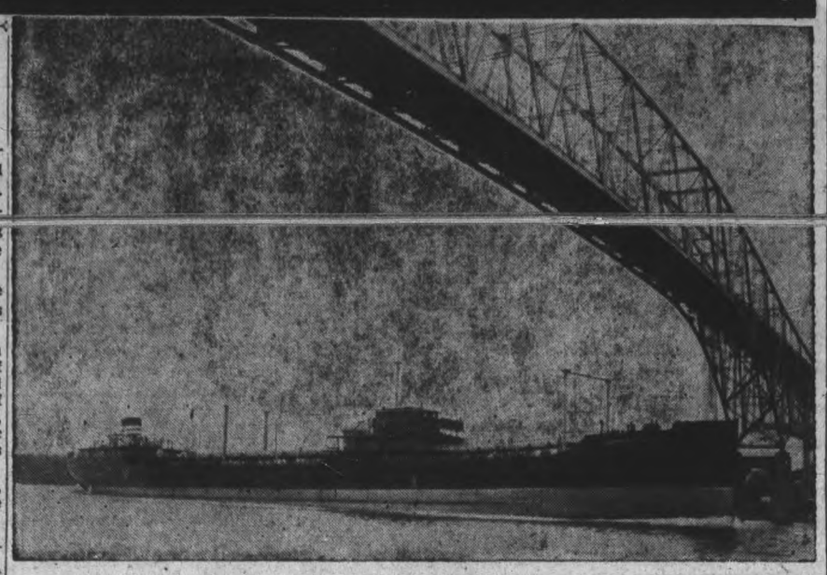
Henry Fonda gave out with some interesting observations of United States play audiences gained from his tour with "Mister Roberts" this year:

"It has been a great experience; I wouldn't have missed it for anything. One thing that has amazed me in how audiences will differ in various parts of the country.

"We were prepared for San Francisco. Everybody had told us what a great show town it was. But we didn't really expect it to be quite so great. The laughs for the show were as big as anything we ever got in New York.

"But then we came to Los Angeles. What a change! Usually we have a few moments to look at the other characters between laughs. But on opening night in L.A. the laughs were too short for that."

Korean Troubles



The impending Korean truce would catch a number of movie producers with their plots down. The peace would destroy the timeliness of the war films now being rushed to the cameras. But the projects will no doubt continue, since war pictures are generally big box office attractions.

On his return from his European tour, Bob Hope expressed amazement at his reception in Germany. When he was over there in 1948, few of the natives recognized him. On the last trip, he was followed by crowds. After a Berlin appearance, he was surrounded by 24 German newspaper reporters. Hope foresees a big future for Hollywood products in Germany.

A worker on "Warbonnet" claims it actually happened, but he doesn't expect anybody to believe him. During locations on an Inditian reservation, he asked a little Indian boy what he wanted to be when he grew up.

The young redskin replied: "A cowboy."

NIGHT SCENE AT SARNIA—Brilliantly-lit plant of Polymer Synthetic Rubber Corporation gives visitors the idea that Sarnia never sleeps. The multi-million-dollar plant at the south end of the industrial city cannot keep up with the demand for synthetic rubber. Production this year is expected to be 25 per cent higher than last year's 60,000 tons. Imperial Leduc—world's largest freshwater tanker—moves along the St. Clair River off Sarnia, en route to pick up Alberta crude oil at Superior, Wis., for Sarnia refineries. Oil and chemical industries make Sarnia one of Canada's busiest and fastest-growing cities. The Leduc is shown below the Blue Water International Bridge, with Port Huron, Mich., in the background.

Community Honors Warkworth Couple

WARKWORTH, July 7 (ENS)—A large gathering of friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King on Wednes- [illegible] prior to their leaving their farm for their new home at East Colborne.

The Rev. H. G. Lester, of the United Church in Warkworth. was master of ceremonies.

An address was read by Hayden Atkinson expressing the regret of the community on losing Mr. and Mrs. King. The presentation of a tri-light floor lamp, table lamp, electric iron and toaster, electric tea-kettle and smoker's stand, was made.

Mr. and Mrs. King each replied, thanking their friends for the lovely gifts.

Sarnia In Middle Of Great Expansion

By JACK GEARIN
Of The Sarnia Canadian Observer

SARNIA, July 7 — (CP) — The growth here in Canada's Chemical Valley stuns the imagination.

Spurred by the petroleum-chemical industry, the population has doubled in 10 years—rocketing from 17,991 in 1942 to 36,500 this year. Mayor W. C. Nelson predicts that another 10,000 to 15,000 will settle here in another 18 months.

More than $120,000,000 is to be spent this year on industrial and private construction projects—including $43,500,000 earmarked for the Big Three of the petro-chemical group — Imperial Oil Limited, Polymer Corporation and Dow Chemical.

But for anyone attracted by these astronomical figures, the average Sarnian has this advice: "Sarnia is in the midst of a vast industrial expansion—but please don't get the idea that everyone here drives a luxurious car, or that the streets are paved with gold."

They emphasize that grave civic problems go hand-in-hand with expansion and that the city is experiencing growing pains like Edmonton. In each city, oil is the foundation for the growth.

Needs Everything

Sarnia needs just about everything. Its schools are crowded. There is an urgent need for a $2,500,000 sewage disposal plant. The city is having trouble providing other services — water, streets, sidewalks, lighting, police and fire protection.

City fathers also cite the $43,000,000 Imperial - Polymer - Dow expansion as an example of expansion complexities.

Although thousands of construction workers will be needed temporarily, only 300 to 400 will be added permanently to the payrolls.

Sarnia has few millionaires, but the city's 10,663 workers had an average weekly wage of $60.28 last March 1 for the preceding four weeks.

Mayor Nelson says that available lands for industrial sites will be all grabbed up within five years.

What Are Attractions?

What makes Sarnia attractive to industry?

Integral water and rail connections mostly. On the St. Clair River near Lake Huron, Sarnia is adjacent to the greatest inland water transportation system in the world—the Great Lake shipping route, which handles more shipping in its eight-month season than the Suez, Kiel and Panama canals combined in 12 months.

Sarnia's expansion started when the Japanese invasion of Malaya during the Second World War cut off supplies of natural rubber. The Dominion government set up a Polymer Corporation to make synthetic rubber. This year it will produce 120,000,000 pounds worth $829,400,000. But this will not meet the demand, so $7,500,000 will be expended to increase production 25 per cent.

Imperial, Polymer and Dow are known as the "I-P-D" group. They also form the lifeline for a sprawling network of industrial enterprises known as Chemical Valley extending south from the city proper for about three miles.

The "I-P-D" group has a payroll of 4,500 and favors Sarnia because it has unusual quantities of the petro-chemical industry's three main ingredients—refined oil, salt and water.

Co-operative Effort

Imperial sells light hydrocarbons to Polymer which, in turn, sells surplus steam to Imperial. Polymer markets surplus ethylene and stylene to Dow which also buys surplus power from Polymer. Dow uses hydrocarbons intermediates from Polymer to make ethylene glycol which is used in anti-freeze and to provide material for plastic articles.

Imperial refines 55,000 barrels of oil daily. With a $14,000,000 refinery expansion this year, production will be increased to 77,000 barrels. This year it began using Alberta crude oil for the first time.

Dow Chemical came here at the request of the Canadian government to share its "know how" with Polymer. Dow produces a chemical essential in the production of synthetic rubber. The plant stands atop a mountain of salt [illegible] fluid forms from depths of 1,500 feet.

Imperial hopes to start operation of a new oil products line from Sarnia next year. To deliver gasoline, diesel and furnace fuels and gas oils to terminals in London, Hamilton, and Toronto.

Nobody seems to know how much the "I-P-D" group has invested in Sarnia, but the figures would probably top the $100,000,000 mark.

Expect New Firms

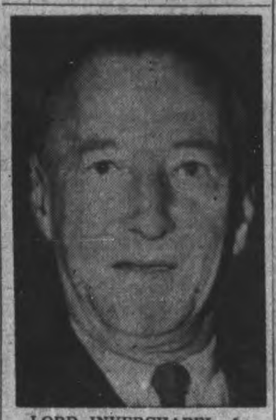
Several new firms are expected to open plants here within the next few months, but some may be delayed because of steel restrictions.

General Tire, of the US, is awaiting materials to build a $5,000,000 rubber plant. Canadian Oil Company is constructing an $18,000,000 plant, with completion scheduled for sometime in 1952.

Unconfirmed reports persist that Premier Pulp and Paper Company, of Toronto, is conducting ground work for the construction of a $7,000,000 groundwood pulp mill at nearby Point Edward.

Sun Oil Company has purchased and leased about 200 acres for the construction of a $20,000,000 refinery if permission of the US government can be obtained to bring a petroleum refinery from Toledo.

The city boosted its area by five times this year when it annexed 9,500 acres from adjoining Sarnia township. This added 8,241 to the population.



Schools Overcrowded

Schools are overcrowded. Seven public schools have a total attendance of more than 2,500, while total attendance at the high school is over 1,200. Six Roman Catholic separate schools have 800 pupils. More than 1,250 homes have been built in the last nine years, but the number is insufficient.

Sarnians are incensed to see people come here with high hopes, only to find that jobs aren't always easy to get. Many have to sleep in their cars because of lack of accommodation. They blame this on sensational and misleading publicity, mainly in US publications, and on too-frequent use of the term "boom-town."

Sarnia owes its prosperity to oil. It got its first link with the industry when North America's first oil discovery was made at Petrolia, 16 miles to the southeast, in 1857. Not far from Petrolia are the fabulous old oil wells of Oil Springs and Oil City—long since pumped nearly dry.

The Rev. Joseph de la Roche [illegible] missionary, was the first white man known to have visited the site of the bustling city. That was in 1625 and he called it: "The most beautiful of all the countries of Canada."

Use More Electricity

TORONTO, July 7 (CP).—Use of electricity in Southern Ontario continues to mount. The Ontario Hydro Commission said Friday that power demands were 18.2 per cent. higher during the week ending July 1 than during the same week last year, while 26 per cent. more power was generated.

No Milk Price Set

TORONTO, July 7 (CP).—Without setting a new retail milk price for the Toronto area, the Ontario Milk Control Board adjourned Friday until Monday. The price now is 20½ cents a quart delivered, 20 cents in stores. The dairies seek a price of 21 cents for delivered milk.

Costly Bug War

OTTAWA, July 7 (CP).—With the insect season in full swing, the Bureau of Statistics Friday reported that Canadians spent more than $15,427,000 last year to fight bugs, weeds and germs. This was a gain of 8.5 per cent. over 1949.

NZ Divides Pay Of Idle Dockers Among Soldiers

By J. C. GRAHAM

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — (CP) — One of the major problems when New Zealand's long waterfront strike is settled will be the division of the money earned by servicemen.

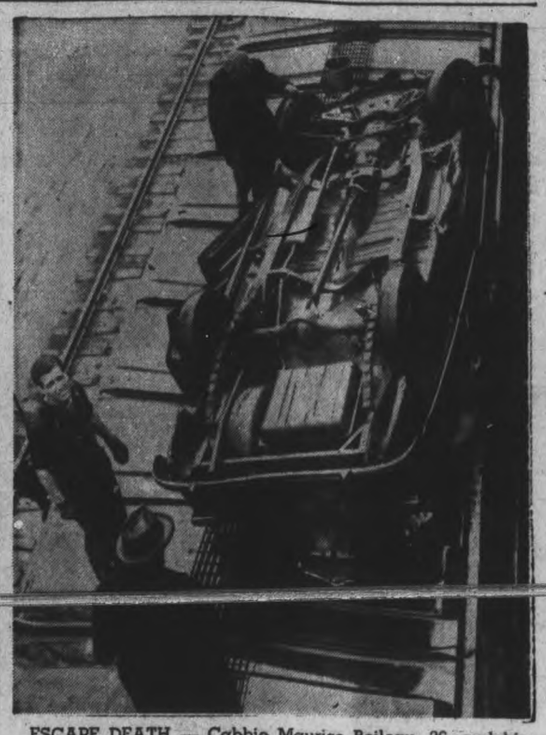
For nearly three months thousands of men of the army, navy and air force have been working at the docks in place of the striking longshoremen. They have also manned coastal ships instead of seamen striking in sympathy with the longshoremen.

It is estimated the servicemen have done work which would have cost the employers about $1,200,000 to civilian workers. The servicemen are drawing their normal pay, but the employers are also being obliged to pay normal wages for the work into a fund.

The government has announced that distribution of this money will be decided when the strike is over. It has said unequivocally that the money belongs to the services and will not be used to offset defence costs. The problem is how it is to be split up. One suggestion is that it should be used to establish service hostels and clubs in the cities, but most of the men themselves appear to favor direct distribution in cash.

Other Problems

Here again problems occur. The defence establishment has had to be maintained and many men not actually working on the waterfront have had to do the work of two or three men to allow others to be released for dock work. There is wide support for splitting the money up agong all servicemen. The question arises whether the unit in Korea, which is most active of all in fighting Communism, should be included.



The government will consult with service representatives before taking any decision. Meanwhile the employers are paying out the money glady for the servicemen are in many cases getting through at least twice as much work in a day as the striking longshoremen.

In Good Condition

CHATHAM, July 7 (CP).—Neil Merritt, 19, sole survivor of the car-train crash west of Blenheim, May 12, which claimed the lives of six district young people, came home Friday in good condition. Neil, who lost a brother, Bill, in the accident, suffered right arm and head injuries, and a broken leg. Doctors at the General Hospital held little hope for his survival when he was brought in.

Provincial Leader

WINNIPEG, July 7 (CP).—William Scottie Bruce, CCF member of Parliament for Selkirk, Friday was elected provincial leader of the CCF at the annual convention of the party's Manitoba section. He succeeds E. A. Hansford, member of the Manitoba Legislature for St. Boniface, who resigned Friday.

ESCAPE DEATH — Cabbie Maurice Boileau, 36, and his fare, Roger Gentleman, 20, received painful but not serious injuries recently when their cab went out of control and plunged 35 feet off Notre Dame st., into the CPR Viger station freight yard in Montreal. Police said Boileau told them he had been cut off by a trailer truck and went into a skid. Cab is shown as it landed wheels-up on top of a freight car.

Travel Ban Eased

VICTORIA, BC, July 7 (CP).—The British Columbia forest service Friday lifted its ban on woods travel and on restricted woods operations by logging companies. The service said it was dropping the ban because of cooler weather, but added it might be reimposed if the weather again became hot. There were still 37 forest fires burning today throughout the province, all under control.

Truce Conference No Guarantee Of Peace-Ridgway

SEOUL, Korea, July 9. (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned tonight there is no real guarantee that peace in Korea will come from the armistice negotiations opening on Tuesday in Kaesong. With the start of the cease-fire talks only four hours away, Ridgway said: "Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance, and we haven't come to [illegible] Agreement on an armistice must precede a cessation of hostilities."

The supreme commander was addressing correspondents on news coverage of the full-scale negotiations.

He disclosed that he personally selected the five United Nations peace envoys and that he reserved the right "to change the delegates at any time."

Go To Peace Camp

Earlier Monday Ridgway flew to Seoul from Tokyo with three of his envoys. Shortly thereafter they travelled by light planes to the advanced "peace camp" near Munsan, where the other two members of the delegation were waiting.

Ridgway gave his envoys their final instructions, then returned to Seoul.

The peace camp is only a few minutes by air from Kaesong, the ancient capital where an end may be found for the Korean war, now in its 55th week.

The talks probably will begin about 10 am Tuesday (8 pm Monday, EDT).

Keep Available

The supreme commander will keep himself available during the talks.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief Allied delegate, will confer with Ridgway at the end of each day's sessin. Joy is commander, US naval forces in Korean waters.

Other Allied representatives are Maj.-Gen. L. C. Craigie, US air force; Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, deputy chief of staff, US Eighth Army; Rear-Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, US navy, and Maj.-Gen. Sun Yup, South Korean Army.

Joy, Craigie and Burke accompanied Ridgway from Tokyo to Seoul in the supreme commander's plane.

Paik, commanding general of the South Korean 1st Army Corps, arrived early Monday. He conferred with Hodes, then went on to Munsan.

Communist representatives at Kaesong will be Gen. Hsier Fang and Gen. Tung Hua of the Chinese Army, and Gen. Nam Il and Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho of the North Korean forces.

Groundwork for the armistice talks was laid Sunday, also at Kaesong.

Liaison groups representing both sides held a stiffly formal meeting in a once-palatial home in the Red-held city.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney, US air force, who headed the UN delegation Sunday, said the preliminary meeting was a "100 per cent success."

Birth Control For India Nehru Proposal

NEW DELHI, July 9 (AP)—A special commission headed by Prime Minister Nehru announced today its recommendations for a five-year plan to give India economic and social stability. It includes proposals for birth control to cut India's vast population growth and so ease recurring food shortages.

The commission, which worked since March, 1950, to produce the 344-page report, proposes the spending of 17,930,000,000 rupees ($3,765,300,000) to spur India's advance toward betterment of her agricultural and industrial position and her national standard of living. The report now is thrown open to discussion before preparation of the final framework on which the economic structure will be based for the next five years.

The report recommended, as a means of curbing the population growth—the increase is estimated at 5,000,000 a year—that the state province facilities for sterilization or the giving of contraceptive advice on medical grounds.

Not Temporary Problem

"India's food problem is not a temporary disequilibrium between suply and demand—it is a manifestation of the continually growing pressure of the population on the food supply," the report said. "It has therefore to be resolved not through short-term expedients but through careful and sustained application of relatively long-term measures."

India's population in 1941 was nearly 300,000,000. The report estimates that it will be 383,000,000 in 1956 at the present rate of growth.

Neither the Hindu nor the Moslem religions prohibit birth control but many of India's people oppose it, for superstitious or other reasons.

Ex-Tiger Star Heilmann Dies

DETROIT, July 9 (AP) — Harry Edwin Heilmann, former Detroit Tiger great and broadcaster of Tiger games for 17 years, died today.

Heilmann, 56, started for Detroit Tigers from 1914 to 1929 and later played the outfield for Cincinnati Reds.

He won the American League batting championship in 1921, 1923, 1925 and 1927.

The six foot one-inch right-fielder, born in San Francisco, blazed to his best year in 1923 with a .403 average. In 1921 he batted .394; 1925, .393; and 1927, .398.

He built up a great following among Michigan radio fans. This spring he was sent to hospital during spring training at Lakeland, Fla., in March.

Dewey Pays Visit To Canadian Hdqts.

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, Korea, July 9 (CP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York briefly visited Brig. J. M. Rockingham's 25th brigade headquarters today during a tour of Korea.

Fighter planes protecting the light aircraft flying his party used the Canadian airstrip to fit the call into his whirlwind round.

As he posed with Canadian staff officers, each presented to the governor by Brig. Rockingham, Dewey observed that he felt at home—almost everyone had a moustache. The photographers had a great time matching his against that of Capt. Tom Owen of Montreal.

Too Many In Office Fine Limerick Mayor

LIMERICK, Republic of Ireland, July 9—(AP)—The mayor of Limerick was fined £4 today for letting too many horse players crowd into the betting office he operates.

"If you don't take better precautions," the judge cautioned Mayor Steve Coughlan, "you will lose your licence."

Say Princess To Sail September 25

Will Start Tour From Quebec As King Did In '39

LONDON, July 9. (Reuters) —Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will sail Sept. 25 for a visit to Canada, it was announced today. The Royal couple will sail from Liverpool aboard the Empress of France for Quebec.

They thus will start their tour at the same historic old port where the King and Queen embarked on their Royal tour of Canada in May of 1939.

The Canadian Pacific Railways Empress of France was formerly named the Duchess of Bedford.

Draft Itinerary

The Princess and the Duke will tour principal centres of Canada from coast to coast during October, it was announced last week.

The Duke of Edinburgh, at present commanding the frigate Magpie in the Mediterranean, is due shortly to hand over his command. He will fly back to England July 21.

Officials here now are engaged in drafting a tentative intinerary for their visit and expect to hand it to the cabinet within a day or so. Once approved in Ottawa, it will be sent to the United Kingdom for consideration by the Princess herself.

Tries To Get Oar Youth 20, Drowns

BELLEVILLE, July 9 (CP). — Frank Hazzard, 20, of Plainfield was drowned in the Bay of Quinte Sunday when he swam from a punt to retrieve a lost oar. A girl who was with him said that he reached the oar and then disappeared as if seized with a cramp. The body had not been recovered late Sunday.

Canada Sets Up 15 Radar Units

OTTAWA, July 9 — (CP) — Canada is setting up more than 15 reserve RCAF radar units from coast to coast to train men and women in the complexities of detecting enemy aircraft.

They are called reserve aircraft control and warning units and are shaping up as an important part of the expanding effort to build a network of fighter squadrons, radar stations and communications facilities to defend Canada from air attack.

These part-time servicemen already number in the hundreds and in the fall recruiting will be expanded to take in women. From their ranks would come the trained people necessary in considerable numbers if war comes.

In peace, it is hoped many of them will eventually join the swelling ranks of regular force radar personnel as the latter prepare to take over the stations [illegible] from the joint Canadian-American early-warning networks.

Reserve units have been established at Halifax, Quebec City, Sherbrooke, Ste. Anne De Bellevue, Que., Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. Another is being formed at London and more are planned.

Strike Cripples 10 Hospitals

MINNEAPOLIS, July 9 (AP)— The strike of non-professional workers at 10 Minneapolis hospitals flared beyond the name-calling and jostling stage Saturday.

An intern was "roughed up" as he tried to assist two girl volunteers through picket lines at one hospital.

Roofing tiles and tacks were strewn in the driveways of at least three hospitals.

At St. Mary's Hos[illegible] were pulled off nuns who came out of the building to escort non-strikers through the lines.

Brakeless Truck On Steep Mountain Road Piles Up Score Of 4 Dead, 11 Cars Damaged

WURTSBORO, NY, July 9. (AP) — A steep Catskill mountain road Sunday became a mile-long bowling alley in which a careening, brakeless, 30-ton trailer truck crashed into 11 automobiles.

Four persons died and 16 were hurt, two critically, in the flaming wreckage.

The driver of the truck, Marsdon H. Reese, Jr., 28, of Bayonne, NJ, miraculously escaped injury. Five hours after the accident he was charged with criminal negligence and held in $5,000 bail.

Police said many of the deaths and injuries were due to flames that enveloped the truck and at least four of the cars.

The truck was loaded with highly-inflammable propane gas in cylinders. But it was the big vehicle's fuel supply, and not the propane, that caught fire as it sideswiped the first of a long line of passenger cars.

ENGINE, COAL TENDER AND THREE CARS of the CPR Havelock-Bobcaygeon mixed freight run were derailed today about 10 a.m., a few hundred yards east of the Trent Canal railway swing bridge, near Rogers St. The derailment was believed to have been caused when an automatic derailer switch, operated from the bridge control tower, was engaged in error. Engineer Frank Mackay of Havelock and fireman B. L. Nicholas of Campbellford, received minor scratches while brakeman P. L. Sheridan, Havelock, also riding the engine cab, went unscathed. Canada To End State Of War With Germany

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP).—Canada will formally end the state of war between herself and Germany Tuesday or shortly after, authorities said today.

The cabinet is expected to pass an order-in-council authorizing publication in the official Canada Gazette of proclamation formally ending a war which began in September, 1939, took 42,000 Canadian lives and cost this country billions of dollars.

Soon after that action Canada and the West German Republic will move to re-establish full diplomatic relations. Hon. T. C. Davis, the Saskatchewan judge who now is head of the Canadian mission at Bonn, will assume the title of Ambassador.

In Ottawa, Dr. Werner Dankwort, now Consul-General is expected to become the first post-war German Ambassador to Canada. He has been here for some weeks.

Follows Allies

Canada's action in ending the state of war will roughly coincide with similar steps by her wartime allies, the United States, United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and others.

The way is expected to be left open for stationing of Canadian troops in Germany in peacetime because indications are it is Western Germany where the 27th Brigade will be posted this year or next.

In Washington, President Truman asked Congress today to end the state of war between the United States and Germany.

The action would not affect the allied occupation of Germany.

Its chief purpose would be psychological. Germans would no longer be considered enemy aliens and would regain such normal rights as the right to sue in American courts.

Sees Country On Own

MONTREAL, July 9 —(CP)—A crew of Montreal airport workers today were searching for a Yugoslav hero, who escaped from his cage on arrival from Salzsburg, Austria. The hero, an Alsatian dog which guided four refugees on a perilous escape from Yugoslavia, was en route to Toronto to join the family he saved. On arrival at the airport Perra was placed in a crate while waiting transfer to a Toronto bound plane. When an airport worker attempted to feed him, the dog headed north from the landing strip.

Allied Troops Driven Back From Mount Taeu By Reds

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 9.—(AP)—Allied troops storming Mount Taeu on the east-central front were driven back today by determined Communist counter-attacks. The United Nations soldiers started their pincers attack on the mountain stronghold Sunday morning. Twelve hours later they neared their objective, 12 air miles northeast of Yanggu.

The Reds hammered back. The Allies withdrew.

The action highlighted an otherwise comparatively-quiet day along the front as time drew near for peace talks to begin in Red-held Kaesong.

No ground action was reported from the Kaesong area.

Allied F-86 Sabre jets shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 jet in northwestern Korea Monday. Capt. Milton E. Nelson scored the kill, his third of the war.

That made Nelson the leading US "Mig-killer" still flying in Korea.

AP correspondent George McArthur, reporting from the east-central front, said one are of the UN pincers was stalled east of Mount Taeu. Fighting continued there all day Monday, he said but not as intensively as the battle south of the mountain.

Getting Red Shells

For the first time in four days, Red artillery shells fell in the north-central sector of the old Red "iron triangle," now held by the Allies.

On the west-central front allied patrols ran into a marked increase in mortarfire and some artillery fire northeast of Yongchong.

An Eighth Army spokesman reported this morning that air observation had revealed that a Communist regiment had occupied strong fortifications west of Pyonggang at the apex of the former Communist triangle area.

One Russian-type MIG-15 jet fighter plane was shot down Monday by United States Sabre jets. The Allied pilots were protecting B-29s raiding the Communist airfield at Sinanju in northwestern Korea.

60 Passengers Missing On Bus

MEXICO CITY, July 9 (AP).—About 60 persons were missing today after a bus in which they were riding plunged into a river some 75 miles southwest of Mexico City.

The bus fell into the flooded Vado River between the towns of Puebla and Oaxaca Sunday night.

Ten persons riding on top of the vehicle were rescued. They said 60 others were inside.

Police and soldiers searched the river banks for possible survivors and the bodies of victims. Reports from Atlixco four miles downstream from the scene of the tragedy, said one body had floated past there.

Prisoner Plans To Sue Town

CRYSTAL BEACH, July 9 (CP) —Residents of this Lake Erie summer resort are running into some of the complications that crop up when you fire your fire and police chiefs, lose a fire department through a protest walkout and call in the provincial police for protection.

And a prisoner in Welland county jail is planning to sue the town, which some residents recently complained was "wide open."

Saturday, when two prisoners appeared in court for sentence, no one knew what charges were laid against them. The three provincial officers and four village policemen didn't know where ex-police chief Gilbert Robertson kept some of the papers.

The prisoners didn't know what charges were against them and before they were led back to their cells, one said he was going to sue. The police have been given to Wednesday to find the papers.

Meanwhile, the firemen meeting during the weekend, voted 28-0 to reinstate their fired chief George Pietz and announced they were "ready to function immediately."

Cliffs Too High Plane Crashes Near Minden

MINDEN, July 9 — Jerry Barker, Toronto, received head cuts and bruises today when he beached his Cessna seaplane on Lake Kashagawi, about 23 miles north of here.

Barker, alone in the light plane, had flown to the lake to visit friends. When he came down he discovered he was about three miles north of the spot where he intended to land, but was not able to get sufficient altitude to clear the cliffs and trees and move on. He brought the plane down on the water and cut his motor, but the aircraft piled up on the beach.

He was thrown against the windshield and his head went through. George Darling of Toronto, who heard the craft come down, pulled him out and took him to Camp Comak, where the camp doctor attended to his injuries.

Barker was able to go on to visit his friends after receiving medical atention.

Once Too Often

LONDON, July 9. (AP)— Rajah, a 10-year-old Indian elephant, was executed at the London Zoo today for turning rogue. The decision to shoot the two-ton animal was made after he had put one of his keepers in the hospital by slamming him around last week. It was Rajah's third such outbreak. Zoo superintendent G. S. Cansdale said the meat from Rajah's carcass would be fed to the lions and tigers.

Windsor Inventor Tests New Waterscope Hopes To Find Rich Lake Erie Treasure

WINDSOR, July 9. (CP)—A Windsor inventor, Peter J. McLean, 33, Sunday tested his new "waterscope" in the Detroit River, preparatory to starting out on a hunt for a hoped-for millions of dollars worth of sunken treasure.

His invention is a long tube equipped with a 3,000 watt light and reflecting surfaces at the base and a revolving eye piece at the lip. Using it, says McLean, it is possible to see for at least 60 feet in any direction underwater.

He plans to locate sunken ships in Lake Erie by a radar device and then investigate the hulk by means of the "waterscope."

McLean spent more than four years in research and figures his final outlay before operations begin will be in the neighborhood of $13,000. However, he has discovered the location of some 35 ships lost in Lake Erie alone with cargoes whose value is estimated in the millions of dollars.

Included in the sunken cargoes is a load of 110 barrels of whiskey and $300,000 in gold bullion. Another ship was loaded with 16-by-16 inch oak timbers 40 feet long with an original value of $173,000.

US Offers Harriman As Mediator

Iranians Announce Rejection Of Court Ruling

LONDON, July 9. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said today Britain is "considering" asking the United Nations Security Council to order Iran to keep her hands off the British-run oil industry.

Morrison told the House of Commons this course might be followed if Iran positively rejected the recommendation of the International Court of Justice to allow the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to continue oil producing operations pending a negotiated settlement of the British-Iranian dispute.

Iran announced today she was rejecting the ruling of the court —and apparently any other rulings the International Court might make. However, Morrison told the House the Iranian attitude on the ruling "is still obscure."

Britain has formally accepted the ruling.

President Truman said in Washington today the British-Iranian dispute threatens a "collapse of oil operations" which would be "a disaster."

May Send Harriman

Truman offered to send Averell Harriman, his Foreign Affairs adviser, to Iran to help try for a settlement of the dispute.

"The time available is running out," Truman said.

Truman made his offer in a message to Iranian Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh. The Iranian chief wrote him two weeks ago asking American support for Iran's nationalization of its oil resources.

Truman said in his reply:

"You know of our sympathetic interest in this country in Iran's desire to control its natural re-

Name Canadian To Pact Post

OTTAWA, July 9 (CP). — A Canadian was named today to one of the top posts in the Atlantic Pact Air Force in Europe.

To the RCAF's air Vice-Marshal J. L. Plant, CBE, AFC, 41, a native of Wales who was educated in British Columbia, goes the biggest job yet given a Canadian in the drive to build up Western Europe's defences.

The Defence Department announced he will go to Paris to become assistant chief of staff for personnel and logistics at the headquarters of American Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of the allied air forces in Central Europe.

Gen. Norstad is building up the air component of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's integrated force and will eventually have a Canadian air division of 11 fighter squadrons under his command.

The Plant appointment, effective Aug. 15, is a recognition of that fact.

Severe Storm Hits Parts Of US Midwest

CHICAGO, July 9 — (AP) — Wind-whipped rain and hail hit the American midwest Sunday, causing six deaths and heavy property damage.

Severe storms hit parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas but in Wisconsin practically the whole state felt the blow of wild weather.

Five deaths occurred in Michigan. A sudden gust upset a boat in Crystal Lake, near Greenville, drowning three persons. At Grand Rapids, a man was crushed when a tractor overturned as he tried to clear his boat channel of a wind-felled tree. Near Muskegon, a motorist swerved to avoid a large tree limb blown into the road and crashed into a ditch, killing his wife.

In Wisconsin, winds, lightning, rain and hail caused damage expected to exceed $1,000,000. Winds of hurricane intensity downed power lines, ripped roofs off buildings and blocked roads with felled trees.

UN Reporters Stage Row About Ban

Say Red Propaganda Steals March On Allied Papers

SEOUL, Korea, July 9. (AP) —United Nations war correspondents, angered at being banned from Sunday's preliminary peace talks at Kaesong while Communist correspondents attended, said today the enemy had stolen a propaganda march.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied Supreme Commander, indicated to correspondents tonight that they would not be represent-full-scale peace talks Tuesday. They might be at later sessions however.

Earlier, public information officers recommended that 16 reporters, photographers and broadcasters be taken to Kaesong to cover the negotiations.

When asked if he could assure the correspondents that the Western newsmen would not be kept out while Communist reporters were allowed at the session, Ridgway said:

"We'll see that we get everything we can."

Issues Too Great

In outlining his position to the angry correspondents, Ridgway said ". . . The issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

The army's censorship of the status of Kaesong also aroused a storm among the correspondents. The military has referred to Kaesong as being in a no-man's land, leaving the impression it was an open city.

But Col. Andrew J. Kinney, chief of the UN liaison team which Sunday arranged preliminaries for the full-scale talks, told a press conference Sunday night Kaesong "definitely is in enemy hands."

After Kinney's statement, the censor at first announced he would not pass the reference. Some correspondents promptly asserted they would ignore the censorship ban. Then the ruling was reversed and Kinney's remarks about Kaesong were passed.

Some newspapermen said the army had deliberately misled the Western world concerning the status of Kaesong.

Kinney said several Communist photographers were present at Kaesong, probably including newsreel men. He thought Communist newspapermen also were there, although he was not certain.

Plan New Increase

OTTAWA, July 9—(CP)—The railways are planning an early increase in their special "transcontinental" freight rates between eastern Canada and the west coast, it was learned today. These rates were not included in the 12-per-cent increase obtained by the railways last week from the board of transport commissioners, but it is understood the carriers intend to use a different procedure to hoist them by the same amount.

Stage Manhunt After Jail Break

HAMILTON, July 9 (CP)—A full-scale manhunt was on in this city Sunday night for a man, possibly armed, who crashed out of jail earlier in the day by breaking a hole in the wall.

Police said John Edward McKay 24, had been held in connection with a robbery at Windsor. They said he tore bricks from his cell wall and clambered through to a storeroom. He then opened the door and escaped through a window at the end of a hall.

Police said it was possible MacKay may be armed. There were knives in the storeroom through which he escaped. There were also revolvers but police said they were locked up and there were no signs of them having been disturbed.

Special police squads checked all trains and buses leaving the city. All automobiles leaving Hamilton also were being searched.

MacKay was described as five feet 10 inches, with blond hair, and weighing 170 pounds. He wore a maroon windbreaker, tan gabardine trousers and a pale blue shirt.

MacKay is wanted for questioning about a hold up at the Kelsey Wheel Company in Windsor.

$5 Million Loss In Plant Fire

NEWARK, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Fire at a propane gas storage plant was reported under control Sunday, almost 24 hours after a series of explosions rocked the Newark area and flung huge gas tanks into the air like toys.

The deputy fire chief, Joseph Higgins, estimated total damage to the plant and othter near-by plans at $5,000,000.

Shattering explosions of about 100 tanks filled with highly inflammable cooking gas continued throughout most of Saturday reducing much of the surrounding area to rubble.

Several of the 70-foot long cylindrical tanks, 10 feet in diameter, were tossed through the air like pebbles. One of them skyrocketed three-quarters of a mile away into a gasoline service station. Another crashed completely through the building of a neighboring printing ink company.

All available firemen in Newark and surrounding communities could only stand by helplessly for several hours as the roaring blasts and roasting heat kept them more than a half mile away from the scene at the Warren Petroleum Sales Corporation.

Base Metals Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, July 9 (CP).—Base Metals climbed higher in an otherwise mixed and dull stock market as the session progressed today.

In base metals Hudson Bay jumped $1.25 and Consolidated Smelters added $1. Steep Rock, Quebec Manitou, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, New Calumet, Normetal, United Asbestos and East Sullivan all posted moderate increases. Noranda went against the trend for a ½ loss.

Industrials stayed in a fairly mixed and narrow path with little feature. Refining oils, retail stores and utilities showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Papers, steels, agricultures, foods, liquors and manufacturing companies were about balanced while banks and textiles eased.

Western oils weakened at the opening but then turned mixed. Senior golds were irregular with little change. A few secondary golds were up pennies.

Fire Destroys Farm Home In Percy Twp.

WARKWORTH, July 9—(ENS)—The one-and-a-half storey farm home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cornelius, Percy township, burned to the ground Saturday night. Cause of the fire is not known but it originated somewhere in the kitchen.

The house is a mile and a half north of the village on the Hastings road.

Lack of a sufficient supply of water prevented the Warkworth fire brigade from snuffing out the blaze before it got beyond control. A hole was dug close to a spring in an effort to get a reservoir of water but it was not available until the fire had roared through the frame section of the house and was well into the brick section.

Chemical extinguishers were were inadequate to cope with the outbreak.

Save Furniture

Dozens of cars were lined along the roadside as a large crowd gathered to see the spectacular fire. Friends and neighbors helped Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius save practically all of the furniture and other contents.

The house, owned by C. H. Sherwin, Warkworth, could not be saved. Only the brick walls of the main section of the building remain.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius were shopping in the village when their home caught fire. When they returned at 10.50 p.m. they saw the flames and put in the alarm.

Had there been sufficient water it is believed the house could have been saved.

Barn Safe

Firemen, realizing the house was doomed, used their small supply of water to prevent the flames spreading to the nearby barn and chicken house.

Until other accommodation can be obtained Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius and their two public school-age boys are staying at the nearby home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vansicklin, Percy township.

BC Phone Rates To Be Increased

OTTAWA, July 9 CP).—The Board of Transport Commissioners announced today it has authorized an interim increase in rates for the British Columbia Telephone Company.

The company is empowered to increase its long distance charges by 12.4 per cent and its local exchange charges by 10 per cent, effective on five days' notice.

(The increases were reported unofficially on Saturday.)

The higher rates were granted to yield the company estimated additional revenue of $1,881,000 a year to meet higher labor costs and new taxation.

The rates are to be effective pending fuller hearings before the board starting Oct. 9 on an application by the company for a more permanent set of higher rates. These rates would be the same as the ones just granted for long distance service but would be 2½ per cent higher for local service.

sources. From this point of view we were happy to see that the British Government on its part accepted the principle of nationalization."

Hopes Solution Possible

At the same time, Truman said he still hopes that a way can be found for "British skill and operating knowledge" to continue to be used in running the strategically important oil industry.

Annonucement of the offer of Harriman's services followed reports that Truman was considering the transfer of Ambassador Loy W. Henderson to Iran from India.

Iranian Rejection

The cabinet Sunday night, according to informed sources, decided to reject the international court order and threatened to withdraw Iran's signature to the convention establishing the court.

At a mass meeting Sunday on the parliament steps, Chams Ghanatabadai, bearded son-in-law of one of Iran's chief Moslem leaders, announced creation of a "national defence committee" and invited volunteers to sign up for a possibly holy war.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatimi, meanwhile, said the cabinet had approved issuance of a 2,000,000,000 rial ($62,500,000) internal bond issue to meet government expenses. Oil company royalties —cut off by the nationalization fight—have made up a large part of the Iranian budget.

He spoke of the pleasure it gave him to be back at Goldsprings to meet old friends, and for the honor of addressing a few words to the council.

A grant of $4,315 was received on the township community hall at Coldsprings.

The date for the official opening of the hall was discussed when it was felt that early in September would be the time.

A bylaw was passed appointing William Bachelor assessment commissioner.

Chinese Nationalists Free British Freighter

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 9—(AP)— The Chinese Nationalist navy today ordered release of the 564-ton British freighter Ethel Moller, detained on a blockade running charge, as soon as the ship's cargo is discharged.

The Ethel Moller, with cargo intended for Communist China, was intercepted by a Nationalist warship about a month ago.

Whitby Woman Murdered, Charge Husband

WHITBY, July 9 (CP). — Roy Slobodian, 39-year-old factory worker, walked into the local police station early Saturday and said: "I have just killed my wife."

A short time later, police found the 280-pound body of Mrs. Anna Slobodian, 28, beside a lonely sideroad eight miles northwest of here. A long, sharp screwdriver had been plunged into her brain.

Slobodian was charged with murder and remanded until Tuesday in custody.

The woman's death left three little girls motherless. Carol Ann 9, the oldest is a diabetic; her 7-year-old sister, Diane Jean, has cerebral palsy. Judy, the baby, is two.

In Mental Hospital

Police said Slobodian recently had spent three weeks in a mental hospital following an attempt to commit suicide. Relatives said he had quarrelled with his wife about money since his release and had been brooding for the last few days.

Slobodian took his wife on her death ride Friday night in a new car he had bought over her objections. An apparently aimless drive over various country roads brought them to the dead-end road on which the slaying occurred.

They stopped and began to quarrel, police said, and Mrs. Slobodian was stabbed in the chest before she got out of the car and was killed.

Slobodian said he drove 39 miles to Toronto and told his brother, Peter, of the killing. Peter returned with Slobodian to the scene, looked at the body, then covered it with a car blanket, leaves and branches, and persuaded Slobodian to go to police.

Police believe there was a struggle, during which the screwdriver was twice jammed into Mrs. Slobodian's head and once into her chest. The bloodstained screwdriver was found near the body. The car was spattered with blood.

The place of security

There is a realm where hope is no longer precarious. It is the realm of unwavering spiritual understanding. It is the realm of Truth.

How may we find it? Through knowing (understanding) the same truth which Jesus knew, and which he promised would "make us free."

The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, plainly shows the way. To any sincere student this great book steadily unlocks the treasures of truth in the Bible and proves, by healing the sick, their practicability today.

It may be bought, borrowed or read at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Experts Believe Manitoba Rocks World's Oldest

WINNIPEG. — (CP) — Scientists throughout the world are studying small, black shiny crystals from Manitoba. They came from the oldest known rocks in the earth, calculated to be 2,400,000,000 years old.

The crystals are uraninite, found in granite-like rock near the Winnipeg river off Lamprey Falls, 110 miles northeast to here.

For the last 30 years crystals from this area, on the old Huron Mining claim, have been examined by geologists to discover more about the world and its make-up.

Age of the rocks in determined by the known rate of decay of radio-active materials they contain. Nowhere in the world have rocks been found and analyzed which are older than those by the Winnipeg River.

They were first brought to light by Dr. S. Delury, former head of the Department of Geology at the University of Manitoba, who sent them to Ottawa for analysis. And in the early 30s, Dr. Arthur Holmes, a British scientist, calculated the rocks from this area to be 1,800,000,000 years old.

Raised Age of Rocks

In 1947, Dr. L. H. Ahrens of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology raised the age of the rocks to 2,400,000,000 years. He did this by analyzing lithium deposits found in the same area and still is experimenting on samples from Lamprey Falls.

Dr. J. D. Allan, Chief Provincial Geologist, says that scientists believe there was no life in the world when these rocks originated. That includes vegetable as well as animal life. At that time Manitoba was a barren-land of mountainous ranges. There was no Winnipeg river.

Besides revealing more about the age and origin of the world, scientists are also interested in the chemical and geological nature of the specimens.

"If they develop a method of determining the age of common minerals, other than radio-active ones, it may be of great use in mining too," Dr. Allan said.

Film A Day At Resorts Show Canada

A film program designed for both entertainment and spreading information about Canada to tourists in this country is entering its fourth year and gaining increasing popularity.

This program is being carried out through the co-operation of the National Film Board and tourist resort operators, all across the country. Ron Ward, National Film Board representative for this area, outlined the details of the program as it is being handled in the areas of the Kawartha lakes, Haliburton and Rideau chain.

12 Circuits

Groups of lodge owners in this area are joined into approximately 12 circuits. The National Film Board distributes about 70 minutes of film program to each circuit every week. Each lodge owner, who has been previously trained in the use of projectors and these films for one night during the week. Circuits are made up of six lodge owners with the result that the films are in use nearly every night of the week.

Projectors and equipment are also supplied by the National Film Board. The films are both black and white and color, and the majority deal with the Canadian scene. In this way tourists from the United States and also people of this country gain a better knowledge of Canada.

The program begins each summer on July 1 and continues for eight weeks. The only stipulation that the National Film Board makes is that the lodge owners be responsible for the proper care of equipment and that they continue the program throughout the season.

"This program is becoming increasingly popular," Mr. Ward commented. "In fact there has been so great demand that we have not been able to provide all applications with the service."

US Train Travelling 60 mph Jumps Track, 60 Injured

UTICA, Ill., July 9 (AP) — A Santa Fe train, speeding 375 passengers toward Los Angeles from Chicago, was derailed near Utica Saturday night. Approximately 60 persons were injured.

The 13-car El Captain plowed up some 2,000 feet of track, as eight cars jacknifed in a bumping, grinding stop. Only one car, a forward coach, was upset.

No lives were lost, and none of the 19 persons who remained in hospital Sunday was reported seriously hurt. The cause of the derailment was not determined, road officials said.

The accident occurred on tracks of the Rock Island Lines over which the Santa Fe train had been routed to avoid a flood washout in Missouri.

Given First Aid

Many of the injured passengers were given first aid by two nurse-stewardesses, members of the train crew, a group of 10 Navy and Marine passengers who formed a rescue team.

Approximately 350 of the passengers continued on their way Sunday aboard a special substitute Santa Fe train.

The derailment occurred at 8:55 p.m. CST (9:55 EDT). A member of the train crew told newspapermen the train was doing 70 miles an hour when the accident happened.

One passenger, Miss Rose Berrkowitz, 30, who received bruises on one leg, described the scene in the club car, third from the rear of the train.

"We seemed to slide to a quick stop, and the car tilted and the lights went out," she said. "Everybody was quiet for a minute. Then a woman started to sing Good Night, Irene. That sort of broke the tension, and we all relaxed."

Higher Polio Rate Wipes Out Guages

NEW YORK, July 9—(AP)—An increased polio rate has "wiped out" the gauges with which to "predict the intensity of attacks to come, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says.

In its annual report for 1950, the foundation says it is no longer possible to speak of a normal average of 10,000 to 12,000 cases a year for the United States.

The group adds that a "new concept of normalacy" has been created by more than 103,000 new victims in the last three years. It says that there no longer is a basis for comparing one epidemic against another.

The report, which was released Sunday, listed 33,351 new cases during 1950. This figure is second only to the high of 1949, when 42,366 were stricken.

Way Out In Iran

The International Court of Justice gave an important decision on the Iranian oil nationalization last Thursday. It called for reinstatement of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to full control of its properties, with revenues to be frozen in bank accounts pending a final decision of the oil nationalization dispute. It asked Britain and Iran to set up a five-member Board to carry out this decision and suggested that a compromise of the conflict over receipts for oil de-

[illegible] in the name of the proposed Board. The interim verdict of the International Court provided a clear-cut way out of the present shambles. Iran could have accepted it without losing face, production or oil revenues. She refused to accede to the Court ruling.

* * *

Britain has applied for an injunction. Whatever the International Court's decision on this, it is unlikely that Iran will pay any heed to it, since she has already refused to accept the Court's interim recommendation. Iran is a member of U.N. As such she is obliged to respect the court. Article 94 of the U.N. Charter states that "Each member of the United Nations undertakes to comply with the decision of the International Court of Justice in any case to which it is a party." What now? The matter can be referred to the Security Council. This is unlikely to be done, since Iran would give no more heed to it in this matter than it has done to the International Court. Further, the Security Council would never reach a decision, since Russia and her satellites would block any settlement which did not reject every aspect of the British claims. At the Security Council Russia would play god-father to Iran and thus try to win its favour and dependence.

* * *

The Iranian situation is another indication of the low estate to which international courts and councils have fallen since the bright days of 1945. The Security Council cannot reach decisions; if it could, it has no instrument to enforce them. The International Court of Justice has given a verdict, but, as the Montreal Star points out, it has no bailiff. It has only moral authority, and that is apparently of little concern to the Iranians. The International Court is a court without a bailiff.

One Rifle

The basic weapon of war is a rifle. Commonwealth armies have used the .303 inch calibre Lee-Enfield in both world wars. The United States has used .300 inch calibre—in the last war the Garand. During the war the need for standardization of weapons was apparent to all western allies: to allow of interchangeability of equipment, ammunition and parts, and their common manufacture so that there would be no absolute dependence on one supply region.

A start was made towards standardization before the war ended; much has been done since, particularly of larger guns, mechanical equipment, and aircraft. Canada has taken a leading part in this movement, out of self-interest. She is both a North America power and a member of the British Commonwealth. Yet she obviously cannot fight with both British and American-type weapons. (Though we note that the 25th Korean Brigade is organized with American equipment and the 27th is to be organized on British. This is a policy of expediency.)

Britain has had a committee of experts studying rifles. It has lately been decided to discard the .303 for a .28 calibre rifle. The Americans have affirmed their trust in the .30. Thus the basic infantry weapon of the two major western powers is scheduled to be different. The very corner-stone of standardization has not been laid. This is a serious military problem for Canada, Defence Minister Claxton's announcement at the end of the week that the defence minister of the U.S.A. and the U.K. will meet to try to reach a standard policy on the rifle shows Canada's hand in the negotiations. It is vitally important to Canada's soldiers and arsenals that a standard gauge be adopted.

Canada has been amenable in adopting American types of equipment and discarding British during the last three years. This does not mean that she must advocate and adopt the American Garand rifle. British small arms have a great reputation for accuracy, dependability and durability. The British experts have made an exhaustive study before they decided on the .28. They think it superior to anything else existing or designed—the Garand included. While standardization must be the principle purpose of the conference, the rifle decided on must be the best.

A rifle is a very personal thing to a soldier. If he thinks his rifle inferior to his allies' or his enemy's, he loses confidence. The rifle which the Canadian soldier of the future carries into battle must not be one accepted for the sake of compromise in standardization. It must be the best. If the new British .28 is the best, then let all western allies adopt it, even if the Americans have to discard their Garand .30. Standardize on the best.

"GI" Prohibited

From the Pentagon Building at Washington an order has been issued banning further use of the term "GI" to describe a member of the ground forces of the United States. The order further provides that the term "soldier" shall be used instead, presumably on the ground that it is an honourable and accurate description. Officially, we are sure, the order will be obeyed, but whether the term "GI" will be dropped from common usage is another matter. We should think, however, that if the story behind the order becomes widely known, the term will be gradually dropped.

It seems that the term "GI" never had official sanction. It came into use about the year 1940, when the then new selective service law of the United States began to operate. The first batches of conscripts applied the term to themselves, and it became popular very quickly. It satisfied public taste for brevity, and it was a boon to headline writers. In time, there were critics who considered they had heard the term "GI Joe" too often, but these were in the minority.

Also in the minority were a determined group of profoundly shocked old soldiers of the Regular Army, who protested bitterly against use of the term. It was altogether inaccurate, they said—and it was altogether insulting. A soldier did not wear a GI uniform nor did he eat GI food, nor did he use GI equipment, with one exception—and one only. Everything supplied to him, according to The Washington Post was simply "issue," except for one article: a large vessel of galvanized iron, somewhat resembling a household ash container and designated on the supply officer's requisition sheets as "GI utility can". And, the Post notes, because of the uses to which these cans were often put, "it was in the old Regular Army pretty close to the ultimate of insult for one soldier referred to another as "GI".

So the old soldiers fought to have the term banned, and they now have won the official decision. The American ground soldier now needs a new set of initials or an entirely new name; if either is adopted, the victory of the old regulars will be complete.

Another Dollar Crisis For Britain?

Britain's post-war recovery is being undermined by the re-armament, raw-material shortages and high prices. This is implicit in the Chancellor of the Exchequer's report to the British House of Commons last Wednesday. Mr. Gaitskell said that Britain is "entering a period of increasing difficulty." The economic situation is worse than Government planners forecast, for the unfavorable tendencies they predicted have occurred "and almost all of them are developing more strongly than we expected."

Economic difficulties are developing in other countries—even those with free economics—more strongly than business and government expected, but Britain has no great reserve of financial strength to fall back on. Net dollar and gold earnings of the sterling area amounted to only $54,000,000 in the second quarter of 1951, compared with $360,000,000 and $398,000,000 in the two preceding quarters. There has been a serious deterioration in Britain's foreign trade balance during the last three months. If extra goods cannot be manufactured, the Chancellor of the Exchequer warned the British public, "we shall have to cut consumption at home." This is bad news for the people of the United Kingdom, now so cheered by summer and the Festival.

There are two plain facts about exports: they must be made at a price which will sell in foreign markets, and there must be enough to sell. Does Britain need better production methods, lower production costs, and more raw material to work with?

The Man In The Brown Suit

By RAWLE KNOX
(In Teheran)

I NEVER expected to learn much at Zaheda, where the Persian plane on its way from Bombay and Karachi first touches down on Persian soil.

We dipped among some craggy mountains and landed on a boundless yellow plain. At the end of the concrete runway were two small brown tents, pitched together to serve as one; they hovered inhospitably over the stony ground.

* * *

AT first there was no clear pattern of either order or disorder. A gloomy little man stood at the aircraft door and stared for a while at my passport, upsidedown; a flock of womenfolk attached to one of the passengers on the plane tried to push past him, but were restrained by the reasoned arguments of a shiny-helmeted policeman. Affairs marched slowly, but with the comfort of certainty, towards a customs examination.

In the little tents the only pieces of furniture were two short wooden benches, painted the same hard blue as the hot sky. The passengers' luggage was strewn about the gritty floor and, squatting on their haunches, the customs men set to work.

* * *

SOON it became clear that all the contents of every Persian traveller's suitcase—and in some instances the suitcases themselves—were brand new. Soap, patent medicines and hair oils, clothes and cloth of every description—everything straight from store; there were Indian drinking vessels, plastic combs by the dozen, a couple of footballs and a concertina. The chief customs officer wrote busy Persian squiggles in his large book.

The passengers had taken his impositions calmly until he came to the man in the brown suit. The man in the brown suit was stocky, and heavily jowled, but until he lost his temper he did not strike one as in any way formidable. He was neither large nor bulky, but when roused he seemed to sink his head between his shoulders and present a rectangular block of unassailable ferocity.

He had accepted, with no more than a wince or two, the confiscation of a bottle of brandy, five hundred cigarettes and a parcel of sulpha drugs; he rumbled slightly at the list of duties levied on his many new clothes in his several suitcases. But a charge of twenty rupees on two travelling rugs he was carrying caused him to erupt completely.

* * *

NOW his sullen resentment turned to bitter eloquence. He had every need, he said, to protect himself with travelling rugs against the dangerous cold of the so great heights at which the aircraft travelled. None but an imbecile would try to charge him duty. He Knew The Law. This phrase he sounded again and again, at the same time making a circle of the thumb and forefinger of his right hand and casting it away from his lips as though blowing a vitriolic kiss at all officialdom.

* * *

IT would be tedious now, though it was not then, to follow every eddy and flow of the argument. Most of the passengers, who had suffered, sided with the man in the brown suit, as did their friends. The dispute widened, bringing in all the customs officials and the Iranian airline clerk, who wanted to get the plane moving again. There were three attempted assaults, only two of them involving the man with the brown suit; all were averted by the more serious-minded onlookers. In the background a very small soldier occasionally fixed and unfixed his bayonet, but I doubt whether anyone but myself noticed him.

Twice the man in the brown suit had every item of his luggage, which had been restowed on the plane, taken out and packed on the bus, saying he would stay in Zaheda till he was vindicated; and twice, at moments when the tide of his argument rose, he had it all put back again on the plane.

The four members of the aircrew, all Frenchmen, lay on a rug in the shadow of the wing of the plane and roared encouragement impartially at either side.

* * *

WITH all this, though invective was at expectoral height, and though battery was attempted those three times, the issue was never really personal. The man in the brown suit merely demanded justice in the eyes of the law.

One of his friends, a large man with an ugly flattened nose, took each of the customs men aside in turn and clearly offered each a small bribe to settle the matter. But principle had become so important to these defenders of the law that to compound with venality was out of the question.

In the end it was settled as dull minds might think it should have been settled two hours before. The man in the brown suit paid his twenty rupees, but demanded with his receipt the name and rank of each customs official, promising to claim his money back and get every one of them dismissed for their ignorance of the law.

"C'est finish!", they all shouted to the little air captain.

"Finish!", he bellowed jovially in reply.

THE passengers bundled quickly into the plane, the good-natured untidy air-hostess sank into a seat, and put her hand to her palpitating heart, and we rocketed up into the blue.

I had seen the law transfigured during my three hours stay at Zaheda. I had seen fire struck into the breasts of little bureaucrats as they defended their master, the Regulations, who so often rules them with so dead a hand. I had seen the whole machinery of transport held up, to the dismay of almost no one, while a principle was discussed.

You who move sheepishly through airports in the hands of cool, efficient young ladies, who bid you extinguish your cigarettes and remember your personal belongings; you who submit in terror at the customs' barrier to a man armed with nothing but a piece of chalk, take courage from the man in the brown suit.

Competition For Writers

(London Free Press)

Denmark, with a population no larger than that of Canada, has an average sale per book of about 40,000 while in Canada a work selling 3,000 to 4,000 copies is in the best-seller class. That is indeed odd, but we are unlike the Danes in that we have no language of our own, but share two of the great literary languages of the world and our writers have to compete with the masters of both English and French, now and in the past.
